The declaration of the State Government under S. 8 (1) (b) of the U. P. Court of Wards Act 1912 by which the superintendence of the estate of a person is assumed by the Court of Wards is a quasi-judicial act and as such it is possible for the High Court to issue a writ of certiorari in respect of it. AIR 1952 All 63 and AIR 1952 All 99, Foll. Disting. ILR (1953) 1 All 29 : 1952 All W R (H C) 284 : 1952 All L J 283 : AIR 1952 All 746 (747) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

—S. 8 (1) (b) — Discrimination only on ground of sex only — Provision infringes Arts. 14, 15 and 19 (1) (f) Constitution of India and is void — Constitution of India, Arts. 13, 14, 15 and 19 (1) (f).

Section 8 (1) (b) has become void under Art. 13 of the Constitution as it infringes Arts. 14, 15 and 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution.

The mere fact of classification is not sufficient to relieve a statute from the reach of the equality clause of Art. 14. To get out of its reach it must appear that not only the classification has been made but also that it is based upon a reasonable ground, on some difference which bears a just and proper relation to the attempted classification and is not a mere arbitrary selection. In the present case the classification is based only on the ground of sex—a classification which is not permissible now in a matter like this, in view of the provisions of Art. 15 of the Constitution.

Whatever may have been the position prior to the commencement of the Constitution, Section 8 (1) (b) of the Court of Wards Act classifies female proprietors in an arbitrary manner and places them in a more disadvantageous position than the male proprietors, who cannot be declared incapable of managing their property without their being given an opportunity of showing cause and whose incapacity to manage the property is confined to the five reasons specified in clause (b) of that sub-section. AIR 1952 S C 75; 1951 A L J 578, Ref.

After the enactment of Art. 15 of the Constitution, the impugned provision must be held to be an unreasonable restriction upon the right of a citizen to hold his or her property in so far as it deprives a female proprietor of a right to hold and enjoy her property only on the ground of her sex. As such Art. 19 (1) (f) is also infringed. I L R (1953) 1 All 29 : 1952 All W R (HC) 284 : 1952 All L J 293 : AIR 1952 All 746 (747 to 749) (Pt C) (Prs 9, 10, 11, 13, 16) (DB).

——S. 8— Capacity in which Government acts when it exercises its powers to make a notification under — Government in exercising its powers in issuing a notification under S. 8 discharges quasi-judicial functions — Its actions are therefore open to review by High Court by a writ of certiorari. A I R 1952 All 63, Foll. See Constitution of India (1950), Art. 226. AIR 1952 All 99 (DB).

——S. 8 (1) and (2) — Essential conditions for exercise of jurisdiction — Notification under—Function of Government is quasi-judicial — Writ of certiorari when can be issued—Constitution of India, Art. 226.

The Government, in exercising its powers in issuing a notification under S. 8, U. P. Court of Wards Act, 1912 discharges quasi-judicial functions so that its actions are open to review by the High Court by a writ of certiorari. AIR 1952 All 63 (DB), Foll.

Sub-section (2) of S. 8 empowers the State to make a declaration subject to two conditions. One is that a detailed statement of grounds on which it is proposed to disqualify a proprietor should be furnished to him and the second is that he should be afforded an opportunity of showing cause why such a declaration should not be made. If either of these essential preliminary conditions is not satisfied, the law does not recognise the existence of any power in the State to make such a declaration. This clearly means that until these conditions have been satisfied there is no jurisdiction in the State to make a declaration. (1906) 2 K B 501; (1874) 5 P C 417 and A I R 1947 Bom 108, Ref.

Section 8 (2), Court of Wards Act does not require that the proprietor should be furnished with all the facts in addition to the statement of grounds. Where the notice contains specific allegations against the disqualified proprietor and a detailed statement of the grounds, it is sufficient compliance with S. 8 (2).

Sub-section (2) of S. 8 of the Act enjoins a duty on the Government itself to ensure that the opportunity of showing cause is adequate and, therefore, the Government must, on its own initiative adopt such a procedure that an opportunity does become available to the person, against whom a declaration is said to be made, to adduce evidence.

The expression "opportunity of showing cause" in S. 8 (2) of the Act connotes an opportunity of leading evidence in support of one's allegations and in controverting such allegations as are made against one. A mere opportunity to submit a written explanation is not enough. Civ. Misc. Case No. 342 of 1950, D/- 20-3-1951, Rel. on; 1911 A C 179; 1915 A C 120 and AIR 1948 P C 121, Ref.

Consequently where the State Government has failed to give an adequate opportunity of showing cause to the petitioner prior to the making of declaration under S. 8 of the Act its action is without jurisdiction and the declaration will be quashed by a writ of certiorari. I L R (1952) 2 All 949 : AIR 1952 All 99 (101 to 104) (Pt A) (Prs 4 to 7, 11) (DB).

——S. 8 — Failure to follow procedure under the U. P. Court of Wards Act — Government exceeds its jurisdiction in making the declaration—Court would quash the declaration made by the Government. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. A I R 1952 All 63 (DB).

SECTION 9

——Ss. 9, 17—Proof of debt—Failure to notify under S. 17.

Proof of a debt in proceedings under S. 9, U. P. Court of Wards Act is not a sufficient ground for failure to notify under S. 17 of the same Act, which requires all persons having claims against the estate to notify those claims after it has been taken over by the Court of Wards. AIR 1950 All 698 (698) (Pt C) (Pr 13).

SECTION 11

——S. 11 — Section does not take away High Court's jurisdiction to issue writ of certiorari—Constitution of India, Art. 226.

The High Court, exercising its powers of issuing a writ under Article 226 of the Constitution, cannot be said to be a civil Court. The civil and criminal jurisdiction of the High Court is exercised by virtue of Article 225 of the Constitution. Article 226 gives an additional power which is exercised by virtue of this provision of the Constitution and not by virtue of the High Court being either a criminal or a civil Court. Even if the High Court could be deemed to be a civil Court, S. 11 of the U. P. Court of Wards Act, 1912, could not take away the power of the High Court to issue a writ under Article 226 of the Constitution because no law made by a State Legislature can, in any way, curtail the powers granted to the High Court by the Constitution. 53 Bom L R 621, Rel. on. ILR (1952) 2 All 949 : A I R 1952 All 99 (104) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

——S. 11 — Finality—Effect—Constitution of India, Art. 226.

The provisions of S. 11 do not bar the High Court from issuing a writ, direction or order under Art. 226 of the Constitution if it finds that the Government has contravened the provisions of the statute which empowered it to act in infringement of the rights of a citizen. 1952 All L J 342 : I L R (1952) 2 All 783 : AIR 1952 All 63 (70)(Pt C) (Pr 49) (DB).

——S. 13 — Scope — Section if provides any remedy to disqualified proprietor.

Section 13 of U. P. Court of Wards Act does not permtt a proprietor to challenge the right of superintendence of the person or property on the ground that the declaration under S. 8 of the Act was not valid so that this section would not provide any remedy at all to the disqualified proprietor. I L R (1952) 2 All 949 : AIR 1952 All 99 (104) (Pt C) (Pr 9) (DB).

SECTION 16

——S. 16 — Ward of Court — Position of cannot be equated to that of minor — Ward not properly represented in suit — Proceedings not rendered void — Effect of non-compliance of S. 56. See U. P. Court of Wards Act (4 of 1912), S. 56. AIR 1958 All 710 (DB).

SECTION 17

——Ss. 17, 18—Omission to produce documents under S. 17—Extinguishment of claim under S. 18.

Under the provisions of S. 17 it is incumbent upon the person having a claim to produce the document or documents in support of such a claim and his failure to do so would be taken to be a non-compliance with the provisions of S. 17 and his claim would be deemed to have been extinguished under S. 18. AIR 1950 All 696 (698) (Pt B) (Pr 11).

——S. 17 — Proof of debt — Failure to notify under S. 17 — Proof of debt in proceedings under S. 9 not sufficient ground for failure to notify under S. 17. See U. P. Court of Wards Act (1912), S. 9. AIR 1950 All 696.

SECTION 18

——Ss. 18, 17 — Omission to produce documents under S. 17—Failure would be taken as non-compliance with provisions of S. 17 and his claim would be deemed to have been extinguished. See U. P. Court of Wards Act (1912), S. 17. AIR 1950 All 696.

SECTION 27

● ——S. 27—Contesting parties to appeal two wards of the same Court of Wards — Compromise petition signed by Deputy Commissioner as representing each of the estates — Compromise decree is not nullity — Failure to appoint another guardian for appellant who was of unsound mind could not affect its validity. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 23, R. 3. AIR 1960 S C 444.

SECTION 37

● ——S. 37 (a) — Family settlement — It does not amount to transfer — It does not also create an interest.

The transactions of a family settlement entered into by the parties who are members of a family bona fide to put an end to the dispute among themselves, is not a transfer. It is not also the creation of an interest. For, in a family settlement each party takes a share in the property by virtue of the independent title which is admitted to that extent by the other parties. Every party who takes benefit under it need not necessarily be shown to have, under the law, a claim to a share in the property. All that is necessary to show is that the parties are related to each other in some way and have a possible claim to the property or a claim or even semblance of a claim on some other ground as say, affection. AIR 1914 P C 44 and ILR 33 All 356 (PC) and AIR 1918 P C 196, Rel. on. Ram Charan Das v. Girja Nandini Devi, (1965) 2 SCWR 837 : (1965) 3 S C R 841 : (1966) 1 SCJ 61 : AIR 1966 SC 323 (329) (Pt B) (Pr 11).

● ——Ss. 37, 53 — Consent of Court of Wards to adoption by Hindu widow, the ward — This does not bar the jurisdiction of Civil Court to enquire into legality of adoption on grounds of personal law such as non-existence of deceased husband's authority.

S. 37 does not make the sanction of the Court of Wards accorded to the ward to adopt to cure illegalities or breaches of the personal law. Nor does the sanction make up for incompetence arising under the personal law. It is obvious that if the adoption is void by reason of personal law of the person adopting, the consent of the Court of Wards cannot cure it. Nor would the consent take the place of the essential ceremonies or the religious observances where necessary. Those matters would have to be determined according to the personal law in Civil Court of competent jurisdiction.

The section merely puts the exercise of discretion by officers acting under the Court of Wards Act beyond question. Thus, if the Court of Wards gave or refused its consent to a proposed adoption, a suit would not lie either to cancel the consent or to compel it. The section, however, does not go to the length that after the consent of the Court of Wards the adoption itself cannot be questioned at all. There are no words in the section to this effect nor can such a result be implied. If the Court of Wards gave its concurrence to a proposed adoption, the bar created by S. 37 of the Act would be removed, but it would not make the adoption immune from attacks in a Civil Court on any grounds on which adoptions are usually questioned there. It cannot be contended that the reasons for the consent of the Court of Wards are a part of the consent and are within S. 53 (1). No doubt, the Court of Wards reaches its own conclusion for purpose of S. 37 that the deceased husband of the widow (ward) had accorded authority to the widow to adopt a son, but if the adoption was questioned in a Civil Court, the Civil Court would not be ousted of its jurisdiction to decide the question. All that the Civil Court would be compelled to hold would be that the requirements of the Court of Wards Act as to the consent of the Court of Wards were fulfilled. AIR 1960 All 339, Affirmed. Dwarka Nath v. Lalchand, (1965) 2 Law Rep 749 : (1965) 3 S C R 27 : (1965) 1 S C W R 947 : ILR (1965) 2 All 250 : AIR 1965 S C 1549 (1551) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 6).

——S. 37 (a)—Applicability — Family settlement to which ward is party—Validity.

Section 37 (a) places a disability on wards and prohibits them to transfer or create any charge on, or interest in, any part of the property which is under the superintendence of the Court of Wards. There is no question of a transfer or of the creation of any charge or interest in a family settlement. Hence a family settlement to which a ward is a party is not hit by S. 37 (a). 1959 All W R (HC) 85 : AIR 1959 All 473 (482) (Pt J) (Prs 33, 35) (DB).

——S. 37—Ward of Court — Position of cannot be equated to that of minor — Ward not properly represented in suit—Proceedings not rendered void—Effect of non-compliance of S. 56. See U. P. Court of Wards Act (4 of 1912), S. 56. A I R 1958 All 710 (DB).

——S. 37—Gift of property without consent of Court of Wards is invalid. A I R 1955 N U C (All) 5504 (DB).

——S. 37 — Interest in property — Grant of land by disqualified proprietor for planting fruit trees and to enjoy fruits and timber therefrom generation after generation—Grantee given exclusive possession — It amounts to grant of interest in property and as such void under S. 37—Easements Act (1882), S. 52.

Under the U. P. Court of Wards Act, the estate vests in the Court of Wards. The disqualified proprietor has no right to deal with it and it is the Court of Wards which is competent to grant leases, licenses, or execute other deeds dealing with that property. Even the personal rights of the disqualified proprietor are to some extent limited. He cannot create debts for which his Estate, which is in the possession of the Court of Wards, can be made liable. Hence while the Court of Wards is in possession of the property, the disqualified proprietor executes a deed of gift by which the grantee is given exclusive possession of the land with a right to plant trees on it and to enjoy the fruits and the timber, generation after generation. The mere right to appropriate the fruits and the timber would make it a licence coupled with a grant. 15 A L J 886, Rel. on. 1904 A C 405, Ref. 1952 All L J 330 : 1952 All W R (HC) 350 : A I R 1952 All 805 (807) (Pr 5) (DB).

——S. 45—Scope.

Section 45 applies to property which has legally vested in the Court of Wards by reason of the declaration under S. 10 of the Act and the superintendence of which has been continued by them even after the death of the ward. It is immaterial that an item of property was either in the possession of the ward or of his transferee or heirs. In the eye of law, unless such property was released from superintendence, it would remain under the superintendence of the Court of Wards even after the death of the ward. 1954 All W R (H C) 75 : 1953 All L J 595 : AIR 1954 All 164 (165, 166) (Pt A) (Pr 10) (DB).

——S. 49 (2)—Applicability.

Section 49 clearly deals with the property, the superintendence of which has been retained by the Court of Wards under the provisions of S. 45. If the superintendence over a property would be deemed to have been retained by the Court of Wards under the provisions of S. 45 the provisions of Cl. (2), S. 49 would apply to that property also. 1954 All W R (HC) 75 : 1953 All L J 595 : AIR 1954 All 164 (165, 166) (Pt B) (Pr 10) (DB).

● ——Ss. 56, 38, 55, 57 and 58 — Scope of — Suit between wards under same Court of wards—Procedure as to appointment of representatives.

Per Sarkar and S. K. Das, JJ. ; (Subba Rao, J., Contra.). The provision in S. 56, U. P. Court of Wards Act relating to the appointment of a representative for each of the wards of Court who have conflicting interest in a suit is only directory and not mandatory. A I R 1955 S C 233, Rel. on. Section 55 deals only with the name in which a ward may sue or be sued. Section 56 contemplates a stage where two or more wards are already parties to a litigation. It contemplates the wards suing or being sued, in the name of the Collectors in charge of their properties or of other persons appointed under S. 55. Notwithstanding this, S. 56 does not provide that the representatives appointed under it shall replace the Collector or the person appointed under S. 55, on the record of the litigation. Therefore if S. 56 is read as a directory provision, S. 55 would not become otiose. The position of a ward is the same whether the case is governed by S. 56, S. 57 or S. 58. Since the appointment of representatives was not intended by the legislature to be obligatory under Ss. 57 and 58, no more could the legislature have intended the appointment of representatives under S. 56 obligatory.

A compromise decree passed in a suit between two wards whose estates are under the management of the same Court of Wards is not rendered a nullity merely because the provision of S. 56 relating to the appointment of representative is not complied with. By virtue of S. 56 read with S. 38 the Court of Wards could itself settle a litigation in which two of its wards were involved even where representatives had been appointed under S. 56. The appointment of representatives could not, hence, have been intended to be obligatory. Drigraj Kuer v. Raja Sri Amar Krishna Narain Singh. RULE 2

——Rr. 2 (e), 4 (1) — Charge of personal immorality—Love affair with one woman—Sufficiency to constitute habit.

The word "habit" implies a tendency or capacity resulting from the frequent repetition of the same act.

Where all the acts committed by the Government servant were committed in one transaction and relating to one woman, and there was no allegation against him that he had sex relations with any other woman, no habit could be attributed to him on the basis of the single transaction though consisting of several acts and it cannot be held that he was suffering from any vicious habits relating to sex within the meaning of R. 4 (1). AIR 1960 All 754 (761) (Pt D) (Pr 14).

——R. 2 (d) — "Failure to discharge the duties properly" — Non-observance by Government servant of conduct rules amounts to such failure—U. P. Government Servants Conduct Rules, Rr. 10 (2), 11.

The expression "failure to discharge the duties properly" in R. 2 (d) is used in a wider sense as including failure to observe all the rules which are intended for the guidance of Government servants while they are holding any office under the Government. Acquisition of immovable property contrary to R. 10 (2) and R. 11 of the Government Servant's Conduct Rules, therefore, amounts to a failure to discharge one's duties properly. ——R. 4 (1) (b) and (d) — Averments in the charge-sheet attracting the above rules—Reference to Tribunal valid and Tribunal has jurisdiction to go into the matter — Jurisdiction of Court or Tribunal depends on the averments in the plaint or concerned document and not on the decision reached after enquiry. ——Rr. 4 (1) (d) and 2 (e)—"Personal immorality"—Ingredients and meaning of word "habit"—Single Judge's view affirmed. (Words and Phrases — "Habit.")

Three things are necessary to establish personal immorality; (1) a habit relating to drink, sex and gambling, (2) reducing the utility of the public servant and (3) the result of which reduction in utility is to cause damage to the Government or to the official generally in public esteem.

So long as the acts of immorality are confined to one woman, though repeated, it cannot constitute a "habit" within the meaning of the definition of "personal immorality." AIR 1927 Pat 126; AIR 1924 Nag 19 and Aver's Law Lexicon (1940). ILR (1963) 1 All 432 (DB).

——R. 4—'Co-opt' — Meaning of—Power of assessor to put questions to witnesses.

The word 'co-opt' in R. 4 means "to elect into a body by the votes of its existing members." The assessor in the case of the Tribunal Rules is therefore elected into the Tribunal though for the limited purpose of assisting it and does not become a part of the Tribunal, and there is nothing in the rules which prevents the assessor from putting some questions to the witnesses with the permission of the Tribunal. ——R. 4 (1) — Matter not covered by rules — Reference and report by tribunal—Value of.

Where the charges which the Tribunal has found proved against the petitioner could not have been referred to it by the Governor and could not have been enquired into by the Tribunal, the reference to the Tribunal and the report recorded by it are without jurisdiction and are liable to be quashed.

Further, though the provisions of Indian Evidence Act do not govern the proceedings before the Tribunal there are certain basic principles of evidence which no Tribunal can ignore and one of them is that evidence of doubtful nature, e. g., unsigned statements of a person, who has not been produced before the tribunal, recorded at the back of an accused person by an investigating officer who is also the prosecutor, should not be accepted. The findings of the Tribunal being based on such inadmissible evidence the procedure followed by it cannot be held to be appropriate. A I R 1960 All 754 (762) (Pt E) (Prs 15, 16).

RULE 8

● ——R. 8 — U. P. Police Regulations, Regn. 490—Enquiry against police officer for misdemeanours—No substantial difference between the procedures under the two sets of Rules. See Police Act (1861), S. 7. A I R 1961 S C 1245.

——R. 8—Procedure—Civil Service Rules — Distinction.

Rule 8 of the Tribunal Rules may reveal that the procedure for trial provided by rule this is summary and there are no set rules of procedure which can guide and control it in the conduct of the trial. All that is intended to convey by that rule is that the Tribunal is not bound by formal rules of procedure and evidence but can conduct its proceedings in a way which may result in a fair trial. A fair trial is fully contemplated by R. 8 and is guaranteed by the fact that one of the members of the Tribunal is a judicial officer having vast experience in the conduct of Court trials. The words in sub-rule (1) of Rule 8 are 'such enquiry as may be appropriate' without adding the words 'as may appear to the Tribunal'. This means that whether or not there has been an appropriate enquiry has got to be determined by an objective and not subjective test. There is, therefore, no marked difference between the procedure prescribed by R. 8 of the Tribunal Rules and R. 55 of the Civil Service Rules which from their language may on a first glance appear and it cannot be held that the procedure provided by R. 8 is more onerous and less favourable than the one provided by R. 55 of the Civil Rules. A I R 1960 All 754 (757) (Pt A) (Pr 6).

——Rr. 8, 12—Validity—If discriminatory.

In order to pass the test of permissible classification two conditions must be fulfilled, namely : (1) that the classification must be founded on intelligible differentia which differentiates persons or things which are grouped together from those which are left out of the group and (2) that the differentia must have a rational relation with the object sought to be achieved by the statute. 1955 S C J 163 : A I R 1955 S C 191, Rel. on.

A perusal of U. P. Tribunal Rules shows that those rules are not meant to govern the cases of all the Government servants but only those who are charged with the offences mentioned in R. 4 of the Rules. These rules therefore apply only to a class which they have created unlike the Civil Service Rules which apply to a large number of Government servants. The rule-making authority has thus created a special class and there is a rational relation of the differentia which distinguishes persons or things of that class to the object sought to be achieved by the rules creating that class.

Further, R. 12 provides that in cases which can fall under these rules, these rules alone will be applicable and other rules would not apply. The Tribunal Rules having been framed later in time will prevail over the Civil Service Rules in cases where they overlap.

There might have been some scope for holding that Art. 14 of the Constitution hits the Tribunal Rules if the Tribunal Rules could be held to be more onerous and less favourable than the Civil Service Rules but as this is not so and as Tribunal Rules apply to a particular class of cases, the Rules are not hit by Art. 14. A I R 1960 All 754 (759, 760) (Pt B) (Prs 7, 8, 9).

●——R. 10 — Recommendations made by Tribunal regarding punishment — Compulsory acceptance of recommendations by Governor — Provision as to— Validity — To the extent that R. 10 requires the Governor to accept the recommendation of the Tribunal the rule may be regarded as inconsistent with the Constitution—The partial invalidity of R. 10 does not affect the remaining rules. ——R. 10 (a)—Discretion of Governor in dismissing servant—Disciplinary Rules are administrative rules —Considerations inducing Governor to dismiss servant are not justiciable—(Constitution of India, Arts. 311 (2), 309, 310 and 226).

Where the Governor did exercise his discretion and did not act on mere recommendation of the Tribunal appointed under U. P. Disciplinary Proceedings (Administrative Tribunal) Rules, 1947, in ordering the dismissal of a police subordinate officer, and the officer had opportunity of showing cause against action proposed to be taken against him, it is not material that the Governor purported to act under R. 10 (1) of the disciplinary rules.

Moreover it makes no difference whether the Governor in arriving at his decision acted on the advice of the Tribunal or on an independent examination of the facts. Subject to the provisions of the Constitution the servant holds his office at the Governor's pleasure when the Governor has signified his pleasure, the considerations which induced him to do so are not justiciable.

The Governor's power to dismiss at pleasure is subject only to the express provisions of the Constitution. Power is conferred upon the Governor by Art. 309 to make rules regulating the conditions of service of civil servants of the State Government, but such power is subject, inter alia, to the provisions of Art. 310, and no rules can be made which fetter or restrict his power to dismiss at pleasure. The Disciplinary Rules were made prior to the commencement of the Constitution, and assuming they were validly made, they can have no greater effect or stand on a higher footing than rules made by the Governor under Art. 309. These rules (except R. 10 (1)) are administrative rules, and the contravention of their provisions will not confer upon the dismissed servant a cause of petition. A I R 1954 All 629 (632) (Pt B) (Prs 17 to 19) (DB).

——R. 10 (1) — Dismissal of Subordinate Police Officer — Governor need not consult Public Service Commission—(Government of India Act, 1935, S. 266 —Constitution of India, Art. 320 (3)).

Rule 10 (1) of the Disciplinary Rules provides that the Governor 'shall not be bound to consult the Public Service Commission on the Tribunal's recommendations. This provision was made under S. 266 (3) of the Government of India Act, 1935 which is in substantially the same terms as Cl. (3) of Art. 32) R. 10 (1) of the Disciplinary Rules was a vaild and effective provision in the case of a civil servant who was not a police officer of the subordinate ranks and the provision continued to be valid and effective after the Constitution came into force.

The case of a police officer of the subordinate ranks stands upon a somewhat different footing; for sub-s. (4) of S. 266 of the Government of India Act provides that nothing in that section shall require a Public Service Commission to be consulted in the case of the subordinate ranks of the various police forces in India as respects any of the matters mentioned in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of sub-s. (3) of that section. Paragraph (c) of sub-section (3) is similar in terms of sub-cl. (c) of Art. 320 (3) of the Constitution. Rule 10 (1) is therefore so far as the case of such officer is concerned, redundant and it assumed importance only upon the coming into force of the Constitution for the latter contains no provision corresponding to S. 266 (4) of the 1935 Act.

But the fact that the Rule was merely superfluous as regards the case of a particular class of Government servants prior to the commencement of the Constitution does not make it a rule which is invalid as regards that class after the Constitution came into force. The position prior to the Constitution was that consultation with the Public Service Commission was made unnecessary by S. 266 (4) and by the Rule. The Constitution repealed the section but it did not affect the validity of the rule; and it is not, therefore, necessary for the Governor to consult the State Public Service Commission prior to the dismissal of a Subordinate police officer. A I R 1954 All 629 (633) (Pt C) (Prs 21, 22) (DB).

The chairman cannot appoint a committee of inquiry. The procedure adopted by the Chairman of an informal committee is not one calculated to give a fair chance to the Secretary but at the same time the High Court cannot give any relief to the applicant Secretary in the matter as the committee has no statutory or legal extistence. The word 'fee' in S. 106 by itself denotes as to what kind of levy the District Board can impose. The legal significance of the word 'fee' is quite clear and its object is to recover money necessary for defraying the expenses of carrying out the purpose for which it is levied. The 'fees' that a District Board can impose must be 'fees' and not 'tax'. It cannot be said that the only restriction imposed on the District Board in determining the amount of fees is that which goes beyond the reasonable restrictions which may be imposed under Art. 19 (1)(f) of the Constitution. That restriction is certainly there, but the District Boards are statutory bodies having only those rights which are conferred upon them by the statute. The statute does not authorise them to impose taxes but only gives them a power to levy certain fees, and the Courts are entitled to determine whether they are reasonable. 1954 All LJ 405 : AIR 1954 All 675 (679) (Pt F) (Pr 17).

● ——S. 107—Scope—Employee of person under contract with Board—Molestation or obstruction of—No offence under S. 107.

Section 107 does not make obstruction or molestation of an employee of the persons under contract with the Board an offence. The section speaks of the obstruction or molestation of two classes of persons. One class of persons consists of persons employed by the District Board under the Act. The second class of persons consists of those who are under contract with the Board under the Act. An employee of the persons under contract with the Board does not come under any of the two classes. ——S 114 — Any one person—There is no indication either in the provisions of S. 142-A of the Government of India Act, 1935 or in the provisions of the Professions Tax Limitation Act which should justify interpreting the expression "any one person" in the restricted manner as not applying to juristic person. See Professions Tax Limitation Act (1941), S. 2. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 1694 (DB).

4. Government servant—If can be taxed.

——S. 114 (a) —Government servant—If can be taxed as resident.

Under S. 114 (a) in order to empower the District Board to levy a tax the assessee must either be residing in the rural area or carrying on business in the rural area. If one of the aforesaid conditions is fulfilled, the District Board's power to impose a tax on the assessee can be exercised. Therefore, where a Government servant is residing in a rural area, he can be taxed as resident though not on the ground that he was carrying on business. 1960 All L J 164.

——S. 114—Service under the Government.

The essence of service lies in the control which the alleged master exercises or can exercise over the manner in which the alleged servant carries out the duties he had undertaken to perform.

The agreement referred to the plaintiff company as licencees and purported to be in connection with the licence given to the plaintiff-company by the Governor-General in Council as represented by the Chief Operating Superintendent, East Indian Railway Administration. The licensees agreed to undertake the catering in the refreshment rooms at various railway stations and to run tea stalls.

Held, that the licensee plaintiff company was absolutely free to use its own discretion in respect of the matters about which nothing was said in the agreement in connection with the supervisory control of the Governor-General in Council, and the plaintiff company could not be said to be a servant of the Governor General in Council.

The payment of the annual rent for the use of the refreshment rooms and electric fittings including fans to the East Indian Railway Administration was not consistent with the relationship of master and servant and fitted in well with the status of the plaintiff company as licensees who had been allowed the use of those rooms and electric fittings.

The term that the licensees were to supply and maintain all necessary articles of furniture, etc., in the said refreshment rooms at their own expenses was inconsistent with the ordinary relationship of master and servant. If the plaintiff company was the servant, such articles would have been normally supplied by the master.

The term that the Administration agreed that telegrams ordering refreshments would be accepted for despatch by the said Railway free of charge did not fit in with the alleged relationship of the master and servant. The same could be said with respect to the stipulation by which the Railway Administration agreed to free carriage by rail of various articles required to be used in the said refreshment rooms and restaurant cars. Further, if a servant gets articles on behalf of his master, the loss, if any would be expected to be borne by the master and not by the servant. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 1694 (DB).

7. Explanation.

——S. 114 (as amended by U. P. Act XVI of 1934) —Explanation—Scope.

Liability to tax on circumstances and property is founded either on residence or the carrying on of business within the rural area. The only meaning that can properly be attributed to the last sentence of the Explanation to S. 114 is that a servant of Government or of a local body cannot be made liable to tax on the ground that he carries on business. It does not exclude his liability on the alternative basis, namely residence. Where the petitioner, who was a Tahsildar resided within the rural area, he was liable to circumstance and property tax and in determining his total taxable income for the purposes of assessment his salary as a Government servant could be included. 1959 All L J 158.

—Ss. 157 and 172 (1) and R. 9, made under S. 157 — Scope and effect — Power of District Board to grant a permanent lease of Nazul land without sanction of Collector.

It is obvious from a perusal of Ss. 157 and 172 (1) of the U. P. District Boards Act, that the rules made by the Provincial Government under S. 157 shall have the statutory force and would be as binding as any statutory provision in the Act. Rule 9 of the Rules framed clearly lays down that a lease for a period exceeding ten years but not exceeding 30 years shall receive the sanction of the Collector and when the term exceeds thirty years the previous sanction of the Commissioner shall be obtained.

When a lease of Nazul land comes within this rule and is made without the sanction as prescribed therein, it would be an invalid lease. Further the statute contemplates an express approval and not an implied one. 1950 All L J 925.

—S. 172 — Rules under S. 172 — If mandatory — R. 9 of Chap. VIII of the Rules — Lease by District Board without previous sanction of Collector — Validity.

It is obvious from a careful perusal of Ss. 157 and 172 that the rules made by the Provincial Government under S. 172 shall have the statutory force and would be as binding as any statutory provision in the Act itself.

Consequently a lease granted by a District Board and falling within the purview of R. 9 without the previous sanction of the Collector as required by the rule is invalid.

The sanction contemplated by the rule is an express sanction and not an implied one. 1950 All L J 925 (DB).

—Ss. 173, 174, 172 — Government Notifications of 31st December, 1955 and 24th June, 1958 in respect of age of retirement of employees of District Boards providing 55 years as the age of retirement and 58 years respectively — Age of superannuation at the time 60 years — Validity of — Constitution of India, Arts. 309, 14, 16.

Held on facts (1) that the notification was invalid in so far as it purported to reduce the superannuation age of the employee from 60 to 58 years and it was incumbent on the Board to give the required one year's notice to him, if the Board intended to terminate his service before he attained the age of 60 years. The power vested in the State Government under S. 173 (2) is of the same nature and content as the power which has been given to the Board under S. 173 (1). The power initially vested in the Board under S. 173 does not possess any legislative content so as to supersede contractual obligations and, on the other hand, is administrative in nature. The Board will not be competent to frame any regulation which may change the service conditions of its employees to their detriment with retrospective effect. As the Governor exercises a similar power under S. 173 (2), it is not open to him to make the notification retrospective so as to effect the service conditions of the employees of the Board without their consent. Power vested in Governor under S. 173 (2) is not analogous to one which he enjoys under the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution. Under Art. 309 the power vested in him being co-extensive with that of the legislature possesses a legislative content. That is not the case when he is exercising a power under S. 173 (2) which is administrative in character.

The powers exercised by the State Government for making rules and by the Board for making by-laws under Ss. 172, 174 of the Act respectively partake of a legislative character as they affect the public in general and provide for the fundamentals of the administration of local bodies. That is not the case, however, with the power which is exercised by the Board or by State in making regulations under S. 173 of the Act inasmuch as they are only in respect of matters relating to the internal management of the Board and do not concern the public at large or the fundamentals of the District administration. Regulations framed in exercise of this power, cannot have legislative content and must be held to be administrative in nature incapable of affecting the vested rights of the employees under their service agreement with the Board with retrospective effect. (2) That the continuance of Government Notifications of 31st December, 1955 and 24th June, 1958 reducing the superannuation age of District Board employees from 60 to 55 and then to 58 results as an arbitrary discrimination against them and as such they were hit by Arts. 14 and 16 of the Constitution. The decision of the State Government to provide different ages of superannuation for the employees of the local bodies of the urban and rural areas was not founded on any reasonable basis. There was no intelligible differentia between the aforesaid two classes of employees for fixing different ages of superannuation for them. (U. P. District Boards Act (1922), S. 174.)

1. Scope.
2. Licence fee—Legality.
3. Offensive trade.
4. Bye-laws ultra vires.
5. Appeal.

1. Scope.

●——Ss. 174 and 91 (k)—Scope—Power of District Board to frame bye-laws and prescribe fees — If taken away — U. P. Panchayat Raj Act, S. 111 — Scope and effect of.

The U. P. Panchayat Raj Act 26 of 1947, does not provide for control or regulation of trade, calling and profession mentioned in S. 91 (q) of the U. P. District Boards Act X of 1922 and hence the power of District Boards under S. 174 of that Act to frame bye-laws and to prescribe fees in that behalf has not been taken away by S. 111 of the Panchayat Raj Act.

Sections 15 and 16 of the Panchayat Act which provide for the duties of a Gaon Panchayat does not contain any provision corresponding to S. 91 (q) of the District Boards Act.

The power of regulation or control cannot be held of be covered by Cl. (c) of S. 15 of the Panchayat Raj Act. In the context of both the District Boards Act and the Panchayat Raj Act, the word 'sanitation' as used in S. 91 of the District Boards Act and S. 15 of the Panchayat Raj Act is confined to its ordinary meaning in relation to conservancy and drainage and the like with reference to the necessity of avoiding disease and cannot be given such a wide meaning as to inculde control or regulation of trades callings or practices. It must therefore be held that the Panchayat Raj Act does not provide for control and regulation of trades callings or practices like S. 91 (q) of the District Boards Act. The prescribed authority have no powers to frame bye-laws to control and regulate trades, callings and practices under S. 111 of Panchayat Raj Act independently on the basis of the wide words used therein. Since Ss. 15 and 16 of the Act do not deal with control and regulation of trades, callings and practices and there is no other provision of the Act which imposes a duty on Gaon Panchayats to control or regulate trades callings or practice the power under S. 111 does not extend to prescribing bye-laws for that purpose.

What S. 37 (d) of the Panchayat Raj Act refers to is what is provided in item 60, List 2 of Seventh Schedule of the Constitution and not fees properly so called. District Board, Ghazipur v. ●——S. 174—Bye-law under sub-s. (2) (1), prohibiting holding of market—Validity—(Constitution India, Art. 19 (1) (g)).

Sub-sections (1) and (2) (1) of S. 174, U. P. District Boards Act, 1922, show that the power of the Board to make bye-laws is to be exercised for the purpose of promoting or maintaining the health safety and convenience of the inhabitants of the area within its jurisdiction and that this power includes the power to regulate markets as mentioned in sub-s. (2) (1).

Where therefore certain District Board frames a bye-law to the effect that no person shall establish or maintain or run any cattle market in the District within its jurisdiction of the bye-law is not one passed for regulating the market but for prohibiting a person from holding it. Such a bye-law in face of the provisions of S. 174 is obviously beyond jurisdiction. The bye-law as well as the order under it interferes with the fundamental right of the petitioner under Art. 19 (g) as it prevents him from carrying on the business of holding the market. It is thus in conflict with Art. 19 (1) (g) and is void. Tahir Hussain v. The District Board, Muzaffarnagar. A I R 1954 S C 630 (631, 632) (Prs 2, 4).

—S. 174 — By-law regulating slaughter-houses — Prohibiting slaughter of bullocks within the area of the District Board — Validity — Art. 19 (1) (g) of Constitution if infringed.

A District Board is authorised by S. 174 of the U.P. Act X of 1922 to make by-laws for the purpose of regulating slaughter-houses and offensive and obnoxious trades calling or practices and prescribing fees. The power to regulate must be deemed to include the power to prohibit the same at particular places.

A by-law prohibiting the slaughter of bullocks at a slaughter-house within the limits of the District Board is not therefore prima facie ultra vires the powers under S. 174 of the Act.

The by-law does not prohibit the carrying on of any profession or trade and is not in contravention of Art. 19 (1) (g) of the Constitution ; further Art. 19 (6) of the Constitution expressly saves the operation of any existing law in so far as it imposes any reasonable restrictions in the interests of the general public. 1952 All W R (HC) 525 : 1952 All L J 672 : 1952 All Cr R 139 : 1953 Cr L J 332 : A I R 1953 All 95 (96) (Pr 2).

—S. 174—Bye-laws under, bye-law to manufacture of bricks before bye-laws came into force — Power of Board to impose tax.

The bye-laws framed under the Act by the District Board Lucknow are not retrospective in operation —Hence under Bye-law 6 the liability to tax can only arise if the manufacture of bricks or any act mentioned therein is after the bye-laws came into force. A Board clearly acts beyond its powers conferred by the bye-law if it imposes tax on sale of bricks which have been manufactured before the bye-laws came into force. AIR 1952 All 418 (418) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

2. Licence fee—Legality.

■ —Ss. 174 and 91 (q)—Regulations under Act and licence fee charged—Legality.

The fact that certain fees are levied on owners of mills under the U. P. Rice and Dal Mills Control Order, 1948 and the U. P. Pure Food Act cannot bar the District Boards from levying any further licence fees under S. 91 (q) of the U. P. District Boards Act read with S. 174 thereof. The fees levied under the Control Order of 1948 which depends for its existence on the Essential Supplies Act and under the U. P. Pure Food Act are for different purposes of those Acts. The fee charged by the District Board is for regulation of obnoxious trades and the purpose of this regulation is different from the purpose for which fees are levied under the Essential Supplies Act and the Pure Food Act. Under these circumstances there is no reason for striking down the regulatory provisions made under the District Boards Act and the licence-fee charged thereunder. The fact that there may be some overlapping between the regulatory provisions made under the U. P. Pure Food Act and those made under the District Boards Act can have no relevance on the validity of the bye-laws and the licence fee charged under them. District Board, Ghazipur v. ● —S. 174 (1) (k) — Power of 'regulation' includes power of issuing license — Town Area Committee would thus have power to frame bye-laws requiring taking out of licences in case it exercises its power of regulation under S. 26 (a) of the Town Areas Act in the same way as the District Board has the power of framing bye-laws under S. 174 (1) (k) requiring those carrying on certain trades to take out licences. See Municipalities—U. P. Town Area Act (2 of 1914), S. 26 (a). 1959 Cr L J 533 : AIR 1959 S C 480.

—S. 174 (2) (k)—Bye-laws under — Imposition of heavy licence-fee for running brick-kiln—Validity.

Section 174 (2) (k) of the U. P. District Boards Act provides that the District Board has power to frame bye-laws regulating slaughter-houses and offensive, dangerous and obnoxious trades, callings or practices and prescribing fees to defray the expenditure incurred by a Board for this purpose. This power is only confined to charging fee enough to defray expenditure incurred by the Board for that purpose. No fee can be charged to increase the general revenue of the Board.

Certain powers are given to the Board to impose taxes but it is not permissible for the Board under the garb of a licence fee to impose taxes. Hence the District Board has no power to impose heavy licence fee under S. 174 (2) (k) of District Boards Act for running a brick-kiln. AIR 1955 All 541 (542) (Pt C) (Pr 4).

—S. 174 — License fee — (Constitution of India, Art. 226—Extent of power).

If the licence fee has been imposed under S. 174 for regulating an offensive, dangerous or obnoxious trade, then the fee that can be charged must be more or less commensurate to defray the expenditure incurred by the Board and it cannot be any arbitrary sum with the object of making it a general source of revenue.

Held, that 'prima facie', it could be said that the income from the licence fee was such that it was necessarily in excess of the expenditure and was being used by the Board for purpose of augmenting their general revenue. In the summary proceedings under Art. 226 of the Constitution it was not possible to hold that the licence fee that was fixed by the District Board was excessive. 1954 All W R (H C) 615 : 1954 All L J 697 : AIR 1955 All 184 (185, 186) (Pt A) (Prs 9, 15) (DB).

AIR 1955 N U C (All) 2012.

—S. 174 (1)—Scope—Sub-section does not empower Board to make bye-law imposing licence fees or taxes.

Section 174 (1) authorises the Board to make bye-laws consistent with the Act for the purpose of promoting or maintaining the health, safety and convenience of the inhabitants and for the furtherance of the administration of the district under this Act, but it does not say whether a bye law framed under this sub-section may also impose licence fees or taxes. It gives a general power to the District Board to make bye-laws for the purposes mentioned therein. The clauses contained in sub-s. (2) are really illustrations of the power contained in sub-s. (1), and they show what nature of power has been conferred on the Board by S. 174 (1). The power, contained in sub-s. (1) should be read as ejusdem generis to the powers contained in the different clauses of sub-s. (2).

Even if it be assumed that it had the power to levy licence fees, its powers should be read to be the same as contained in the different clauses enumerated in sub-s. (2).

If the fees imposed by this bye-law cannot be validated under S. 174 (2) (k), it cannot be validated under S. 174 (1). 1954 All L J 405 : AIR 1954 All 675 (678) (Pt E) (Pr 16).

——S. 174 (2) (k)—Licence-fee.

The licence-fee contemplated by S. 174 (2) (k) is a fee which will only cover, more or less, the actual and special expenses incurred by the board in regulating the trade and it cannot be levied for the purpose of augmenting the general revenue. 1953 All L J 60 : 1953 All W R (H C) 114 : ILR (1954) 1 All 127 : AIR 1953 All 415 (416) (Prs 5, 6) (DB).

——S. 174 (2) (k) and S. 174 (1)—Bye-laws under—Bye-law 6, imposing licence fee for working factory crushing sugarcane or flour mills, sawing-mills, etc., is ultra vires—Fees and taxes, distinction — Constitution of India, Arts. 265, 13 (1), Sch. 7, List I, Item 96; List II. Item 66 ; List III Item 47.

Byel-aw No. 6 of the bye-laws framed by the District Board of Saharanpur, under S. 174 (2) (k), U P. District Boards Act, which were published in the Gazette, dated the 28th May 1949, imposing a licence fee mentioned in bye-law 3 for working of factories (sugar factories, saw mills, oil mills, rice mills, etc.,) is ultra vires the Board.

Held, that the amount of licence fee fixed under the bye-law was not fixed with the object of meeting merely the expenses of regulating the trade or of meeting the expenses that became necessary by virtue of the framing of these bye-laws, but that the fee was fixed with a view to enhance the general revenues of the District Board.

The main characteristics of a licence fee are, that the fee is imposed on trade or calling itself, and not on the income derived from the trade or calling; that the licence fee cannot be imposed for raising the general revenues but only for purposes of being spent over the regulation of the trade or calling; and that it must bear a relation to the expense that was expected to be incurred in doing so.

The burden of proving that the levy is not what it purports to be on the face of it, lies on the person, who says that it is not fee but a tax. The question is really one of fact.

The Court cannot accept that there is a rational nexus between the amount of the fee and the expenses, and the same are very close to each other because the Board the levying authority says that it is so. If allegations like these accepted it would amount to accepting the ipse dixit of the Board.

Where definite facts have been asserted in the affidavit filed by the petitioners along with the petitions, which have given the approximate amount of money recovered as the licence fee by the Board every year, and it is also said that not a single officer, of the Board visited or inspected any of the factories belonging to the petitioners and to others, nor has the District Board spent anything on the working of the by-law under which the licences had been issued, and there is a clear assertion that there has been no increase in the staff of the Public Health Department at all since the introduction of the bye-law and no special staff has been employed by the Board for the purpose of regulating the petitioners' trades, nor has any additional expenditure been incurred due to the enforcement of these bye-laws, in controverting these assertions, the Board should file their accounts.

Mere extracts from the account-books typed on separate sheets of paper which are not even copies of the account books, cannot be of any possible assistance. The omission of the District Board to file the account books, in spite of an opportunity being given to it, goes against the District Board, and this fact can be taken into consideration in coming to a conclusion on the facts that have to be decided in the case. 1954 All L J 405 : A I R 1954 All 675 (677, 679, 680) (Pt A) (Prs 7, 10, 16, 21 to 23).

The appeal that is provided by S. 186, is against any order or direction made by a Board under a bye-law passed under S. 174 (2) (k) of the Act, but it does not provide for an appeal to challenge the validity of the bye-law itself. Section 186 does not confer any right of appeal against the resolution of a Board passing a bye-law.

Consequently the writ application challenging the validity of the bye-law, cannot be attacked on ground that the applicants should have moved under S. 186. 1954 All L J 405 : AIR 1954 All 675 (678) (Pt D) (Pr 15).

The powers conferred upon an Inspector by the rule are intended as an extension of and not as a substitute for the disciplinary powers of the principal on whom rests the responsibility for the maintenance of discipline. The rule does not confer upon the Inspector a power to pass an order of rustication unless the principal is of opinion that such an order is necessary and requests the Inspector to make it. The initiation of the making of an order of rustication must come from the principal. The mere concurrence of the principal in an order the Inspector proposes to make is not sufficient to clothe the latter with the power to order rustication. 1958 All W R (HC) 200 : (1958) All L J 117.

——S. 2 (7) (as amended in 1948) — Gate-keeper is not a proprietor.

Obiter.—A gate-keeper, whose sole function is to allow persons inside the hall and who has no control over the show, is not a person contemplated by the word 'proprietor' in the Act, as he cannot be said to be responsible for management of the entertainment. SECTION 3

——Ss. 3, 4 (1) and 5 — 'Person who has some duty to perform in connection with the entertainment'— Meaning of — Persons engaged for publicity outside place of entertainment admitted without ticket — Proprietor is guilty under S. 5.

The exemption under S. 4 cannot possibly refer to persons who have some duty to perform outside the place of entertainment about whose entry inside the place of entertainment no question in such cases arises. Therefore, for the purposes of S. 4 of the Act persons who have some duty to perform in connection with the entertainment inside the place of entertainment must be treated differently from the persons who have some duty to perform in connection with the entertainment outside that place.

Hence band-men and board boys who are engaged for the purposes of publicity and for distribution of handbills outside the place of entertainment cannot be considered to be persons who have 'some duty to perform in connection with the entertainment' and if they are admitted in the cinema house without any ticket and free of charges the proprietor would be guilty under S. 5 of the Act. 1952 All L J 658 : 1952 Cri L J 1433 : 1952 All W R (HC) 255 : AIR 1952 All 799 (800, 801) (Prs 10, 11, 13).

——S. 70 (1) (a)— Police officer when competent to file complaint as Excise Officer — S. 3 (2).

Even though one may be a police officer by appointment, one may, for certain purposes, be clothed with the office of an excise officer provided that one is invested by the Local Government or the State Government, by notification with one more of the powers under S. 10 of the Act. And if a police officer is so invested with powers, irrespective of the purpose for which the powers may have been conferred upon him, he comes under the definition of an Excise Officer and therefore becomes entitled to make a complaint or report on which a Magistrate can take cognizance of the offences mentioned in S. 70 (1) (a) of the Act. Rule 48 of Part II of Vol. I of the U. P. Excise Manual shows that all police officers, from chaukidar upwards, are competent as excise officers to make a complaint or report in respect of offences mentioned in S. 70 (1) (a) of the Act and the proper Magistrate will have jurisdiction to take cognizance of those offences on such a report. Notification No. 578 of 13-7-1910, by the State Government, invests all police officers in charge of stations, among other persons, with the powers specified in S. 50 of the Act in respect of offences punishable under S. 60, Cls. UTTAR PRADESH EXCISE MANUAL PARAGRAPH 384

——Paras. 384 and 385 — Powers of District Magistrate—Grant of licences.

The grant of a licence within the municipal limits can only be done by the advice of the Municipal Excise Advisory Committee and the Collector is not right in acting upon the recommendation made by the District Advisory Committee. Paragraph 384 (1) of the Excise Manual authorises the Excise Advisory Committee to hold its meeting by the 31st October. In case the Advisory Committeee fails to convene the meeting within that time, it may be said that two options are open to the District Magistrate. He may either convene a meeting of the Excise Advisory Committee under cl. (3) of para. 384 of the Excise Manual and then act on its recommendation under para. 385 or to exercise his own powers and grant a licence. The District Magistrate having exercised his option to convene a meeting of the Advisory Committee, cannot subsequently say that the proceedings of the District Advisory Committee should be treated as a nullity and the order granting the licence should be considered not one under para. 385, but one in the exercise of his independent right. 1958 All W R (H C) 110 : 1958 All Cri R 9 : 1957 All L J 919.

UTTAR PRADESH FIRST OFFENDERS PROBATION ACT (6 of 1938)

——S. 3—'Restraint of Court'—Revision against order maintaining conviction but releasing accused on probation — No Court-fees is payable. See Court Fees Act (1870), S. 19 (xvii). 1964 All L J 665 : A I R 1967 All 81.

——S. 3—Penal Code (1860), S. 457—Offence under —S 3 does not apply.

Where one of the several persons is apprehended in the act of committing lurking house trespass or house breaking by night, with certain property belonging to the person whose house is broken open or trespassed upon the offence is of a serious character and not of a trivial nature within S. 3.

Section 3 makes an exception in the case of an offence of theft simpliciter and not in the case of an offence under S. 457, I. P. C. 1960 All W R (HC) 135 ; 1960 All Cri R 116 : 1960 All L J 209.

——S. 3 —'Convicted'—Meaning of—If same as found gulity—Person released after due admonition — If "convicted" of an offence involving moral turpitude under S. 5-A (h), U. P. Panchayat Raj Act — Panchayats — U. P. Panchayat Raj Act (26 of 1947), S. 5-A).

Before an offender can be released after due admonition under S. 3, U. P. First Offender's Probation Act, the Court has to find him guilty of the offence with which he is charged, and it is immaterial whether the section states that the offender is 'convicted' of the offence or that he is 'found guilty' of the offence. The two expressions have the same meaning. Hence, a person who is released after admonition under S. 3 in respect of an offence of theft must be held to have been convicted of an offence involving moral turpitude within the meaning of Cl. (h) of S. 5-A, U. P. Panchayat Raj Act and is disqualified from being chosen as a sarpanch. 1959 All L J 678.

——S. 3—Order under —Appeal—If lies.

The U. P. First Offenders Probation Act does not confer any right of appeal against an order made under S. 3 of the Act. 1950 A W R 678 : A I R 1951 All 442 (442) (Pr 4).

—— S. 4—Applicability—Tests of —Accused 13 years of age committing offence under S. 376, I. P. C.— Order giving benefit of S. 4 held proper.

The test for excluding the application of S. 4 of the Act is that the offence complained of should be punishable with death or imprisonment for life and nothing less than it, even in the alternative. Thus the criterion to determine the applicability of S. 4 of the U. P. First Offenders Probation Act is the minimum penalty prescribed under a particular section and not the maximum penalty. AIR 1954 All 580 Dist.

In a sessions trial under S. 376, Penal Code the offence was brought home to an accused. A, of 13 years of age for committing rape on minor girl of about 6 years. The Sessions Judge gave him benefit of S. 4 of U. P. First Offenders Probation Act. A was ordered to execute personal bond for Rs. 500/- with two sureties in like amount and be of good behavour for 2 years. In case of breach A was to undergo R. I. for 2 years under S. 376, I. P. C. In revision by State.

Held, that keeping in view the young age of A it was not in the interest of justice or the larger interest of the society that he should have been sent to jail and be thus allowed to come in contact with hardened criminals. The sentence was not enhanced. The order of Sessions Judge was an appropriate and proper order, because under S. 376, I. P. C. A could also have been convicted to imprisonment of 10 years and of fine. 1962 All Cri R 316 : 1962 All W R (HC) 561 ; 1962 All L J 720.

The Magistrate ought to have ordered the opposite party to be of good behaviour and to keep the peace during the period of probation—Further he ought not to have laid down that he would be called upon to receive severe punishment if he repeated the offence; he had no jurisdiction to pass such an order. He should have confined himself to the order that he was required to pass under S. 4 and ought not to have gone out of his way to pass an arbitrary order. 1956 Cri L J 659 ; 1955 All L J 757 : 1955 All W R (HC) 607 ; AIR 1956 All 326 (328) (Pt B) (Pr 9) (DB).

UTTAR PRADESH FOODGRAINS CONTROL ORDER (1949)

——Cl. 3 (2)—Scope—Expression 'for sale'—Meaning of—(Words and Phrases—For sale).

Where in a trial for purchase of controlled foodgrains without licence the accused persons conceded that they did buy foodgrains, but urged that, in absence of the proof that the purchase was for the purpose of sale it did not amount to offence under Clause 3 (2).

Held, that the expression "for sale" was confined to the verb "store" immediately preceding the expression "for sale". So the buying under sub-cl. (2) of Cl. 3 need not be for sale.

Held further that in view of Proviso 6 to Cl. 3 such an interpretation would not hit the ordinary consumer, who buys grain for his personal use. In case an accused person wants to take the benefit of Proviso 6, he must however plead and bring his case under that proviso. Where the accused persons made no such attempt the Court may take it that, their case does not fall under Proviso 6. 1958 Cri L J 114 (Prs 5, 6, 7) (All).

——Cl. 3 (2)—Storing for sale — Interpretation of—Mere possession of articles or carrying them for sale is no offence. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 7. A I R 1955 N U C (All) 2023.

——Cl. 3 (1)—Interpretation — Provision ambiguous —Benefit should be given to accused—Mens rea.

The provisions of law as stated in Cl. 3 are ambiguously worded and in interpreting the same benefit should be given to the accused.

The words 'store for sale' in Cl. 3 (1) imply that the person contravening the provision shall have the power to sell the stored commodity. But where the position of the godown keeper was merely that of a bailee, the goods having been left at his godown not 'for sale' but for safe custody, on payment of hire money for the use of space, he could not be convicted for stocking the articles in his godown than the owner of the land in the open bazar can be convicted for allowing the prohibited goods to be kept on his land for the purpose of sale by their owners.

Further, mens rea is ordinarily the basis of all criminal offences unless its application is specifically excluded by the words of the statute. In the case of a godown keeper mens rea is lacking. 1952 All L J 571 : 1953 Cri L J 336 : A I R 1953 All 101 (102, 103) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 6).

——Preamble—Essential Supplies Temporary Powers Act (1946), Ss. 3, 4 — Notification No. PY. 603 (2) I, dated 21-10-1946 as amended by Notification No. C. G. 603 (2)-III (1), dated 5-3-1947 and Notification No. PY 603 (2)-VI (1), dated 15-11-1947 — Notification No. C. G. 603 (2)-III (2), dated 5-3-1947 and Notification No. PY. 603 (2)-VI (2), dated 15-11-1947—Effect of.

The U. P. Foodgrains (Future and Options Prohibition) Order, 1945, was continued in force first by S. 5, Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Ordinance, 1946 and then by S. 17, Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946 but was withdrawn by S. 9, U. P. Foodgrains (Futures and Options Prohibition) Order, 1951. By Notification No. PY. 603 (2)-I, dated 21-10-1946, the Central Government directed that the powers conferred on it by S. 3 (1) of the 1946 Ordinance should, in relation to foodstuffs, be exercisable by the Provincial Government. By Notification No. C. G. 603 (2)-III (1), dated 5-3-1947 and Notification No. PY 603 (2), VI (1) dated 15-11-1947, the earlier Notification No. 603 (2)-I, dated 21-10-1945, was amended by inserting therein the words 'edible oils and oilseeds' and 'pulses other than gram' and thereby excluding those commodities from the scope of the legislation. As a result of these amendments the Provincial Governments could not, from and after the respective dates of those amending Notifications, make any order controlling production supply, distribution of or trade and commerce in those commodities. These Notifications did not purport to affect Notifications that had been previously made. But simultaneously with these amending Notifications two or more Notifications were issued, namely, Notification No. C. G. 603 (2)-III (2), dated 5th March, 1947, and Notification No. PY. 603 (2)-VI (2); dated the 15th November, 1947. By these Notifications the Central Government directed that no order made or deemed to be made under the Act by a Provincial Government should have effect so as to prohibit or restrict the movement of edible oils and oilseeds and pulses other than gram or to regulate or control the price, production or distribution of those commodities in any way. As a result of the joint operation of these Notifications the 1945 Order ceased to have effect so as to prohibit or restrict the movement of edible oils and oilseeds and pulses other than gram or to regulate or control the price, production or distribution of those commodities. Trade or commerce in any commodity cannot be controlled unless the price, production, distribution and movement of that commodity can also be controlled. It follows, therefore, that these two Notifications of 1947 quite effectively superseded the 1945 Order so far as it purported to regulate or control the price, production, distribution and movement of or trade and commerce in edible oils and oil-seeds and pulses other than gram. CLAUSE 9

● ——Cl. 9 — Validity — Supreme Court Judgment, dated 15-5-1952—Interpretation and effect of—U. P. Foodgrains (Futures and Options Prohibition) Order, 1945, is not revived.

It is wholly incorrect to say that the judgment pronounced by the Supreme Court on 15-5-1952 declared the U, P. Foodgrains (Futures and Options Prohibition) Order, 1951, ultra vires and invalid in its entirety. That judgment only declared it invalid to the extent of the restrictions complained of by the then petitioners, namely, in so far as it purported to restrict dealings in edible oils and oilseeds and pulses other than gram. The rest of that Order of 1951 and n particular Cl. 9 by which the 1945 Order had been withdrawn remained unaffected by that judgment. In the circumstances, the Order of 1945 cannot be regarded as having been revived by the judgment in respect of edible oils and oilseeds and pulses other than gram in spite of the express withdrawal of that order by Cl. 9 of the Order of 1951 which otherwise remains operative. It was not necessary for the Provincial Government to have reproduced the provision making an attempt to contravene the order punishable in the Foodgrains (Movement) Control Order, 1947, as the Order was passed in accordance with the powers given under S. 3 of Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, and under S. 8 of the Act an attempt to contravene the order is deemed to amount to a contravention of that order and is punishable as such. An order of the District Magistrate is not necessary to create corridor. If the District Magistrate has not issued an order fixing a corridor of less width than that fixed in the control order, the corridor in his district will be taken to be of just ten miles width. AIR 1952 All 621 (622) (Pt A) (Pr 4).

—Cl. 3 (ii)—Width of corridor — Burden of proof —Evidence Act (1872), S. 106.

It is obligatory upon the prosecution to prove that the corridor in a district is of 10 miles width and it cannot prove this without proving that the District Magistrate has not reduced the width. Even if it is a negative fact it is a fact within the special knowledge of the prosecution. The prosecution must prove that the place to which the accused were carrying the foodgrain was really inside the corridor, as a matter of a fact, and cannot rely upon what the accused thought. AIR 1952 All 621 (622) (Pt B) (Pr 5).

—Cl. 3 (ii) —"Or such lesser . . . . may prescribe" Words if inserted by way of exception — Burden of proof—Evidence Act (1872), S. 105 — Interpretation of Statutes—Exception.

Where an exception is contained in the definition itself, the prosecution must prove not only that the case is covered by the main or positive provision but also that it is not covered by the exception. The subsequent exemption is a matter of defence and it is for the accused to show that he is exempted from the penalty.

The words "or such lesser distance as the District Magistrate having jurisdiction in the area may prescribe", do not create an exception to the rule that the corridor would be of 10 miles width and hence it cannot be contended that if an accused wants to bring his case within an exception he must prove that it is covered by the exception. UTTAR PRADESH FOREST SERVICE RULES

● —R. 16—Scope of — Probationer—Confirmation —Conditions—Automatic confirmation after expiry of probationary period—If effected—(Constitution of India, Arts. 310 and 311).

A Government servant on probation is not to be deemed to be confirmed on the expiry of the period of of his probation, if no orders confirming him in his substantive post or extending his period of probation are passed by the competent authority. AIR 1957 Punj 191 and AIR 1958 Mad 216, Rel. on; AIR 1959 All 536 and ILR (1959) 1 All 226, Overruled.

If within a reasonable time the authority does not pass an order confirming him or extending his period of probation or terminating his service it will still not lead to the assumption that he has been confirmed; his remedy would simply be to apply for a mandamus calling upon the authority to pass an appropriate order within a certain time. Rule 16 of the U. P. Forest Service Rules required certain conditions to be fulfilled before a person was confirmed. AIR 1957 Punj 191 and AIR 1958 Mad 216, Rel. on. Chief ——R. 56 — Scope — Government servant cannot claim extension of service upto 60 years as of right.

Latter part of R. 56 (a) enables the Government to retain a Government servant after the completion of 55 years. The Government servant cannot claim extension of service as a matter of right. Retention in service beyond 55 years is in the discretion of Government. A Government servant cannot claim extension in Government service upto 60 years, simply because he got extension of service by a few months after completing 55 years under the proviso to R. 56 (a) of the Fundamental Rules and under the second notification dated 25-5-61. —S. 6 — Applicability — Amendments — (General Clauses Act (1897), S. 6.)

Section 6 deals with the effect of repeal of Acts. Admittedly it does not deal expressly with the effect of amendment of an Act, but there is no other law which lays down the effect of amendment of an Act. It is not correct to say that when an Act is repealed and another Act is re-enacted, S. 6 cannot apply. As a matter of fact a majority of repealing Acts are those which re-enact the law. In essence there is no distinction between such laws and laws which merely profess to amend. If the amendment of the existing law is small, the Act professes to amend; if it is extensive, it repeals the law and re-enacts it. A I R 1938 All 3. Dissented from. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act (III of 1947), S. 7)—(Words and Phrases—Judicial or quasi-judicial order) — (Constitution of India, Art. 226).

The power of an authority to modify its own order or the order of a co-ordinate or subordinate authority varies according to the nature of the order. Ordinarily finality attaches to a judicial or a quasi-judicial order. If the authority passing the order wishes to modify or rescind the said order, it has to act within the provisions of law conferring power of review. Similarly, if it is desired to modify or cancel judicial or quasi-judicial order passed by a subordinate authority or an authority exercising concurrent jurisdiction, the power must be expressly conferred by some provisions of law.

Greater latitude is permissible in the case of an administrative or executive order. Such an order may be modified or revoked by the authority passing it under S. 21, U. P. General Clauses Act (1 of 1904).

The term 'judicial or quasi-judicial' has been given a liberal interpretation so as to include orders by tribunals or authorities other than the regular Courts of justice.

To constitute a quasi-judicial or a judicial order, the authority passing the order should be under an obligation to hear the parties, to make an enquiry, to weigh the evidence and to base its conclusion thereon. Its decision should be based on the result of the enquiry and not on its own discretion.

An order of allotment passed under S. 7, Rent Control and Eviction Act is an executive or administrative order and not a judicial or quasi-judicial order.

Hence the Rent Control and Eviction Officer can modify or cancel his previous order of allotment. But this power can be exercised so long as the allottee acting in pursuance of the order does not take possession of the accommodation. 1955 All L J 252 : AIR 1955 All 501 (502 to 504) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 7, 9, 11, 13, 15) (DB).

——S. 21—District Magistrate as superior authority cannot upset order of allotment of Rent Control and Eviction Officer — (Houses and Rents—U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act (3 of 1947), S. 7).

Where a power is exercised by a public servant under statutory sanction, that power can be exercised by him alone and not by any superior authority. The superior authority may give him suggestion and may even ask him to reconsider his decision leaving to him the freedom to change its mind or not. If in such circumstances the officer who originally passed the order, changes his mind and arrives at a contrary conclusion; the order will be perfectly valid because it would be the order of the original authority and not of the higher authority.

But the higher authority cannot by its own order set aside the order of the inferior authority and assume to itself an appellate or revisional power which has not been conferred upon it by the statute. Hence the District Magistrate acting not as an authority of co-ordinate jurisdiction but as a superior authority cannot upset the order of allotment of the Rent Control and Eviction Officer. 1955 All L J 252 : AIR 1955 All 501 (504) (Pt C) (Pr 21) (DB).

——S. 21 — Order of allotment by Rent Control and Eviction Officer — If can be cancelled in pursuance of order of superior authority—(Houses and Rents—U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act (3 of 1947), S. 7).

The Rent Control and Eviction Officer cannot lawfully cancel his own order when that cancellation is not the result of the exercise of his own discretion but is brought about in pursuance of an order of a superior authority. The revised order although passed by the Rent Control and Eviction Officer could not be upheld by invoking the aid of S. 21, U. P. General Clauses Act. 1955 All L J 252 : AIR 1955 All 501 (505) (Pt D) (Pr 26) (DB).

Ghee (Movement) Control Order, 1945, issued by the Governor in exercise of the powers conferred by R. 81, sub-r. (2), Defence of India Rules, continued in force from 1st October 1946, in view of S. 5 of the Ordinance 18 of 1946 and after the repeal of that Ordinance in view of S. 17, sub-s. CLAUSE 3 ——Cl. 3 — Contravention of Cl. 3, if punishable under S. 7, Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946—Interpretation of Statutes—"Order deemed to be made".

The omission of the words "or Order deemed to be made" which occurred in the penalty provision in S. 8, Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Ordinance (18 of 1946 from its corresponding S. 7, Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946 does not mean that the Legislature considers that the contravention of such Order is not punishable. When a certain Order is said to be deemed to be an Order made under a certain section, it must mean that for all purposes, that Order has been passed under that particular section. It is deemed to be an Order under that section, because it was not actually passed under that section, but in all other respects it is as good as an order passed under that section. Hence, the contravention of clause 3, U. P. Ghee (Movement) Control Order, 1945 is punishable under S. 7, Essential Supplies (Temporary Power) Act (24 of 1946). 1950 All L J 475 : 1950 All Cri Cas 205 : 1950 All W R 592 : AIR 1950 All 657 (659) (Pt C) (Prs 6, 7).

——Examination Rules for Government Technical Institutions, R. 4—Nature of—If Government Orders —Statutory force—(Constitution of India, Art 154).

The Manual appears to be nothing more than a compilation of various Government orders issued by the U. P. Government from time to time. It is not proved that these orders were issued under any statutory authority. The rules are therefore merely executive orders. Further, Art. 154 of the Constitution merely specifies the authority which is invested with the executive power of the State, authorises him to exercise it either himself or through officers subordinate to him. Therefore, Art. 154 is not of itself sufficient to clothe a Government order with the attributes of a statutory notification so as to bring it within the rules relating to the issue of a writ of mandamus. U. P. GUR CONTROL (MOVEMENT) ORDER (1945)

——Ultra vires — Order not ultra vires Provincial Legislature—Government of India Act (1935), S. 297.

The prohibition contained in S. 297, Government of India Act, is confined to the action of the Provincial Legislature or Government in the exercise of the power entrusted to it by virtue of an entry in the Provincial Legislative List relating to trade and commerce, etc. In other words, where the Provincial Legislature or Government makes any law or takes any executive action in the exercise of the power conferred upon it under the Provincial Legislative List, namely, List 2 of Sch. 7 to the Government of India Act, then and then alone does S. 297 come into play and prevents the Provincial Legislature or Government from prohibiting or restricting the entry into or export from the Province of goods of any class or description. This does not mean, however, that the Provincial Government cannot take any action prohibited under S. 297 in exercise of the powers which may be validly conferred upon it under some other provision of law, e.g., by an enactment of the Central Legislature. The U. P. Gur Control Movement Order was made in exercise of the powers conferred upon the Provincial Government not by virtue of the entry in the Provincial Legislative List but by virtue of a Central enactment, namely, the Government of India Act and the Defence of India Rules. PREAMBLE —Preamble—Mere erroneous mention of sub-s. (1) instead of sub-s. (2) of S. 229, Government of India Act (1935) in Preamble does not make amendment illegal—Government of India Act (1935), S. 229.

Under no provision of law it is necessary that the authority that has been given power to issue certain directions or orders shall, while issuing those directions or orders, state under what specific power such orders or directions are being issued by it and that unless this is done such directions or orders would be invalid. The Governor-General had the power under sub-s. (2) of S. 229, Government of India Act to add a further proviso to Art. 8 of the U P. High Courts (Amalgamation) Order, 1948, and the United Provinces High Courts (Amalgamation) (Amendment) Order, 1948 was issued in the exercise of that power. The mere fact that in the preamble to that Order sub-s. (1) was erroneously mentioned in place of sub-s. (2) of S. 229, Government of India Act, would not make the order illegal. 51 Cri L J 513 : AIR 1950 All 162 (166) (Pt C) (Pr 14).

A I R 1952 All 550 : I L R (1951) 1 All 568 ; 1952 Cri L J 982, Overruled. If correctly interpreted the propositions that follow from Cls. 3 and 14 of the Amalgamation Order are these. (1) The new High Court is one and indivisible. (2) The new High Court can sit at Allahabad or such other places as may be appointed by the Chief Justice and the Governor but at least two Judges of the High Court must sit at Lucknow. (3) The Judges sitting at Lucknow can deal only with cases arising in Oudh. (4) The rest of the High Court which is not sitting at Lucknow is to deal ordinarily with the cases arising outside Oudh, but continues to have the power and jurisdiction which can be exercised throughout the State including the area of Oudh, That power has not been taken away. (5) That even while a Bench of the High Court is sitting at Lucknow to deal with Oudh cases, the Chief Justice may direct a particular case or a particular class of cases arising in Oudh to be heard at Allahabad. If therefore the appellant presented his appeal to the Court at Allahabad, it cannot be said that the appeal was presented to an authority which could not entertain it. The appeal cannot therefore be ordered to be returned for presentation to proper Court. Nor can it be dismissed as improperly presented. In fact under the second proviso to Cl. 14 of the Amalgamation Order the Chief Justice can even direct that the appeal be heard at Allahabad. A I R 1949 All 190 and A I R 1950 All 485, Disting. —Cl. 14—Scope—Origin of case in Meerut area — Final order passed by authority functioning at Lucknow — Writ petition before Lucknow Bench — Maintainability—(Constitution of India, Art. 226).

Held, that the Lucknow Bench could not entertain a petition. It was only when a case arose within an area which was amenable to the jurisdiction of the Lucknow Bench under the Amalgamation Order that it could entertain and hear such petitions. The Amalgamation Order which replaced the earlier Letters Patent was a kind of Charter which created a new High Court and Lucknow Bench was the integral part of it. The reference to the expression "jurisdiction and powers for the time being vested" in Cl. 14 of the said Order must refer to all such powers and jurisdictions of the new High Court, as it possessed by virtue of being a High Court whether those powers and jurisdictions were there or not at the date when the Amalgamation Order was made. —Cl. 14—Powers of Lucknow Bench.

The phrase 'cases arising' must relate to the origin of a case, that is, these words must refer to the place or area of origin of the dispute. The Lucknow Bench possesses all the plenary powers of the new High Court. The powers which are exercised by Judges sitting at Lucknow are those which are vested in the Judges of the Allahabad High Court;: there is no restriction on those powers. What is, so to speak, restricted by the provisions of the Proviso of Cl. 14 is the territory from where a cause has arisen in respect of which such powers could be exercised. Though the record was at Allahabad, the Lucknow Bench could issue a writ quashing the order borne on that record. I L R (1959) 1 All 529 : 1959 All L J 514 : 1959 All W R (HC) 380 : A I R 1959 All 460 (461, 462, 463) (Pt A) (Prs 7, 9 to 11, 16) (DB).

The word 'cases' refers to the cases which come up for decision before the High Court and not to the cases pending in lower Courts which may have given rise to the cases coming up before the High Court. Where the case the High Court is dealing with is a Criminal Miscellaneous case for transfer of another case that is pending in the Court of the Special Magistrate at Lucknow, the case for transfer is a case which has arisen in Lucknow and consequently under the proviso to Cl. Revision application filed in Allahabad High Court against the dismissal of an appeal in a criminal case heard by a Magistrate in Bareilly cannot be said to be a case arising in Avadh merely by reason of the fact that the Chief Justice passed an administrative order that it be listed before the Lucknow Bench and so the Lucknow Bench :constituted as it is under the first proviso of Art. 14 of the Order would have no jurisdiction to hear the same. 1950 All W R (H C) 30 : 1950 All Cri Cas 12 : 1952 Cri L J 982 : ILR (1951) 1 All 568 : AIR 1952 All 550 (553, 554) (Pt A) (Prs 8, 10) (DB).

● —Preamble—Validity of Act — (Constitution of India, Art. 254 (2)—(Industrial Disputes Act (1947)).

Per V. Bhargava, J.—The U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 was reserved by the Governor of Uttar Pradesh for the assent of the Governor-General whose assent was obtained on December 21, 1947, and thereafter the Act was published in the U. P. Government Gazette, dated January 10, 1948. Since this Act of the State Legislature had received the assent of the Governor-General, if there be any repugnancy between its provisions and the provisions of the Central enactment contained in the Industrial Disputes Act (Act No. XIV of 1947), the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 would prevail in Uttar Pradesh over the repugnant provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. :It must therefore be held that the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 is valid and binding in the State of Uttar Pradesh. Basti Sugar Mills, Ltd. v. SECTION 2

SYNOPSIS

(U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2.)

1. "Appropriate Government".
2. "Award".
3. "Employer".

4. "Industrial dispute."
5. "Settlement".
6. "Workman".

1. "Appropriate Government".

——S. 2 (1)—Appropriate Government in respect of controlled industry — Specification. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (a) (i). AIR 1958 All 80 (DB).

——S. 2 — Dispute in controlled industry—"Appropriate Goverment" in relation to. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (1) (a). AIR 1957 All 643 (DB).

2. "Award".

——S. 2 (c) — Reference by Union which did not represent all workmen—Award given on it is invalid. See U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (28 of 1947), S. 5-B. (1965) 2 Lab L J 598 : (1965) 11 Fac L R 35 : I L R (1965) 2 All 716 (DB).

——Ss. 2 (c), 6, 6-A (as amended by U. P. (Act 23 of 1957)—Word 'award' as defined in S. 2 (c) does not include an award of an Adjudicator given under the G. O. dated 14-7-1957 read with U. P. Act (28 of 1947) as unamended—Word "award" in Ss. 6 and 6-A cannot be construed in a wider sense than the definition clause so as to include such award. A I R 1964 All 156 (161) (Pt D) (Pr 17) (DB).

——S. 2 (c) — Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Ss. 2 (b), 2 (k) and 2-A—It continues to be industrial dispute even though workman and union absent themselves from proceedings before Labour Court.

The definition of award does not show that the industrial dispute ceases to be an industrial dispute if the workman or the Union representing his case ceases to take interest in the proceedings before the Labour Court or absents himself or itself from proceedings before the Labour Court. If there was an industrial dispute between the workman and the employer which was referred for arbitration the dispute continues to be an industrial dispute even though the workman and the Union absented themselves from the proceedings before the Labour Court. (1964) 1 Lab L J 722 (All).

——S. 2 (c)—Decision of Labour Court, which does not determine the industrial dispute referred to it, is not an award. (1964) 8 Fac L R 269 : (1964) 1 Lab L J 607 (All).

3. "Employer".

● ——Ss. 2 (i) (iv), 2 (z)—Work in industry done by workmen employed through contractor — Owner of industry is the employer of them.

Though the definition of the word 'workman' in S. 2 (z) does not contain any words to show that the contract labour was included therein, the words used in the section are by themselves sufficiently wide to bring in persons doing work in an industry whether the employment was by the management or by the contractor of the management. The definition of 'employer' was extended by sub-clause (iv) of S. 2 (i) with the purpose of making the owner of the industry, in the circumstances mentioned in sub-clause (iv), the employer of the workmen engaged in the work which is done through contract and the words used in the sub-clause are clearly sufficient to achieve this purpose. It, therefore, follows from S. 2 (z) read with S. 2 (i) (iv) that the owner of the industry is in an employer even in respect of the workmen employed by a contractor to do the work of the industry. Basti Sugar Mills Ltd. v. Ram Ujagar, (1963) 7 Fac L R 253 : (1963) 2 Lab L J 447 : (1963-64) 25 F J R 1 : (1964) 2 S C R 838 : (1964) 2 S C J 811 : A I R 1964 S C 355 (357) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 7).

Assuming that the result of the definition of employer in sub-clause (iv) of S. 2 (i) is the imposition of some restrictions on the employer's right to carry on trade or business, it cannot be doubted for a moment that the imposition of such restrictions is in the interest of the general public. For, the interests of the general public require that the device of the engagement of a contractor for doing work which is ordinarily part of the industry should not be allowed to be availed of by owners of industry for evading the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act. It cannot therefore be doubted that the definition is in the interest of the general public within Art. 19 (6) of the Constitution and is valid. Basti Sugar Mills Ltd. v. Ram Ujagar, (1963) 7 Fac L R 253 : (1963) 2 Lab L J 447 : (1963-64) 25 F J R 1 : (1964) 2 S C R 838 : (1964) 2 S C J 811 : A I R 1964 S C 355 (357) (Pt B) (Pr 8).

——S. 2 (1) (iv)—Industrial disputes—Bonus—Workmen employed by contractor—Right to receive bonus from employer—Bonus shall be payable to workmen employed by a contractor by that employer who is owner of industry and not by contractor who actually engages them. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Sch. 3, Item 5. (1961) 3 Fac L R 178 (All).

4. "Industrial dispute".

● ——Ss. 2, 3, 8 and 23—Rules under S. 23—Rules 4, 5, 10, 15 (1), 26, 27 and 28—Individual dispute whether an industrial dispute — Reference—Validity—(Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Ss. 2 (k), 18, 36)—(General Clauses Act (1897), S. 13 (2))—(Interpretation of Statutes—Rules framed under Act).

Held, on a consideration of the relevant provisions of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, and the rules framed thereunder, that the dispute in the instant case, did not fall within the definition of an industrial dispute as used in that Act or S. 2 (k) of the Central Act. Hence, the reference of that dispute by the Government was bad. (1953) 1 Lab L J 757 (FB). Overruled; A I R 1957 S C 104 and A I R 1953 S C 58, Rel. on.

The use of the word 'workmen' in the plural in the definition of 'industrial dispute' does not by itself exclude the applicability of the Act to an individual dispute because under S. 13 (2) of the General Clauses Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject words in the singular shall include the plural and vice versa. The provisions of the Act lead to the conclusion that its applicability to an individual dispute as opposed to dispute involving a group of workmen is excluded unless it acquires the general characteristics of an industrial dispute, viz., the workmen as a body or a considerable section of them make common cause with the individual workman and thus create conditions contemplated by S. 3 of the U. P. Act which is the foundation of State Governmental action under that Act. Rule 26 is indicative of the intention of the Act being applicable to collective disputes and not to individual ones. Rules 4, 5 and 15 of the Rules cannot be a valid foundation for sustaining the argument that an individual dispute was within the definition of "industrial dispute". The prohibition under R. 26 of the U. P. Act and S. 33 of the Central Act against any change in conditions of service during the pendency of the proceedings the object of which is to ensure discipline and industrial truce during that period also supports the basic idea of collectiveness in 'industrial disputes'. Moreover, these rules, cannot be read in such manner as would be tantamount to enlarging the scope of the expression "industrial dispute" and the powers conferred on the State Government under S. 3 of the U. P. Act.

The cardinal rule in regard to promulgation of bye-laws or making rules is that they must be legi fidei rationi coosona, and, therefore, all regulations which are contrary or repugnant to statutes under which they are made are ineffective. If the expression "industrial dispute" as ordinarily understood and construed conveys a dispute between an employer on the one hand and the workmen acting collectively on the other, then the definition of those words cannot be widened by a statutory rule or regulation promulgated under the Statute or by executive fiat. ——Ss. 2 (1) and 23 — Parties—Union—U. P. Industrial Dispute Rules (1957), Rr. 40, 6.

According to the scheme of the Act and the Rules, the parties to an industrial dispute are the employer and workmen. A Union or a Federation of Unions may come into the picture only as a representative of either party. A Union or Federation of Unions cannot be treated as a party to the dispute in its own right. (1960) 1 Lab L J 44 : 1959 All L J 745.

——S. 2—"Industrial dispute"—Meaning of — Question of retrenchment of employee — Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (k)).

The definition of industrial dispute lays down two essential requirements. One requirement is that the dispute should be between an employer and another employer or between an employer and workmen or between workmen and workmen. The second requirement is that the dispute should be connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or the conditions of labour of any person. Where the dispute that is referred relates to the retrenchment of certain employees it is clearly covered by the expression "non-employment of any person". As long as the dispute is connected with the employment or non-employment, etc. of 'any person' it will be an industrial dispute provided, of course, the two parties to the dispute are either employers and employers, or employers and workmen or workmen and workmen. The words "any person" could only mean those persons in whom the workmen themselves were directly and substantially interested. ILR (1958) 1 All 434 : AIR 1958 All 80 (88) (Pt H) (Pr 10) (DB).

A dismissed employee falls within the definition of a "workman" and a dispute raised by him in connection with his non-employment does fall within the purview of the term "industrial dispute". A I R 1949 F C 148 and A I R 1949 F C 111, Rel. on.

A dispute between an employer and an isolated workman may or may not be an industrial dispute within the Act, but when such dispute is taken over by a Trade Union which moves the proper authorities and a reference is thereon made by the State Government to an Industrial Tribunal for adjudication, there is a dispute between an employer and a trade union which represents the workmen in that line and as such amounts to an 'industrial dispute' within S. 2 of the Act. A I R 1951 Mad 191 and A I R 1951 Mad 616, Disting.; 55 C W N 256, Not foll.

It does not cease to be an industrial dispute merely because the Union did not make a demand for his reinstatement to the employer after his dismissal and before moving the Board A I R 1952 Cal 72, Foll. 6. "Workman".

● ——S. 2 — Employed in any industry — Includes persons employed in operations incidental to main industry — Spinning and Weaving Mills providing bungalows with attached gardens to its officers and directors—Malies engaged to look after gardens are employed in the industry and are workmen. ● ——S. 2 — Standing Orders under — Definition of workman — Includes workman employed through contractor—Employed by factory means every person employed to do work of factory.

The words 'employed by the factory' used in the definition of workman in the Standing Orders, in their ordinary grammatical sense, include every person who is employed to do the work of the factory. The use of the word 'by' has nothing to do with the question as to who makes the appointment. The reason why 'by' was used instead of 'in' appears to be to ensure that if a person has been employed to do the work of the industry, whether the work is done inside the factory or outside the factory, he will get the benefit of the Standing Orders. The words "employed by a factory" are therefore wide enough to include workmen employed by the contractors of factory also. Basti Sugar Mills, Ltd. v. Ram Ujagar, (1963) 7 Fac L R 253 : (1963) 2 Lab L J 447 : (1963-64) 25 F J R 1 ; (1964) 2 S C R 838 : (1964) 2

——S. 2 (2) — Workman — Notification, dated 27th April, 1961, Apt. V — Welfare Officer appointed in factory is not workman.

Where from the rules prescribing the service conditions of a Welfare Officer appointed in a factory under S. 49 (1) of the Factories Act, 1948, it can be gathered that a Welfare Officer is only concerned with the managerial or administrative work, he cannot claim to be a "workman" within the meaning of Appendix V to the Order contained in the Notification published in the U. P. Gazette, Extraordinary, dated 27th April, 1961. He cannot, therefore, claim that he should be allowed to continue in service up to the age of 58 years as prescribed in that Order. A I R 1964 All 411 (416) (Pt C) (Pr 15).

——Ss. 2 (i) (iv), 2 (z)—Workmen employed by contractor—Are also workmen of owner of industry and as such entitled to amenities and benefits enjoyed by other workers — Primary responsibility lies on contractor — Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (s).

The definition of 'employer' as contained in S. 2 (i) of the Act is not exhaustive: it is illustrative in the sense that it merely indicates who come within the category of employers. Consequently, the actual employer of the worker does not cease to be an 'employer'. In other words, the workmen employed by a contractor are the workmen of both the contractor and of the owner of industry who employs the contractor. They are the workmen of the owner for purposes connected with the object of the enactment and also the particular benefit claimed, and of the contractor in other respects.

Further, the workman shall be entitled to all the amenities and privileges to which the workmen of the industry are entitled, unconcerned by whom such amenities or benefits are to be provided. If under the contract between the owner of an industry and the contractor, the amenities or benefits are to be provided by the contractor, the intitial responsibility shall be of the contractor but if for some reason he is not able to provide such amenities or benefits, the workmen shall have the right to claim such amenities or benefits from the other employer, namely, the owner of the industry. A I R 1957 S C 264, Rel. on. Case Law referred to. (1961) 3 Fac L R 178 : (1962) 1 Lab L J 455 (All).

——S. 2 (z)—Contractor—When a workman of owner of industry— Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (s).

The qusetion whether a person who is given contract for the execution of a work should be treated as contractor or workman will depend upon whether the contract was for service or of service. If the contract was for service, the person would be a contractor and cannot be placed in the category of an employee or workman for purposes of the Act, on the other hand, if the contract was of service, even though the person is called a contractor, he shall in the eye of law, be a workman.

The main test for determining whether the contract is for service or of service is the existence of the right in the master to supervise and control the work done by the servant, not only in the matter of directing what work the servant is to do, but also the manner in which he shall do his work. AIR 1957 S C 284 and A I R 1958 S C 388, Rel. on. (1961) 3 Fac L R 178 : (1962) 1 Lab L J 455 (All).

——Ss. 2 (1) and 3 (b)—Doctor and Compounder are not 'workmen'—G. O. No. 167 (ST.) (II)/XVIII, dated 11-1-1950 —Validity of.

The persons of the medical staff, namely the doctor and the compounder do not answer the definition of 'workman' as adopted by the Act by S. 2 (1). It follows, therefore, that the State Government cannot by an order under S. 3 (b) of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, give directions regarding their treatment and conditions of employment and that, therefore so much of para. 1 of the G. O. No. 167 (ST.) (II)/XVIII, dated 11-1-1950, is beyond the competence of the U. P. Government as relates to the doctor and compounder. A dismissed employee falls within the definition of a 'workman' and a dispute raised by him in connection with his non-employment does fall within the purview of the term 'industrial dispute'. 1954 All W R (HC) 502 : A I R 1954 All 516 (517) (Pt A) (Pr 6).

——S. 3—Validity —Government's powers under—If arbitrary.

The normal way of dealing with an industrial dispute under the Act would be to have it dealt with judicially either by conciliation or by adjudication and that judicial process cannot be circumvented by resort to executive action. But there may be an emergency and the Government may have to act promptly "for securing the public safety or convenience or the maintenance of public order or supplies and services essential to the life of the community or maintaining employment." It was, therefore, necessary to arm it with additional powers for dealing with such an emergency. Clause (b) of S. 3 was apparently enacted for this purpose. An order made thereunder would be in the nature of a temporary or interim order as would be clear from the words "for such period as may be specified" appearing therein and from the second proviso to S. 3. Under this proviso where an industrial dispute is referred for adjudication under Cl. (d) an order made under Cl. (b) cannot be enforced after the decision of the adjudicating authority announced by or with the consent of the State Government. It would therefore, follow from this that where the Government has made an executive order, under Cl. (b) of S. 3, it is open to the aggrieved party to move the Government to refer the industrial dispute for conciliation or adjudication under Cl. (d) of Section 3.

Under S. 3 the Government has no doubt a discretion whether or not to refer a dispute for conciliation or adjudication under Cl. (d) but if it has acted under Cl. (b) on the ground that it was in the public interest to do so it would not be open to it to refuse to refer the dispute. In case the State Government is recalcitrant it could be forced to do its duty by the issue of a writ of mandamus under Art. 226 of the Constitution. By limiting the operation of Cl. (b) to an emergency it cannot be said that any violence is done to the language used by the legislature. On the above construction of Cl. (b) of S. 3 no question of discrimination at all arises under Article 14 of the Constitution. Similarly the fact that action was taken by the Government under Cl. ——S. 3—Validity—Delegation of legislative power—What amounts to—(Constitution of India, Art. 245).

There can be no doubt that the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act is legislation on the subject of industrial and labour disputes, a matter within the competence of the State Legislature, and S. 3 of the Act cannot therefore be successfully challenged on the ground of legislative incompetence.

Even on the alternative view that in order to be valid the legislation must lay down a policy for the guidance of the delegates of the power of subordinate legislation, such a policy is laid down in the opening words of S. 3 namely 'securing the public safety or convenience or the maintenance of public order or supplies and services essential for the life of the community, or for maintaining employment.' The power conferred by the Uttar Pradesh Legislature on the State Government by S. 3 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, to constitute industrial courts cannot therefore be impugned on the ground that it amounts to the delegation of an essential legislative function. Per Full Bench. — S. 3 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 was not beyond the competence of the legislature and cannot be declared ultra vires on the ground that it delegates legislative or rule-making power of an unspecified character to the Executive Government.

The powers given by S. 3 may be and are indeed of a most wide character, but that fact alone cannot affect its validity. The remedy against delegated legislation is not judicial but political control with which Courts have no concern. ——S. 3 — If offends Arts. 19 (1) (f) and 31 of the Constitution—[Constitution of India, Arts. 19 (1) (f) and 31].

Per Full Bench. — The provisions of S. 3 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, are not invalid on the ground that they offend the fundamental rights guaranteed under Arts. 19 (1) (f) and 31 of the Constitution.

Section 3 does not purport to interfere, in any manner, with the right of a citizen to acquire, hold or dispose of property. It only deals with orders that might be made in relation to strikes, lock-outs, terms and conditions of employment, appointment of Industrial Courts, settlement of Industrial disputes and closure; non-closure and exercise of control over any public utility service or any subsidiary undertaking and similar matters. It cannot, therefore, be said that this section empowers the executive Government to interfere with the right of a citizen to acquire, hold or dispose of property.

An order passed under S. 3 of the Act for payment of bonus or retainer allowance in connection with the regulation of employment in a factory can, in no way be said to interfere with the right of the proprietors of the factory to acquire, hold or dispose of property.

Article 31, however, permits deprivation of property of a person by authority of law, and as the law, under which the order purports to have been made by the State Government is a valid law, so that, if the orders fall within the purview of S. 3, they cannot be challenged on the ground that they infringe the fundamental right guaranteed by Art. 31 of the Constitution as no property is being taken possession of or acquired for public purposes. Even if Cl. (2) of Art. 31 be held applicable the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act would not be affected by Cl. (2) of Art. 31, as provided in sub-cl. (a) of Cl. (5) of Art. 31 of the Constitution. 3. Condition precedent in the order of State Government.

——S. 3—Formation of opinion by Government under S. 3 of the U. P. Act—Burden of proving that it was necessary to make Government order for one of the purposes mentioned in S. 3 would be on State Government—See Evidence Act (1872), Ss. 101-103. AIR 1956 All 689 (DB).

——S. 3 — Condition precedent to exercise of power by State Government under S. 3.

Under S. 3, U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, the power of the State Government to promulgate general or special order under Cls. (a) to (g) of that section could only be exercised if in the opinion of the Provincial Government, it became necessary or expedient so to do for one or more of the purposes mentioned, viz., securing the public safety or convenience or the maintenance of public order or supplies and service essential to the life of the community or for maintaining employment. The power of the State Government to pass orders under various clauses of S. 3 is thus subject to a condition precedent, that such an opinion should be formed by the State Government, (Point conceded). A I R 1956 All 689 (692) (Pt B) (Pr 7) (DB).

——S. 3—Order purporting to have been made under S. 3 of U. P. Act—Order not containing expression of compliance of condition precedent—Presumption as to such compliance cannot be made—(Evidence Act (1872), S. 114).

Where there is no expression of the opinion formed by the State Government in regard to the matter mentioned in S. 3, U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, in the order purported to have been made under that section, and the contents and language of that order do not indicate that that order was limited in its purposes to those mentioned in S. 3, it is not possible to hold that under the general provision made under S. 114, Evidence Act, a presumption can be drawn that before that order was passed, the State Government has formed an opinion about the necessity or expediency of making it for one of the purposes in S. 3. ——S. 3 (d) and (e):— Exercise of power under Cl. (d) is independent of power under Cl. (e).

Under S. 3, U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, the provisions in Cl. (d) for referring any industrial dispute for conciliation or adjudication is not necessarily governed by and is not subject to the appointment of an industrial Court under Cl. (e) of that section. This power for referring the industrial dispute for conciliation and adjudication can be exercised even without appointing Industrial Courts under Cl. ——S. 3—Order of subsequent date referring to order of prior date — Former order found to be of legal effect—Validity of subsequent order.

Where an order made on a subsequent date under S. 3 is self-contained and is a valid order and lays down that the issue with respect to an industrial dispute is to be adjudicated in accordance with the procedure indicated in an order made on a prior date, the fact this order of prior date is of no legal effect, for the reason that it does not comply with the condition precedent laid down in S. 3, is immaterial. AIR 1956 All 689 (697) (Pt J) (Pr 13) (DB).

An order of reference of a dispute to an adjudicator is not bad in law merely because of the absence of a recital in the referring order that the State Government had applied its mind to the facts of the caes and had thought it proper, after considering the nature of the dispute, or considering the convenience of the parties, to refer the matter of dispute to an adjudicator. The absence of such recital is not fatal and the defect can be remedied by showing by other evidence that in fact the order was made after such opinion had been formed. worthwhile referring the industrial dispute to a Labour Court, it was open to the State Government to arrive at a different conclusion in view of the circumstances, which existed in February 1960. Held, that the reference of the dispute by the State Government to the Industrial Tribunal could not be called in question as the State Government had got such power under para. 11 of the Government Order and the proceedings would not be vitiated even if the workers' union of the industry was not competent to refer the dispute for settlement on behalf of the workmen of the concern when there was workers' union of the concern itself.

——S. 3 — State Government considering it inexpedient to refer certain dispute for adjudication—State Government can refer same dispute subsequently.

The opinion as to the necessity or expediency for referring an industrial dispute for adjudication for one of the purposes mentioned in S. 3 has to be formed by the State Government at the time when the State Government decides to make a reference of the dispute for adjudication. It is impossible to contend that the necessity or expediency of making a reference of a particular industrial dispute must or will remain the same at all times because, at different times, different circumstances may exist.

It is really for the State Government to judge for itself, when forming its opinion whether there had been change of circumstances. It is even doubtful whether the State Government can be called upon to give in Court his reasons for changing its opinion and holding that it was necessary or expedient to refer the dispute for adjudication when it had held earlier, that it was not so. The correctness of such an opinion is not open to judicial scrutiny by Courts. AIR 1955 All 549 (551) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

The petitioner, a sugar company, struck off the name of R, one of its employees, from the register of employees. Opposite party No. 4 which was a registered trade union, thereupon applied to the Regional Conciliation Board (Sugar), Gorakhpur, for reinstatement of R. This reference to the Board was made under S. 3, U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 read with the general order of the U. P. Government contained in the Notification No. 781 (L)/XVIII, dated 10.3 1948. On 6th July, 1949 the Board gave a decision against the petitioner, directing the petitioner to re-instate R and to pay him arrears of salary for the period which elapsed between the order of dismissal and his re-instatement. On 13th July, 1949, the petitioner filed an appeal against this order before the Industrial Court (Sugar), Lucknow. On this appeal, the findings were given by the Industrial Court (Sugar) Lucknow, on the 15th of September, 1949 and the Court sent its recommendations to the Government. The finding recorded by the Industrial Court was to the following effect; 'I therefore, agree with the decision of the Board below that R who was a permanent hand of the factory, should be reinstated to his post with continuity of service and the entire wages paid to him for the period of his involuntary unemployment within 15 days from the date of the enforcement of this report by the Government, and I recommend accordingly.' On 3-12-1949, the Government issued a notification directing that the findings of the Industrial Court (Sugar), Lucknow, be enforced.

Held, (i) on a consideration of the General Order, dated the 10th of March, 1948, that the Industrial Court, constituted under that order, was not given any power to give an award or even to decide the appeal filed before it against the award of the Regional Conciliation Board. What the Industrial Court did on the 15th of September, 1949, was to record its opinion on the points in dispute, frame its recommendations and forward them to the Government for orders. It was, therefore, in the nature of a report by the Industrial Court to the State Government containing its recommendations with reasons therefor. There was no adjudication of any industrial dispute or an award in any such dispute. Consequently, Section 6 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, would not apply to it at all and that report could not be enforced by the Government as an award under S. 6 of the Act. No doubt, when issuing the notification on the 3rd of December, 1949, the Government purported to exercise the powers conferred on it by S. 3 read with S. 6 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act but the mere mention of the powers under S. 6 of the Act would not make that order an order under S. 6.

(ii) The second part of the recommendation of the Industrial Court was for payment of wages for the period of unemployment which had already expired on the date on which the findings were enforced by the State Government. This part of the order of the State Government was, therefore, clearly retrospective as it related to payment of wages for a past period which had expired before the order under S. 3 (b) was passed by the Government. Such orders for payment of wages in respect of periods already expired cannot be validly passed under S. 3 (b) and this part of the order was therefore clearly illegal and its enforcement must be restrained by issue of a writ of mandamus. AIR 1954 All 538 (FB), Foll.

(iii) The order passed on the 3rd of December, 1949, was not an order of the nature contemplated by S. 3 (b) of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. It was an order of the State Government which, in effect, gave its decision on the industrial dispute relating to enforcement of certain terms and conditions of service and not an order requiring the petitioner to observe terms and conditions of service specified in the order. This part of the order was therefore, beyond the competence of the State Government, acting in exercise of its powers under S. 3 (b). Enforcement of that part of that order after the 26th of January, 1950, would be action taken on an order which had no validity in law even when passed and such action by the opposite parties must be restrained by the issue of a writ of mandamus. AIR 1954 All 705 (710 to 714) (Pt E) (Prs 9, 10, 12, 14).

——S. 3 (b) — 'Terms and conditions of service', meaning of —(Constitution of India, Art. 309).

In S. 3 (b) of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the expression 'conditions of employment' was used in order to cover the words 'employment, non-employment and conditions of labour' which were used in the definition of an industrial dispute.

The words 'terms and conditions of employment' used in S. 3 (b), cannot be considered to be narrower than the expression 'conditions of service' used in the Government of India Act, 1935, and the Constitution and; therefore, would surely cover terms and conditions relating to removal and dismissal of the workmen. Reinstatement is different from re-employment.

In the case of re-employment, a person, at the time of his re-employment, is not deemed to be in service and his re employment really amounts to a fresh recruitment or appointment. The position in the case of re-instatement is different as re-instatement implies continuance of previous service. It is true that the effect of re-instatement in one respect is the same as the effect of re-employment, viz., that the person reinstated or re-employed comes back into the service of the employer from the date on which the order for re-instatement or re-employment is made effective but there is one very important distinction. In the case of re-instatement, there is continuity with the previous service whereas, in the case of re employment, there is a fresh start of a new service. Re-instatement and re-employment cannot, therefore, be dealt with on the same basis and even if the word 're-employment' be held to be covered by the words 'recruitment or appointment', there is no reason to hold that the word 're-instatement' must also be similarly covered by these words. Re-instatement in service, which brings into effect continuity of the previous service, is clearly an order relating to terms and conditions of service, or, terms and conditions of employment. ——S. 3 (b)—Nature of order that can be passed by Government.

The expression 'to observe for such period as may be specified, such terms and conditions of employment as may be determined' gives an indication that Cl. (b) of S. 3 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, is meant for the purpose of passing orders by which the Government gives directions about what the terms and conditions of employment should be and not how a particular term and condition of employment already in existence should be acted upon. It appears from the language that this provision was not meant for the purpose of dealing with individual disputes arising out of the application of a term or condition of employment and no power was granted to the State Government, under this provision of law, to sit as an adjudicator to decide a dispute that might have arisen relating to the working and actual application of terms and conditions of employment already in force. The provision was for the purpose of enabling the State Government to vary the agreed terms and conditions of employment for purposes specified in S. 3 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, under the pressing necessities or expediency justifying such course of action. AIR 1954 All 705 (714) (Pt G) (Pr 14).

7 (A). Order for payment of bonus if can be passed.

● ——S. 3 (b) — State Government—Power to make payment of bonus for past period a condition of employment of workmen.

Though Cl. (b) of S. 3 cannot be given a retrospective effect it is open to the State Government to make the payment of bonus for a past period to the workmen a condition of their employment in future and augment their past wages. By giving a direction to the employer to pay such bonus the State Government does not give a retrospective operation to the clause. ● ——S. 3 (b) — Order under directing payment of past bonus—Notification No. 1425 (SH) (II)/XVIII-13 (ST)-50. dated 5th July, 1950—Validity.

Per Malik, C. J. and Bhargava, J. — (Sapru, J. dubitante).

The order of the U. P. Government contained in Notification No. 1425 (ST) (II)/XVIII-13 (ST)-50, dated 5th July, 1950, and passed under S. 3 (b), U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 in so far as it directs the sugar factories to which the notification applies, to pay bonus in respect of the past years 1947-48 and 1948-49 is ultra vires and invalid as the U. P. Government had no authority to pass an order determining the conditions of service of the workmen with retrospective effect and in any case such bonus could be payable only to the workmen who were in service in those years. The order relating to payment of retaining allowance is valid and effective.

Clause (b) of S. 3 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act cannot be given any retrospective effect. The language of this provision is such as to give a clear impression of the intention of the legislature that orders under it must be purely prospective so as to govern future terms and conditions of service. The use of the words, 'requiring to observe for such period', is a clear indication that the order should lay down the course of conduct to be followed by the employers, workmen or both in future during the period which is to be specified in the order. There cannot be any question of making an order, requiring employers or workmen to observe, for the specified period, terms and conditions of employment which relate to the past employment before the passing of the order. So far as past disputes with regard to terms and conditions of employment are concerned, the power, that was granted to the State Government to regulate them, is laid down in Cls. (c) and (d) of S. 3 of the Act whereby an industrial dispute relating to such past terms and conditions of service can be referred for conciliation or adjudication and for such purposes, the State Government can appoint Industrial Courts. Consequently under S. 3 (b) of the U P. Industrial Disputes Act, the State Government's power was restricted to passing orders regulating terms and conditions of employment to be observed during a specified period after the date of the order and no order could be passed by the State Government so as to alter terms and conditions of service which had already been observed in the past. Basti Sugar Mills, Ltd. v. Held, on the construction of the provisions of the Act and various clauses of the Statutory Order that the clear intention of the Legislature was to make it imperative that judgments should be pronounced in open Court by the Tribunal and judgments not so pronounced would therefore be a nullity. However, the proceedings that were had before the Tribunal would not become null and void if it be held Cl. 9 (7) of the Statutory Order to be imperative. The Government can always require the Tribunal to pronounce its decision in open Court extending, if necessary for the purpose, the time fixed for giving its decision. Either party to the proceeding can also ask the Government to call upon the Tribunal to pronounce its award in open Court. As soon as the Tribunal pronounces its award in open Court, the proceedings will become fully effective. A I R 1917 P C 142, Disting. State of Uttar Pradesh v. Lakshmi Ice Factory, Lucknow. A civil Court has jurisdiction to entertain a suit in respect of an adjudication made by a tribunal if it is shown that the award or the adjudication was wholly without jurisdiction or was founded on a reference made outside the provisions of the statutes.

Where, in respect of an industrial dispute raised by a workman in his individual capacity, the State Government made a reference to the adjudicator who made an award, and the employer filed a civil suit to set aside the award.

Held, that the dispute raised by a workman in individual capacity was no industrial dispute within the definition of that term. The reference to adjudication was, therefore, against the provisions of S. 3 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act and the award therefore was wholly without jurisdiction and the jurisdiction of the civil Court to entertain the suit was not barred. —S. 3—Contract of service between employer and employee—Termination of service according to contract—Power of Adjudicator to go behind and modify same.

Held, on facts: that it was not open to the Adjudicator to go behind the agreement entered into between the parties and the Adjudicator had gone beyond his jurisdiction in modifying the agreement and in directing restoration or reinstatement of the employee and making him permanent for all time; when he was only temporarily employed for certain period.

If the employee knowing full well that he was being employed temporarily accepted the employment, he may himself be defrauding, but so far as the employer is concerned, his action in terminating the services of the employee according to the agreement cannot be questioned. AIR 1959 All 639, Foll.

In certain circumstances, for good and substantial reasons a certain agreement may be modified by Industrial Tribunals, which probably ordinarily they would not be entitled to do; but if there are no reasons given, a solemn agreement entered into between the parties will always stand. —S. 3—Agreement arrived at in conciliation proceedings—Enforcement against non-parties—(Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 18).

Though the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act has been framed on the model of the Central Act, a provision similar to S. 18 of the latter Act is conspicuous by its absence in the U. P. Act. Therefore an agreement arrived at in conciliation proceedings under the U. P. Act cannot be binding on persons who are not parties to it. Nor could the Courts hold the principle of S. 18 of the Central Act to be applicable to such a case, when the legislature itself did not consider it fit to recognise it, on any grounds of expediency.

Held, also that cl. (5) of the G. O. issued by the State on 15-3-1951 did not authorise the enforcement of the agreement against non-parties to it because what it dealt with was the question relating to who could be called and heard when conciliation proceedings were started by some of the workers of an organisation only and not with the question of the enforcement of the agreement at all. ——S. 3 — Order under passed on basis of report submitted under S. 14 by a Court of inquiry—Validity—(Constitution of India, Art. 226).

The State Government, in order to proceed under S. 3 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 has to form an opinion that it is necessary or expedient to make an order under that section for securing the public safety or convenience or the maintenance of the public order or supplies and services essential to the life of the community, or for maintaining employment. If the State Government comes to that opinion it is thereafter empowered to pass general or special order making provisions for the matters mentioned in cls. (a) to (g) of that section. The provisions of S. 3 and the remaining provisions of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, nowhere prescribe the materials on which this opinion of the State Government is to be formed, nor do they prescribe any procedure for arriving at that opinion. Clearly, therefore the State Government is entitled to form its opinion on any or all material and information available to it.

Since S. 3 merely requires the opinion of the State Government as a preliminary to the exercise of powers under that section, the High Court is not competent to see whether the opinion arrived at by the State Government is or is not correct. There being no bar in any law to taking into account the report of a Court of Enquiry appointed under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, an order passed under S. 3 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, on the basis of such report cannot be challenged on the ground that the reference to the Court of Enquiry of the industrial dispute itself was not valid and was not in accordance with the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

Held, that the order contained in U. P. Government Notification No. 1425 (ST) (II)/XVIII-50, dated 5th July, 1950 could not be challenged on ground that the Government was not competent to refer the dispute to a Court of inquiry and make the recommendation made by it binding on the parties as those matters were irrelevant to the validity of the order. It is only when the services are terminated and that creates resentment in the majority of the workmen that there would be a danger of strike or lock-out or of violence and there would be a necessity to bring the machinery of Industrial Disputes Act into operation.

The services of a temporary clerk were terminated. His cause was espoused by a union of an entirely different industry and of which he was not a member on the date when his services were terminated. The State Government referred the dispute to the Adjudication :

Held, (i) that the dispute was only an individual dispute and not an industrial dispute, and the State Government had no jurisdiction to refer it for adjudication : 1957 S C J 566 ; 1957 M L J (Cri) 540 ; AIR 1957 S C 532, Applied.

(ii) The High Court could interfere under Art. 226, Constitution of India, with the discretion of the State Government in treating the dispute as an industrial dispute and quash the order of reference and the award by the Adjudicator : 1957 S C J 566 ; 1957 M L J (Cri) 540 : A I R 1957 S C 532, Foll. (1960) 1 Fac L R 564 : A I R 1960 All 734 (737, 738) (Pt A) (Prs 12, 13, 18).

The Government is not required to specifically say in the order of the reference that it has considered the nature of dispute and the convenience of the parties before referring the matter to the Adjudicator. ——S. 4 — Notification under — Requirements — Specification of dispute.

When a dispute is actually referred all that is required by S. 4 is that the matters referred should be specified. The specification may be made either by giving the details in that order itself, or by making some earlier notification, which had already received adequate publicity, a part of the order referring the dispute. If the latter course is chosen, it has still to be held that the order, referring the dispute for adjudication does not specify the matters for adjudication. AIR 1955 All 549 (550) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

SECTION 4-I

——Ss. 4-I, 4-K — Award — Employer desiring to change conditions of service—Notice—Procedure.

In the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, if award has once been given it will continue to have its effect until it has been varied with a notice under S. 4-I.

When once an award is given it will remain in force as contemplated by the Act. But after the expiry of the period, if the award is of a permanent character giving certain benefits for goods the award would be deemed to the part and parcel of the conditions of service and each party would be bound by the award. Section 4-I gives the power to the employer to effect any change in the conditions of service, but the only condition is that such change shall not be effected without giving notice to be workmen likely to be affected and the period of notice fixed is 21 days. If acting under the powers given to the employer under S. 4-I, he has given notice to change the terms and conditions of the service and, if the employees are not satisfied it is open to them to raise an industrial dispute. (1962) 1 Lab L J 309 : (1961) 3 Fac L R 92 : A I R 1961 All 321 (324, 325) (Pt D) (Prs 10, 12, 13, 15).

——S. 4 (k) — Reference by Labour Commissioner to the Industrial Tribunal on basis of report of Conciliation Officer — No indication in order that dispute referred was one which arose after closure of business by the employers—Reference is not incompetent on the ground of lack of jurisdiction being apparent on the face of the order—It is for employers to raise the contention before the tribunal and adduce evidence and the tribunal has jurisdiction to decide the question. (1962) 5 Fac L R 268 : (1962) 2 Lab L J 698 (All).

——S. 4-K (as amended) — Government can validly delegate its power to satisfy itself of the existence of an industrial dispute.

The power of the Government to satisfy itself of the existence of an industrial dispute as a condition precedent to the making of a reference to the Labour Court is capable of delegation. The forming of an opinion as to the existence of the dispute is a condition precedent to the exercise of the power of reference and the condition cannot be divorced from the power itself. The State Government has the power to delegate any power exercisable by it under the Act to any officer or authority subordinate to it. The authority to delegate the powers enables not only the delegation of those powers but also the power of performing the conditions necessary for the exescise of the powers : W. P. ——S. 4-K—Two references regarding disputes between same parties — Labour Court making joint award — Validity of — Jurisdiction of Labour Court not affected.

Held on facts, that there could be no objection to the Labour Court adopting reasonings in an earlier award in making an award in the other case. The Labour Court could make a detailed award in one case and pass a brief order by way of award in another case. If the Labour Court makes a joint award to be applicable to both the cases there can in substance be no illegality. At the most it would be an irregularity which would not vitiate the proceedings. The High Court could interfere with the award of the Labour Court only if it had committed some material irregularity in the exercise of jurisdiction. Making of a joint award was not a material irregularity. (1961) 2 Fac L R 500 : (1961) 2 Lab L J 184 (All).

——Ss. 4-K and 5-B—Existence of industrial dispute —Jurisdiction to decide—Outside purview of High Court—(Constitution of India, Art. 226).

Whether an industrial dispute in fact existed or not is a matter which is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the referring authority to determine. It is outside the purview of High Court's scrutiny to see for itself whether an industrial dispute existed or not. 1958 All L J 863 : (1959) 1 Lab L J 227 : AIR 1959 All 369 (371) (Pt A) (Pr 6).

——Ss. 4-K and 5-B — Industrial dispute — Dispute with regard to designation attached to any post.

Where the designation attached to any office is directly linked with the conditions of service of an employment pertaining to that office, the designation itself becomes a part and parcel of the terms of employment, and hence where the change in the designation of post affects the terms of employment of persons holding them, it cannot be successfully urged that the dispute with regard to the designation is not such as can be referred under the Industrial Disputes Act. 1958 All L J 863 : (1959) 1 Lab L J 227 : AIR 1959 All 369 (371, 372) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 11).

——Ss. 4-K and 11-A — Delegatian of powers exercisable by State Government—Validity.

Section 4 K in providing that where the State Government is of opinion that an industrial dispute exists, it may refer the dispute to a Labour Court, etc., has conferred on the State Government a legal ability or authority to make a reference to a Labour

Court. It cannot be said that the Legislature has providing as aforesaid in S. 4-K conferred power on the State Government which it alone must always perform, and cannot delegate it to other authority. 1958 All L J 863 : (1959) 1 Lab L J 227 : AIR 1959 All 369 (372) (Pt E) (Pr 18).

SECTION 5-B

—Ss. 5-B, 2 (c) — U. P. Industrial Disputes Rules (1957), R. 8 — Reference by Union which did not represent all workmen not valid.

Under S. 5-B and rule 8 and in a case of voluntary reference to arbitration the reference must be by all the concerned workmen or by a Union or Unions representing all the workmen involved or by five representatives of those workmen. Where a Union which did not represent all the workmen made voluntary reference of disputes which involved all workmen the reference is not valid reference under S. 5-B and an award given on it is invalid and must be quashed. (1965) 2 Lab L J 598 : (1965) 11 Fac L R 35 : ILR (1965) 2 All 716 (DB).

—S. 5-B (4)—Powers of arbitrator under.

The Arbitrator can investigate only those disputes which are referred to him for arbitration and no others. The power of adjudication which an arbitrator exercises is derived by him from the agreement of the parties. The arbitrator in deciding matters other than those referred to him clearly goes beyond the jurisdiction conferred upon him by the parties. Such award given by the arbitrator, therefore, cannot be held valid and in accordance with law. (1964) 2 Lab L J 65 : (1964) 8 Fac L R 306 (All).

SECTION 5-C

—Ss. 5-C and 4-K — Labour Court (Gorakhpur) Rules (1957), R. 33 (ii) of Ch. IV — Rule does not empower Labour Court to decide industrial dispute referred without going into the merits. (1964) 8 Fac L R 269 : (1964) 1 Lab L J 607 (All).

● —S. 6 and S. 31 (g) — Standing Order issued under S. 3, Cl. 9 (7)—Clause 9 (7) is not in conflict with S. 6.

S. 6 requires that the Tribunal shall submit its award to the Government; it thus necessarily contemplates the making of the award. Neither S. 6 nor any other provision in the Act provides how the award is to be made. Under S. 3 (g) however the Government has power by general or special order to provide for incidental or supplementary matters necessary for the decision of an industrial dispute referred for adjudication under any order made under S. 3. The provision as to the pronouncement of the decision in open Court in Cl. 9 (7) of the Statutory Order clearly is within the powers contemplated in S. 3 (g). S. 6 does not prohibit the making of such a provision. Its main purpose is to direct that the Tribunal shall submit the award to the Government so that it may be enforced. It has nothing to do with the manner in which the Tribunal is to make its award. A rule duly framed under the Act requiring the Tribunal to pronounce its decision in open Court is therefore not in conflict with S. 6. State of Uttar Pradesh v. Laxmi Ice Factory, Lucknow, (1963) 1 S C J 320 : (1962) Supp 3 S C R 59 : ILR (1963) 1 All 10 : (1962) 1 Lab L J 281 : AIR 1963 S C 399 (404) (Pt B) (Pr 20).

● —S. 6 (1)—Extension of time — U. P. General Clauses Act (1 of 1904), Ss. 14 and 21.

The State Government has not the power to extend the time for making an award ex post facto, i. e., after the time limit originally fixed therefor has expired. S. 14 of the U. P. General Clauses Act does not in terms, or by necessary implication, give any such power of extension of time nor can any support be derived from S. 21 of that Act to validate the award passed after the expiry of the time originally fixed, though the order giving extension ex facie purports to modify the original order fixing the time limit. SECTION 6-B

——S. 6-B (2) — Question whether application for registration is compulsory—Existence of word "may" and not of "shall"—Effect—Interpretation of Statutes —Mandatory and discretionary provisions — Civil P. C. (1908), Preamble—Interpretation of Statutes—Words and Phrases—'May'.

It cannot be accepted that the use of the word 'may' and not 'shall' occurring in S. 6B (2), indicated that it was compulsory that an application for the registration of a settlement of dispute should be made and that it was purely in the discretion of a party or the parties to apply or not to apply for the same. The word 'shall' could not have fitted in the context of S. 6B (2). The use of that word in the sentence would not bave indicated as to which of the parties was bound to apply for registration. The insistence on both the parties being bound to apply could not have gone well with the words "any one of them." (1965) 2 Lab L J 598 : (1965) 11 Fac L R 35 : ILR (1965) 2 All 716 (DB).

——Ss. 6-B, 6 and 6-A — Applicability and scope — Industrial disputes referred to Arbitrator — Settlement of, not registered — Award made in terms of settlement—Validity.

The settlement of disputes contemplated by S. 6-B is not a compromise arrived at between the employer and the workers in respect of industrial dispute before a Labour Court or an Industrial Tribunal or an Arbitrator and in respect of which an award is to be made. The operation of S. 6-B is confined to settlements which are not made in an industrial dispute before a Labour Court or an Industrial Tribunal or an Arbitrator and in respect of which no award is required to be made. The provision is a self-contained one. Provisions of Sections 6 and 6-A also are self-contained for awards. These sections together provide for two different matters. Sections 6 and 6-A make provision for awards of all sorts including the awards made by an Arbitrator on the basis of a compromise. Obviously S. 6-B will not apply to them. On the principle that special will exclude the general, even if it is held that S. 6-B is wide enough to comprehend a settlement incorporated in an award the provisions of Ss. 6 and 6-A would exclude S. 6-B and would apply. Consequently the settlement incorporated in an award is binding not by virtue of S. 6-B (1) but by ——S. 6-H—Scope and applicability.

The word 'money', used in Cl. (1) of S. 6-H must be deemed to refer only to determinate sums of money, i.e. sums which are either expressly set forth in the award itself or which may be arrived at by mere arithmetical calculation. But where the amount in question can only be determined after evidence has been led on disputed questions of fact, there is no "money" due within the meaning of cl. (1) ; such an indeterminate amount is merely a 'benefit' which is capable of being computed in terms of money", which must be determined by a Labour Court under the provisions of Cl. (2). P. General Clauses Act (1 of 1904), S. 4 (2)—(Words and Phrases—'Act done')—(General Clauses Act (1897), S. 4 (17).

The applicant had dismissed an employee pending a dispute before the Appellate Tribunal under bona fide impression that since permission from the Appellate Tribunal which was higher authority had been obtained, no permission of the Regional Conciliation Officer was required. He has also very good reasons to arrive at that conclusion because in several of the cases Regional Conciliation Officers had also rejected the applications for permission on that very ground. The applicant was prosecuted under S. 14, U. P. Industrial Disputes Act and Cl. 33 of the Government Notification for failure to obtain the permission of the Regional Conciliation Officer for dismissing the employee.

Held that even assuming but without deciding that the permission of the Regional Conciliation Officer was necessary under Cl. 29 in the circumstances of the case, the applicant must be taken to have acted in good faith within the meaning of S. 22 in the absence of any allegation or circumstances of bad faith on the part of the applicant. Thus, if that omission, though may be illegal was bona fide it would amount to 'act done' within the meaning of S. 22 and the applicant was protected under that section. The only effect of S. 17 is that any standing orders certified or amended by the certifying officer, if they are inconsistent with the order under the U. P. SECTION 19

——S. 19 (1) — Worker claiming higher post raising industrial dispute — Worker appointed to post on officiating basis cannot claim to be heard when his case was supported by management — Constitution of India, Art. 226—Natural justice—Principles of.

A person holding an officiating appointment has no right to that post, firstly, because he has no lien on the post and, secondly, because the officiating appointment is in the nature of a stopgap arrangement which comes to an end when the post is filled by a permanent incumbent. The mere fact that he was officiating in certain post, therefore, would not create any substantive right in his favour.

During the illness of the Head Mistri in the spinning Department of the Mill, one of the Mistries was placed as Head Mistri and in the vacancy thus caused by the promotion of the Mistri, one S was appointed as officiating Mistri. Aggrieved by this, R who was a confirmed Assistant Mistri, made a claim to that post and on a reference of the industrial dispute, an award was passed in his favour. S, by a writ petition, challenged that award on the ground that the proceedings on reference were held behind his back, which was against the provisions of S. 19 (1) and of the principles of natural justice. The stand taken by the Mill which was a party to the proceeding was that it had not taken a final decision about the permanent appointment of Mistri but that S had been given officiating appointment as a temporary measure:

Held that the impugned order of reference and the award did not affect S, because he could not claim to hold the post of officiating Mistri as of right. By the impugned award R was held entitled to the permanent post of Mistri and as a consequence the vacancy in that post ceased to exist. This brought about an automatic termination of the officiating arrangement in which S was working. In the circumstances, there could not be any question of his being affected by the order of reference or by the impugned award. AIR 1962 All 70, Disting.; AIR 1958 S C 36, Rel. on.

Held further that the mill which was a party to the adjudication, had stoutly defended their action in appointing S as officiating Mistri. It had fully supported the point of view of S that he had the requisite experience and was a fit person to hold the post of officiating Mistri. In these circumstances it could not be said that the case of S had gone by default. It could not, therefore, be said that the award was against the principles of justice. The Court must also presume that that authority passed the order in exercise of that very power under which the order purports to have been passed. But there is no presumption under this provision of law that the exercise of the power was necessarily after complying with the condition precedent to the exercise of the power laid down in the Act.-AIR 1945 P C 156; (1945) 2 M L J 325, Disting. The Government cannot be forced to exercise that power, and a perusal of the section itself leads to the conclusion that it is not mandatory but directory in nature. SECTION 8

——S. 8 — "Principal Act" in section refers to U. P. Act (23 of 1947) as amended by U. P. Act (1 of 1957) — Reference to S. 6-A in S. 8 is to S. 6-A which was brought in by U. P. Act (1 of 1957) and not to original S. 6-A.

The preamble shows that Act No. 23 of 1957 was clearly brought in to amend the 1947 Act. At the time when Act 23 of 1957 was enforced S. 16 was already a part of the 1947 Act having been inserted therein by virtue of Act (1 of 1957). Consequently, the words "principal Act" clearly mean U. P. Act No. 23 of 1947 as amended by U. P. Act No. 1 of 1957. Reference to S. 6-A in the words added to S. 16 obviously is to S. 6-A which was brought in by Act 1 of 1957 and cannot refer to the original S. 6-A which stood repealed by Act 1 of 1957. UTTAR PRADESH INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES (AMENDMENT) ORDINANCE (1 of 1953)

● ——S. 3 — General order specifying time within which award has to be submitted — General order amended by enlarging time — Effect on reference — Submission of award beyond time originally fixed — Effect of S. 3 of Amending Ordinance (1 of 1953) — Award, if validated. See U. P. Industrial Disputes Act 28 of 1947 (as amended by U. P. Ordinance 1 of 1953), S. 3. AIR 1958 SC 187.

● ——S. 3 — Scope, purpose and interpretation — Applicability of clauses of section.

There can be little doubt, that the main purpose of the Ordinance was to validate orders of extension of time within which an award had to be submitted as well as to prevent its validity being questioned merely on the ground that it had been submitted beyond the specified time or any enlargement thereof. Where no judicial proceedings against an award were pending it was the intention of the Ordinance that the award shall not be questioned merely on the ground that it was submitted after the specified period for its submission or any enlargement thereof. Although S. 3 (2) of the Ordinance is not happily worded there is no real conflict between its provisions and the provisions of Cl. (3) of the section. The words "as if S. 6-A had been in force at all material dates" have to be given some meaning and they cannot be regarded as redundant. The words in question can only apply to that part of the clause which refers to an enlargement of time for the submission of the award, which is the only purpose of S. 6-A of the Act. If S. 3 (2) of the Ordinance is read in this way an intelligible meaning is given to it which is consistent with S. 6-A of the Act and not in conflict with S. 3 (3) of the Ordinance. The awards referred to in S. 3(2) are awards against which no judicial proceeding was pending at the commencement of the Ordinance. The provisions of S. 3 (2) and (3) are not in conflict with each other. State of U. P. v. M/s. The contention that under S. 3 (1) (c), U. P. Intermediate Education Act, if a person along with the office of a Principal of an Intermediate College holds any other office such as the Principalship of a Degree College, he is not eligible for election to the membership of the Board is not tenable because, it is an accepted principle of interpretation of statutes that no words are to be added to the words in the Statute and there are no words in S. 3 (1) (c) which justify an interpretation that the Principal referred to in that section means a Principal who does not hold any other office. 1957 All L J 247.

——S. 7 (5)—Scope and effect — Regulations framed under S. 15 (2) — Chap. 12, Regn. 10 — Cl. (v) of Regn. 10 — Construction of — It is not intended to create a fifth category.

The only reasonable construction that can be put on Cl. (v) of Regn. 10 in Chap. 12 is that is not meant to create a fifth category of students eligible to appear as private candidates at the High School examination but is intended to lay down a condition that a person has to fulfil in order to be eligible for admission to the High School Examination as a private candidate, even if he falls within one of the four categories enumerated in Cls. (i) and (iv) of the Regulation. If he left a recognised institution at the stage mentioned in this clause he must fulfil the condition laid down in it about time also. The fact that the clause containing the additional condition was numbered as Cl. (v) cannot show necessarily that it was intended to create a fifth category. 1957 All W R (HC) 534 : 1957 All L J 540.

——Ss. 11 and 15 — Regulations under S. 15, Regn. 5 (ii) and (v) — Meaning and effect of — Short attendance — Candidate permitted by Principal to sit for examination provisionally — Board disallowing and cancelling examination — Competency.

In order to ascertain the effect of Cls. (ii) and (v) of Regn. 5, those clauses must be examined in the background of the other provisions of Chap. XII. The regulations in Chap. XII make provision, inter alia for the admission to the Board's examinations of two classes of candidates (1) regular and (2) private. The distinction between the two is that whereas private candidates offer themselves for examination (Regn. 8 (i) regular candidates do not do so; they are 'sent up' (Regn. 4(1) or 'presented' (Regn. 5(ii) by the institution which they attend. The presentation for the Examination is by the institution, and Cls. (ii) and (v) of Regn. 5 impose an obligation on every recognised institution to send up only such candidates who have attended the institution for the prescribed number of days. If, notwithstanding the fact that a candidate has not attended the institution for the prescribed period, the institution sends him up for the Examination then he has not been duly presented, and the Board is not under any obligation to examine him or, if it has, ignorance of the fact, examined him, to declare the result of that examination. Viewed in this light, Cls. (ii) and (v) of Regn. 5 are mandatory provisions inasmuch as they impose an obligation, not on the candidate, but on the institution which he attends. If a candidate is presented by his institution in defence of the provisions of Cl. (ii) or of Cl. (v) of Regn. 5 such a candidate acquires no right in law to compel the Board to declare the result of his examination unless the Board has condoned the infraction of this Regulation. 1959 All W R (HC) 226 : 1959 All L J 149 (DB).

The Principal of a High School, after submitting his resignation, withdrew the same before it was accepted by the Management of the School. The Executive Committee of the School, however, accepted the resignation with immediate effect. The Principal moved the Deputy Director of Education for reinstatement. The Deputy Director who was the chairman of the Standing Regional Arbitration Board called for the meeting of the Board which gave an award directing reinstatement of the Principal with three months salary. The School Committee paid the amount but did not reinstate the Principal. So the Principal moved the State Government and the latter suggested him to obtain a decree from the Court. The principal thereupon made an application under S. 14 (2).

On contention that in view of S. 21 (b) of the Specific Relief Act no suit for declaration based on a contract of personal service was maintainable and therefore the Arbitration Board could not give decision of reinstating the Principal.

Held (i) that a suit based on a contract of personal service was not maintainable unless the order of dismissal or discharge was a nullity or there was an infringement of a statutory provision. In the instant case, the Principal had not been dismissed from service but was discharged by termination of the agreement. According to the agreement of service the notice of termination of the agreement was to be valid only after Inspector had given approval. That agreement was on the lines of Appendix VI of the U. P. Educational Code.

The whole of the Educational Code including Appendix VI could be a part of the Regulations and disregard thereof would amount to disregard of statutory provisions. The Managing (Executive) Committee of the School had not obtained the approval of the Inspector and consequently the notice of termination was not valid and had no legal effect. The termination of service thus amounted to the breach of a statutory provision and the Courts of law could grant the declaration that the order of discharge was invalid and, that in the eye of law, the Principal continued to be still in service. The decision of the Arbitration Board directing reinstatement of the Principal in substance, amounted to such a declaration.

(ii) That the award of the Arbitration Board was not incapable of performance on the ground that the School had been recognized for Intermediate Examination also and the status of the Institution has been changed. 1965 All L J 1116.

——S. 15 — Regulations under, Chapter VI, Part I, Cl. (1)—Examination Committee — Power to punish examinees—Opportunity to be heard given — Second opportunity not given—Order not vitiated.

According to the provisions of Part I of Chaper VI of the Regulations, the Examination Committee has power to punish the examinee for using unfair means at the examination. It can punish him also where he is guilty of a moral offence or indiscipline at the examination. The expression 'at the examination' in Cl. (1) means that acts of indiscipline can also be displayed outside the examination hall and they may still be acts displayed at the examination. The beating of an invigilator at the place of the centre after he comes out of the examination hall, particularly when the cause for doing so is the conduct of the invigilator inside the examination hall, is undoubtedly indiscipline at the examination. The rules of natural justice only require that the person charged is given an opportunity. It is not necessary for the Examinations Committee, once the examinee had been afforded the necessary opportunity by the Inspector, to repeat the process again. The mere fact, therefore, that an opportunity was not given over again by the Examinations Committee will not vitiate the order passed by it. 1959 All L J 277.

——S. 15 (2) (e)—Board of High School and Intermediate Education Rules, Chap. XII, Rule 5 (iii)—Applicability to detained candidate.

The detained candidates have been treated as separate and distinct from failed candidates and the two expressions have been used to indicate these two classes of candidates in R. 5 (v). A detained candidate is a candidate who was detained at an earlier examination for any reason whatsoever. A detained candidate does not come within the meaning of the last paragraph of R. 5 (xii). Hence the percentage in the case of detained candidates has to be calculated on one academical year's attendance and it is open to the head of recognised institution to condone a deficiency in attendance of not more than 10 lectures in the case of such candidates. 1957 All L J 493.

——S. 15—Education Code framed under— Arbitration Board—Jurisdiction of—Nature and extent.

The Educational Code has statutory authority inasmuch as, it is framed under S. 15, U. P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 under Para. 151-B of the Code, the Arbitration Board comes into being as a statutory body whether there are any pending disputes or not and functions as a tribunal under the authority of law. Statutory obligation is cast on this Board to decide the disputes as are referable to them. Their jurisdiction does not depend upon the withdrawal of either grant-in-aid or recognition of the institution in case the reference to them was possible at the time when the dispute arose.

The fact that an award, if made by the Board, may not be enforceable by the Education Department is no ground to refuse to do the arbitration. 1957 All W R (H C) 365 : 1957 All L J 162.

——S. 15 — Regulations under — Chapter XII, R. 5, Chapter VI, R. 1—Cancellation of result.

The principal has no power to condone shortage of attendance but the failure to attend the requisite number of meetings disentitles candidate to appear in the examination. Once however a student has been allowed to appear in the examination there is no provision under the Act or the regulations under which the examinations committee could cancel the result of a student. There is no power given to the examination committee to cancel the result on the ground that the attendance of a candidate is short although he has been duly recommended by the authorities of the institution and he had been duly permitted to appear in the examination. 1956 All L J 628.

——S. 2 (viii) — Notification declaring Improvement Trust as 'builder'—Effect of—(U. P. Town Improvement Act (1919), Ch. IV).

Even if a scheme for the erection of houses, shops and workshops for the use of refugees may not be improvement scheme which comes within the ambit of Ch. IV of the Town Improvement Act, the effect of a declaration that an Improvement Trust is a 'builder' within the meaning of U. P. Land Acquisition (Rehabilitation of Refugees) Act, 1948, is, in law, to constitute it a 'builder' for the purposes of that Act, and if necessary statutorily to enlarge its objects to enable it to perform its functions thereunder. 1954 All L J 673 : AIR 1955 All 12 (18, 19) (Pt G) (Pr 27) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 SC 14].

——S. 3—Absence of notice to owner—Effect.

Service of notice under S. 3 of the Act on the owner of the property is an essential part of the process of requisition. Without it the requisition is not valid in law although the owner had knowledge of the proceedings. 1957 All L J 117 : 1957 All W R (HC) 350.

——Ss. 3, 9 and 15 — Rules under S. 15, R. 4 — Requisition of land under S. 3—Notice on Zamindari but absence of notice on occupier or tenant — Requisition order is illegal — Land cannot be acquired under S. 9. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 349 (DB).

——S. 9 (2) — Compensation for acquisition of land —Basis for calculation — Market value as it obtained on 1-9-1939 and not on notification under S. 9 (2) should be taken—1954 ALJ 673 held no longer good Law. See U. P. Land Acquisition (Rehabilitation) of Refugees Act (26 of 1948). S. 11. 1965 All L J 999.

——S. 9 — Rules under S. 15, R. 4 — Requisition of land under S. 3 — Absence of nctice on occupier or tenant — Requisition is invalid. See U. P. Land Acquisition (Rehabilitation of Refugees) Act (26 of 1948), S. 3. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 349 (DB).

——S. 11—Validity—Not invalid. See Constitution of India, Art. 31-B. AIR 1961 S C 14.

——Ss. 11 and 9 (2) — Compensation for acquisition of land—Basis for calculation — Market value as it obtained on 1-9-1939 and not on notification under S. 9 (2) should be taken.

In view of the Fourth Amendment of the Constitution, the compensation for land acquired under S. 3, has to be calculated on the basis of S. 11, that is, with reference to the market value of the property as it obtained in 1-9-1939 and not as it obtained on the date of the notification under S. 9 (2). 1954 ALJ 673 held no longer good law; AIR 1958 All 154; AIR 1961 S C 14, Relied on. 1965 All L J 999.

——S. 11 — Validity—(Constitution (Fourth Amendment) Act (1955), S. 5 — Effect of — Constitution of India, Art. 31-B—Retrospective operation—(Government of India Act, 1935), S. 229).

Though the two provisos of S. 11 (1) of the Act were invalid being in contravention of the provisions of S. 299, Government of India Act, after the inclusion of the Act in the 9th Schedule of the Constitution by S. 5 of the Constitution (Fourth Amendment) Act, 1955, it must be held that by virtue of Art. 31-B of the Constitution every provision of the U. P. Act is valid and enforceable. AIR 1955 SC 47; 1955 SCJ 1, Foll. Art. 31-B is retrospective in operation and the U. P. Act must be deemed to be valid at least from the date the Constitution came into force. ILR (1957) 2 All 88 : AIR 1958 All 154 (158) (Pt E) (Prs 13, 14) (DB).

——S. 11 — Validity — Not invalid. See Constitution of India, Art. 31-A. AIR 1958 All 154 (DB).

——S. 11—Not ultra vires—Effect of Fourth Amendment of the Constitution.

By the Fourth Amendment of the Constitution, the U. P. Land Acquisition (Rehabilitation of Refugees) Act (26 of 1948), has been included in the Ninth Schedule of the Constitution. The result is that by virtue of provisions of Art. 31-B this Act should be deemed to be valid and also to have always been valid. S. 11 of the Act cannot, therefore, be held ultra vires the State Legislature. AIR 1955 All 12 held no longer good law. 1956 All W R (H C) 10 : 1956 All L J 90 : AIR 1956 All 416 (416) (Prs 2, 3) (DB).

——S. 11 (1), Provisos — Validity — [Constitution of India, Art. 31 (2) and (5) (a)].

The provisions with regard to compensation when land is acquired, to be found in the two provisos to sub-section (1) of S. 11 of the U. P. Land Acquisition (Rehabilitation of Refugees) Act, are invalid. But the invalid provisions can be severed from the remainder of the Act. Denuded of the offending provisos to S. 11 (1), and the first paragraph of that sub-section not being called in question in these proceedings the Act must be held to make provision for compensation within the meaning of Art. 31 (2). 1954 All L J 673 : AIR 1955 All 12 (15, 16, 17, 19) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 14, 15, 30) (DB).

Section 23 no doubt provides for appointment of Patwaris to each halka and that section has not yet been amended, but it does not take away the right of the Governor to create a new service for each halka or group of halkas if he so desires. In the alternative even if it be considered to be same service the mere fact that it has been given a new name would not necessarily affect the question of the validity of the rules framed under S. 234 (b). ——S. 34 (1) and (5) (as amended by U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951).— Scope—If retrospective.

Sub-sections (1) and (5) of S. 34 cannot be said to apply to cases of succession or transfer which took place before they were amended by the U. P. Zamindari Abolition Act. The first provision casts a duty upon a person to make a report to the Panchayati Adalat and the second imposes a penalty for the omission to make the report. Sub-section (5) really is penal in nature and reading it along with sub-s. (1) it is not possible to say that these two provisions were intended to have retrospective operation. Therefore, the provisions of S. 34 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act, as amended by the U. P. Zamindari Abolition Act, are applicable only to cases of transfer or succession which took place after the date of the amendment. 1959 All L J 617 : (1959) All W R (HC) 437 : ILR (1959) 1 All 809.

Under S. 12 of the Court of Wards Act the Court of Wards merely assumes superintendence of the property of any proprietor; the estate does not vest in the Court of Wards. The Collector or the Manager takes possession and custody of the property and manages it according to rules made under S. 64 of the Act. Therefore, the Collector or the Manager who takes possession of an estate under the Court of Wards Act is not bound to make the report required by sub-s. (1) of S. 34. Sub-section (5) of the section is therefore, no bar to the Collector or the Manager bringing a suit in the Revenue Court under S. 214 of the U. P. ——Ss. 40 and 44 — Order of Tahsildar under S. 40 recording names of persons in revenue paper—Order is not final—Civil or revenue Court can go behind it. (Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9). 1964 All W R (H C) 118.

——S. 40 (2) — "Order as to possession" — Party already in possession—Effect.

The only order as to possession mentioned in S. 40 is the order putting a party, whose name is ordered to be entered in the Khasra on the basis of a summary enquiry into title, into possession. If a party has been found to be in possession and on this finding his name is ordered to be entered in the paper the order is of an entry of his name and cannot be said to be an order as to possession. The order as to possession means an order regarding possession as much as an order putting a party into possession. When only an entry is made, even though on the basis of possession, there is no order as to possession; there may be a finding as to possession but not an order. 1957 All L J 783 : 1957 All W R (H C) 771 : AIR 1958 All 48 (54) (Pt B) (Pr 10) (DB):

——S. 40—Jurisdiction of Civil Court.

Section 40 (2) does not curtail the power of a civil Court; its object is simply to preserve its power to decide a question of title. It does not mean that a civil Court has no power except in regard to a case covered by S. 40 (3). Therefore, a suit in a civil Court would not be barred on the ground of anything contained in S. 40, Land Revenue Act. 1957 All L J 783: 1957 All W R (H C) 771 : A I R 1958 All 48 (54) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (DB).

——Ss. 40, 44—Suit for declaration as to right to tenancy—Maintainability.

A right to tenancy can be claimed under Ss. 59, 61 of the U. P. Tenancy Act in a Revenue Court alone and therefore a suit for declaration as to the right to tenancy is not barred under S. 44 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act. Even a decision as to possession under S. 40 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act does not operate as res judicata in a suit for declaration. 1947 A W R 39; 1947 R D 208 and 1943 R D 97, Rel. on. 1951 R D 239 : 1951 All W R (Rev) 190.

——Ss. 40 (3) and 44 — Applicability of S. 40 (3) — Decision regarding possession under S. 40 (1)—Binding nature

Sub-s. (3) of S. 40 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act is applicable to an order or decision under sub-s. (1) as well as sub s. (2)) of the section.

An aggrieved party from such an order or decision is entitled to establish his right in any civil or revenue Court having jurisdiction.

In a suit for establishing the right the decision regarding possession under S. 40 (1) is also open to retrial and such a decision is not binding even on a revenue Court under S. 44 of the Act. 1951 R D 229: 1951 All W R (Rev) 214.

——Ss. 44 and 40 (3)—Binding nature of decision in a disputed correction case — Scope and limits.

Section 44 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act makes the decision in a disputed correction case binding on all revenue Courts subject to the provisions of S. 40(3) of the Act. So a suit for declaration as to the right to tenancy is not barred under S. 44 of the Act. 1951 All W R (Rev) 190 : 1951 R D 239.

——S. 44—Presumption as to entry.

The entry in the khatauni can at best be a piece of evidence under S. 44 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act leading to the presumption that the state of affairs recorded therein at the time when it was recorded was correct. The presumption arising out of that entry can in no case prove the fact of possession of the persons recorded therein at a time prior to the date of its record. 1953 BLJR 296 : AIR 1953 Pat 267 (270, 271) (Pt C)(Pr 13).

——S. 45 — Case of appointment of lambardar— Question whether person not recorded is co sharer or not cannot be decided by Board.

The question whether a person who is not recorded in the Khewat, is or is not a co-sharer cannot be decided by the Board in appeal in a case of appointment of a lambardar. It is only the civil Court which can decide it. 1952 All W R (Rev) 3 : 1951 R D 257.

——S. 45 (2) and Revenue Manual, Paras. 218 and 219—Lambardar—Vacancy—Nomination—Time.

Neither S. 45 (2) of the U. P. Land Revenue Act nor para. 218 of the Revenue Manual prescribe any period of limitation beyond which no valid nomination of a candidate for a vacant post of a lambardar can be made and so the nomination or objection received by a Tahsildar before he makes a report under S. 219 of the Revenue Manual can be taken into consideration. 1951 R D 257 : 1952 All WR (Rev) 3.

——Ss. 45 and 213 — Lambardar — Evacuee — Dismissal of — Appeal from — Locus standi — Starting point of limitation.

In 3rd appeal from an order of dismissal of a lambardar-evacuee and appointment of lambardar under S. 45 of L. R. Act 3 of 1901 (U. P.)

Held, neither an evacuee as defined in S. 2 (d) (i) and (ii) of the Administration of Evacuee Property Act of 1950, nor his mukhtar-e-am who is an 'unauthorised person' under sub-s. (j) of S. 2, appears to have locus standi in a case under S. 45.

'Communication', for purposes of S. 201 of the Act, to the 'evacuee' must be deemed to have taken place on his knowledge of the order of dismissal (i.e.), when he executed the mukhtarnama on 18-4-48. Hence the application of 7-10-1948 for restoration is barred. 1952 R D 131 : 1952 All L J (Rev) 126 (1).

——Ss. 45, 227 and 210 — Under Ss. 45 and 227 the Collector or the Assistant Collector can appoint as Lambardar only the person nominated by other co-sharers and they have no jurisdiction to appoint any one not so nominated by the other co-sharers. Where there has been no proper proclamation issued under S. 45 and the co-sharers had never nominated any one for appintment as lambardar, it cannot be said that the other co-sharers had any notice of the proceedings or were parties thereto. If in such a case they do not file an appeal within time, it cannot be held that the order appointing a person as lambardar was binding on them. ILR (1950) All 316.

——S. 57 — Presumption as to entries in annual registers—Scope of.

Under S. 55 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act the rents payable by tenants are to be recorded in the annual register and under S. 57 of the Act all the entries in the record of rights prepared under Ch. IV (in which S. 55 occurs) shall be presumed to be true until the contrary is proved. So this presumption will still remain even when an attempt is made to prove that it is wrong but the evidence is not accepted by the Court. 1951 All W R (HC) 514 : 1952 All L J 110 : 1952 R D 128.

——S. 118 — Nature and incidence of tenancy created by.

Though S. 118 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act creates some sort of tenancy, it cannot be said that this tenancy would be of such a nature as would be governed by the provisions of the Tenancy Act. As the liability is only to pay ground rent in respect of the land, it must be presumed that the right acquired is that of constructing or maintaining a building or buildings on that land. Such a right would be a transferable right. This right is not different in village abadis from those in cities and towns. 1951 All W R (HC) 221 : AIR 1952 All 124 (125) (Pr 3).

——S. 126 — Amendment of, by Act 2 of 1941 — Effect.

The amendment of S. 126 in 1941 only means that after the amedment the exproprietary rent is also to be fixed after the partition had been confirmed; but it does not mean that a claim for ex-proprietary rights could be maintained and accepted by Courts even after the partition is confirmed, because of this amendment. 1951 R D 7 (8).

——S. 126 — Effect of its amendment by Act II of 1946.

The amendment of S. 126 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act by the Amendment Act II of 1946 only lays down the principle and the basis on which the exproprietary rent is to be fixed. This only means that after this amendment such rent is also to be fixed after the partition had been confirmed; but it does not mean that a claim for exproprietary rights could be maintained and accepted by Courts even after the partition is confirmed, because of this amendment. 1951 R D 7.

——S. 126 — U. P. Tenancy Act (17 of 1939), S. 26—S. 26 has no applicability in cases of transfer of khudkasht land in partition proceedings. See Tenancy Laws — U. P. Tenancy Act (17 of 1939), S. 26. 1950 All W R (Rev) 62.

——Ss. 141 to 188—Ch. IV—Value to be attached to entries in village records.

——Ss. 144, 234 — Perfect partition — Claim to lambardari dues — Tenancy Laws — U. P. Tenancy Act (XVII) [17] of 1939), S. 245 (1).

Where there has been a perfect partition the lambardar has no right to make any collection of rents and other due in the patti in which he is not a cosharer. Where the Assistant Collector receives a certificate under S. 46 (2) of the Income-Tax Act and seeks to attach assets held by a Court, the proper procedure for the attachment of such assets is in terms of O. 21, R. 52, Civil P. C. Where that procedure was not adopted but instead an ordinary warrant of attachment, without specification of any property sought to be attached, was signed by the Assistant Collector and the writ of attachment did not even show as to whom it was addressed nor did it contain any seal of the Court or the signature of the officer by whom it was issued, there can be no doubt whatsoever that the Assistant Collector moved in an irregular manner and the proceedings in attachment had not been taken in accordance with law. It is clear from the provisions of S. 162 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act that when there is a sale of the other immovable properties of the defaulter, it conveys to the purchaser only the right, title and interest of the defaulter in the property sold and that the interests of others in the properties cannot be affected. It follows that the interests of a mortgagee over the properties cannot be affected and the sale can only be subject to the mortgage. Section 219 confers revisional jurisdiction on the Board against the order of an officer subordinate to it. A Sub-Divisional Officer exercising jurisdiction under the U. P. Panchayat Raj Act, which is a self-contained Act with its special procedure, is not subordinate to the Board, and therefore, S. 219, U. P. Land Revenue Act, does not apply. The sections dealing with revision in the U. P. Panchayat Raj Act are Ss. 71 and 89 and it is nowhere laid down either in these sections or in any other part of the Act that the Sub-Divisional Officer's order is subject to revision. ——S. 234 — Rules framed under R. 238 (1)—Scope of — Remuneration of the lambardar — Conditions necessary to entitle him.

According to R. 238 (1) of the rules framed under S. 234 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act two conditions are necessary to be complied with to entitle a lambardar to claim remuneration. They are firstly that the land revenue should have been paid into the Government treasury and secondly, the lambardar should have been entitled to collect the amount on account of such co-sharer's share. So if there has been a perfect partition and the lambardar is not a co-sharer in the patti of the co-sharer sought to be made liable, the former would not be entitled to make collection in that patti and so would not satisfy the conditions laid down in R. 238 (1) and so cannot claim his dues. 1951 All W R (HC) 265.

PREAMBLE

● ——Preamble — Constitutional validity — Act was within competence of U. P. Legislature. See Constitution of India (1950), Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 49. AIR 1962 S C 1563.

● ——Preamble — Constitutional validity—Act is not a colourable piece of legislation — Constitution of India, Arts. 245, 246 and 265.

The tax levied by the Act is not confiscatory. Besides the scheme of the Act does not disclose any constitutional infirmity either in its charging sections or in the sections providing for the procedure for the levy of the tax and its recovery. Hence, the Act cannot be struck down as a colourable piece of legislation. Raja Jagannath Baksh Singh v. SECTION 4

——S. 4—Landholder's wife inheriting some land—Tenants acquiring sirdari rights over land and possession — Assessing authority including in landholder's holding sir land of wife — Authority held had no jurisdiction to do so.

The petitioner was a landholder. His wife inherited some land from her mother, but she was left with no right over the land, the tenants having acquired sirdari rights over it and being in possession of it. The assessing authority having included in the petitioners holding the sir land of his wife :

Held, that it could not be said that the wife held or occupied the land during the assessment year. If she did not hold or occupy, her husband still less held or occupied it. Even it the petitioner's wife held or occupied the land, it could not be said that it was held or occupied by the petitioner and could not be included in his holding. So long as it was not held or occupied by him it could not be included in his land holding and the assessing authority acted without jurisdiction in doing so. 1964 All L J 933.

——S. 4—Land held or occupied by sons of assessee cannot form part of his land holding.

Under S. 4, land held or occupied by the sons of the assessee cannot form part of his land holding. The scheme of the Act is that the same land cannot be included in two land holdings and two persons cannot be assessed to a holding tax on it. Therefore, the words 'held' and 'occupied' must be treated as synonyms and the phrase 'held or occupied' must be interpreted so as to be applicable to only one landholder.

The assessing authority should first start with land and find its landholder and then find the annual value of the aggregate of all land held or occupied by him on the first day of July of the assessment year. Proceeding in this manner the Sub-Divisional Officer, should find whether the assessee's sons are the landholders, being intermediaries personally cultivating it or holding it as sir or khudkasht or persons holding or occupying it otherwise than as asamis, sub-tenants, tenants of sir or sirtans. The assessee cannot be its land holder because even though he might be an intermediary it is not in his personal cultivation and he did not hold or occupy it. 1962 All W R (HC) 668 : 1962 All L J 842.

——S. 4—Assessment proceedings—Nature of.

An assessment proceeding is a judicial proceeding and the officers and authorities charged with the duty of discharging judicial functions must apply their mind to the evidence or material which is produced before them and draw their inferences after consideration of those materials and the evidence. 1962 All W R (HC) 149.

——S. 4, Expl. 1 — Scope and applicability of S. 4 — Clubbing of property — Circumstances necessary for —Family — Deity, sarbarkar, and guardian of minor sarbarkar, no family—Constitution of India, Art. 226 —"Error apparent on the face of the record." See U. P. Large Land Holdings Tax Act (1957), S. 2 (16). 1962 All W R (HC) 57.

● ——S. 5 (1)—Scope — Requirements for multiple—U. P. Government Notification, dated 23-4-59 complies with prescribed requirements.

The word 'may' used in S. 5 (1) in the context cannot mean 'shall' or 'must'. S. 5 (1) has prescribed the maximum limits of the multiple which may be adopted. Having prescribed the maximum beyond which the multiple will not go, discretion has been left to the State Government to make suitable adjustment according to the requirements of local conditions and varying qualities of lands.

In prescribing the multiple under the Notification issued by the U. P. State Government on 23.4.58, the State Government has classified lands and has varied the multiple accordingly. Therefore, there can be no doubt that the notification issued by the State Government under S. 5 (1) has complied with the statutory requirements prescribed therefor. Raja Jagannath Baksh Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh. (1963) 1 S C R 220 : (1962) 46 I T R 169 : 1962 All L J 799 : 1962 All W R (HC) 649 : (1962) 1 S C A 679 : AIR 1962 S C 1563 (1569) (Pt E) (Prs 13, 14).

● —S. 5 (1) and Schedule—Constitutional validity — Not void on ground of contravention of Arts. 14, 19 (1) (f) and 31 (2) of the Constitution — Constitution of India, Arts. 14, 19 (1) (f) and 31 (2).

Section 5 (1) of the U. P. Large Land Holdings Tax Act, does not offend against Art. 19 (1) (f), Art. 14 and Art. 31 of the Constitution and so is not invalid on that ground.

Tax has been levied on land holdings, subject to the important proviso that holdings, the area whereof does not exceed thirty acres, would not be taxed. The basis adopted for levying the tax is ultimately the rent payable for the land or lands in question and taking the basis of the said rent the annual value of the land is required to be determined by adopting a suitable multiple. Section 5 (1) prescribes the maximum limit of this multiple and leaves it to the discretion of the State Government to adjust the multiple as local conditions and conditions of land may require. The discretion left to the State Government cannot be said to be unfettered or uncanalised, so as to amount to an unreasonable restriction. The notification dated 23-4-58, issued by the State Government prescribing the multiple has clearly complied with the requirement of S. 5 (1). Accordingly, the challenge to the validity of S. 5 (1) on the ground that it contravenes Arts. 14 and 19 (1) (f) must fail.

Nor can the rates fixed by the Schedule of the Act be challenged as contravening Arts. 14 and 19. The tax being on land holding, the measure of the tax is fixed in the light of the annual value of the land holding. In other words the land holding is taxed on the basis of its annual value and the Schedule cannot be successfully challenged as being inconsistent with Arts. 14 and 19 (1) (f).

As the Act does not offend against Art. 14 or Art. 19 or any of the fundamental rights the Act cannot be challenged on the ground that it contravenes Art. 31 (2) of the Constitution. Raja Jagannath Baksh Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh. It cannot be said that the authority who issue notice is the judge of his own cause. Under the impugned Act, by means of S. 11 an appeal, and by means of S. 12 a revision have been provided against the order of assessment.' Both the appellate and the revising authorities are independent persons, and neither of them can be said to have a bias in favour of the assessing authority and against the assessee. SECTION 12

—S. 12—Revisional powers of the Board — Extent of — Board can interfere only on question of jurisdiction.

The powers of revision conferred on the Board of Revenue under S. 12 are limited to interference on a question of jurisdiction alone. The Board has, however no power to interfere with a finding either of fact or of law. In view of the limited scope of their powers under the section the Board cannot by itself enter upon an examination of the evidence and after such examination reverse a finding of fact recorded by the assessing authority. 1961 All L J 503, Foll. 1962 All W R (HC) 149.

——S. 16—Rectification—Alternative remedy—Constitution of India, Art. 226—Writ—Delay.

Under S. 16 rectification can be made of 'any mistake apparent on the face of the record.' Such rectification can be made within one year of the date of the order :suo motu by the authority whose order is sought to be rectified or on an application by the assessee.

Rectification of an order on the application of a party so far as this High Court is concerned, is an alternative remedy and where a party resorts to it, it cannot be argued that it is not a proper remedy. And hence a petition for writ filed shortly after the date on which order refusing rectification was passed could not be said to have been delayed and relief to the party could not be denied on that ground. ——S. 29—Rules under — R. 6-A — Applicability — Rule applies to all pending proceedings on date when it came into force and to any subsequent proceeding: Decision of Mathur, J. in Writ Petition No. 2797 of 1958 D/- 29-2-1960 (Allahabad) Affirmed. 1965 All L J 717.

SCHEDULE

——Schedule and S. 5 (1)—Constitutional validity —Not void on ground of contravention of Arts. 14, 19 (1) (f) and 31 (2) of the Constitution—Constitution of India, Arts. 14, 19 (1) (f) and 31 (2). See U. P. Large Land Holdings Tax Act (31 of 1957), S. 5 (1). AIR 1962 SC 1563.

U. P. LARGE LAND HOLDINGS TAX RULES

RULE 6

——Rr. 6 and 9—Remission of tax relates to chargeability or otherwise of tax—Assessing authority can entertain such a claim—Authority of the Collector in this behalf arises only when assessee commits defalut in payment. See U. P. Large Land Holdings Tax Act (31 of 1957), S. 3 (2). 1962 All W R (HC) 149.

RULE 6-A

——R. 6-A—Rule applies to pending proceedings on date where it comes into force and to any subsequent proceedings. See U. P. Large Land Holding Tax Act (31 of 1957), S. 29. 1965 All L J 717.

——R. 6-A—Applicability—Benefit of rule cannot be claimed only by disabled subletting landholder — Tenancy law—U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 167 (1).

There is nothing in R. 6-A to suggest that its benefit can be claimed only by the disabled subletting landholder or that it applies only when the assessee himself was a disabled landholder. The only conditions for the applicability of the rule are that (1) the land holding should have been legally sublet and (2) it should have been sublet by a disabled landholder mentioned in S. 167 (1) of U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act. R. 6-A does not refer to the landholder or the assessee at all, it only refers to the land holding and the tax charged thereon. Therefore while applying it one has not to consider who the landholder is or who the assessee is. The article 'a' before disabled landholder in R. 6-A means 'any'. There is nothing in the Act or in the rules framed thereunder to suggest that the benefit of the rule was not intended to be given to a landholder if he had not sublet the land holdings. 1964 All L J 933.

——R. 189—Speaker ordering member to withdraw from House—Nature of Order.

Per Sapru, J.—The action of the Speaker of a State Legislature in ordering a member to withdraw from the House is in the nature of a punishment for the parliamentary offence of disorderly behaviour and not in the nature of preventive action. The notion of preventive action can have no application to a case where the Speaker takes disciplinary steps against a member. It is not for what a member threatens to do before the legislature starts actually functioning, but for what he does when it is in actual session that he can be dealt with by the Speaker.

Per Mukerji, J.—The action of the Speaker in having a member removed from the House for unruly behaviour is not a punishment and is not, strictly speaking, 'expulsion' within the meaning of R. 63 (4). When a member is asked by the Speaker to withdraw from the House for disorderly conduct under the powers conferred on him by R. 189 (1) and on his refusal to withdraw the Speaker has put him out of the House under the powers vested in him by sub-R. (3) of R. 189, the action of the Speaker is not really punitive action, but is preventive action. 1954 Cri L J 691 : ILR (1955) 1 All 25 : AIR 1954 All 319 (332, 339) (Pt M) (Prs 33, 34, 67) (DB).

——R. 278 (3)—Constitution of India, Art. 190 (3) (b) —Resignation expressed to be operative from future date is valid — 'Addressed to Speaker'—Connotation of—Resignation becomes effective only if it is received by Speaker — 'Shall thereupon become vacant' —

Meaning of — 'Thereupon' means in consequence of resignation and cannot be construed in sense of 'resign his office' as used in Arts. 124 (2), 179 (b), 56 (1) (a), 67 and 156 (2)—Provision in Rule 278 (3) of U. U. P. LOCAL BODIES (APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATORS) ACT (17 of 1953)

——S. 3—Scope of exercise of powers by Administrator.

Section 3 expressly provides that the Administrator will be deemed in law to be the Board and consequently for the exercise of the powers which vested in the Board, the Administrator will be deemed to the Board and such power can be exercised by the Administrator. The Administrator being a single individual, the question of majority or of special resolution contemplated by R. 6 (a) does not arise. When a legislature gives certain powers to a statutory body with a certain limitation placed on that power, it is open to the Legislature to take away that power and to vest in some other individual or a statutory body and it cannot be said that if consequent to the substitution of the statutory body by another individual, certain limitations of the Board given in the statute cannot be effected. In such a case it cannot, therefore, be said that the executive in the exercise of the power delegated to it, has done anything which materially affects the policy underlying the Municipalities Act. ——S. 5 — Trustees removed by decree of Court—Court issuing notice to removed trustees not to interfere 'in any' in the affairs of the waqf — Held, Notice did not restrain the removed trustees from bringing a suit for a declaration that the properties comprised in the waqf were not to be governed by the provisions of the Muslim Waqfs Act—They could bring a suit within the time prescribed by S. 5, Muslim Waqfs Act. See Limitation Act (1908), S. 15. 1954 All 88 (DB).

——S. 5—Notification under, scope of.

It is not necessary under the law that all the property appertaining to a waqf should also be notified in the Gazette under the provisions of S. 5. All that is necessary is that the waqf which is sought to be claimed as a Muslim waqf should be clearly indicated in the notification.

In the instant case the notification regarding the property did not make a mention of all the items of the property and the word "waghaira" was put at the end to cover items of such property as were omitted.

Held, that a wafq property would not cease to be a waqf property, if there is no notification in respect of it, and if any item of property was left out either by an oversight or due to the impression that the word "waghaira" would include all such property, the items of property not clearly mentioned would not cease to be waqf property.

That the disputed properties were included in the expression "waghaira". 1953 All W R (H C) 527 : 1953 All L J 587 : AIR 1954 All 88 (93) (Pt F) (Pr 16-E) (DB).

——S. 18—Powers of Board — Extent of — Power to remove Mutawalli.

According to S. 18 (1) of the Act it is the general superintendence of the waqf which vests in the Board and not its direct management. The word 'superintendence' connotes supervision of the management. The use of the word 'ensure', which means 'to make certain, to secure, or to guarantee', signifies that the management is to be done by others and that the act of the Board is restricted to making certain that the others take suitable steps towards the proper maintenance, control and administration of the wakf or endownment. Hence the power which S. 18 confers on the Board is a power of supervision and not a power of taking over the management itself. Section 58 of the Act which empowers the Board to remove a mutawalli from his office in certain circumstances would also be redundant if the power of removal was given to the Board under S. 18 of the Act. 1958 All L J 567 : 1958 All W R (H C) 670 : AIR 1959 All 16 (18, 19) (Pt C) (Prs 20, 21, 22, 24, 25) (DB).

——S. 51—Applicability and scope—Suit relating to rights of mutwalli of public wakf — Compromise without sanction of Central Board—Consent decree—Validity.

Section 51 is not confined to suits mentioned in S. 48. It refers 'inter alia', to suits relating to title to property, whereas such suits are not within the purview of S. 92, Civil P. C., or of S. 48, Muslim Wakfs Act. Therefore, where one of the plaintiffs claimed to be the mutawalli of the public waqf and contested the right of one of the defendants to that office, the suit related to the rights of the 'Mutwalli' and the bar imposed by S. 51 directly applied to the suit. As the suit was compromised without the sanction of the Central Board the consent decree passed in accordance with it by the appellate Court was invalid. Sunni Central Board of Waqfs appointing committee of management and secretary for disputed property — Property already declared to be waqf property under the Act by Board—Board acting under S. 56 of the Act and not at instance of any person —Board cannot be said to be acting mala fide—Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1965 All 333 (337, 339) (Pt B) (Prs 17, 20).

——S. 56—Scope — Board's power to remove Mutawalli.

The only power which the Board can exercise under S. 56 is the power of appointing a person to act as a mutawalli for a limited period when there has occurred a vacancy in the office of a mutawalli of a Waqf and there is no one competent to be appointed under the terms of the deed of waqf or where the right of any person to act as mutawalli is disputed. But the Collector intimated to the Secretary, Sunni Central Board of Waqfs, U. P. Lucknow that he had no objection if the Central Board of Waqfs made arrangement for the administration of the said waqf and that the waqf property had never come into his possession as mutawalli. It was obvious that the Collector disclaimed the mutawallishiip and was not willing to act as such.

Held, that there was vacancy in the office of the mutawalli and inasmuch as there was no other competent person nominated under the deed, the Sunni Central Board of Waqfs was entitled to act under S. 56 of the Act and to appoint temporary mutawallis. This was not a case where any mutawalli has been dismissed or superseded and fresh mutawallis had been appointed. The temporary mutawallis had a locus standi to bring a suit for ejectment of the trespassers. 1959 A L J 486.

It is necessary for the application of the provisions of S. 59 (1) that the supervision of a waqf be vested in a committee (2) that such a committee be in existence when the section came into force, and (3) that such a committee be appointed by the waqf or any competent Court or authority. When a committee of supervision has been superseded under sub-S. (2) of S. 59 no further committee of supervision will be constituted. SECTION 19

——Ss. 19 and 48 — Power of appointing any person as mutwalli is to be exercised as per Proviso to S. 19 —Right to manage property is secular and has not been taken away by S. 19 — Provisions of Constitution of India, Art. 26 are not attracted—Constitution of India, Art. 26.

A duty has been cast on the Board to be guided by the directions of the waqf while acting under S. 48 of the Act. Therefore, it is not correct to urge that under S. 48 the Board has unfettered power to appoint any person as mutawalli. The right to manage the property of a waqf is a secular right and is not hit by Art. 26 of the Constitution. Under S. 19 of the Act only general superintendence of all waqfs vests in the Board. The Act does not deprive religious institutions to manage their own affairs either in religious matters or in the administration of property in accordance with law. The Board can only ensure that the waqfs are properly governed and the rights of administration of properties are not taken away by S. 19 of the Act : AIR 1934 Cal 328 and AIR 1945 All 261 (FB), Disting. ——If kept alive by S. 17 of Essential Supplies (Temporary) Powers Act 18 of 1946.

The word "edible" has to be understood in its ordinary dictionary sense namely, "eatable or fit to be used as food". Linseed oilseeds has to be taken as an edible oilseed. It is therefore an article of foodstuff and would be an essential commodity within the meaning of S. 2 of the Essential Supplies Temporary Powers Act. So, in so far as the U. P. Oilseeds and Oilseeds' Products Control Order refers to linseed oilseeds, it must be deemed to have been kept alive by S. 17 of the Act. 1951 All Cri R 18 : 1951 A W R (HC) 99 : 52 Cr L J 879 : 1951 A L J 348 : 5 A I Cr D 9 : AIR 1951 All 595 (596) (Pr 5).

——If ultra vires—Government of India Act (1935) S. 297 — Applicability.

Section 297 of the Government of India Act, 1935, applies to Acts passed by the Provincial Legislature by virtue of the entry in the Provincial List relating to trade and commerce within the Province. In case the Provincial Legislature passes an Act not by virtue of the Entry in the Provincial Legislative List but under some other authority given to it, S. 297 can have no application. The U. P. Oilseeds and Oilseeds Products Control Order, 1945, was passed under the delegated authority given to the Provincial Government by the Central Government under the defence of the India Rules made in accordance with the Defence of India Act. The order was kept alive by the Essential Supplies Ordinance and Essential Supplies Act, 1946, which were passed under the authority given to the Central Legislature by the India (Central Government and Legislature) Act, 1946. So the U. P. Oilseeds and Oilseeds' Products Control Order is a valid piece of legislation. ILR (1950) All 824 : 1950 A L J 819 : AIR 1951 All 404 (407) (Pt A) (Pr 15).

U. P. PREVENTION OF BLACK MARKETING (TEMPORARY POWERS) ACT, 1947 (22 of 1948)

● —S. 3 (1) (i)—Provisions of, are ultra vires Provincial Legislature—Government of India Act (1935), S. 100 and Sch. VII, List I, Entry 1.

Section 3 (1) itself makes no reference to the maintenance of public order. It is directed solely against persons who habitually indulge in black-marketing. It does not require that the Provincial Government should before directing the detention of a person, be satisfied that his actions are likely to disturb public order.

Rule of pith and substance cannot be invoked in such a case as that rule has been evolved for determining whether a particular statute is legislation with respect to matters in one or the other of the Lists in Sch. VII.

It is true that black-marketing in essential commodities may at times lead to a disturbance of public order but activities such as these are so remote in the chain of relation to the maintenance of a public order that preventive detention on account of them cannot fall within the purview of entry 1 of List. II, Sch. VII of the Government of India Act, 1935.

PREAMBLE

● —Preamble — Constitution of India, Arts. 19 (1) (g) and 48—U. P. Act 1 of 1956—Directness of Legislations — The effect of U. P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act (1 of 1956) on the rights of butchers is direct. See Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (g). AIR 1958 SC 731.

● —Preamble—Validity of — The Act is valid in so far as it prohibits the slaughter of cows of all ages and calves of cows male and female but in so far as it purports to totally prohibit the slaughter of breeding bulls without prescribing any test or requirements as to age or usefulness it offends against Art. 19 (1) (g) and is to that extent void. II. of Sch. 7. See Constitution of India, Art. 48. AIR 1958 SC 731.

——Ss. 2 (d), 5 and 8—Contravention of S. 5—Burden of proof—Prosecution must prove that the flesh found with the accused is 'beaf' as defined in and prohibited under the Act. See U. P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act (1 of 1956), S. 5. 1964(1) Cri L J 327 : AIR 1964 All 106..

● ——S. 3—Validity — If unreasonable restriction on rights of butchers.

Not being content with fixing an unreasonably high age limit of 20 years for the slaughter of bulls and bullocks, S. 3 of the U. P. Act imposes a double restriction by saying that the animal must be over twenty years in age and must also be permanently unfit and unserviceable; and in the case of a bullock, the unfitness must be for 'any kind of agricultural operation' and not merely for draught purposes. It further provides that the animal shall not be slaughtered within twenty days of the date of the issue of the certificate and that any person aggrieved by the order of the competent authority may appeal to the State Government within 20 days. These restrictions really put a total ban on the slaughter of bulls and bullocks even after they have ceased to be useful. Therefore S. 3 imposes unreasonable restrictions on the right of the butchers as to slaughter of bulls and bullocks and thus infringes their fundamental right to carry on their trade and profession and is to that extent void : AIR 1958 SC 731 : 1958 S C J 975 : 1958 M L J (Cr) 727, Rel. on. ——S. 3 (as amended by Ordinance 2 of 1958) — If void or constitutionally defective.

The defect with which S. 3 originally suffered as regards bulls and bullocks has been removed by U. P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter (Amendment) Ordinance, II of 1958. It has now been laid down as to which bullocks and bulls could be slaughtered. Those bulls and bullocks which are unfit for use can also be slaughtered only when a certificate has been obtained from the competent authority and not otherwise. Hence, S. 3 as it stands now, is neither void nor constitutionally defective. AIR 1958 SC 731, Disting. 1960 All W R (HC) 566 : 1960 All Cr R 360 : 1960 All L J 759.

See Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (g).: AIR 1958 All 731.

——Ss. 5, 8, 2 (a) — Contravention of S. 5 — Burden of proof—Prosecution must prove that the flesh found with the accused is "beef" as defined in and prohibited under the Act.

The flesh of bull or young bullock is not, under the Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act beef, if the requisite certificate under S. 3 (1) (b) of the competent authority of the area in which it was slaughtered is obtained, or it is suffering from any contagious or infectious disease notified as such by the State Government (S. 4 (1) (a)) or it is subjected to experimentation in the interest of medical and public health research (S. 4 (1) (b)); therefore in a prosecution for contravention of S. 5 of the Act for the slaughter of a bull or bullock, the burden of proof is upon the prosecution to show that none of the conditions justifying the slaughter of the bull or bullock existed. Where, therefore, the prosecution had failed to prove beyond doubt that the flesh found from the accused amounted to 'beef' within the meaning of the Act and that its sale or transport was prohibited under S. 5 of the Act, the accused could not be convicted under S. 8 (1) of the Act for contravention of the provisions of S. 5, thereof. (1964) 1 Cri L J 327 : AIR 1964 All 106 (108) (Pt A) (Prs 14, 15).

——Ss. 8 and 3 — Offence of slaughtering cow — Accused pleading not guilty on ground of absence of blood at place where he was dismembering parts of slaughtered cow — He, however, failing to prove how he came in possession of that cow — Held, on facts, that offence was established beyond doubt. 1965 All Cri R 302 : 1965 All W R (HC) 468.

——S. 8 — Sentence under — Facts to be taken into consideration.

In awarding punishment under the U. P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act the Courts must primarily bear in mind the aims and objects of the enactment whether the animal slaughtered was a young and pedigreed cow or bull or an old and useless animal. The burden of proving that the animal slaughtered was a useless one lies on the accused. The Courts will also take into account the antecedents, age and character of the offender.

If the offence has been committed with deliberation with the intention of injuring the feeling of a particular community, or in defiance of a prohibitory order passed under S. 144, Criminal Procedure Code, then that would be a case in which a deterrent sentence by way of imprisonment would be the proper punishment. The maximum penalty provided for the offence should be awarded only in cases of the gravest character: AIR 1958 All 198, Rel. on; (1951) S C J 820 : AIR 1952 S C 14 and 1952 S C J 201:: (1952) 1 M L J 754 : AIR 1952 S C 159 and (1957) 2 Mad L J (S C) 69 : (1957) 2 An W R (SC) 69 : (1957) S C J 527; A I R 1957 S C 614 and AIR 1922 Pat 267, Applied. 1961 All L J 499 : 1961 All W R (HC) 416 : 1961 All Cri R 235 : 1962 (1) Cri L J 237 : AIR 1962 All 141 (143) (Pr 14) (DB).

——S. 8 — Attempt to slaughter and preparing for slaughter -Distinction—Mere preparation for slaughter of cow is no offence.

Making an animal ready for slaughter by tying it with rope and throwing it down on the ground is nothing more than mere preparation for its slaughter. Attempt to slaughter must imply some act more proximate to the actual killing. Similarly, merely arming oneself with a knife would only amount to preparation. The stage of attempt would be reached when the knife is raised or pointed at the animal with the intention of inflicting the fatal blow.

In the case of attacks on human beings, mere preparation by itself may amount to an offence under S. 351, Penal Code, but preparation for the slaughter of an aoimal is no offence. Criminal Revn. No. 373 of 1958 (All), Disting. 1962 (1) Cri L J 7 : 1962 All Cri R 86 : 1962 All W R (HC) 92 : AIR 1961 All 22 (23) (Prs 10, 11).

——S. 8—Evidence—Accused caught while cutting the flesh of slaughtered cow—Blood still dripping—Presumption—Evidence Act, S. 114, Illus. (a)—Applicability.

Where a cow was slaughtered many hours back, it may not be proper to utilise the provisions of S. 114, Evidence Act. However, where fresh blood was flowing from the dead body, proving thereby that the cattle had been slaughtered very recently, it may be presumad that the persons present near the dead body and found cutting the flesh into pieces and skinning the dead body are likely to be those who had actually slaughtered it. Whether the Courts can presume the existence of facts under S. 114 of the Evidence Act or not shall depend upon the facts of an individual case. Any explanation that an accused gives for his presence at the spot and his conduct shall also be a material evidence. The principle contained in illustration (a) can rightly be applied to such a case. 1959 All W R (HC) 430 : 1959 All Cri R 334 : 1959 All L J 598.

——S. 8—Sentence—Court must take serious view of offence.

Considering the religious feelings of the majority community and the fact that in the past many a riot had taken place on account of cow-slaughter, resulting in deaths of innocent persons, and the fact that beaf cannot be said to be staple food of poor people in India, the offence of cow-slaughter must be viewed seriously. U. P. PRIVATE FORESTS ACT (6 of 1949)

PREAMBLE

——Preamble, Ss. 12 and 13 — Art. 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution is not infringed. See U. P. Private Forests Protection Act (6 of 1949), S. 12. AIR 1954 All 753 (DB).

——Preamble — Act does not offend Art. 31 (2) of the Constitution—(Constitution of India, Art. 31 (2).)

The U. P. Private Forests Act does not offend Art. 31 (2) of the Constitution and as such is not unconstitutional. Private owners have not been divested of any of their rights in forests, groves or trees. The restrictions imposed are all subject to permits being given by the Forest Officer. The property remains the property of the owner. His right to transfer the same is left intact. Certain restrictions have, however, been imposed on the exercise of ownership in the larger public interest. It cannot be said that the provisions of the Act amount either to a dispossession of the owners or to the acquisition of property of private owners by the State. Art. 31 (2), therefore, has no application at all. 1954 A W R (HC) 540 : AIR 1954 All 753 (755) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

——S. 3 (15) — 'Private forest'—Meaning—Definition of 'private forest' in U. P. Private Forests Act, 1948, does not apply. See Tenancy Laws—U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 (1 of 1951), S. 8. AIR 1955 N U C (All) 3292 (DB).

——S. 3 (3) — Private forest—Definition in U. P. Private Forests Act not applicable to U. P. Zamindari Abolition Act — Contract in respect of private forest — The contract became void from the date of vesting of the estate in the State of Uttar Pradesh. See Tenancy Laws—U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1950), S. 8. A I R 1955 N U C (All) 1738.

——S. 3 (3) — Notification under — Forest—Meaning of.

If there are no trees standing or, if there are only sparsely scattered trees, the area could not be called forest within the meaning of the notification, unless it had been described by boundaries or by numbers or by reference to the village. A I R 1955 N U C (All) 853.

——S. 3 (3)—Scope.

Unless the notification makes it out that the land is declared to be a forest for the purposes of the U. P. Private Forests Act, 1948, the land cannot be treated as 'forest' and the provisions of the Act cannot be made applicable to it. 1954 A W R (HC) 540 : AIR 1954 All 753 (756) (Pt D) (Pr 11) (DB).

SECTION 12

——Ss. 12 and 13—Art. 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution is not infringed — (Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (f) and (5)).

The U. P. Private Forests Act is not unconstitutional on ground of infringement of Art. 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution.

It is not possible to hold that the State was not entitled to impose restrictions against the indiscriminate felling of trees in forests and groves when it is now well known that such forests are a national asset of great value. The State was entitled to see that there is no indiscriminate cutting down of trees in order to sell the wood and get money before the landlords lost their zemindari rights and the trees or the forests vested in the State.

Sections 12 and 13 make it clear that the only object behind the restrictions was to see that the forest wealth of the country is not denuded by the short-sighted policy of some of the owners.

The provision of the Act restricting the right of an owner, or a transferee from him, to fell a tree is not unreasonable especially as there is no absolute restriction and he has been given a right to obtain a permit irom the Forest Officer. 1954 A W R (HC) 540 : A I R 1954 All 753 (755) (Pt C) (Prs 7, 8) (DB).

SECTION 15

——S. 15 (2) — Offender charged with offence under S. 15 (1) — Offence required to be tried by Magistrate second or third class — Offences tried by Magistrate first class—As jurisdiction of Magistrate first class is excluded by S. 29, Criminal P. C. the trial is void under S. 530 (p), Criminal P. C.

Section 29 of Criminal P. C. says that offences under any other law shall be tried by that Court which that law mentions and it is only wnen no Court is mentioned that the eighth column of the Second Schedule is applicable. Sub-section (2) of S. 15 of U. P. Private Forests Act, 1948, mentions the Courts by which offences under S. 15 (1) are triable and S. 29 (1) of Criminal P. C. excludes the application of the second part of the Second Schedule. The words of sub-s. (1) of S. 29 are peremptory. A case under S. 15 (1) of the U. P. Private Forests Act, therefore, is triable only by the two Courts named therein, namely, Magistrates of the Second and the Third Classes and not by any other Magistrate.

The words "subject to the other provisions of the Code" occurring in sub-s. (1) of S. 29, Criminal P. C., cannot be referred to bring in the provisions of the Third Schedule of Criminal P. C. What S. 15 (2) of the U. P. Act does is to prescribe a particular Court and in view of the words of S. 29 (1) of Criminal P. C. no other Court can try offences under S. 15 (1) of the U. P. Act even though the powers of those Courts may be superior to those of Magistrates of the Second and the Third Classes.

As there is no jurisdiction in the Magistrate of first class to try an offence under sub-s. (1) of S. 15 of the U. P. Private Forests Act, 1948, the trial by such a Magistrate is void under S. 530 (p) of Criminal P. C. AIR 1952 All 873 and AIR 1953 All 179, Appr.; AIR 1962 All 405, Affirmed. State of U. P. v. Section 15 (2) does not mention Magistrate of the first class at all and the effect of this deliberate omission is necessarily to debar him from trying any offence under S. 15 of the said Act. ——Ss. 3, 4, 5 and 12 — Officer appointed under the Act and later absorded in the Uttar Pradesh Police — Service in the Armed Constabulary to count for purposes of promotion, seniority and pension — Appointment under the Act is substantive in character. Adjutants are members of the regular Police Force.

It cannot be the intention of the legislature that service in the Provincial Armed Constabulary is to count only if and when that constabulary is liquidated, and the officer re-enlisted. By schedule statement under Ss. 2, 3 and 4 the officer binds himself not to obtain discharge at his own request and the State Government agrees to the following two stipulations:— (i) that in the event of the force being liquidated the officer will be re-enlisted in the U. P. Police Force; and (ii) in the event of the officer continuing in U. P. Police his services in the Provincial Armed Constabulary will be counted for promotion and pension. 'Adjutants' are gazetted Police Officers and appointments to the posts are substantive in character. (1964) 2 Lab L J 320 : 9 Fac L R 215 : 1964 All L J 432.

——Cls. 3 and 5 — Scope and applicability.

Where a District Magistrate sells a certain foodgrain at rates higher than the controlled rates with the intention of trapping certain grain dealers who induldge in forbidden purchase, the sale would nonetheless be a sale by a District Magistrate to which Cl. 5 will apply and the purchaser will not be guilty under Cl. 3. Clause 5 does not give protection to the seller as such but gives protection to the transaction of sale which must include both the seller as also the purchaser. The question of guilty intention of the purchaser does not arise as Cls. 3 and 5 do not take into account the intention either of the seller or the purchaser. 1953 All L J 309 : 1953 Cri L J 1538 : ILR (1954) 1 All 685 : AIR 1953 All 691 (692) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 6).

——Ss. 5 and 9, Proviso — Automatic transfer.

Section 5 does not provide that there shall be an automatic transfer of interest by an order under S. 5. It only lays down that the Collector shall transfer to the decree-holder the agricultural land or the amount of the agricultural land determined in accordance with S. 2 (2) in full satisfaction of the decree. The transfer has to be effected in accordance with the provisions of law. The words 'a transfer of land under S. 5 has been completed' in the Proviso to S. 9 are also significant and go to show that something more than a mere order under S. 5 is necessary to complete the transfer. 1942 All 224 and 1946 Oudh Appeals 193, Ref. to. ——S. 1—Act is not ultra vires.

The U. P. Removal of Social Disabilities Act (XIV of 1947), falls under the Government of India Act, 1935, Sch. VII, List 2, Item 34; for such a piece of legislation is covered by the word 'charities' in that item which is a word of very wide scope and meaning. And hence the U. P. Removal of Social Disabilities Act is not ultra vires the State Legislature. AIR 1947 F C 1; 1946 F L J 57; (1946) 2 M L J 17, Rel. on. AIR 1949 Bom 168, Diss. from. SECTION 3

——S. 3 (iv)—'Make a bridegroom alight'.

In S. 3 (iv) of the Act, the phrase 'make a bridegroom alight from a dola-palki' implies that the bridegroom has been made to alight from the dola-palki against his wishes. The phrase imports an element of compulsion. Where the bridegroom himself alights from the dola-palki because he wishes to observe the custom of the village the action of a person who tells him of the custom and persuades him in observing it but does not impose any restriction in the way of the brigdegroom proceeding in a dola-palki if he so wished, does not make him liable for the punishment of an offence under the section. 1953 All L J 211 : 1953 Cri L J 1103 : AIR 1953 All 483 (484) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——S. 3 (iv)—Custom as defence.

Where an accused compels the bridegroom to alight from the dola-palki against wishes, it would be no justification for him to urge that there was a custom disallowing going through the village in dola-palki, which equally applied to the upper as well as to the scheduled caste—Though S. 3 (iv) of the Act refers to a scheduled caste alone it is confined to a custom restricted to scheduled caste only and hence the mere fact that the custom applied both to the higher as well as to the scheduled caste is immaterial. 1953 All L J 211 : 1953 Cr L J 1103 : A I R 1953 All 483 (484) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

——S. 3—Refusal to render service.

Where the bundles of clothes were actually offered for washing to the dhobis by Chamars and they refused to accept them there is a refusal actually to render service and not merely a threat of or preparation for a refusal. 1951 All L J 282 : 1951 All W R (HC) 305 : 1951 All Cri Cas 59 : 52 Cri L J 899 : AIR 1951 All 615 (616, 617) (Pt A) (Pr 2).

——S. 3—Refusal to render service.

Where the barbers were not called upon to shave any of the Chamars there and then in future their act of refusal is simply a threat or preparation for refusal to render service and no offence is committed thereby. 1951 All L J 282 : 1951 All W R (HC) 305 : 1951 All Cri Cas 59 : 52 Cri L J 899 : A I R 1951 All 615 (616, 617) (Pt B) (Pr 2).

——S. 3 — Refusal on ground of person belonging to scheduled caste.

The refusal by the dhobis to wash the clothes of Chamars for the reason that if they did so they would lose the custom of the other Hindus would be a refusal to render service on the ground that the Chamars belonged to a scheduled caste. The loss of custom of the other Hindus would be a consequence only of the fact that the Chamars belonged to a scheduled caste. 1951 All L J 282 : 1951 All W R (HC) 305 : 1951 All Cri Cas 59 : A I R 1951 All 615 (617) (Pt C) (Pr 3).

——S. 3—Refusal on same terms.

Where the Dhobis' refusal to render service to Chamars flatly and therefore there was no discussion of the terms there is a refusal to render service on the same terms on which they were rendering it in the ordinary course of business. 1951 All L J 282 : 1951 All W R (HC) 305 : 1951 All Cri Cas 59 : 52 Cri L J 899 : AIR 1951 All 615 (617) (Pt D) (Pr 4).

U. P. REQUISITION OF MOTOR VEHICLES (EMERGENCY POWERS) ACT (27 of 1947)

——S. 3 — Suit against Government on tort—Delegation of power — Officer requisitioning motor vehicles under S. 3 in exercise of power delegated to him under S. 9—Tortious act of Government — Officer acts as its agent. See Constitution of India, Art. 300. AIR 1962 All 233.

——S. 3 — Suit against Government for recovery of damages — Bar of suit — Essential condition for — Requisitioning of vehicle mala fide — No protection of Government under S. 10. See U. P. Requisition of Motor Vehicles Emergency Powers Act (U. P. 27 of 1947), S. 10. AIR 1962 All 233.

——Ss. 3, 4 and 7 — Object of vesting of power to requisitioning motor vehicles—Abuse of such power.

Sections 3, 4 and 7 of the U. P. Requisition of Motor Vehicles Emergency Powers Act, 1947, when read together indicate that the purpose of requisitioning vehicles is to enable the Government in times of emergency to use private vehicles. Hence an order requisitioning a motor vehicle with the motive of depriving its owner of its use because he is suspected of belonging to a political organisation considered by the Government to be undesirable is mala fide and an abuse of the powers under S. 5. A I R 1962 All 233 (238) (Pt D) (Pr 25).

——Ss. 4, 3 and 7 — Object of vesting of power to requisitioning motor vehicles is to enable the Government in times of emergency to use private vehicles. Hence an order requisitioning a motor vehicle with the motive of depriving its owner of its use because he is suspected to belong to a political organisation undesirable in the opinion of Government is mala fide and abuse of power. See U. P. Requisition of Motor Vehicles Emergency Powers Act (U. P. Act 27 of 1947), S. 3. AIR 1962 All 233.

——S. 4—Scope and operation of section 4.

Section 4 operates only when a valid order of requisition has been passed. It does not apply to an order which is invalid and the requisition amounts to a tortious act. In such a case the Court can award damages by way of compensation. Further the jurisdiction of the Civil Court is barred only if the Government makes an order awarding compensation, but not where it refuses to perform its duty under the section. Deliberate inaction by the Government cannot oust the jurisdiction of the Civil Court to award compensation which is due to the owner of the requisitioned vehicle under the general law of the land. AIR 1962 All 233 (239) (Pt G) (Prs 30, 31).

——S. 4—S. 4 does not create right to compensation —It merely provides convenient procedure for assessment of compensation.

The right to compensation of an owner whose motor vehicle is requisitioned under the Act does not depend upon the will of the Government but on the general law which entitles any person whose property is taken away to demand compensation. Section 4 does not create the right but merely provides a convenient procedure for the assessment of the compensation. AIR 1962 All 233 (239) (Pt H) (Pr 31).

SECTION 7

——Ss. 7, 3 and 4 — Object of vesting of power to requisitioning motor vehicles is to enable the Government in times of emergency to use private vehicles—Order requisitioning motor vehicle of a person suspected to belong to a political organisation undesirable in the opinion of the Government is mala fide and abuse of such power. See U. P. Requisition of Motor Vehicles Emergency Powers Act (U. P. Act 27 of 1947), S. 3. A I R 1962 All 233.

SECTION 9

SECTION 10

——S. 10 — Suit against State Government on tort—Tortious act of Government or its servants—Government cannot claim immunity. See Constitution of India, Art. 300. A I R 1962 All 233.

——Ss. 10 and 3 — Suit against Government for recovery of damages—Bar of suit—Essential condition for—Requisitioning of vehicle mala fide—No protection of Government under S. 10.

Ordinarily no suit lies for recovery of damages caused by any order of requisition passed under S. 3. But the essential condition of this immunity is that the act which causes the damage to the vehicle requisitioned must have been done in good faith. However, that section gives no protection for any act which is mala fide or an abuse of the powers conferred by the Act. And in such a case, the State cannot avail of the protection of S. 10. U. P. REVENUE COURT MANUAL

——Chap. 40—Proceeding under—Nature of—Order against dead person—Maintainability.

The proceedings under Chap. 40, Revevue Manual, are judicial proceedings and as such, orders passed in connection with these proceedings should be passed in a judicial manner, i. e., they should be passed after hearing the party or parties concerned and after giving them the necessary opportunity to support their application or objections as the case may be. Hence an order passed against a dead person cannot be maintained, it being not a judicial order. 1951 R D 174 : 1951 All W R (Rev) 177.

—Vol. II, Para. 1631—Boundary between districts —Deep stream of a river — Changing course—Boundary also altered—Jurisdiction of criminal Courts — Practice contrary to law—Validity.

The note to Para. 1631 that 'whatever may be the course of the deep stream of the Ghogra the following villages for the purposes of criminal jurisdiction will always form the part of Abamgarh Dt. shows that the Para. provides the boundary changes with the course of the river and the jurisdiction of the criminal Courts also with it except for the named villages. The jurisdiction is to be determined on which side of the river the place is to be found. This is made clearer from Para. 1362 providing for alteration only by notification of Civil and Revenue jurisdiction.

Practice contrary to law in the above matter is no warrant of its validity. It is the practice that is vitiated by the law and not that the law is submerged by practice. 1953 Cri L J 186 : 1952 A L J 641 : AIR 1953 All 24 (24) (Pt A) (Pr 4).

—S. 2 (6) — National highway whether a "road" —National Highways Act (1956), S. 5.

National highway is invariably a metalled road and it would be a road within the meaning of S. 2 (6) of the Act if it is maintained by the State Government.

In case all the expenses incurred in the maintenance are borne by the Central Government, it can be said with some force though it must be added that no final opinion is being expressed on the point, that the State Government acted as an agent of the Central Government and even though the work was undertaken by the State Government or by its officers, the road was being maintained by the Central Government. Where the State Government bears a part of the maintenance charges, both shall stand in the category of principals, though part of the expenses incurred by the State Government are to be reimbursed by the Central Government. ——S. 3—Scope of Sub-s. (7) — Publication of declaration under S. 3 (1) — Burden of proof lies upon accused to show that procedure prescribed under Sub-ss. (2) to (5) had not been complied with.

When the legislature lays down in sub-s. (7) of S. 3 that a declaration made under sub-s. Considering that the declaration under sub-s. (1) is accompanied with penal consequences, and it places restriction on the fundamental right of citizens, a lenient view in favour of the subject must be taken, namely, that in spite of sub-s. (7) of S. 3, the declaration made under sub s. (1) can be regarded null and void, if it is proved that the necessary formalities had not been complied with. ● ——S. 3 — Scheme originally framed under the section could be validly notified under S. 68-C, Motor Vehicles Act (1939) (as amended by Act C of 1956). See Motor Vehicles Act 1939. (As amended in 1956), S. 68-C. AIR 1965 S C 991.

——Ss. 3 (1), 4 (2) (h), 10 — Scope—Transport vehicles—Private carriers—Renewal of permits—Formalities.

Road transport service means transport service by a public service vehicle. Consequently, no notification under S. 3 (1) can be issued pertaining to the running of private carriers. Similarly the term 'transport vehicles' used in S. 4 (2) (h) cannot be given the general meaning as laid down in the definition clause of the Motor Vehicles Act. Vehicles, the number of which can be reduced, shall, therefore, be public service vehicles and not private carriers.

On similar grounds S. 10 of the Act cannot place any restriction on the powers of the Regional Transport Authority to renew permits of private carriers. Hence, the provisions of the Act and also the scheme framed under S. 4 cannot in any way prohibit or restrict the renewal of permits of private carriers. 1960 All W R (H C) 469 : 1960 All L J 583.

——Preamble—If infringes Art. 14 or Art. 19 (1) (g) of the Constitution of India.

On the contentions that S. 4 denies equality among halwais exempting as it does certain classes of halwais from the provisions of the Act and therefore infringes Art. 14 and the Act also infringes the rights under Art. 19 (1)(g) the freedom to practise the profession of halwai.

Held, the provisions of S. 4 (a) to (e) are not discriminatory in its character; it is only a reasonable classification of the subject of the law and it deals alike with all of a certain class. Article 14 of the Constitution is not therefore infringed.

Nor is Art. 19 (1) (g) infringed by the Act. Because the restrictions and obligations imposed by the Act are reasonable restrictions on the exercise of the right of freedom of profession in the public interest; the underlying principle is to prevent 'sweating of labour.' SECTION 2

● ——S. 2 (3) — Reference to Factories Act, 1934 — It reference to Factories Act, 1948.

The definition of a 'commercial establishment' in S. 2, Cl. (3) of the above U. P. Act, includes the clerical and other establishments of a factory to which the provisions of the Factories Act, 1934, do not apply. By virtue of S. 8 of the General Clauses Act (1897), the reference to the Factories Act, 1934, must be construed as a reference to the Factories Act of 1948 which repealed the earlier Act and re-enacted it. Hence, notwithstanding the repeal of the Factories Act, 1934, the definition of 'commercial establishment' in S. 2, Cl. (3) includes only clerical and other establishments of a factory to which the Factories Act, 1948, does not apply. State of Uttar Pradesh v. M. P. ●——S. 2 (3)—'Commercial establishment'.

The diverse provisions of the Factories Act, 1948, are intended to benefit only workers employed in a factory, i. e., in the precincts or premises of a factory. Field workers who are employed in guiding, supervising and controlling the growth and supply of sugar-cane to be used in a sugar factory are not employed either in the precincts of the factory or in the premises of the factory; and if these workers are not employed in a factory, the provisions of the Factories Act, 1948, do not apply to them and they fall within the definition of 'Commercial establishment' in S. 2 (3). The word "employer" as defined in S. 2 (6) of the U. P. Shops and Commercial Establishments Act includes a person having charge of or owning the business of a shop or commercial establishment, and is not confined to a person employing someone to assist him in the conduct of his business. Therefore. S. 10 will operate in the case of every person having charge of or owning the business of a shop and every such person is under a legal obligation to comply with the provisions of the Act, even though he may not have an employee working in the shop or commercial establishment. 1958 All L J 484, Foll; 1958 All L J 333; 1958 All W R (HC) 465, Overruled. 1961 (2) Cri L J 742 : 1962 All W R S C 62 : 1962 All Cri R 63 : AIR 1961 All 599 (600) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

——S. 2, Cls. (3) and (12) — Railway City Booking Agency 'shop' or 'commercial establishment'.

In a sense the railway carries on a business when it carries goods and passengers on hire but the words 'trade or business' used in the Act have been used in the ordinary sense of those words and not in the sense of the undertaking by the railways. Inasmuch as the city booking agency is also a unit of the railway it cannot be subjected to any greater restrictions than the railway stations themselves. As the booking office and the parcel office at the railway stations cannot be considered to be either a shop or a commercial establishment the city booking agency cannot also be included within those expressions.

——S. 2 (o)—'Employer'—Owner of business.

Undoubtedly the word 'employer', according to its ordinary meaning in the English language signifies a person who employs somebody else. But it is competent for the Legislature to enact that in a particular Act the word shall include the owner of a business, whether or not anybody is employed therein and that seems to be the effect of the definition in S. 2 (6). ——S. 2 (6)—Applicability—Shop-keeper—If should be employer also—S. 10.

'Employer' by itself indicates that some one is employed by him. Where there is no evidence that the owner of a shop has employed any workman he does not become an employer, merely because he is an owner of a shop. Similarly, if a shop-keeper employs only the members of his family for running his business concern, the provisions of the U. P. Act (22 of 1947) do not apply to the employment of such persons. ——S. 4 (c) — 'Government office' — Railway City booking agency.

Held, on facts that under the agreement the business of the agency belonged to the railway administration and the respondent was only an agent or employee of the railway administration and instead of being paid a monthly salary or daily wage his remuneration was adjusted on the basis of commission. It must, therefore, be held that the agency was an office of the Railway. The Railway in the country belonged to the Central Government. The booking agency therefore was an 'office of the Government' within the meaning of Cl. (c) of S. 4 of the Act. That being so the provisions of the Act would not apply to the instant case. 1960 All Cri R 205 : 1960 All L J 429 : 1960 All W R (HC) 314 : (1960) 2 Lab L J 379 : 1961 (1) Cri L J 199 : AIR 1961 All 79 (79, 80, 81) (Pt A) (Prs 1, 2, 3).

——S. 6—Keeping the shop open or closed—Meaning of — It means open or closed for business and not physically.

The word 'open' or 'closed' when used in relation to a shop and commercial establishment necessarily means 'open' or 'closed' for the purpose for which the shop or the commercial establishment exists. The terms do not only mean physically closing the doors or physically opening the doors. Where the shop was closed for business but the door was open and the manager was looking into the accounts, the shop was not open within the meaning of the Act though it was physically open. ——S. 10 and S. 4 — Members of family of employer keeping shop open on close day — S. 10 cannot thus be evaded.

Section 10 of the U. P. Shops and Commercial Establishment Act makes it obligatory on an employer to keep his shop closed on a 'close day'. He cannot evade the mandate of the law by asking the members of his family to keep his shop open on a close day. If he does so he will be guilty of breach of the law. ——S. 10—Close day — Declaring particular day as close day — Absence of declaration of such day by employer — Declaration of such day by District Magistrate is proper.

Where there is nothing on the record to indicate that an employer has ever moved the District Magistrate for declaring a particular day as close day in his shop, nor is there evidence to show that he has really closed his shop on any other day of the week, the order of the District Magistrate declaring Sunday as a close day for all commercial establishmenis in the town under his jurisdiction is in accord with S. 10 of the Act. 1961 (2) Cri L J 743 : 1962 All W R (H C) 62 : 1962 All Cri R 63 : AIR 1961 All 599 (600) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (DB).

——Ss. 10, 27—"Employer."

The word "employer" used in the Act has a special meaning given to it for the purposes of the Act and not the popular meaning. It simply means a person having charge of or owning the business of a shop; there arises no question whether he has employed any person in the shop or not. ——S. 12 — Contravention of — Employees working every day of week though not putting in actual work for more than 48 hours — Employer not giving one whole day's holiday contravenes provisions of S. 12.

The effect of the words 'whole day' must be that the holiday enjoined in S. 12 must be for the full period of 24 hours. The first portion of the proviso means that the provisions of S. 12 will not apply to such persons who, for some reason, had not worked on any one or more days in the week. The words, 'total period of employment' in the proviso cannot be interpreted to indicate the total period of actual work and the words, 'six days' in the proviso should not be interpreted as meaning six days of 8 hours a day, that is equivalent to 48 hours in all. U. P. SHRI BADRINATH TEMPLE ACT (16 of 1939)

● ——Ss. 3 (b) and 4—Construction of—Gift made to any person for his personal benefit within precincts of temple—If vests in donee or temple.

Under the general law, nobody can be prevented from accepting a gift which another person may be inclined to make in his favour, and it is immaterial in such cases at what place the gift is actually made.

If a legislation wants to take away the proprietary right which a person acquires under the ordinary law, it must express its intention in clear and unambiguous terms. There is nothing in the Sri Badrinath Temple Act which lays down that a gift made to any person inside the temple and intended for the benefit of that person shall not belong to him.

The definition of endowment in S. 3 (b) of the Act is no doubt couched in very wide language and includes in its scope gifts of property made to anyone within the precincts of the temple. But there is an apparent conflict between S. 3 (b) and S. 4 of the Act which deals with vesting of property and under which a gift does not vest in the temple at all unless it is made for the benefit of the Temple or for the convenience, comfort or benefit of the pilgrims. Interpretation of Ss. 3 (b) and 4 in AIR 1947 All 419, Disapproved.

Quaere — Whether the expression gifts of property made to anyone in S. 3 (b) of the Act should not be construed to mean gifts made to any one for the benefit of the temple or for other purposes as are specified in S. 4. SECTION 25

● ——S. 25 (m) and (n) — Bye-laws under—Bye-law (8)—Validity.

Bye-law (8) of the Puja Bye-laws which forbid the acceptance of the gift by any person within the temple, unless he comes within the category of persons specifically authorised by the committee to receive the same, is a perfectly legitimate bye-law which it was quite competent for the committee to enact under the terms of Clauses (m) and (n) of Section 25 of the U. P. Shri Badrinath Temple Act. For the purpose of preventing over-crowding within the temple and to ensure order, decency and worshipful behaviour on the part of those who enter into it, the committee was quite justified in framing this bye-law which lays down in substance that whatever gifts a pilgrim might be desirous of making and which is unconnected with the offerings to the deity, shall be made outside the temple precincts and not inside it. The bye-law in question is not in any way, inconsistent with the provisions of the Act. It is certainly confined to the circumstances contemplated by the Statute itself and is not repugnant to the general principles of Hindu Law. It does not take away the proprietary right of any person which is recognised under ordinary law. Nar Hari Shastri v. U. P. STATE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL STANDING ORDER (1951)

● —Orders 19 (a), 20 (a) — Termination of service —Rights of workmen and management — (Industrial Dispute—Retrenchment.)

The management has a right to determine the size of its labour force and to effect retrenchment where necessary. It forms a part of managerial discretion and cannot be interfered with unless it is coloured with the element of victimisation or unfair labour practice. This principle is implicit in Standing Orders 19 (a). Reading the body of Standing Order 19 (a) along with the proviso in the light of the above principle it is evident that the only right the workman has, when his services are lawfully terminated after service of due notice and so forth, is to question the order on only two grounds : (1) that he has been discharged for reasons not connected with his employment, and (2) that the reason of discharge communicated to him is not genuine. There is nothing in these Standing Orders to indicate that retrenchment is a measure of last resort and that an employer must continue to lay off his workmen however uneconomical that may be to the business; still less that he must lay them off in rotation and thus affect other workmen who would not be affected by a legitimate order of retrenchment. That cuts at the root of the above principle. The question of retrenchment cannot be made to depend on the duration of the shortage of raw materials or even on the fact that those retrenched will be thrown out of employment but on the effect that an omission to retrench will have on the business. In some cases, laying off even for 6 or 8 or 9 months might make the employer-Company bankrupt. J. K. Iron and Steel Co., Ltd., Kanpur v. Iron and Steel Mazdoor Union, Kanpur. ● —Preamble—Validity—Act infringes, Art. 31 (2) —(Constitution of India, Art. 31 (2)).

The U. P. State Road Transport Act is unconstitutional and invalid as it offends the provision of Art. 31 (2) of the Constitution. The effect of prohibition of the trade or business of the appellants by the impugned legislation amounts to deprivation of their property or interest in a commercial undertaking within the meaning of Art. 31 (2) of the Constitution. The fact that the buses belonging to the appellants have not been acquired by the Government is not material. The property of a business may be both tangible and intangible. Under the statute the Government may not deprive the appellants of their buses or any other tangible property but they are depriving them of the business of running buses on hire on public roads. See Constitution of India, Art. 301. A I R 1954 S C 728.

——Preamble — State does not acquire any property or interest in commercial undertaking—(Constitution of India, Art. 31.)

The right to compensation under the Constitution does not arise on mere deprivation of property. The right to compensation arises only when after deprivation there has been a vesting in the State of that property or there has been deprivation by acquisition. The petitioner's common law right to use the 'public highways' in a particular manner under a permit cannot be any right in property or an interest in an undertaking within the meaning of Art. 31 of the Constitution.

Under the Motor Vehicles Act everyone who could obtain the necessary permit was entitled to run buses or motor vehicles on such routes as were permitted. The State could, and as a matter of fact, did run motor bus services on many of the routes on which private operators operated their services. By depriving the private operators of their right to run buses on certain routes and by deciding to run those routes itself the State did not acquire the right which was of the petitioners, whether such right was 'property' or an interest in a commercial or industrial undertaking. The vehicles which were being operated by the private operators have not been acquired by the State, nor has any other tangible property which was used by the petitioners for their business been acquired. What has been done is that the petitioners have been prohibited from operating their buses on certain routes. This right of the petitioners has in no way been vested in the State inasmuch as, the State always had an equal right with the petitioners to run their buses on those routes. The right to compensation is available when there has been in substance and in reality an acquisition.

Moreover what was done by the impugned Act was to place reasonable restriction on the rights of the petitioners and there was no 'taking' of any property of the petitioners. When once it is found that the restriction imposed is reasonable and there is no actual 'taking' then no question of compensation can arise.

Consequently, the Uttar Pradesh State Road Transport Act is not ultra vires inasmuch as it makes no provision for compensation, for, there was no occasion to make any provision for any compensation. ILR (1951) 1 All 269 : A I R 1954 All 257 (272, 273, 274) (Pt E) (Prs 59, 61, 62a, 63, 66, 67, 68) (DB).

[Reversed in A I R 1954 S C 728].

——Preamble—Act is not hit by Art. 301—Scope and applicability of Art. 301 — (Constitution of India, Art. 301).

By Art. 304 it is competant for the Legislature of a State to impose such reasonable restrictions on the freedom of trade, commerce or intercourse as may be required in the public interest. There, however, is a, proviso that no Bill or amendment for the purposes mentioned above shall be introduced or moved in the Legislature of a State without the previous sanction of the President. The guarantee contained in Art. 301, therefore, is not an unqualified guarantee. Article 301 more or less is complementary to the general provision contained in Art. 19 (g), inasmuch as Art. 301 gives a kind of territorial protection to trade, commerce and intercourse a protection which incidentally enures to the benefit of those who engage in trade, business and commerce or carry on intercourse of the type visualised under this Article. The protection which Art. 301 contemplates is what may be termed, 'trade in motion' so that the restriction has to be, when it is being judged, restriction on the flow of goods as such, and not in the flow of goods through the agency or medium of any particular individual or group of individuals.

In order to determine whether there has been an infringement of Art. 301 of the Constitution or not, the 'pith and substance' of the enactment must be seen.

Uttar Pradesh State Road Transport Act, 1950, (2 of 1951) is not hit by the provisions of Art. 301 of the Constitution. ILR (1951) 1 All 269 : A I R 1954 All 257 (274, 275) (Pt F) (Prs 71, 72, 74) (DB).

——Preamble—Extra-territorial operation.

The Act could certainly give power to the State Government not to let any one operate his bus within the territory of the State irrespective of the fact whether he was operating his bus on a permit obtained from an authority within the State or because of a permit granted to him by an authority outside the State. Under the Act no power has been conferred on the State Government to operate extra-territorially. ILR (1951) 1 All 269 : AIR 1954 All 257 (278) (Pt K) (Pr 84) (DB).

● ——S. 3—If infringes Art. 14 of the Constitution —(Constitution of India, Art. 14).

The impugned legislation does not offend Art. 14 of the Constitution and is not invalid on that ground. Section 3 of the Act authorises the State Government to declare that the road transport service in general or on particular routes should be run and operated by State Government exclusively or by the State Government in conjunction with railway or partly by the State Government and partly by others in accordance with the provisions of the Act. On a proper construction of this section the State is only to choose to whom permits should be given and the granting of permits would necessarily be regulated by the provisions of Motor Vehicles Act. On this construction the discretion to be exercised by the State would be a regulated discretion guided by statutory rules. Saghir Ahmad v. State of U. P. 1954 S C J 819 : (1954) 2 Mad L J 622 : 1954 S C R 1218 : (1955) 1 S C R 707 : 1955 S C A 1218 : 1955 All W R 23 : 68 Mad L W 8 : 1955 All L J 38 : ILR (1955) 1 All 211 : AIR 1954 S C 728 (741) (Pt L) (Pr 28).

——S. 3 — Act cannot be challenged on ground that it infringed Art. 19 (6) — (Constitution of India, Art. 19 (6), before its amendment.)

The State cannot take advantage of Art. 19 (6) in its amended form in judging the validity of U. P. Act II of 1951 passed before the amendment.

The right which has been affected by the U. P. Act II of 1951 is not any unrestricted right to use the national highways because there was after the passing of the Motor Vehicles Act, no such right.

The right of the individual to utilize motor vehicles for purposes of trade was restricted to such an extent under the Motor Vehicles Act as to be almost non-existent; the right was only available when a permit for the exercise of that right was available to the person from the appropriate authority under the Motor Vehicles Act. The impugned Act (U. P. Act 2 of 1951), when it takes away that right of the individual if it does so then, it is not taking away any right of the individual to carry on any occupation, trade or business. Whether a restriction is reasonable or not has to be judged in the setting of time and circumstances. It has also to be viewed in the light of the economic and social needs of the community obtaining at any particular time. It may further have to be judged in certain cases having regard to geographical conditions.

A monopoly in favour of the State in respect of services essential to the life of a community held could not be said to be an unreasonable restriction on the rights of the individuals if the U. P. legislature has thought it fit to create one by Act II of 1951.

The Act could not therefore, be challenged on the ground that it infringed Art. 19 (g) of the Constitution. ILR (1951) 1 All 269 : A I R 1954 All 257 (264, 265, 266, 267, 283, 285) (Pt A) (Prs 26, 27, 33, 34, 112, 120) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1954 S C 728.]

——S. 3—Act is not discriminatory—S. 3 is not ultra vires—(Constitution of India, Art. 14.)

Whenever there is a proper classification, viz., a classification which bears a reasonable and just resemblance to the subject-matter of the legislation then it cannot be contended that the legislation was in the teeth of the guarantee contained in Art. 14. All reasonable classification which have a proper and just resemblance to the subject-matter of the legislation cannot be hit by the guarantee contained in Art. 14. Therefore, the only question that arises for determination in this connection is whether the classification visualised or indicated in Cl. (6) (ii) of Art. 19 is a reasonable classification. Having in mind the scope of the U. P. Act 2 of 1951 which necessarily would fall within the scope of sub cl. (ii) of Cl. (6) the classification indicated must be held at least after the amendment became effective to be a reasonable classification in relation to the field of legislation which is indicated in that sub-clause. The idea of the State coming into the field of trade and commerce was not for the first time visualised by the Constitution-makers when they put in Cl. (6) (ii) in Art. 19 of the Constitution.

The question whether a classification is reasonable and proper or not be judged more on common sense than on legal subtleties.

Classification is almost inherent in the concent of a monopoly. Therefore the only question that arises for determination is whether this classification is reasonable or not. Equal protection claims under Art. 14 always are examined with the presumption that the State action is reasonable and just. Unless it can be shown that the discrimination that has been resorted to or the power to discriminate has been given without reason it cannot be said that there is unequal treatment.

It cannot be contended reasonably that the State Government would 'without reason' discriminate or that there is in S. 3 of the impungned Act a power to discriminate 'without reason' given to the State Government. Therefore S. 3 of the impugned Act does not confer on the State Government a power which could be utilized by them arbitrarily for making discrimination:— Section 3 of the impugned Act is not ultra vires. ILR (1951) 1 All 269 : AIR 1954 All 257 (269, 270, 271) (Pt B) (Prs 46, 48, 49, 50, 51) (DB).

——Ss. 4, 5 and 6 (2)—Applicability.

Notification under, publishing scheme—Objections for consideration of 'Governor' invited—No 'prescribed authority' under Act—Objections considered by Deputy Secretary of Government — Held, that the power that the State Government could exercise under the provisions of S. 5 (2) of the Act could properly be called the exercise of executive power—it certainly was not the exercise of a judicial power of the State even though the nature of the power was quasi-judicial. Under S. 5 (2) objections had to be considered either by the State Government or if the State Government so directed by the 'prescribed authority'; that there could be no delegation of this power that is to say the State Government could not nor could the 'prescribed authority' if there was any under S. 5 (2), delegate the power to anybody else to consider the objection. This was so because of the provisions of S. 10 of the Act; that the State Government had by the rule framed by it under the Act constituted the Transport Commissioner 'the prescribed authority' under the provisions of S. 5 (2) and, therefore it was either for the State Government itself or for the Transport Commissioner to hear those objections. The notification stating that the Governor was to consider the objections indicated that it was the State Government which was to consider them. The hearing of the objections by the Deputy Secretary must, therefore, be deemed to have been a hearing by the Governor through an officer subordinate to him in view of fact that the ultimate notification that was published after the objections had been entertained and heard and stated that 'the Governor is pleased to order the publication of the scheme hereto annexed which has been confirmed under sub-s. (2) of S. 5 of the said Act.' The schemes finally published held were not open to challenge on the ground that the petitioners had either no opportunity of raising objections or that the objections had been decided by an improper authority or that the procedure followed in deciding those matters was an illegal procedure. ILR (1951) 1 All 269 : A I R 1954 All 257 (276, 277, 278) (Pt H) (Prs 77, 78, 79, 80) (DB).

——S. 1 (3)—Validity of.

In reality S. 3 of the impugned Act did not become law until the 23rd June 1956, but the Legislature has expressly stated that that section is to be treated as if it had become law on the 26th January 1950. The petitioner's liability for payment of the tax imposed by that section is to be determined on the assumption that the section was in force since the 26th January 1950, and it makes no difference whether the tax is levied on goods or on their entry. In either case the charging section must be considered in law to have been in force prior in time to the entry of the sugar-cane in respect of which the State Legislature seeks to recover the tax from the petitioners. A I R 1957 All 159 (165) (Pt G) (Pr 29) (DB).

● ——S. 3 — Validity — Local area — Meaning of—Premises of factory not a local area — Section not within Entry 52 of List 2 and hence ultra vires.

Majority view, Ayyangar, J. contra : — The proper meaning to be attached to the words 'local area' in Entry 52 of the State List in the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution, (when the area is a part of the State imposing the law) is an area administered by a local body like a municipality, a district board, a local board, a union board, a panchayat or the like. The premises of a factory is, therefore, not a local area. It must therefore be held that S. 3 of the U. P. Sugarcane Cess Act, 1956, empowering the Governor to impose a cess on the entry of sugarcane into the premises of a factory did not fall within Entry 52 of the State List. There is no escape from the conclusions that this law was beyond the legislative competence of the State Legislature. The law as enacted in S. 3 of the U. P. Sugarcane Cess Act, 1956, must therefore be struck down as invalid. I L R (1942) All 302 : A I R 1942 All 156, Overruled ; Writ Petn. No. 327 of 1956, dated 29th October 1956 (All), Reversed.

Per Ayyangar, J.—Section 3 of the U. P. Act would be invalid only in so far as it seeks to levy a tax on cane entering a factory from within the same local area in which the factory is situate and that in all other cases the tax is properly levied. A I R 1941 F C 72, Rel. on. Diamond Sugar Mills, Ltd. v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (1961) 1 S C J 652 : (1961) 2 S C A 51 : (1961) 3 S C R 242 : I L R (1961) 1 All 573 : A I R 1961 S C 652 (658, 662) (Pt A) (Prs 25, 26, 45, 49).

——S. 3 (1)—Constitutional validity—The Court will incline towards the constitutionality of an enactment. See Constitution of India, Art. 14. A I R 1957 All 159 (DB).

——S. 3 (1)—Validity. S. 3 (1) neither permits discrimination nor does it exceed the permitted limits of delegated legislation. See Constitution of India, Arts. 14 and 254 (1). AIR 1957 All 159 (DB).

——S. 3 (1)—Local area—It cannot be contended that tax under S. 3 (1) is not such a tax under entry 52 because the cess is levied on the entry of goods into an area which is not a local area within the meaning of entry 52 of the State list. See Constitution of India, 7th Sch. List 2, Entry 52. AIR 1957 All 159 (DB).

——S. 3 (1)—Legislation—Competency of—It cannot be said that the cess imposed by the impugned act is a duty of excise and consequently ultra vires of the State legislature. See Constitution of India, 7th Sch. List 1, Entry 84 and Entry 52. AIR 1957 All 159 (DB).

——S. 3 (3)—Validity.

The provision for payment of interest of unpaid tax cannot be regarded otherwise than ancillary to the provision for payment of tax, and if the latter can be made retrospective in operation so also can the former. The tax imposed must be regarded as a cess at the rate of three annas a maund with interest thereon at 6 per cent. per annum from the date prescribed under S. 3 (2) until payment. AIR 1957 All 159 (166) (Pt J) (Pr 35) (DB).

——S. 3—Scope—Absence of notification—Effect.

No notification purporting to impose a cess on a factory issued under S. 3 of the impugned Act or S. 20 of the 1953 Act — Demand of cess held invalid so far as it purported to be demand under the impugned Act. AIR 1957 All 159 (167) (Pt L) (Pr 42) (DB).

——S. 9 (2)—Scope and effect of—If invalid.

Section 9 (2) does not purport to enact that the earlier notifications shall be valid but it enacts that such notifications are to be treated for all purposes as notifications made under the impugned Act and is valid. If the impugned Act be a valid piece of legislation then all notifications duly made under it, or deemed to be so made, will also be valid. AIR 1957 All 159 (165, 166) (Pt H) (Pr 30) (DB).

——S. 9 (2)—Validity.

The impugned Act must be read as whole, and in construing S. 3 (1) the provisions of S. 9 (2) cannot be ignored or disregarded. The State Government is vested under S. 3 (1) with the power to issue notifications; but it is at the same time, by virtue of S. 9 (2) obliged to take into consideration the fact that earlier notifications are, in law, notifications made under the impugned Act which it can no doubt modify or abrogate but cannot ignore. It cannot therefore be said that S. 9 (2) is ineffective as the earlier notifications have not been re-issued. AIR 1957 All 159 (166) (Pt I) (Prs 31, 32) (DB).

——Ss. 22 and 29—Rules 87 and 96—Offences under Sugarcane Act and Rules — Questions of mens rea in such offences.

Held on facts that the conviction and sentence of the occupier for breach of R. 87 was wholly justified. Rule 81 which deals with a purchasing agent and not with a weighment clerk who is an employee of the factory has no application. Offences under the Sugarcane Act are not criminal in any real sense but are acts which, in public interest, are prohibited under a penalty. The question of mens rea in such offences does not arise. The offences under the rules framed under the U. P. Sugarcane Act are of a technical nature wherein the presence of the element of mens rea is not necessary for constituting an offence arising out of the breach of those rules. ——Ss. 15 (1), 27 (5) (b) — Essentials to constitute offence under S. 27 (5) (b)—Specification of area and factory under S. 15 (1)—Where the order under S. 15 (1) contains the words. 'I hereby reserve villages supplying cane at the following centers' which words do not indicate with precision the area intended to be reserved and under the heading "Name of factory" only the name of the place is mentioned and there is no evidence that there is no other sugar factory at the place, other than the one in question, the two requirements of the section are not fulfilled. SECTION 18

● ——S 18 (2) — Agreement contemplated under S. 18 (2) – Use of prescribed form—Absence of signature of complaining party and omission to fill in the Schedule and to mention area of crop and yield from it—Agreement accepted on both sides and acted upon —Agreement binding between parties — Omissions not material and not sufficient to render agreement invalid—Arbitration clause in agreement — Enforceable if agreed to, even without signature of complaining party. ——Ss. 18 and 30—Rules framed under S. 30—R. 23 —Existence of agreement—Necessity—Requisites of valid agreement—(Contract Act (1872), S. 10).

In order that the Cane Commissioner may have jurisdiction under R. 23 to decide the dispute, it must first be found that there was an agreement such as is referred to under S. 18 (2) of the Act. S. 18 however does not specifically require that the agreement shall be signed by the parties, and though the form makes provision for the signatures of the parties the omission of the signatures does not vitiate the written agreement, for the signatures are not an essential part of the form. Therefore, if the agreement is substantially in the form prescribed by the rules and the variation is in respect of a matter which is immaterial, the provisions of the rules cannot be said to have been violated or not complied with. 1956 A L J 578 : 1956 All W R (HC) 847 : ILR (1957) 1 All 232 : AIR 1956 All 725 (728) (Pt A) (Prs 10, 12, 13) (DB).

——S. 18 (2) — Agreement required must be written and not oral.

The agreement referred to in S. 18 (2) is a written agreement and not an oral one 1956 All L J 689 : ILR (1958) 1 All 91.

——Ss. 18 and 19 — Sugar Factories Control Rules (1938), R. 23 (1) — Occupier of factory not signing agreement with grower — Cane Commissioner still gets jurisdiction under R. 23 (6).

According to the scheme of the Sugar Factories Control Act and the Rules an offer for the sale of cane is to be made by the grower or the Co-operative Society in the reserved area in Form No. 13 and an agreement in Form No. 12 is to be executed between the Society or the grower and the factory. This agreement in Form No. 12 contains ten paragraphs and the last paragraph provides that any dispute between the parties regarding the matter pertaining to the agreement shall be referred to arbitration in the manner provided in the rules. S. 18 (2) of the Act makes it obligatory on the occupier or manager of a factory to enter into this agreement and to purchase the cane offered by the Society or the grower. According to R. 23 (1) of the Sugar Factories Control Rules any dispute touching this agreement or the one mentioned in S. 19 (2) must be referred to the Cane Commissioner for decision or, if he so directs, to arbitration, but no suit shall lie in a civil or revenue Court in respect of any such dispute.

The object of S. 18 (2) is to compel the occupier or manager to sign the agreement made for him by the officers of the Department and the only thing that is left for him is to sign the agreement. On a plain reading of the wording of S. 18 (2), the proper interpretation is that it does refer to the agreement both before and after the signatures, and it it refers to an unsigned agreement also, the provisions of R. 23 (1) are attracted and any dispute touching the signed, or unsigned agreement must be referred to the Cane Commissioner for decision, who may send it to arbitration, if he so considers proper. It cannot therefore be said that if no such agreement as is provided in S. 18 (2) or 19 (2) is executed the provisions of R. 23 (1) do not come into play at all and that the Cane Commissioner acquires no jurisdiction under this rule to decide the matter himself or to refer it to arbitration. 1954 All W R (HC) 631 : AIR 1955 All 86 (89, 90) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 8, 9).

——S. 18 (2) — U. P. Sugar Factories Control Rules (1938). R. 23 (1) — Agreement not in form No. 12— R. 23 (1) would not apply.

If there is some agreement which is not in Form No. 12 as prescribed by the Rules, the provisions of R. 23 (1) would not apply to it. A specific agreement having been referred to in R. 23 it is that agreement and that agreement alone which would attract the provisions of the Rule. Every agreement to purchase cane whether oral or in writing which is not in the form prescribed by the Rules (Form No. 12) would not be an agreement referred to in S. 18 (2). 1954 All W R (HC) 631 : AIR 1955 All 86 (90, 91) (Pt C) (Pr 11).

——S. 18 (2)—Provisions are mandatory.

Generally speaking, the language of each statute along with other circumstances has to be seen in order to find out whether the statutory direction is mandatory or directory. In cases, however, where the disobedience of a provision is made penal it can safely be said that the provision is mandatory.

The provision in S. 18 (2) concerning the form of agreement is mandatory. The word used here is 'shall' and a penalty for intentionally failing to enter into an agreement is also provided for by S. 27 (3) of the Act. 1954 All W R (HC) 631 : AIR 1955 All 86 (91) (Pt D) (Pr 12).

——Ss. 27 (5) (b) and 15 (1) — Essentials to constitute offence under S. 27 (5) (b) — Specification of area and factory under S. 15 (1).

The essential element required to constitute an offence under S. 27 (5) (b) is the existence of a proper order under S. 15 (1) specifying the area reserved from which the accused is alleged to have purchased sugarcane in contravention of S. 18, and also specifying the factory for which the area is reserved.

Where the order under S. 15 (1) contains the words "I hereby reserve villages supplying cane at the following centres" which words do not indicate with precision the area intended to be reserved and under the heading "Name of factory" only the name of the place is mentioned and there is no evidence that there is no other sugar factory at the place, other than the one in question, the two requirements of the section are not fulfilled. 1950 All L J 100 : 1950 All W R 248 : 1950 All Cri Cas 87 : 51 Cri L J 709 : AIR 1950 All 337 (337, 338) (Prs 5, 6, 8) (DB).

The expressions "decision by the Cane Commissioner" and "the award by the arbitrators" in S. 30 (2) (v) have been used in a manner so as to clearly indicate that the decision is something different from an award and it would be doing violence to the language used in R. 23, if it were held that the decision by the Cane Commissioner is also called an award by the arbitrator.

Rule 23 of the Sugar Factories Control Rules permits the Cane Cammissioner to decide the dispute himself or to refer it for arbitration and also that an appeal lies against the decision of the arbitrator or the Board of arbitration but no appeal lies against the decision of the Cane Commissioner. It is true that the right of appeal is a valuable right and giving one person a right of appeal and denying the same another similarly situated will generally be taken to be an act of improper discrimination, but the other test is whether in the circumstances of a particular case this denial of right of appeal has substantially prejudiced the party.

No substantial prejudice is caused to a person by deprivation of this right of appeal when the dispute is determined by the Cane Commissioner himself. In view of the position of the Cane Commissioner, a denial of right of appeal against his decision cannot be said to be an act of improper discrimination. The provision of this law is not discriminatory and it does not deny equality of law or equal protection of laws and is thus not inconsistent with Art. 14. 1954 All W R (HC) 631 : AIR 1955 All 86 (92, 93, 94) (Pt E) (Prs 17, 18, 19).

● ——R. 23—Validity—If disputants voluntarily agree to follow procedure there can be no discrimination—Difference in procedure for disputes being decided by Cane Commissioner and arbitrator or Board of Arbitration—Art. 14 of the Constitution, not violated—Provision for appeals against certain orders or decisions in Rules — Not ultra vires rule-making power — Constitution of India, Art. 14—U. P. Sugar Factories Act (1 of 1938), S. 30 (2) (u)—Rule-making power—Sope of cl. (u) of sub-s. (2).

Per majority (Raghubar Dayal, J., contra) :

Rule 23 (6) of the U. P. Sugar Factories Control Rules, 1938 is not ultra vires the Provincial Government and the rule as a whole does not offend Art. 14 of the Constitution. Clause (u) of S. 30 (2) of U. P. Sugar Factories Act, conferred a general power to make rules for the resolving of disputes either by the Cane Commissioner or if he so directs, by arbitration sub-r. (6) of R. 23 providing for an appeal against the decision of the arbitrators must be considered as a rule giving effect to the provision of S. 30 (2) (u) providing for the resolving of disputes by arbitration. Sub-r. (6) was thus within the rule-making power of the Provincial Government. AIR 1956 All 725, Affirmed.

Raghubar Dayal, J., contra.

The entire R. 23 is to be struck down both because in the present form it is discriminatory and because sub-r. (6) is void inasmuch as the State Government had no power to enact it and it is not severable from the rest of the rule.

There is nothing in sub-r. (1) of R. 23 to suggest that the Cane Commissioner can refer the dispute to arbitration by arbitrators only when the parties agree to have the dispute so settled. In the absence of such a provision, the discretionary power of the Cane Commissioner cannot be restricted.

It is clear from the various provisions of R. 23 that there is a difference in the procedure for the dispute being decided by the Cane Commissioner and the dispute being decided by the arbitrator or Board of Arbitration. In the former case, the decision of the Cane Commissioner is final and enforceable by the Civil Court referred to in sub-r. (8). In the latter case, the award of the sole aribitrator or the Board of Arbitration is appealable. It follows that the procedure provided by R. 23 for decision of the dispute touching the agreement is such that parties similarly situated may have the dispute decided by different persons and by different procedures according to the inclination of the Cane Commissioner. The rule therefore offends against Art. 14 of the Constitution and is void.

The right to appeal is a substantive right and is to be conferred on a party by or under the Act. Sub-r. (6) of R. 23 providing for an appeal to the Commissioner against the order of the arbitrator or Board of Arbitration is void in the absence of a provision in the Act providing for an appeal. Sub-r. (6) is not severable Therefore, the entire R. 23 is to be struck down both because in its present form it is discriminatory and because sub-r. (6) is void inasmuch as the State Government had no power to enact it and it is not severable from the rest of the rule. Banarsi Das v. U. P. (SUPPLEMENTARY) CLOTH (CONTROL OF MOVEMENT) ORDER (1947) ——Cl. 3 — Order has not been withdrawn or rescinded by general permit issued by Textile Commissioner.

The Provincial Order of 1947 (U. P. Supplementary) Cloth (Control of Movement) Order (1947) had not been withdrawn or rescinded by Notification No. 101/19-Tax, 1/48 dated the 10th Sept. 1948 and the General permit issued by the Textile Commissioner and the movement of cloth within the sector in defiance of that order remained an offence.

The Textile Commissioner had at the most co-ordinate authority with Provincial Government and although he recommended that the Provincial authorities should act in a particular manner, he cannot override or cancel the orders of the Provincial authority, nor did he purport to do so in the above circular. 1951 All Cri R 47 : 1951 All W R (HC) 563 : 52 Cri L J 760 : AIR 1951 All 243 (244) (Prs 10, 11)

U. P. UNIVERSITIES ORDINANCE (1 of 1959)

——Validity—If affect powers of High Court—(Constitution of India, Arts. 200, Proviso and 213, Proviso (c).)

The validity of U. P. Ordinance (1 of 1959) cannot be challenged on the ground that it is hit by Art. 213, Proviso (c) read with Art. 200, Proviso. This Ordinance in no way purports to affect the powers of the High Court. It may have affected the rights of a party before the High Court but the powers of the High Court have remained the same. If an Act is passed during the pendency of a case which affects the rights of the parties, it cannot be said that there has been any derogation from the powers of the High Court which endangers the position of that Court which by the Constitution it is designed to fill. ILR (1959) 2 All 267 : AIR 1960 All 205 (207) (Pt A) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Cl. (4) — If retrospective — (Interpretation of Statutes).

Clause (4) of the Ordinance makes it clear that it is meant to have retrospective effect. It has been clearly mentioned there, that the term of a member "shall be and be deemed to have been determined with effect from the date or dates mentioned in the orders and notifications." Therefore, this Ordinance was to come retrospectively into effect from the date on which previous notifications had been issued. Unless a Legislature makes an Act specifically retrospective, it shall not affect an existing vested right and if according to the interpretation the Ordinance has not only impliedly and by its intention but expressly taken away the rights retrospectively, then by no manner of interpretation of Statutes, it can be said that the vested rights have been preserved. It is only when a right is vested that a Statute will be deemed to be prospective. It is open to a Legislature to take away a vested right by legislation particularly if it had been vested by a legislation itself: (1941) 1 M L J 746 : AIR 1941 F C 16 and AIR 1950 Bom 236, Dist.; AIR 1936 P C 49; 70 Mad L J 105, Rel. on. It cannot be said that Cl. (3) of the U. P. Wheat (Restriction on Movement) Order, 1949, does not provide for norms regulating the grant of permits because the order has been promulgated under the powers given by the Essential Commodities Act, the object of which, as mentioned in the preamble, was to provide, in the interest of the general public, for the control of the production, supply and distribution of, and trade and commerce in, certain commodities. The preamble lays down the policy and in a way prescribes the norms in accordance with which a permit is to be granted, Cl. (3) of the Order is not, therefore, hit by Art. 19 (1) (g) of the Constitution. 1962 All L J 13 : 1962 All W R (HC) 46 : 1962 All Cr R 58 : 1962 (2) Cri L J 161 : AIR 1962 All 359 (363) (Pt B) (Pr 20) (DB).

VEGETABLE OILS AND OILCAKES (FORWARD CONTRACTS PROHIBITION) ORDER (1944)

——Contract for forward transaction for supply of oilcakes entered into in 1957 — It is a valid contract —Vegetable Oils and Oilcakes (Forward Contracts Prohibition) Order, 1944, which expired in 1946, is not kept alive either by Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Ordinance, 1946, Essenlial Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946, General Clauses Act 1897, S. 24, or by Oilcakes (Removal of Control) Order, 1952, Cl. 6.

The Vegetable Oils and Oilcakes (Forward Contracts Prohibition) Order, 1944, which expired on 30th September, 1946, is not kept alive by the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Ordinance (No. 18 of 1946) which came into force from 1st October, 1946, and thereafter by the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946, as oilcakes were not included in the definition of essential commodity in S. 2 (a) and no order in respect of oilcakes was notified as required by S. 3. S. 5 of the Ordinance and thereafter of the Act kept alive the Prohibition Order of 1944 in respect of those commodities only which were included in the definition of essential commodities. The word "matter" in S. 5 is also qualified by the expression 'specified' in S. 3. Accordingly the Ordinance kept alive only those matters which were specified in S. 3, that is the commodities which were defined as essential commodities under the Ordinance. Thus, while promulgating the Ordinance it was not the intention to keep alive the Vegetable Oils and Oilcakes (Forward Contracts Prohibition) Order of 1944.

The consequences which follow from the repeal and re-enactment or the arguments of supersession or inconsistency which would have perhaps been applicable in a case of repeal have no application as the Vegetable Oils and Oilcakes (Forward Contracts Prohibition) Order of 1944 lapsed by efflux of time on 30th September, 1946. The provisions of S. 24 of the General Clauses Act cannot apply to such a case. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 162, Rel. on.

Even though by S. 4 of the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Amendment Act, 1950, an amendment was incorporated in S. 2 of the main Act of 1946 and cattle fodder including oil cakes for the first time was included as an essential commodity, yet this amendment or the Act of 1946 was not given retrospective effect. 1952 S C J 496 : (1952) 2 Mad L J 332 : AIR 1952 S C 335 and AIR 1958 Ker 195, Rel. on.

On 26th February 1957 the defendant firm entered into a contract of forward transaction for supply of 250 bags of oilcakes. The delivery was to take place on 13th May, 1957. No delivery of the goods was given and the plaintiff brought the suit for recovery of damages. The main defence to the case was that the contract was of a wagering nature and that forward transactions in vegetable Oil and Oilcakes having been banned by the Vegetable Oils and Oilcakes (Forward Contracts Prohibition) Order, 1944, the plaintiff could neither enforce the contract.

Held, that there being no notified order of the Central Government under S. 3 of the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act the contract was valid. AIR 1963 All 234 (236, 237, 238) (Prs 12, 13, 14, 17).

——Order is continued by Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Ordinance (1946)—(Essential Supplies (Temporary) Powers Ordinance (1946), Ss. 3, 5). AIR 1955 N U C (Mad) 2416.

——Forward contract — Enforceability — Benefit of exclusion—Availability—Test.

In a suit for recovery of damages for breach of a contract to sell groundnut oil, the plaintiff's case was that they had applied for delivery of goods on the date mentioned in the contract but that the defendants wanted more time and ultimately as the market was rising the defendants with a view to escape from their liability under the contract alleged that the contract was cancelled at the instance of plaintiff. Therefore the plaintiff claimed the difference in the market rate and the price stipulated in the contract. The defence raised contained a plea that by reason of the provisions of the Vegetable Oils and Oil Cakes (Forward Contracts Prohibition) Order, 1944, the contract became invalid and unenforceable.

Held, that unless there is a prohibition in the contract preventing the parties from transferring a delivery order or a railway receipt or a bill of lading even though the contract on its face does not contemplate such delivery order, the benefit of the exclusion does not apply. In the circumstances it follows that the plaintiff is not entitled to the benefit of the exclusion and the contract is unenforceable and hence he will not be entitled to damages for ——Cl. 2 — Contract in oilcakes on 5-12-1950 — Legality:— 1944 Order relating to oilcakes whether continues in force after 30-9-1946.

The Vegetable Oils and Oilcakes (Forward Contracts Prohibition) Order, 1944, is not continued or kept in force by virtue of S. 5 of the Central Ordinanance No. 18 of 1946, so far as oilcakes are concerned. Nor does S. 17, read with S. 3 of the Central Act (24 of 1946) keep alive or continue in force the 1944 Order regarding oilcakes. The amendment of S. 2 of Act (24 of 1946), by S. 4 of Act (52 of 1950), for the first time included oilcakes as an essential commodity with effect from 16-8-1950. The amendment is not retrospective and therefore the amendment can take effect only from 16-8-1950. Therefore, unless a special notified order is made, controlling the oilcakes, by virtue of the powers conferred on the Central Government under Central Act (24 of 1946), a contract entered into in oilcakes on 5-12-1950 is not in any way opposed to any law, because there has been really no notified order regarding those commodities. By the mere amendment of the 1946 Act by the 1950 Act, the Order of 1944 relating to oilcakes will not spring back to life. The Central Government could not have issued an order regarding oilcakes under the provisions of Central Act (24 of 1946) till it was amended by Central Act (52 of 1950). After the amendment by Central Act (52 of 1950), unless a notified order is issued by the Government, there will be no prohibition for dealing with the oilcakes. AIR 1952 SC 335 and AIR 1951 Bom 397, Rel. on. Accordingly the suit contract is not in any way affected by the provisions of the Vegetable Oils and Oilcakes (Forward Contracts Prohibition) Order of 1944 which has ceased to have effect regarding oilcakes from 1st October, 1946. 1958 Ker L J 708 : AIR 1958 Ker 195 (198, 199. 200, 201) (Pt A) (Prs 22, 25, 27, 28, 29, 32, 37, 38) (DB).

——Cls. 3 and 5 — Notification under Cl. 5, dated 8-1-1944—Exemption under — Forward contract — Contract must ex facie contain prohibition of its transfer to third parties — Contract Act (1872), S. 23 —Forward contract prohibition by order — Arbitration agreement in contract is also illegal.

The test for ascertaining whether a forward contract is exempted from prohibition of Cl. 3 of the Order is to find whether there is ex facie and/or direct provision in the contract in suit providing that the contract is not transferable to third parties.

Held, that the forward contract in suit did not ex facie provide that the bill of lading against the contract was not transferable to third parties and as such was not covered by the exemption notification dated 8th January, 1944. Hence, the contract being in contravention of the order was illegal and invalid and the arbitration clause must be held to be not binding between the parties. A contract providing for delivery, as contemplated by the Vegetable Oils and Oil Cakes (Forward Contracts Prohibition) Order (1944) must be any contract under which the goods covered by it will move. It follows that even if contract be a c.i.f. contract and even if so far as the seller is directly concerned, the delivery is only up to the ship and no further, there is still delivery within the meaning of the Order, because the goods are actually moved and they are destined for being landed at the port of destination for the benefit of the buyer. ILR (1959) 2 Cal 325 : AIR 1959 Cal 328 (333) (Pt E) (Pr 18) (DB).

——Cl. 3—Forward contract—Contract on 24-7-1944 for supply of groundnut and delivery to be made within the month of August, 1944—Contract held, to be forward contract. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 2904 (DB).

——Cl. 3—Contract Act, S. 30—Forward Contract is an executory contract become a wagering contract when the parties by common consent agree to speculate only in differences according to the rise and fall in the prices in the market and the delivery of the goods is not in contemplation of either. See Contract Act (1872), S. 30. AIR 1956 Mad 110.

——Cl. 3 — Government notification No. P and S. C. 1 (A)/44, dated 8th January, 1944—Plaintiff claiming exemption granted by notification must prove not only that suit contract is one for specified quality or article and for a specified delivery but also that the benefits under it are not transferable. CLAUSE 4

——Cl. 4 (ii)—Limitation—Suit for damages—A suit for damages under the Order is governed by Art. 120 and not by Art. 115 of the Limitation Act (1908). See Limitation Act (1908), Arts. 115 and 120. AIR 1957 Andhra Pra 79 (DB).

——Cl. 4—Validity—(Defence of India Rules (1939), R. 81 (2) (a), (b) and (f).)

The provisions of Clause 4 of the Order do not go beyond the power conferred by Cls. (a), (b) and (f) of sub-rule (2) and none of the provisions of the Order is void or ultra vires. CLAUSE 5

——Cl. 5—Notification under—Groundnut oil manufactured by seller held fell within notification.

Where a notification issued under Cl. 5 of the Order excluded from the provisions of the order "forward contracts for specific qualities or types of any article to which the said Order applies",

Held. that the groundnut oil manufactured by the plaintiffs and agreed to be sold by them to the defendants would bear its own distinctive mark and identity and could popularly be said to belong to a specific quality or type of groundnut oil. 1960 All L J 46.

——Cl. 5—Forword contracts of wager—Determination of nature — Test — There must be intention of both parties not to transfer goods—Ascertainment of intention, a question of fact — Pucca Adithiya—Position of Forward contract in groundnut oil through pucca adithiya — Goods not actually transferred — Pucca adithiya paying difference to seller of goods—Suit by adithiya to recover amount from purchaser—Transaction found by lower Courts as wagering contract — Conclusion held was finding of fact — Held further that contract was prohibited also by Vegetable Oils and Oil Cakes (Forward Contrats Prohibition) Order, 1944. See Contract Act (1872), S. 23. AIR 1965 Andh Pra 136 (DB).

——Cls. 5 and 2 (iii) — Exemption notification—Applicability — Contract entered into by pucca adatia with third party on behalf of constituent containing provision for its non-transferability — Contract between pucca adatia and constitueut need not contain such provision. See Vegetable Oils and Oil Cakes (Forward Contracts Prohibition) Order (1944), Cl. 2 (iii). AIR 1962 Andh Pra 350.

——Cl. 5 — Notification under Cl. 5 dated 8-1-44 — Exemption under—Forward contract—Contract must ex facie contain prohibition of its transfer to third parties — Contract Act (1872), S. 23 — Forward Contract prohibition by order—Arbitration agreement in contract is illegal. See Vegetable Oils and Oil Cakes (Forward Contracts Prohibition) Order (1944), Cl. 3. (1962) 64 Bom L R 113 : 1962 Nag L J 709.

——Cl. 5 — Notification allowing exemption — Requirement for exemption.

In order to qualify for ememption under the notification issued under Cl. 5 of the Order the contract must inter alia be in regard to articles of a specific quality. Oil of a specific quality would be oil of a particular specification, connected, it might be, with the place of its origin or some grade which had been given to it after analysis and examination. Consequently, crude groundnut oil of fair average quality, in respect of which allowance up to a certain percentage for moisture and impurities is granted, cannot be said to be oil of a specific quality. And as the oil concerned is not oil of the specific quality, the contract relating to the supply of such oil on a future date is outside the exemption under the notification. ILR (1959) 2 Cal 325 : A I R 1959 Cal 328 (333, 334) (Pt F) (Pr 19) (DB).

——Cl. 5—Notification dated 8-1-1944 — Scope—No contract, custom or special provision of law prohibiting transfer of railway receipt contemplated under contract—Same is transferable to third parties. AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 2904 (DB).

——Cl. 5 — Notification under Cl. 5 — Intention of notification—Supply of oil—Delivery of oil drums at godown of plaintiffs — Held, contract was exempted under notification. A I R 1956 Mad 110 (112, 113) (Pt B) (Prs 12, 13).

——Cl. 7 (1) (e)—Arbitration (Protocol and Convention) Act (6 of 1937), S. 7 — Forward contract in vegetable oil with foreign buyer—Arbitratiou clause, integral part of contract—Dispute referred to foreign arbitration — Contract being illegal, award is illegal and cannot be enforced in India—Law applicable is Indian where award is sought to be enforced—Contract Act (1872), Ss. 1 and 28 — International law—Private—Contract.

If the contract is illegal, the awards given by arbitrators in pursuance of arbitration clause in the contract will not be enforceable either under Act VI of 1937 or under general principles of law, applicable to the enforceability of the contracts themselves or of foreign awards made as a consequence of any terms in such contracts. As a principle of both of law and practice and of private international law, a Court will not enforce a contact which is illegal by its own lex fori.

Whether the seller in India entered into forward contract with a buyer in Italy to supply oil to him and the contract was prohibited by Vegetable Oils and Oilcakes (Forward Contracts Probibition) Order 1944 and was not saved by the exception Cl. 7 (1) of the Order, inasmuch as the contract was transferable a suit to enforce the foreign award given on the contract in pursuance of the arbitration clause in the contract, is not maintainable against the seller in India.

Observations :—In the light of dicta in AIR 1962 S C 1810, it has certainly to be held that the observations in (1950) 1 Mad L J 557 and (1951) 1 Mad L J 147 and AIR 1954 Mad 528 to the effect that the contract to come under the exception mentioned in Cl. 7 (1) of the Order, should ex facie contain a prohibition as to transfer, would need reconsideration, and might no longer be the correct exposition of law.

The contracts being opposed to the law in this country and the clause with regard to reference to arbitration being an integral part of the contract, the entire subsequent proceedings of arbitration and award would also be tainted by the same infirmity. AIR 1961 S C 1285 and AIR 1962 S C 1810 and AIR 1963 S C 90 and A I R 1963 Cal 140, Rel. on. 78 Mad L W 68 : I L R (1964) 2 Mad 90 : AIR 1964 Mad 532 (535, 536) (Pt A) (Prs 11, 12, 13, 14) (DB).

VINDHYA PRADESH (ADMINISTRATION ORDER (1960)

——Cl. 5 — Existing laws — Vindhya Pradesh Sales Tax Ordinance (1949).

The heading of Cl. (5), Vindhya Pradesh (Administration) Order, 1950, shows that the expression "laws in force" was used in the sense of "existing laws". The Vindhya Pradesh Sales Tax Ordinance, 1949, continued as an existing law under the Vindhya Pradesh (Administration) Order, 1950 and was validly brought into force with effect from 1st April, 1950, under the Chief Commissioner's Notification published in the Gazette, dated 30th March, 1950. VINDHYA PRADESH APPLICATION OF LAWS (AMENDMENT) ACT (2 of 1953)

——Applicability of Proviso — Suit for ejectment of trespasser wrongly instituted and pending in civil Court—Tenancy Laws—Ajaigarh (Tenancy Laws Act (1 of 1947), S. 65) — (Tenancy Laws — Rewa Land Revenue and Tenancy Code (1935)).

In a suit for ejectment brought by a tenant a declaration of his tenancy rights is implicit in the relief sought. The forum cannot be changed by asking for a superfluous relief of declaration. Under S. 65, Ajaigarh Tenancy Laws Act a suit for ejectment in which the case of the plaintiff in the plaint was that he was the tenant of the plot and the defendants were trespassers lay in the revenue Court. Whether the plaintiff chose to call that a suit for possession or a suit for ejection that did not alter its nature. Such a suit when brought in a civil Court was wrongly instituted and the plaint would have been ordered to be returned for presentation to the proper Court but not dismissed on the ground that on the plaint allegations it should have been filed in the revenue Courts. But when the suit is pending in the civil Court after the V. P. Application of Laws Amendment Act, 1953, the plaint in the suit would not be ordered to be returned because under the Rewa Land Revenue and Tenancy Code a suit for ejectment of a trespasser lay in the civil Court and if the plaint is returned it would have to be again presented to the civil Court. The proviso to the V. P. Application of Laws Amendment Act will not apply to the case because under the proviso it is only proceedings which have been instituted in the proper Courts and which are pending on the date of commencement of the Act that shall be continued and completed as if there had been no change in the law. AIR 1954 Vin Pra 40 (40) (Pr 1).

VINDHYA PRADESH APPLICATION OF LAWS ORDINANCNE (4 of 1948)

● ——S. 2—As amendded by Ordinance 20 of 1949—Effect.

The effect of these two ordinances was to extend to the entire state of Vindhya Pradesh with effect from 9-8-1948 the criminal law previously in force in the Rewa State, viz , the Indian Penal Code and the Criminal Procedure Code with adaptations mutatis mutandis. But even assuming that section 2 of the Ordinance failed to achieve its purpose on account of misconception as to the previous publication of any particular Rewa law in the Rewa Gazette that Rewa law would continue to be in force in the Rewa portion of United State of Vindhya Pradesh, as the Vindhya Pradesh law therefor, on the principle that on change of sovereignty over an inhabited territory the pre-existng laws continue to be in force until duly altered. 1 Moo Ind Ind App 175 (P C), Foll. VINDHYA PRADESH CLOTH AND YARN DEALERS LICENSING ORDER (No. 3 of 1948)

——Cotton Textiles Control Order—If properly made and duly published—Authentication.

The V. P. Cloth and Yarn Dealers Licensing Order (III of 1948) and the V. P. Cotton Textiles Control Order, which were ostensibly made under the V. P. Essential Supplies Ordinance (XI of 1948) on 30-1-1949, cannot be said to have been properly made, because, though made in the name of the Government of V. P., were made by the Secretary to Revenue Minister, in charge of Food and Civil Supplies, and cannot be deemed to have been made by the Government or the Rajpramukh of Vindhya Pradesh; in the absence of any authenticated copies signed by the Rajpramukh or any order by him authorising either the Minister or the Secretary to the Minister to make such orders.

Further then the printed list of contents described as Extraordinary Gazette which accompanied the cyclostyled material, in which were included both the orders, mentioned only the Licensing Order (3 of 1948) but not the Textiles Control Order, only the first may be presumed to have been published in the Gazette and not the second as no presumption of publication would attach to the second order. AIR 1951 Vin Pra 47 (48) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

——Adaptations of S. 4, Penal Code and S. 188, in Criminal P. C. in V. P.—Legality —Constitution of India, Art. 20.

Adaptations to S. 4 Penal Code and S. 188, Criminal P. C. by the Raj Pramukh of V. P. in May and in September 1949, by V. P. Ordi. XLVIII (48) of 1949 are not repugnant to existing central law, but are just the bringing of the V. P. laws in line with that of the Dominion Legislature.

Apart from the finding these adaptations can, even if brought in for the first time in May and September 1949, act retrospectively.

Article 20, Constitution of India, has no application because the new law does not create any offence. 52 Cri L J 561 : A I R 1951 Vindh Pra 17 (34) (Pt K) (Prs 111, 112).

Jubbal State.

——Jubbal State — Scope and applicability — It is optional with the State to make the grant or not of the escheated estate or not, but once it elects to do so, it is bound to follow the order of precedence in the clause. The command is imperative and its obedience has the natural consequences of nullifying the grants made to the strangers. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9. AIR 1954 Him Pra 6 (9, 10) (Pt B) (Prs 11, 14).

Raigarh District.

——Raigarh Districts, Ss. 28 and 30—Minor ryot—If can allow holding to lie fallow.

There is no reason to suggest that the word "ryot" occurring in S. 28 of the Wajib-ul-arz refers only to adult ryots. The words "Nabalig ryot" occurring in S. 30 (a) of the Wajib-ul-arz suggests that ryots can be minors also, and that such minors will be deemed to be ryots. A "minor ryot" may lease out the holding till he attains the age of 18 years but he certainly cannot allow the holding to lie fallow. 1951 Nag L J 196 (Rev).

——Ss. 2 (d), (g), 45 (d) and 3 — Exemption under S. 45 (d) can be claimed from date of registration of company and not from date it goes into production —See Wealth Tax Act (1957), S. 45 (d). AIR 1965 Ker 101 (DB).

——Ss. 2 (d), 5 (1) (xxi) and Second Proviso — Wealth-tax—Exemption—Company—New and separate unit—When set up — Period of exemption, where operations begun before Wealth-tax Act.

Held, on facts of the case that the proper meaning to be assigned to the expression "set up" in S. 5 (1) (xxi) of the Wealth-tax Act is ready to commence business."

"Setting up" does not mean commencement of the operations for establishment of the factory. The resolution of the Board of Directors, the orders placed for purchasing machinery, and the licence obtained from the Government for constructing the factory are merely initial stages towards setting up however necessary and essential they may be to further the achievement of the end. It is not, however the actual functioning of the factory or its going into production that can alone be called setting up of the factory. Where, though the unit is set up after the Act, the operations for its establishment are commenced earlier than the Act, the exemption will be available to the assessee only for a period of the first assessment years under the Act, in view of the language of the proviso to S. 5 (1) (xxi) and the definition of the expression "assessment year' in S. 2 (d). ——S. 2 (e) (i), 2 (m) (ii). 5 and 25—Zamindari Abolition Compensation Bonds – Retention as security for arrears of agricultural income-tax—Bonds, assessable assets—Agricultural income-tax, whether deductible debt—Wealth-tax Proceedings — Whether administrative or quasi-judicial—Revision by Commissioner —Alternative remedy by way of appeal not availed — Whether amenable to certiorari—Words and Phrases 'Assets in respect of which wealth tax is not payable' — U. P. Agricultural Income-tax Act, 1949 (U. P. Act III of 1949), S. 32.

The proceedings are not amenable to certiorari. When performing their duties under the Wealth-tax Act, 1957, the Wealth-tax Officers and the Commissioners act neither judicially nor quasi-judicially but administratively. The Commissioner's jurisdiction in revision is discretionary. He is not required to hear the assessee before refusing to exercise it. Agricultural income-tax is not a debt which is secured on, or which has been incurred in relation to, any asset in respect of which wealth-tax is not payable under the Wealth-tax Act. Agricultural income-tax is not a tax on agricultural land. The U. P. Agricultural Income-tax Act, 1949 (Act III of 1949) does not contain any provision charging agricultural land with payment of agricultural income-tax. Wealth-tax is not payable on agricultural land, but that is because it is not an asset at all within the meaning of S. 2 (e) (i) of the Wealth-tax Act, and not because it is an assets excluded from wealth tax liability under S. 5. SYNOPSIS

1. Applicability.
2. Constitutionality.
3. "Net wealth."
4. "Debts owed."

1. Applicability.

——S. 2 (m), Exception (ii) — Arrears of agricultural income-tax due from assessee — Amount to debt — Amount of arrears of tax must be included in the aggregate value of debts owed by the assessee—Exception (ii) has no application to such arrear. (1963) 2 I T J 377 : ILR (1965) 1 All 171 : AIR 1963 All 488 (494, 495) (Pt G) (Pr 14) (DB).

——Ss. 2 (m) and 3 — Wealth — It must belong to assessee. AIR 1965 Andh-Pra 447 (448, 449) (Pt B) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Ss. 2 (m), 7 (1) and (2) (a)—Wealth tax—Business with regular accounts—Balance-sheet—Assets shown at cost, without depreciation—Wealth-tax computation — Assets, whether bound to be valued at cost—Written down value for purposes of income-tax — How far indicative of real value.

Even though the written down value may not in all cases represent the real value of the assets, in normal cases it will give the Wealth-tax Officer a fair idea of its proper value unless the plant and machinery are of a rare type or are of a quality which is not generally available in India and for which there is a great demand. No such uncommon feature is to be found in the present case. 2. Constitutionality.

—S. 2 (m)—Constitutionality—Whether encroaches on field covered by Sch. 7, List II, Entry 49 of the Constitution. There is no conflict and no overlapping of jurisdiction in the case of the two entries. See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 86. AIR 1962 Ker 110 (DB).

——S. 2 (m) — Constitutional validity — Whether pertains to field covered by Sch. 7, List II, Entry 46 of Constitution. A tax on agricultural income as its base or object would fall within Entry 46 in the State List. See Constitution of India, Art. 246. AIR 1962 Ker 110 (DB).

3. "Net wealth"

——Ss. 2 (m) and 5 — "Net wealth" — Zamindari Abolition Compensation bonds of assessee kept by Board of Revenue as security—Bonds do not cease to be assessee's property. (1963) 2 I T J 377 : I L R (1965) 1 All 171 : AIR 1963 All 488 (494) (Pt F) (Pr 13) (DB).

——Ss. 2 (m), 3 and 7 —' Net wealth' — Company's balance sheets — Amounts appearing as liabilities — Whether deductible in determining net wealth of company.

Held, on the facts and in the circumstances of the case that the amounts appearing in the Company's balance sheets as on 31st March, 1957 and 31st March, 1958 after 31st March, 1958 as liabilities for taxes in respect of which the assessments were still pending and dividends which were proposed but not declared were not deductible in determining the net wealth of the company for the assessment years 1957-58 and 1958-59. ——S. 2 (m) — 'Net wealth' — Valuation of shares in private company — Shares to be valued by reference to company's total assets — Debts and liabilities of company should not be ignored—Valuation must be based on company's real wealth and not artificial wealth computed under S. 2 (m). See Gift Tax Act (1958), S. 6 (3). AIR 1965 Cal 70 (DB).

——S. 2 (m)—Calculation of 'net wealth' — Income-tax liability of assessee not matured into debt at the date of valuation cannot be allowed to be deducted.

On the date of valuation as the rate at which the income-tax should be calculated was unavailable it must be held that the income-tax liability did not mature into a debt on that date and therefore it could not be allowed to be deducted from the net wealth of the assessee. [Overruled in AIR 1966 SC 1370].

——Ss. 2 (m), 7 — Net wealth — Amount set apart in balance sheet of assessee on recommendation of directors for payment of dividends cannot be deducted from net wealth — It amounts to liability only upon declaration at general meeting of share-holders — In this respect there is no difference between dividends payable to preference share-holders and ordinary share-holders. AIR 1963 Mad 274 (277, 278, 279) (Prs 11, 16, 17, 18, 22) (DB).

4. "Debts owed".

——Ss. 2 (m), 7 (2) (a) — Debt owed by assessee — Provision for payment of tax—Not a debt.

A provision for payment of income-tax and super tax in the balance sheet of the assessee is not a debt owed on the valuation date within the meaning of S. 2 (m) and if not, as such deductible in the computation of the net wealth. AIR 1963 Cal 392, Rel. on.

(Obiter) It cannot be said that such provisions for payment of income-tax and super tax in the assessee's balance sheet should be deductible in view of the words 'net value' in S. 7 (2) (a) of the Act. AIR 1966 Cal 6, Rel. on. (1965) 2 I T J 850 : 69 Cal W N 428 : AIR 1966 Cal 9 (13) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

——S. 2 (m)—"Debts owed by the assessee"—Valuation of company's assets—Deduction—Dividend proposed but not declared—It is not "debt owed".

A dividend proposed by the directors does not become a debt until it is declared by the company in a general meeting. (1963) 48 I T R 31 : (1963) 1 I T J 58 : 67 Cal W N 22 : AIR 1963 Cal 392 (395) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 1370].

——S. 2 (m)—"Debts owed by the assessee"—Assets of company—Provision made for payment of income-tax and super-tax for accounting year — Meaning of "debt owed"—Liability to pay is not "debt owed"—Amount cannot be deducted.

A debt must be for a liquidated sum of money and it can be either owed or accruing. To merit deduction in the computation of net wealth as contemplated by S. 2 (m) of the Act, the liability must not only be a debt but one solvendum in praesenti. Hence, a debt accruing will not be within the section : it must be a debt owed. Although the assessee is liable to pay income-tax on the valuation date the actual amount of the liability is not ascertained until sometime thereafter by the passing of the Finance Act and determination made by the Income-tax Authorities. In any case no debt is owed by the assessee on the valuation date. The provision, therefore, for payment of income-tax and super-tax in respect of the year of account of the assessee-company, not being a "debt owed", is not deductible in computing the net wealth of the assessee. (1963) 48 I T R 31 : (1963) 1 I T J 58 : 67 Cal W N 22 : AIR 1963 Cal 392 (395, 396, 397, 399) (Pt C) (Prs 7, 9, 12, 16, 38) (DB).

[Reversed in AIR 1966 SC 1370].

——S. 2 (m) — Wealth Tax Rules (1957), Form A — Annexure to Form A — Expressions "liabilities" and "current liabilities" in—These do not control meaning of "debt owed" in S. 2 (m).

The use of the expression "liabilities" and "current liabilities" in the annexure to Form A in the Wealth Tax Rules, 1957, cannot control the meaning of the expression "debts owed" that can be taken into account. Form A does not apply in the case of Companies and further the Forms cannot prevail over the section of the Act. (1963) 48 I T R 31 : (1963) 1 I T J 58 : 67 Cal W N 22 : A I R 1963 Cal 392 (397, 399) (Pt D) (Prs 15, 36) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 1370].

——S. 2 (m) — 'Debt' owed by assessee—What is—Sum set apart as estimated provisions for meeting future tax liability and final instalment due under S. 18-A, Income-tax Act — Whether such a debt — Income-tax Act (1922), S. 18.A.

The sum set apart by an assessee as an estimated provision for meeting the tax liability in future under S. 18-A of the Income-tax Act is not a debt owed by the assessee on the relevant valuation date within the meaning of S. 2 (m) of the Act.

However, in computing the net wealth of the assessee the final instalment due under S. 18 A of the Income Tax Act which is payable on 15th March, in a financial year constitutes a debt owed by the assessee within the meaning of S. 2 (m) of the Act. ——S. 2 (m) (iii) — Wealth Tax — Debts owed—Income-tax demand on assessee — Settlement between assessee and Central Board of Revenue—Not under any provisions of Income-tax Act but an executive act—Liability of assessee settled at a lower sum payable at instalments—Default rendering agreement void and enabling recovery of original arrears of tax—Settled liability — Debts owed on the date of the agreement—Not arising under the provisions of Income-tax Act—Computation of net wealth—Deductible—Words and Phrases—"Debts owed."

Held, the sums are deductible as debts owed. The essential requisites of a debt are: an ascertained or readily calculable amount; an absolute unqualified and present liability in regard to that amount with the obligation to pay forthwith or in future within a time certain; the obligation must have accrued and must be subsisting and should not be that which is merely accruing. In construing the expression whether it is "owed" regard cannot be had to payability on a particular date.

A settlement between the assessee and the Central Board of Revenue, not made under any provision of the Income-tax Act, but made as an executive act by which the Government, in view of the impossibility of recovering the total amount demanded, was willing to accept a lesser amount, on agreement in case of default in payment at stated intervals, the agreement would become void and the Government had the right to recover any amounts over and above the settled figure, both in law and fact would put an end to the old claim under the Income-tax Act and bring into existence a new claim altogether. This debt would come into existence on the date of the agreement and being not one made under the provisions of the Income-tax Act at all, it would not fall under the mischief of S. 2 (m) (iii) of the Wealth Tax Act of 1957. SYNOPSIS

1. Validity.
2. Individuals—Meaning of.
3. Nature and incidence of tax.
4. Hindu undivided family.
5. "Net wealth."

1. Validity.

——S. 3—Section is valid in so far as it purports to tax net wealth of Hindu undivided family—Word 'individuals' in Entry 86 in List I, Sch. 7 of Constitution, includes Hindu undivided family — Interpretation of legislative entries.

Section 3 of the Wealth Tax Act, 1957 (27 of 1957), in so far as it purports to levy a charge on wealth tax in respect of the net wealth of a Hindu undivided family at the specified rate, is valid because Parliament was competent to legislate in respect of Hindu undivided families under Entry 86, List 1, Sch. 7 of the Constitution. AIR 1961 All 487, Affirmed. (1959) 37 I T R 191 (Bom) and AIR 1961 Andh Pra 75 and AIR 1961 Andh Pra 355 and (1964) 52 I T R 372 (Mys) and (1964) 53 I T R 504 (Mad) and AIR 1957 S C 832, Ref.

What the Entries purport to do is to describe the area of legislative competence of the different legislative bodies, and so it would be unreasonable to approach the task of interpretation in a narrow or restrictive manner. AIR 1955 S C 58 and AIR 1965 S C 1375, Rel. on. Banarasi Dass v. Wealth Tax Officer, Spl. Circle, Meerut, (1965) 2 S C A 829 : (1965) 2 S C R 355 : ILR (1965) 1 All 932 : (1965) 56 I T R 224 : (1965) 1 S C J 428 : (1965) 1 I T J 455 : AIR 1965 S C 1387 (1389, 1390, 1391, 1392) (Prs 6, 7, 8, 10, 14).

● ——S. 3—Validity—Constitution of India, Art. 248, Sch. 7, List 1, Entries 86, 97 — (Majority view — Upadhya, J., dissenting).

The Wealth Tax Act, is intra vires the Parliament in so far as it imposes wealth tax on the assets of a Hindu undivided family. Jugal Kishore v. Wealth Tax Officer, (1962) 44 I T R 94 : ILR (1961) 1 All 785 : 1961 All L J 408 : AIR 1961 All 487 (489, 490, 491, 496, 497, 499, 500, 501, 502) (Pt A) (Prs 4, 6, 10, 27, 31, 34, 36, 37, 40, 42, 43) (FB).

——S. 3—Constitutional validity — If ultra vires——Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 86—'Individuals'—Hindu undivided family—If covered.

The expression 'individuals' in Entry 86, List I and Sch. 7 does not mean only a human being but is wide enough to include a group of persons forming a unit. AIR 1957 S C 832, Rel. on. The Entry 86 of List 1 to the 7th Schedule is comprehensive enough to justify the imposition of the wealth tax on a Hindu undivided family. Wealth Tax Act is not, therefore, ultra vires in so far as it gives power to tax assets of a Hindu undivided family. ILR (1961) 2 Andh Pra 459 : (1960) 40 I T R 567 : AIR 1961 Andh Pra 75 (77, 78, 79) (Pt B) (Prs 15, 16, 17, 18, 25).

——S. 3—Validity — If ultra vires—(Constitution of India. Sch. VII. List I. Entry 86 — 'Individual'—(Income-tax Act (1922), S. 3).

The Act in so far as it authorised levy of wealth tax on the net wealth of a Hindu undivided family is not ultra vires the Union Parliament. The expression 'individual' in Entry No. 86 includes a body of individuals which is known as a Hindu undivided family. Parliament is therefore competent to enact laws imposing a tax on the capital value of the assets of a Hindu undivided family, as the wealth tax. (1959) 37 I T R 191 : 61 Bom L R 1433 : AIR 1960 Bom 191 (192, 193) (Pt A) (Prs 4, 6, 9) (DB).

——S. 3 — Constitutional validity — Does not violate Art. 14 of the Constitution of India. (1965) 2 Ker L R 515 : 1965 Ker L J 1122 : 1965 Ker L T 1238 : ILR (1965) 2 Ker 707 : AIR 1966 Ker 77 (84, 85, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94) (Pt B) (Prs 12, 14, 37, 38, 42, 43, 56, 61, 68, 71, 72) (DB).

——S. 3 — Constitutional validity—Classification between Hindu and non-Hindu undivided families — Whether violates Art. 14 of the Constitution — The Hindu undivided families of wealth have been singled out by the Act from other similar joint families in the country and the State has thereby denied equal protection of law to the former. The provisions of the Act relating to Hindu undivided families are severable and to that extent the Act has to be struck down. See Constitution of India, Art. 14. AIR 1962 Ker 110 (DB).

——S. 3—Constitutional validity — Whether pertains to field covered by Sch. 7, List II, Entry 46 of Constitution—A tax on agricultural income as its base or object would fall within Entry 46 in the State List. See Constitution of India, Art. 246. AIR 1962 Ker 110 (DB).

——S. 3 — Constitutionality—Whether encroaches on field covered by Sch. 7, List II, Entry 49 of the Constitution—There is no conflict and no overlapping of jurisdiction in the case of the two entries. See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List I, Entry 86. AIR 1962 Ker 110 (DB).

——Ss. 3 and 4 — Validity — Does not contravene Art. 19. See Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (f). AIR 1964 Orissa 128 (DB).

——S. 3—Validity — Section not open to challege on ground of authorising tax so as to make it oppressively burdensome. See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List I, Entry 86. AIR 1964 Orissa 128 (DB).

2. Individuals—Meaning of.

——S. 3—Assets, obtained by assessee in partition of joint Hindu family property — Assessee living with his wife and two minor daughters — Assessee is to be taxed as individual and not as Hindu undivided family. See Wealth Tax Act (27 of 1957), S. 2 (e). AIR 1965 Andh Pra 447 (DB).

——S. 3—Wealth — It must belong to assessee. Under S. 3, the assets must be property belonging to the assessee, who may be either an individual or a Hindu undivided family or a company. See Wealth Tax Act (27 of 1957), S. 2 (m). AIR 1965 Andh Pra 447 (DB).

——S. 3—'Individuals'—Meaning of—Includes Hindu undivided family — Validitv—S. 3 is intra vires. See Constitution of India, Art. 246. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 355 (DB).

——S. 3—Wealth-tax—Assessee, a group of trustees—Assessable as an individual — Words and Phrases — 'Individual'.

Held, the group of trustees falls within the scope of the term 'individual' and assessable to wealth-tax as individual. The word 'individual' is wide enough to include a group of persons forming a unit. The mention of the Hindu Undivided Family as a unit of taxation under S. 3 of the Act is not intended to exclude other groups of persons which are capable of being treated as a unit. (1962) 46 I T R 953 : AIR 1957 SC 832; AIR 1965 SC 1387, Ref. (1965) 57 I T R 202 : 67 Bom L R 671 : 1965 Mah L J 818 : (1965) 2 I T J 295 (Bom).

——S. 3—Individual—Joint trustees can be assessed as 'individual' under S. 3.

Joint trustees must be taken to be a single unit in law, and there is nothing wrong in treating such a unit as an individual holding property, and becoming assessable under S. 3. 66 Cal W N 176 : (1962) 46 I T R 953 : AIR 1962 Cal 295 (301, 302) (Pt C) (Prs 17, 18).

——S. 3—'Individual' — Meaning and interpretation of—Includes non-Hindu families like Mappila Marumakkathayam Tarwad. (1965) 2 Ker L R 515 : 1965 Ker L J 1122 : 1965 Ker L T 1238 : ILR (1965) 2 Ker 707 : AIR 1966 Ker 77 (80, 81, 82, 87, 88, 92, 93) (Pt A) (Prs 3, 4, 7, 30, 61, 66, 67) (DB).

——S. 3—'Individual' does not comprehend Mappila Marumakkathayam Tarwad.

The term "individual" as employed in S. 3 of the Act in juxtaposition with "Hindu undivided families" and the other provisions in the Act, which differentiate between these two units of assessment, leave no room for doubt, that the term 'individual' in the Act cannot comprehend a Hindu undivided family; if so, it cannot comprehend a Mappila Marumakkathayam Tarwad either. ILR (1961) 2 Ker 368 : 1961

——S. 3 — Assessee, the sole surviving member of Hindu undivided family cannot be regarded as undivided Hindu family — He is liable to assessment to wealth tax as individual. 3. Nature and incidence of tax.

——Ss. 3 and 19 — Wealth tax cannot be assessed in respect of wealth of the deceased from after the financial year next to financial year in which he died. 48 I T R 59 (SC), 51 I T R 345 (SC), Rel. on. 1965 Mah L J (Notes) 55.

——S. 3 and S. 21 (1) (before amendment in 1964)— Waqf represented by Mutawali — Assessability to tax —Property, though held by Mutawallli, 'for benefit of' beneficiaries and not 'on behalf of' beneficiaries is taxable under S. 21 (1). 63 I T R 787 : ILR (1965) 2 Ker 407 : 1965 Ker L T 997 : (1965) 2 I T J 653 : AIR 1966 Ker 108 (109, 110) (Prs 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11) (DB).

——S. 3 — Assessee owner-trader — Assessee paying wealth-tax — Payment of wealth-tax cannot be exclusively for purpose of carrying on business — Payment cannot constitute admissible deduction under S. 10 (2) (xv), Income-tax Act (1922). See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 10 (2)(xv). AIR 1965 Ker 146 (DB).

——Ss. 3, 45 (d), 2 (d) (q) — Exemption under S. 45 (d) can be claimed from date of registration of company and not from date it goes into production. See Wealth Tax Act (1957), S. 45 (d). AIR 1965 Ker 101 (DB).

——S. 3 — Valuation of buildings for assessment of wealth-tax — Valuation though discretionary with Wealth-tax Officer his approach should be judicial— Considerations in valuation — Central Board of Revenue Circular No. 3 W. T. of 1957, D/- 28-9-1957— Scope of—Fixation of true net value —Duty of taxing department — Assessee questioning valuation before Tribunal—Tribunal cannot dismiss appeal on ground that valuation has not been shown to be unreasonable—Lacuna in S. 24 (6), Proviso pointed out. See Wealth-tax Act (1957), S. 7. (1964) 51 I T R 146 (Mad).

——Ss. 3, 4 (1) (a) (iii), 2 (q) — Assessee transferring his shares in company in favour of trust created by him for benefit of his minor children—Interpretation of trust deed—Value of shares transferred held could be included in computing assets of assessee for purposes of Wealth Tax Act. See Wealth Tax Act (27 of 1957), S. 4 (1) (a) (iii). (1965) 58 I T R 492 : AIR 1966 Mys 27 (DB).

4. Hindu undivided family.

——S. 3—Expenditure-tax Act, 1957 (Central Act (29 of 1957), S. 3 — Equality—Tax laws — Principles— Hindu undivided family and Mappilla tarwad of Malabar—Dissimilar and distinct subjects — Hindu undivided family — Charge to Wealth-tax and Expenditure-tax—Not discriminatory.

The charging sections of Wealth Tax Act and Expenditure-tax Act do not offend Art. 14 of the Constitution in seeking to assess the Hindu Joint family. The two entities, Hindu joint family and Mappilla tarwad are not similar but different. No law including a tax law can deny equal protection to all citizens. But equal protection would not prohibit reasonable classification for taxation resting on a fair and substantial relation to the object of the legislation. It is not the state of mind of the Legislature but the piece of legislation and its operational effect that determines the constitutional validity. The degree of incidence of taxation would not have a bearing on the question of the constitutionality of the enactments.

The wealth or expenditure of Mappilla tarward is not altogether outside the ambit of the Acts. A Karnavan, whatever may be the capacity in which he or she owns or expends, is certainly an 'individual' within the meaning of the said expression under the two Acts, and is assessable as such. ——S. 3 — Hindu undivided family—Meaning of— Family consisting of widow of a deceased sole coparcener and an unmarried daughter — Widow holding ancestral properties of her husband as widow's estate—Constituted Hindu undivided family prior to but not after Hindu Succession Act—Effect of Hindu Succession Act is to alter status of widow to an individual for purposes of taxation laws. 5. "Net wealth."

——S. 3—Scope — Though net wealth is to be ascertained as on date of previous year tax is to be levied at rates specified in Schedule in the given financial year.

The said date is only for the purpose of fixing the point of time with reference to which the quantum of wealth which will bear the tax is to be ascertained. Under S. 3 the unit of period for which the tax is levied is the unit of the financial year. The valuation date, which is the date with reference to which the net wealth is to be computed is the last day of the previous year. The rates specified in the schedule, which will apply to the net wealth will, therefore, be the rates, which are specified in the Schedule in the given financial year in which the tax is charged. 67 Bom L R 659 : (1965) 2 I T J 290 : (1965) 58 I T R 161 : 1965 Mah L J 907 : ILR (1965) Bom 1054 : AIR 1966 Bom 166 (167) (Pt B) (Prs 4, 5) (DB).

——S. 3—Company's balance sheets — Amounts appearing as liabilities — Whether deductible in determining net weath of company. See Wealth Tax Act (27 of 1927), S. 2 (m). (1965) 2 I T J 846 : AIR 1966 Cal 6 (DB).

——Ss. 3 and 2 (m)—'Net wealth' — Computation — Debt — Provisions made by assessee to meet future liability whether deducible in computing the net wealth of the assessee—Words and Phrases —'Debt'.

The deduction of future liability in computing the net wealth of the assessee depends on the question whether such liability for that period constitutes a a debt owned by the assessee on the valuation date or not. The amounts apparently constituting debts owned by the assessee on the valuation date should only be deducted before arriving at the net wealth to be assessed. The amounts which did not satisfy that they were debts on the valuation date cannot constitute valid deductions. One of the essentials of a debt is an ascertained or readily calculable amount. All debts are liabilities but all liabilities are not debts. AIR 1965 Ker 66 and AIR 1963 Mad 356, Rel. on. (1964) 54 I T R 587 : AIR 1965 Ker 209 (209, 210) (Prs 5, 10) (DB).

——Ss. 4 (1), (2), (18), 2 (e) — Assessee, an ex-jagirdar — Commutation amount receivable by him for liquidation of his rights in the jagir—Is an asset includible in his net wealth—Hyderabad (Abolition of Jagirs) Regulation (59 of 1358-F), S. 7 — Hyderabad Jagirs (Commutation) Regulation (25 of 1359-F), Ss. 3, 4, 7.

The commutation amount paid to a jagirdar under Jagir Abolition Regulation and the Jagirs Commutation Regulation being a capitalised amount of the value of the Jagir taken over by the Government, distributable either monthly, quarterly or annually cannot therefore be called an annuity. ILR (1964) Andh Pra 501 : (1963) 1 I T J 497 : (1963) 1 Andh W R 409 : (1963) 50 I T R 216 : AIR 1963 Andh Pra 486 (487, 488, 489) (Pt B) (Prs 3, 4, 5) (DB).

See Wealth Tax Act (1957), S. 2 (m). AIR 1964 Guj 154 (DB).

——S. 4 (1) (a) (iii) —Wealth tax—Transfer of assets— Income payable by transferees to transferor's minor son for life—Transfer, whether for minor's benefit— —Assets, whether includible in transferor's net wealth—Words and Phrases — 'Transfer' — 'For the benefit of.'

The amount is includible in the net wealth of the assessee since the assets had been transferred by the individual otherwise than for adequate consideration for the benefit of the minor child. The deed of trust transferred and conveyed to the trustees the properties and the effect of the provisions was the resultant benefit to the minor son, who can enforce his claim by an action. Whether such transfer results in the transfer of assets or only the income of such assets is not material or relevant under the section. What is relevant is whether such assets are transferred for the benefit of the minor child. (1965) 55 I T R 441 : (1964) 1 I T J 97 (Guj).

——S. 4 (1) (a) (iv)—'Otherwise than under an irrevocable transfer' — If power of revocation exists in transferor, the property is deemed to be the property of transferor.

Section 4 (1) (a) (iv) provides that a person to whom assets have been transferred by another individual 'otherwise than under an irrevocable transfer' would be bound to include the value of such an asset in the computation of his net wealth. If there exists a power of revocation in the transferor, the property, for the purpose of S. 4, is deemed to be the property of the transferor for the payment of wealth-tax. (1964) 54 I T R 687 : ILR (1965) 1 Mad 577 : (1965) 1 I T J 41 : (1965) 1 Mad L J 54 : AIR 1965 Mad 182 (184) (Pt B) (Prs 7, 8) (DB).

——S. 5 (1) (xxi)—"Setting up" —Meaning of — "Set up" would mean "ready to commence business" — Assessee manufacturing grey cement setting up new unit for manufacturing white cement - Date of "setting up" of new unit should be taken as date on which trial run was completed : AIR 1963 Mad 19, Rel. on. Words and Phrases—"Setting up". 1964 Ker L J 956 : 1964 Ker L T 543 : (1964) 54 I T R 583 : (1964) 2 I T J 789 : AIR 1965 Ker 183 (184) (Pt A) (Pr 8) (DB).

——S. 5 (1) (xxi)—"Separate unit"—Meaning—Assessee manufacturing grey cement setting up new unit for manufacturing white cement — New unit using kiln of old unit — Assessee is not entitled to exemption from wealth tax under section.

The word "separate", means "disconnected, independent, distinct". The sharing of a common kiln between the old and the new unit certainly precludes the conclusion that the units are separate, and hence it must be held that the exemption claimed under section cannot be granted. 1964 Ker L J 956 : 1964 Ker L T 543 : (1964) 54 I T R 583 : (1964) 2 I T J 789 : AIR 1965 Ker 183 (185) (Pt B) (Prs 11, 13) (DB).

Held, since the previous decision of the High Court interpreting S. 5 (1) (xxi) of the Act is pending before the Supreme Court, the High Court has to direct the Tribunal to refer the question of law arising under the section. ——S 5 (1) (xxi) and 2nd proviso — Expression 'set up'— Meaning — Does not mean 'commences operation' within meaning of proviso.

The proper meaning to be assigned to expression 'set up' in S. 5 (1) (xxi) of the Wealth Tax Act would be 'ready to commence business'. The expression cannot be strained in the light of 2nd proviso to the section and cannot mean that commencement of operation within the meaning of 2nd proviso. A I R 1955 Bom 13, Rel. on. ——S. 5 — Creation of trust deed by assessee just before passing of Act — Whether a device to avoid tax.

A valid deed of trust created by an assessee, after the Wealth Tax Bill was introduced in Parliament cannot therefore be said to be a device created merely for avoiding wealth tax when there is no allegation that is not genuine, or when it does not evidence an illegal transaction. ——S. 27 (1) and (5) — Wealth-tax — Debts owed — Reserve for gratuity — Reserve for leave wages — Whether deductible—Practice—Case stated by the Tribunal—Paucity of data—Non-annexure of necessary papers—Need for supplemental case.

The assessee claimed deduction for purposes of wealth-tax for two items, viz., reserve for gratuity for employees and reserve, for leave salary to employees on the ground that they are debts owed. On reference to the High Court at the instance of the Commissioner of Wealth-tax.

Held, that the facts necessary to answer the question properly are not available either in the orders of the Tribunal or in the statement of case and all that can be said is that if the two reserves represent debts owed by the assessee on the valuation dates concerned the assessee is entitled to deduction. In the light of the paucity of data and the necessary papers it can only be said that only those liabilities which have matured into debts, i. e., only those liabilities which can be considered as a debitum in presenti which is payable either in presenti or in futuro are deductible. SECTION 31

——S. 31 (3)—Appeal—Application for stay of execution —Essentials —Discretion, exercise of—S. 23.

Under the Act, an appeal is preferred under S. 28. After preferring an appeal, an application has to be made under S. 31 (3), to the Wealth Tax Officer for stay, and the Wealth Tax Officer may in his discretion treat the assessee as not being in default as long as such appeal was undisposed of. A judicial exercise of discretion involves a consideration of the facts and circumstances of the case in all its aspects. The difficulties involved in the issues raised in the case and the prospects of the appeal being successful is one such aspect. The position and economic circumstances of the assessee is another. The amount involved is also a relevant factor. If any point is involved which requires an authoritative decision, that is to say, the precedent, that is a point in favour of granting a stay. Quick realisation of tax may be an administrative expediency, but by itself it constitutes no ground for refusing a stay. —Preamble — Constitutionality — (Constitution of India, Arts. 19 (1) (g) and 19 (6)).

The Government can prescribe the qualifications necessary for running a physical therapy establishment or working therein. Physical therapeutics is a branch of medical science. To practise it, requires specialised knowledge, technical training and proper equipment.

The West Bengal Clinical Establishment Act and the rules thereunder, have not made it impossible for a citizen under any reasonable circumstances to carry on the occupation of a physico-therapist. The restrictions are not unreasonable simply because they are somewhat exacting : they have been imposed in the interest of the general public. 92 Cal L J 17 : AIR 1954 Cal 138 (139, 140) (Prs 9, 10, 11).

WEST BENGAL COTTON CLOTH AND YARN CONTROL ORDER (1948)

—Cl. 13 (1)—Notification by Director of Textiles —If operative outside Calcutta.

Any notification issued by the Director of Textiles appointed by the State Government under Cl. 13 (1), can be operative only in Calcutta and the same cannot be operative in any District outside Calcutta. 1954 Cri L J 308 : 56 C W N 535 : AIR 1954 Cal 82 (83) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

—Cls. 13, 14—Notifications under, are not invalid. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 3. 1953 Cri L J 1170 : AIR 1953 Cal 492 (DB).

—Cls. 14 and 13 — Notifications under, are not invalid. See Essential (Temporary Powers) Supplies Act (19 46), S. 3. 1953 Cri L J 1170 : AIR 1953 Cal 492 (DB).

—Cl. 14—Seizure of cloth by person not competent within meaning of Notification—It cannot affect validity of conviction for contravention of provisions regarding submission of monthly returns. I L R (1953) 2 Cal 117 : 56 C W N 789 : 1953 Cri L J 1170 : AIR 1953 Cal 492 (493) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

—Cls. 15, 18 (1) and 19 (1)—Seized goods—Order for sale—Propriety—Proper order to be made. Proper order to pass will be to direct the Magistrate to consider in the first place whether the seized goods will be necessary for proving the ingredients of an offence under which the charges have been framed. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946, S. 7 (1). 53 Cri L J 349 : AIR 1952 Cal 139 (DB).

CLAUSE 18

—Cl. 18—Non-display of price list—Accused cannot be assumed to have had cloth stamped with price in his shop at the relevant time—In the absence of evidence he cannot be held to have contravened the provisions of clause. 1953 Cri L J 927 : A I R 1953 Cal 406 (406) (Pt A) (Pr 2) (DB).

—Cl. 18 (1)—Failure to keep price list hanging in absence of cloth—No offence.

When there is nothing on the record to show that at the relevant time the accused had in his shop cloth of the description mentioned in Cl. 18 of the Control Order the failure to hang a price list in his shop cannot be construed to be an offence of violation of the provisions of the said Order. 56 Cal W N 386 : 1953 Cri L J 742 : AIR 1953 Cal 322 (323) (Pr 2).

—Cl. 18 (1) — Prosecution must show that there was in shop cloth with prices stamped on them.

In the absence of evidence that there was or could have been in the shop at the relevant time, any kind of cloth with the price stamped thereon, the accused cannot be said to have contravened Cl. 18 (1) of the said Order, by not hanging a list showing the prices. 1952 Cri L J 1032 : AIR 1952 Cal 493 (494) (Prs 5, 6) (DB).

WEST BENGAL EVACUEE PROPERTY ACT (5 of 1951)

—S. 4 (1)—Transfer to a non-evacuee—Transferee's application for removal of occupier of property — Jurisdiction to order removal.

The whole scheme of the Act is that if an evacuee had to leave West Bengal for reasons over which he had no control, his property was to be protected by the State and made over to him or his heirs if they come back and claim it within a specified time. When the evacuee has transferred the property to a non-evacuee, there can be no longer any question of protecting the property of an evacuee or making it over to him or to his heirs and therefore the provisions of the Act would no longer apply. At any rate those provisions could not be invoked by the transferee and the Magistrate could not act on the invitation of such person and pass an order for the eviction of the person in occupation of the property. I L R (1959) 1 Cal 458.

WEST BENGAL FIRE SERVICES ACT (18 of 1950)

——S. 38—Scope — Section does not repeal S. 386 of Calcutta Municipal Act (3 of 1923) as applied to Howrah Municipality.

As a result of Gazette Notification No. 260 M of 18th January, 1932, S. 386 of the Calcutta Municipal Act (3 of 1923) was extended to the Municipality of Howrah with the modification that in place of the words 'Corporation of Calcutta', the word 'Commissioners" was substituted. The effect of the extension by the Notification under Ss. 540 and 541 of the Calcutta Municipal Act was that to the Municipality of Howrah, an amended Act with an amended S. 386 was applicable and not S. 386 of the Act 3 of 1923. S. 38 of Act 18 of 1950 provides that that section repeals S. 386 of the Act 3 of 1923 to the extent therein mentioned. It does not apply to S. 386 as modified and is inapplicable to the Municipality of Howrah. It cannot be said therefore that S. 38 repeals S. 386 of the Act (3 of 1923) as it applies to the Howrah Municipality. Thus modified it is not S. 386 of the Calcutta Municipal Act but a different section. AIR 1931 PC 149, Rel. on; 64 Cal W N 572, Reversed. Chairman of the Municipal Commissioners of Howrah v. WEST BENGAL FOOD GRAINS CONTROL ORDER (1951)

——Cl. 1 (4), Proviso — Bengal Food Grains Control Order (1945), Para 1 (5), Proviso — Notification No. 19562 D. C. S., D/- 3-10-1947 issued under Proviso does not survive repeal of order. See Bengal Foodgrains Control Order (1945), Para 1 (3), Proviso. 1955 Cri L J 1249 : AIR 1955 Cal 478 (DB).

——Clause 1 (3), Proviso and (4) Proviso — No repugnancy between provisos.

There is no repugnancy between the Proviso to sub-para. (3) of para. 1 and the Proviso to sub-cl. (4) of cl. 1 and the latter does not make the former redundant. 60 Cal W N 202 : 1955 Cri L J 1249 : AIR 1955 Cal 478 (479) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Clauses 2 (a) and 5 (1) (b) — Driver of lorry if carrier.

The provisions of Cl. 5 (1) (b) read with Form E leave no room for doubt that the driver of a lorry who is not the owner thereof cannot be said to be a carrier within the meaning of Cl. 2 (a). 60 Cal W N 202 : 1955 Cr L J 1249 : AIR 1955 Cal 478 (480) (Pt E) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Cls. 3, 4 (c), 13 (2) and 17 — Clauses 3, 4 (c), 13 (2) and 17 of W. B. Food Grains Control Order confer arbitrary and uncontrolled powers on State Government—License can be cancelled, revoked or modified without assigning reasons or without issuing notice—Power of delegation unrestricted — Provisions are therefore invalid. WEST BENGAL FOOD GRAINS (DISPOSAL AND ACQUISITION) ORDER (1947)

——Cl. 1 — Order whether empowers possession or acquisition of property — Constitution of India, Art. 31 (2) and (5).

It is extremely doubtful whether the Order is a piece of legislation empowering possession or acquisition of a piece of property. The order merely requires a person to sell a certain quantity of foodgrains to the State. But apart from this, Art. 31 (5) (a) saves the existing law. The Order in question was promulgated in 1947 more than 18 months before the Constitution, the time limit referred to in Art. 31 (6) of the Constitution. AIR 1952 Cal 61 (64) (Pt E) (Pr 12).

WEST BENGAL FOODGRAINS (INTENSIVE PROCUREMENT) ORDER (1952)

——Validity of order—Constitution of India, Arts. 25 and 26.

The West Bengal Foodgrains (Intensive Procurement) Order, 1952, in so far as it authorised the State to acquire the entire produce of a land dedicated to a deity or in trust does not infringe the rights conferred by either Art. 25 or Art. 26 and is not unconstitutional on that ground.

Desirability of amending the Order by making some provision for deity and performance of the trust pointed out. 58 Cal W N 73 : AIR 1954 Cal 241 (242, 243) (Pt A) (Prs 3, 5, 6, 9, 10, 11).

——Validity of order—[Constitution of India, Arts. 19 (1) (f) and 31]. The order is intra vires. AIR 1953 Cal 548, Foll. 57 Cal W N 798 : AIR 1954 Cal 97 (97, 98) (Pt A) (Pr 3).

——Validity — The Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act and the W. B. Foodgrains (Intensive Procurement) Order, read with the specification of prices etc. under notification No. 10365 F. D. fixes the amount of compensation and the manner and principle of its determination, and therefore is sufficient compliance with Art. 31 (2) of the Constitution. See Constitution of India, Art. 31 (2). AIR 1954 Cal 56.

——Hearing of appeals in batches—Appellate Officer should bear in mind that if by doing so individual cases do not get proper treatment on merits there is a denial of justice to parties concerned and a failure to protect their statutory rights. 57 C W N 684 : AIR 1953 Cal 719 (720) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Order is reasonable and in public interest. See Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (f) (g), (5) (6). AIR 1953 Cal 548.

——Validity—(Constitution of India, Art. 14).

The classification of 'producers' who owned ten acres or more, affected by the Order is a reasonable classification, bearing a just relation to the object sought to be attained. Nothing in the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946) read with the order, offends against the fundamental right of equal protection guaranteed by Art. 14 of the Constitution. 57 C W N 397 : ILR (1955) 1 Cal 401 : AIR 1953 Cal 548 (559) (Pt N) (Prs 47, 48).

——Cl. 2 (1)—"Director".

Provision in the definition of 'Director' empowering the director to authorise any officer to exercise the powers of the director are not ultra vires. AIR 1953 Cal 756 (757) (Pt B) (Pr 5).

——Cl. 3—Estimate of director.

The Director is entitled to base his estimate on reliable data furnished by a committee of experts and specially on results of actual crop-cutting experiments. AIR 1953 Cal 548, Foll. AIR 1953 Cal 756 (757, 759) (Pt D) (Pr 7).

CLAUSE 5

——Cl. 5—Scope — The granting of a right of appeal under the clause means that the producer must be given an opportunity to show that the estimate of the Director regarding surplus yield is wrong. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1954 Cal 97.

FORM A

——Form A—Validity.

Held, that as the petitioner company was in entire possession of whatever lands it cultivated and there were no tenants or Adhiars or Bhagdars whatever the mistake in the translation of the directive in Form 'Ka' had not misled it and thereby vitiated the acquisition. The available surplus was calculated according to the declaration in Form 'B' or Form 'Kha' in which there was no defect. AIR 1953 Cal 756 (757) (Pt C) (Pr 6).

WEST BENGAL FOODGRAINS (MOVEMENT CONTROL) ORDER (1951)

—Disposal by confiscation of property. The disposal of property while the same was "in esse" was proper under S. 517, Cr P C. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 517. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 4284 (DB).

——Cl. 3 (1)—Crossing the border — Proof of exact border by proper evidence necessary—Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 7 (2) and (3) —Trial under. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 4270 (DB).

——Cl. 3 (2) and (3)—Bona fide resident.

The question whether a person is a bona fide resident or not of the corridor area is relevant only in connection with movement from one point of the corridor to another point in the corridor under sub-cl. (3). That question is entirely irrelevant in connection with movement under sub-para. (2) from outside the corridor into the corridor. 57 C W N 275 : 1953 Cri L J 929 : AIR 1953 Cal 408 (408) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Cl. 3 (3) — Burden of proof — (Evidence Act (1872), S. 105).

Where a person is charged for contravening Para. 3, sub-para. (3) of the Order, the burden of proving that the accused person is not a bona fide resident of the area is on the prosecution. 57 C W N 275 : 1953 Cri L J 929 : AIR 1953 Cal 408 (409) (Pt B) (Prs 8, 9) (DB).

——Cl. 3 — Order whether ultra vires as contravening Constitution of India, Art. 15 (1).

The West Bengal Food Grains (Movement Control) Order no doubt requires a permit for food grains to be moved from a cordoned area to a place outside it but this restriction is not motivated by the fact that a citizen was born at a particular place. Hence that Order does not contravene Art. 15 (1) of the Constitution. AIR 1952 Cal 61 (63) (Pt A) (Pr 6).

——Cl. 3 — Order whether contravenes Constitution of India, Art. 19.

The State is empowered under Art. 19 (5), to enact laws which may impose reasonable restrictions on the exercise of the rights conferred by cls. (d), (e) and (f) of Art. 19 (1) in the interest of the general public. And as the Order has been made in the interest of the general public the restriction imposed on free movement of goods is not an unreasonable restriction on the fundamental right of the citizen either under Art. 19 (1) (d) or under Art. 19 (1) (f) or under Art. 19 (1) (g). AIR 1952 Cal 61 (63, 64) (Pt B) (Prs 7, 8, 9).

——Cl. 7—Order if contravenes Constitution af India, Art. 20 (2).

From the terms of cl. 7 of this Order, it does not follow that person concerned will be prosecuted and punished for the same offence more than once and hence it does not contravene Art. 20 (2) of the Constitution. AIR 1952 Cal 61 (64) (Pt C) (Pr 10).

——Cl. 8 — Order if contravenes Constitution of India, Art. 31 (1).

The provision of cl. 8 of the Order has not the effect of expropriating the owner of the vehicles in which the prohibited article has been carried. It merely provides for its seizure. AIR 1952 Cal 61 (64) (Pt D) (Pr 11).

——Cl. 10 and Explanation — "Person" — Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 7 (2):(b) Proviso) — (General Clauses Act (1897), S. 3 (39)).

If two persons are in joint possession over twice the maximum quantity prescribed, they become liable for contravention of the Order if they do not belong to the same household and they cannot set up the fictition of being in separate possession of half the quantity each. 57 C W N 375: 1953 Cri L J 1123: AIR 1953 Cal 476 (477) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

WEST BENGAL GAMBLING AND PRIZE COMPETITION ACT (32 of 1957)

——Ss. 5, 6—Search in accordance with provisions of S. 5—Presumption under S. 6 arises.

If the search is in accordance with S. 5 of the Act and as a result of the search, instruments of gaming have been found in the gaddi there is a presumption under S. 6 in the absence of any evidence on record from which the contrary is made to appear and when the Magistrate has come to the finding that the gaddi was being used as a common Gaming House at the relevant time it cannot be said that the gaddi has not been proved to be a 'common gaming house.' AIR 1930 Cal 365; AIR 1930 Cal 369, Rel. on. 68 Cal W N 717 : 1965 (2) Cri L J 825 (826) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (Cal).

——S. 8—Seizure of cash money—Legality — Magistrate has powers to seize such cash money—(Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 517).

Section 8 provides for disposal of cash money seized in the common gaming house. Under that section the trying Magistrate has jurisdiction to pass an order forfeiting the money seized. AIR 1944 Mad 125, Rel. on; AIR 1948 Cal 116, Disting. 68 Cal W N 717 : 1965 (2) Cri L J 825 (826) (Cal).

Held, that the prize competitions carried on by the petitioner in his magazine 'New India' were of a nature which has been characterised as 'gambling' and came within the mischief of the West Bengal Act and the rules thereunder, which were perfectly valid, the local Legislature having power under Item 34 of List II of the 7th Schedule of the Constitution, to promulgate such a law. The law being valid, the rules were unexceptionable. AIR 1957 S C 699 and AIR 1957 S C 628, Foll. 1959 Cr L J 307: AIR 1959 Cal 141 (145) (Prs 9, 10).

WEST BENGAL HINDU SOCIAL DISABILITIES REMOVAL ACT (37 of 1948)

PREAMBLE

——Preamble and S. 3 (c) — Act whether ultra vires Constitution of India, Arts. 14, 15, 19 (1) (g).

Held that the general scheme of the Act is to protect the lower castes against being discriminated against by the higher castes and to make all castes or classes of Hindus equal in the social, civil and religious fields. This Act and, in particular, Cl. (c) of S. 3 cannot be said to be ultra vires because it offends against Art. 19 (1) (g) of the Constitution. The Act or any provisions therein do not offend against Art. 14. Nor does it offend against Art. 15 of the Constitution.

(Per Harries C. J. —"I find it difficult to appreciate the argument, as to how the Act can be ultra vires because of the use of the word "class" in S. 3). 55 Cal W N 676 : 52 Cri L J 1399 : AIR 1951 Cal 167 (168, 169) (Pt B) (Prs 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13) (DB).

——S. 2 (a)—Definition of 'Hindu', whether being wide renders Act ultra vires.

The term "Hindu" is defined in S. 2 (a) in a very wide manner. But the Act is not rendered ultra vires by reason of such definition. 55 Cal W N 676 : 52 Cri L J 1309 : AIR 1951 Cal 167 (168) (Pt A) (Pr 7) (DB).

——S. 3 (c) and Preamble — Act, if ultra vires of Constitution — Constitution of India, Arts. 14, 15 and 19.

The West Bengal Hindu Social Disabilities Removal Act 1948, is not ultra vires the Constitution.

The Act and in particular, S. 3 (c) cannot possibly be said to be ultra vires, because it offends against Art. 19 (1) (g) of the Constitution.

It cannot also possibly be said that the Act is ultra vires because it offends against Art. 14 of the Constitution. Art. 14 is directed against discrimination and what the Act wishes to abolish is discrimination by Hindus.

The Act does not offend against Art. 15 of the Constitution. The Act does not discriminate against any citizen only on the ground of caste, or religion, or race.

It is also difficult to appreciate the argument as to how the Act can be ultra vires because of its application to particular "Classes" of Hindus. If the Act was ultra vires in so far as it applied to "class" the words "or class" where they appear are clearly severable in the Act and the Act would still be intra vires, in so far as it applied to "caste". 55 C W N 676 : 52 Cri L J 1399 : A I R 1951 Cal 167 (168, 169) (Pt B) (Prs 7 to 13) (DB).

——S. 3 (c) — Services performed by barber whether come within S. 3 (c)—(Obiter).

Obiter.—Whether the service performed by a barber comes within Cl. (c) of S. 3. The words "civic, social or religious practices" are extremely wide and it may well be contended that they embrace practically all services which one Hindu could render to another, certainly services rendered for payment. 55 Cal W N 676 : 52 Cri L J 1399 : A I R 1951 Cal 167 (169, 170) (Pt C) (Pr 14) (DB).

WEST BENGAL JUTE GOODS ACT (5 of 1950)

——S. 2—Contract relating to jute goods—Settlement contract — Nature and validity—The settlement contract is within the operation of the Act, reason being that in the settlement contract the agreement or consideration is to pay the difference with reference to a contract which itself was entered on the forward basis. See Contract Act (1872), S. 23. A I R 1953 Cal 618.

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1960 Cal 90.]

——S. 2 — Validity of jute contracts — Burden of proof.

The West Bengal Jute Goods Act has not made all contracts, void and unenforceable. Before a contract could be made void and unenforceable under the statute it must be shown that it is a contract within the meaning of S. 2 of the statute. That depends again on the proof of certain facts. It is for the party who alleges those facts to exist to prove them and take all necessary steps to produce such proof. AIR 1953 Cal 618 (620) (Pt C) (Pr 18).

WEST BENGAL JUTE GOODS (CONTROL) ACT (4 of 1950)

——S. 4 (1) (a)—"Any person" and "to such persons" —Interpretation of.

The phrase "any person" which appears earlier in sub-s. (1) (a) must be construed as any person other than the Jute Controller. Further the phrase "to such persons" which also occurs in that clause must mean persons other than the Jute Controller. (1951) 55 Cal W N 423 (DB).

——S. 4 (1) (a) — Order of Controller to sell jute to himself—Validity of.

The controller cannot direct a person holding stocks of jute goods to sell those stocks to himself as Controller under the powers given in S. 4 (1) (a) of the Act. (1951) 55 Cal W N 423 (DB).

——S. 4 (1) (a) — Sale to Controller whether can amount to sale to State Govt.

A sale to the Jute Controller as Jute Controller will not amount to a sale to Government. (1951) 55 Cal W N 423 (DB).

WEST BENGAL JUTE GOODS FUTURES ORDINANCE (5 of 1949)

●——S. 1—Competency of Provincial Legislature to legislate. The Provincial Legislature was competent to legislate. See Government of India Act (1935), Sch. 7, List 2, Item 27. AIR 1955 S C 182.

●——S. 1—Object of the Ordinance.

The object of the Ordinance is not to avoid wagering contracts, which are already void under the ordinary law of the land. The mischief which the Ordinance was intended to redress was that created by the highly speculative transactions namely the chain contracts, Bhuwalka Bros. Ltd. v. Dunichand, 56 Cal W N 685 : A I R 1952 Cal 740 (746) (Pt D) (Pr 43) (SB).

●——S. 1—Ordinance is intra vires—Government of India Act (1935), Sch. 7, List 2, Item 27, List 3, Item 10).

The real character of the Ordinance is to regulate the jute trade within the province. This is the pith and substance of the Ordinance. The ordinance is covered by Item 10 of the List 2 and is intra vires. Bhuwalka Bros. Ltd. v. Dunichand, 56 Cal W N 685 : AIR 1952 Cal 740 (749) (Pt G) (Prs 68, 69) (SB).

[Reversed on another point in A I R 1955 S C 182.]

●——S. 2 (1) (b) (i) — Dealing in jute goods — "Involving the actual delivery of possession"—Meaning of "involving" — Construction of words "actual delivery of possession" — A I R 1952 Cal 740 (SB), Reversed—(Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 33.)

The words used in S. 2 (1) (b) (i) of the Ordinance are "involving the actual delivery of possession thereof". The word "involving" in the context means resulting in and this condition will be satisfied if the chain contracts as entered into in the market result in actual delivery of possession of goods in the ultimate analysis. A I R 1952 Cal 740 (SB). Reversed. Duni Chand Rataria v. Bhuwalka Bros. Ltd. 1955 S C J 168 : 1955 S C A 599 : (1955) 1 S C R 1071 : AIR 1955 S C 182 (187) (Pt A) (Pr 14).

●——S. 2 (1). (b)—No intermediate transactions in chain contract—No actual delivery of possession is involved.

Taking and keeping a delivery order is no evidence of receipt of the goods except in the case of a bill of lading, transfer of which only effects transfer of the actual possession of goods. Case law referred. (Nature of chain contracts fully explained). Bhuwalka Bros. Ltd. v. Dunichund, 56 Cal W N 685 : AIR 1952 Cal 740 (745, 746) (Pt C) (Prs 34, 36, 40) (SB).

●——S. 2 — Contracts which come within its mischief.

If a contract is made by a person who habitually deals in the sale or purchase of Jute goods involving the actual delivery of possession thereof with another person who does not habitually deal in such sale or purchase, the contract is within the mischief of the Ordinance. Likewise if a person who is not a habitual dealer within the meaning of S. 2 (b) (i) enters into a contract with a person who is such a dealer, the Ordinance hits the contract. Bhuwalka Bros Ltd. v. Dunichand, 56 Cal W N 685 : AIR 1952 Cal 740 (747) (Pt E) (Prs 46, 47, 49) (SB).

●——S. 3 (2) (c) (i) — Applicability — Both parties habitual dealers — Contract not within S. 3 (2) (c) (i).

It is only when both the buyer and the seller are habitual dealers in the sale or purchase of jute goods involving the actual delivery of possession, that the contract between them is not within the mischief of S. 3 (2) (c) (i) of the Ordinance. If one of the parties to the contract is not a habitual dealer in such sales or purchases, the contract is hit by the Ordinance. Bhuwalka Bros. Ltd. v. Dunichand, 56 Cal W N 685 : AIR 1952 Cal 740 (745) (Pt B) (Pr 33) (SB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1955 S C 182.]

●——S. 3 (2) (c) (ii) — Chain contract — Effect of Settlement contract — Orignal contract before the Ordinance — Settlement after due date — Effect.

The practical effect of a settlement contract is to wipe out the original contract. There is no question of taking or giving delivery of goods any more. It is only payment or receipt of the difference. But in law the position is different. The original contracts and the settlement contracts remain outstanding till the due dates arrive. On that day the contracts are performed by payment of the difference. In other words there is set-off as regards delivery under the original contract against delivery under the settlement contract and the difference is paid. 46 Cal 534, Rel. on.

Thus where an original contract is made before the date of the notification under S. 3 (1) of the Ordinance and the settlement contract is made after that date, both contracts remain outstanding till the due date, with the effect that the settlement contract is rendered void by S. 3 (2) (c) (i) of the ordinance and the original contract has to be settled on the basis of the last closing rate in a notified market under S. 3 (2) (c) (ii), the buyer being entitled to that difference only and nothing more. Bhuwalka Bros. Ltd. v. Dunichand, 56 Cal W N 685 : AIR 1952 Cal 740 (747) (Pt E) (Prs 46, 47, 49) (S B).

WEST BENGAL LAND DEVELOPMENT AND PLANNING ACT (21 of 1948)

PREAMBLE

——Preamble — Act not repugnant to Land Acquisition Act (1894) — Even if repugnancy is assumed S. 2 of State Act will prevail, only to the extent of amendment introduced by West Bengal Land Development and Planning (Amendment) Act, 1955. See Constitution of India, Art. 254 (2). (1965) 69 Cal W N 801 : AIR 1966 Cal 359 (DB).

——Preamble — Validity of Act — Reasonableness of provision — Power of Court to go into—Constitution of India, Arts. 19 and 31.

It is not open to the Court to go into the question of reasonableness of the provisions of the W. B. L. D. & P. Act and declare the Act or any of its provisions ultra vires on the ground that the requirements of Art. 19 (5) have not been satisfied. AIR 1952 Cal 912 (914) (Pt B) (Prs 8, 14).

——Preamble — Validity of Act — Settlement of immigrants — If public purpose — Constitution of India, Art. 31.

The settlement of immigrants is a public purpose, and the Act is, therefore, not ultra vires in so far as it purported to acquire lands for settlement of immigrants. 89 C L J 301 : AIR 1952 Cal 679 (681, 682) (Pt D) (Pr 4).

——Preamble — Validity of Act — Government of India Act (1935) Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 17 & List II, Entry 9 — Constitution of India Art. 246 & Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 17 & List III, Entry 27.

The Act is in pith and substance a legislation dealing with compulsory acquisition of property. It is quite competent for the State Legislature now under the Constitution to legislate for rehabilitation of refugees from foreign countries and such a legislation cannot be impugned on the ground that it is an extra-territorial legislation. 55 C W N 297, Rel. on. 89 Cal L J 301 : AIR 1952 Cal 679 (681, 682) (Pt E) (Prs 4, 5).

——Preamble — Validity of Act — Reasonableness of provisions — Constitution of India, Art. 19.

The Act does not offend Art. 19 of the Constitution. If the legislation purports to be a legislation relating to acquisition of property under Art. 31 of the Constitution then the application of Art. 19 is excluded. So, the question of reasonableness of restrictions on the fundamentat right guaranteed under Art. 19 (1) (b) to acquire, hold and dispose of property, becomes immaterial. 89 C L J 301 : AIR 1952 Cal 679 (682) (Pt F) (Pr 5).

——Preamble — Validity of Act — Discrimination between citizens and non-citizens — Constitution of India, Art. 14.

It cannot be contended that the Act offends Art. 14 of the Constitution inasmuch as it discriminates between the citizens and non-citizens. 89 C L J 301 : AIR 1952 Cal 679 (682) (Pt G) (Pr 6).

——Preamble — Validity of Act — Absence of provision for payment of compensation — Constitution of India, Art. 31 (2).

Although proviso (b) to S. 8 of the Act is ultra vires, the proviso is severable from the other provisions of the Act and the rest of the Act therefore can stand as a valid piece of legislation. The expression "so far as may apply" in S. 8 makes it clear that the provisions as to compensation are applicable to acquisition under the Act. The Act is, therefore, not hit by Art. 31 (2) of the Constitution. 89 C L J 301 : AIR 1952 Cal 679 (682,683) (Pt H) (Prs 7, 8).

The decision of the Government as to the "public purpose" is conclusive and cannot be questioned in a Court of law. 55 C W N 463 : AIR 1951 Cal 97 (99) (Pt D) (Pr 14).

——S. 4—'Public purpose'—Acquisition of land for settlement of refugees.

Acquisition of land for settlement of refugees is acquisition for a public purpose and is within the competence of the Government of the State of West Bengal. 55 C W N 463 : AIR 1951 Cal 97 (99) (Pt E) (Pr 15).

——Ss. 4 and 7—Notification for acquisition of land under S. 7—Validity.

A notification for the acquisition of land under S. 7 of the Act must be held to be invalid if it is made at the same time and in the same gazette in which the declaration under S. 4 is made. 55 C W N 463 : AIR 1951 Cal 97 (100) (Pt G) (Pr 18).

What the Act contemplates is that the State Government will ask the prescribed authority, to frame a scheme and the prescribed authority shall do so and in the course of so doing, cause a local enquiry to be made by the Collector under R. 5 (2) and then submit a report with its own recommendations. If after or about the time when the notification under S. 4 was published, the Government sent a copy of the tentative scheme to the Land Acquisition Collectors' Office and directed the Land Acquisition Collector to submit a report under R. 5 (2) of the Rules, the provisions of S. 5 (1) and Rr. 5 (1) (a), 5 (2) and 5 (3) are completely ignored by Government. AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 2327 (DB).

——Ss. 6. 2 (d) (i), 5, 7, 8 (before the amendment by W. B. ——S. 6—Validity of declaration—West Bengal Land Development and Planning Rules (1948), R. 5 (2).

A declaration made under S. 6 without complying with requirements of R. 5 (2) in respect of giving opportunity to the person concerned to make representation against the development scheme is invalid.

(Scheme of S. 5 and R. 5 with regard to preparation of development scheme discussed). 57 Cal W N 271: AI R 1953 Cal 568 (569, 570) (Prs 8, 9).

——S. 6 — Declaration made under — It must be published in Official Gazette. See W. B. Land Development and Planning Act (21 of 1948), S. 4. AIR 1952 Cal 912.

——Ss. 6 & 8—Rules under S. 14—R. 5 (2)—Notifications made before Constitution—Non-compliance with R. 5 (2)—Effect—Constitution of India Art. 226.

Where no notice, whether individual or general, was given to the persons interested under rule 5 (2), giving them an opportunity to make representations against the scheme and no local enquiry, as contemplated by rule 5 (2), was ever held in conection with the preparation of the scheme, the declaration under S. 6 is not validly made and as S. 8 (a) presupposes the existence of a valid declaration under S. 6, the Notification under S. 8 (a) is also bad. The Notification under S. 6 being ultra vires any step taken to enforce such Notification or any action taken pursuant to such Notification can be challenged under Art. 226 of the Constitution of India. Being an ultra vires Notification, it gives a recurring cause of action to the party affected and therefore the High Court has power under Art. 226 to give relief to the party even though Notifications under Ss. 4 and 6 were made before the Constitution of India came into force. ——S. 6—Release of portion of land acquired under S. 6—Validity—Non-publication of release—Effect—(Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 48).

It is open to the Government to release portions of the lands from acquisition under the Land Development Act—Non-publication of notification declaring the fact of withdrawal from the acquisition does not make the notifications issued under section 4 and S. 6 read with S. 7 of the W. B. L. D. Act or any proceedings taken thereunder invalid. AIR 1952 Cal 870 (871, 872) (Pt A) (Pr 3).

——S. 8 and R. 8—Taking of possession— Failure to give public notice — Effect on subsequent proceedings.

Before a person can be deprived of possession of his property, it is only in the fitness of things that he should have some notice of the intended dispossession. The rule casts a duty upon the Collector to give notice. Although there is this duty upon the Collector to give notice, the omission to give such notice does not vitiate the subsequent proceedings. AIR 1952 Cal 870 (873) (Pt E) (Prs 13, 14).

——S. 8 and Explanation to Proviso (a) — Validity— Constitution of India, Arts. 19 (1) (f) and (5) and 31 (2).

The provision in S. 8 making the declaration of Government conclusive as to the nature of the purpose of the acquisition is ultra vires Art. 31 (2) of the Constitution and therefore void. But the Explanation to proviso (a) of S. 8 does not offend against Art. 19 (1) (f) or Art. 19 (5) and is therefore intra vires and valid. AIR 1952 Cal 554 (559) (Pt B) (Pr 42) (DB).

——S. 8—Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (f) and (5) —Statute providing for compulsory acquisition. It would have to comply with Cl. (5) of Art. 19—See Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (f). AIR 1951 Cal 111 (DB).

——S. 8, Proviso (b) — Constitution of India, Art. 31 (2)—Compensation—Meaning of — The principles on which and the manner in which compensation is to be determined as laid down in the latter portion of Proviso (b) are no better than if it has been stated that whatever the market value of the land might be it could be acquired at the rate of "X" rupees per bigha or acre. The provisions as to compensation in S. 8 clearly offend against the provisions of Cl. (2) of Art. 31 and are therefore, void — See Constitution of India, Art. 31 (2). AIR 1951 Cal 111 (DB).

——S. 8, Proviso (b) — Latter portion — Severability from other portion of the proviso.

No objection can possibly be taken to proviso (b) to S. 8 if the last portion of the proviso which is void were deleted. The impugned provision fixing the maximum price of the land at its market value on 31st December 1946, is severable from the remainder of the proviso and could be eliminated from the Act leaving the Act quite workable. AIR 1951 Cal 111 (115, 119) (Pt I) (Prs 38, 64) (DB).

——S. 8—Severability from other portions of the Act.

Assuming that the provisions in S. 8 relating to the purpose of the acquisition and the nature of the land acquired are ultra vires, it cannot be said that the whole Act is ultra vires if these impugned provisions and the latter portion of proviso (b) which is void are deleted therefrom. The Act would be still a workable Act. AIR 1951 Cal 111 (119, 120) (Pt J) (Prs 62, 67, 69) (DB).

——S. 8—"So far as may be apply", meaning of.

The words "so far as may be apply" in S. 8, are common words of legislation by incorporation, and is an expression interchangeable with expressions "mutatis mutandis" and "as far as applicable" and like expressions. 55 C W N 463 : AIR 1951 Cal 97 (98, 99) (Pt A) (Prs 7, 11).

——S. 8 — Section continues to be constitutional in view of Constitution (Fourth Amendment) Act, 1955 —Constitution of India, Arts. 31, 31-A, 31-B, 305, Sch. 9.

By reason of the amendment of the Constitution by the Constitution (Fourth Amendment) Act, 1955, by which Arts. 31, 31-A and 305 and the 9th Schedule mentioned in Art. 31-B were amended, the decision of the Supreme Court in AIR 1954 S C 170, declaring S. 8 of the West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act 1948 as amended by West Bengal Act (XXIX of 1951), to be unconstitutional is no more good law. AIR 1962 Tripura 13 (14, 15) (Prs 10, 11, 12).

——S. 14 — Wether ultra vires — Constitution of India, Art. 19.

It cannot be said that because S. 14 is not mandatory in terms the Act can be held to be ultra vires. It cannot be held that the Act is ultra vires because there is no provision in the Act for allowing representations to e made to Government by the owners against the acquisition of the land. AIR 1951 Cal 111 (118) (Pt G) (Prs 57, 58, 60) (DB).

——S. 14 — Rules under — Rule 5 (2) — Validity — Constitution of India, Art. 19.

The Act, as it now stands, does give the owners a right to be heard before the land is acquired and therefore it cannot be said to be unreasonable on that ground. AIR 1951 Cal 111 (118, 119) (Pt H) (Pr 61) (DB).

WEST BENGAL LAND DEVELOPMENT AND PLANNING (AMENDMENT) ACT (29 of 1951)

——S. 3 — Section 3 cannot affect proceedings pending before High Court instituted under Art. 226, Constitution of India.

Whatever might be the effect of S. 3 of the Act on proceedings commenced under other laws and pending before other Courts, it cannot possibly operate to affect proceedings under Art. 226 of the Constitution pending before the High Court. (1956) 60 CWN 962.

WEST BENGAL LAND DEVELOPMENT AND PLANNING RULES (1948)

——R. 5 (1) (2) (3) — Compliance—What constitutes compliance is indicated. See West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act (21 of 1948), S. 5. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 2327 (DB).

——R. 5 (2) — Opportunity to make representations against scheme — Substance of Notification under S. 4 published in conspicuous place in locality—Objections invited to what was proposed to be done — Notice not containing trace of proposed scheme — Held, no opportunity was given to make representation against scheme. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 2327 (DB).

——R. 5 (2) — Opportunity to make representations against a scheme and not to any part of it, must be given. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 2327 (DB).

—R. 5 (2) — Act does require submission of report to Relief and Rehabilitation Department. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 2327 (DB).

——R. 5 (3)—"Scheme"—What is.

The various matters described in R. 5 (3) are only illustrations of the descriptive matters to which the main clause of Sub-r. (3) refers. A mere map cannot constitute a scheme and in order that there may be a scheme, there must, at least, be some descriptive matter as will illustrate the proposals involved, namely the constructions, excavations, road layings and other works intended to be carried out on the lands and the manner of their intended disposition. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 2327 (DB).

——R. 5 (2) — West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act (21 of 1948), S. 6—Validity of declaration — A declaration under S. 6 without complying with the provisions of R. 5 (2) is invalid. See West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act (21 of 1948), S. 6. AIR 1953 Cal 568.

——R. 5 (2)—Individual notice to interested persons — If necessary — Reasonableness of provision for general or public notice — Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (f).

It is clear from a perusal of R. 5 (2) of the Rules, that it does not expressly require any individual notices to be served upon the persons interested in the acquisition. But what the Rule contemplates is some notice, which may be a general or a public notice, should be given but such notice must be a sufficient notice which would enable the persons interested to make their representation against the scheme.

The W. B. Land Development and Planning Act being a legislation which deals with compulsory acquisition of property, the application of Art. 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution is excluded and therefore the question of reasonableness of the provisions cannot be gone into in considering the question of the validity of the Act. Assuming however it is open to go into that question R. 5 (2) is not unreasonable provision. 56 C W N 183 : AIR 1952 Cal 874 (876) (Pts A, B) (Prs 8, 11, 13).

——R. 5 — W. B. Land Development and Planning Act (21 of 1948), S. 6 — Want of opportunity to make representation — There will not be a valid declaration under S. 6. See W. B. Land Development and Planning Act (21 of 1948), S. 6. AIR 1952 Cal 679.

——R. 8—Declaration under — Notice under R. 8 of Rules framed under Act — Validity—The declaration under S. 6 and the notice under R. 8 must be held to have been validly made as there was substantial compliance with the Act and Rules. See West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act (21 of 1948), S. 6. AIR 1952 Cal 874.

——R. 8 — 'May' has compulsory force — Notice must be issued before taking possession — Failure to give notice—Effect.

Although there is the duty upon the Collector to give notice, an omission to give such notice does not vitiate the subsequent proceedings or make the taking of possession illegal, unless it is shown that the Collector's failure to give notice in the case was wilful or perverse. ILR 43 Mad 280; AIR 1938 Sind 100 and 76 C L J 430, Ref. AIR 1952 Cal 870 (873) (Pt E) (Prs 13, 14).

WEST BENGAL LAND REFORMS ACT (10 of 1956)

See under Tenancy Laws.

WEST BENGAL LAND (REQUISITION AND ACQUISITION) ACT (2 of 1948)

PREAMBLE

——Preamble—Constitutional validity — Act not invalid on ground of violation of Art. 19 (1) (f)—Constitution of India, Arts. 19 (1) (f) and 31 (1) and (2)—Authority of law.

It cannot be contended that the expression "authority of law" occurring in Art. 31 (1) and attracting Art. 19 and the doctrine of reasonableness thereunder must equally be applicable to the same expression used in Art. 31 (2) notwithstanding the fact that this sub-article (2) specifically and exclusively refers to requisition or acquisition. AIR 1960 S C 1203 and AIR 1960 S C 1080, Rel. on. AIR 1963 Cal 373 (376, 377) (Pt C) (Pr 11).

——S. 1 (2) — 'Generally'—Meaning of—West Bengal Land (Requisition and Acquisition) Act, 1948, S. 1 (2) — Act being a general law applies to Chandernagore on its merger with West Bengal. See Chandernagore Merger Act (36 of 1954), S. 17. AIR 1963 Cal 373.

——S. 1 (4) — Extension of life of Act by W. B. Act 12 of 1957 — Validity — Ordinance 5 of 1957 not ignored—Extension held valid. 1962 Cal L J 173 : 66 Cal W N 423.

——S. 3 (1)—Discrimation—Order of requisition of land under S. 3 (1), West Bengal Land (Requisition & Acquisition) Act — Not unconstitutional merely because .Government had not chosen to apply the slower procedure under Land Acquisition Act. See Constitution of India, Art. 14. AIR 1963 Cal 373.

—S. 3 (1)—Order of requisition of land — Satisfaction of person passing the order and who is duly authorised in that behalf by the State Government is sufficient. It is not essential that he should go through the process of State Government's satisfaction through the Minister-in-charge as required by the Standing Rules of Business and Orders of Government. Section 3 is not unconstitutional on ground of uncontrolled delegation. Constitution of India, Art. 245. AIR 1963 Cal 373 (378, 379) (Pt D) (Pr 19).

——S. 3 (1)—Order of requisition of land in Chandernagore passed by Collector, Hoogly in 1954—Notification of State Government No. 3775-L.A. (P. W.), dated 11-5-1948 authorising Collector of Hoogly district to pass orders under S. 3 (1) — Order of requisition cannot be challenged on ground that Hoogly in 1948 is not same Hoogly in 1954 when Chandernagore came within its ambit. AIR 1963 Cal 373 (379) (Pt E) (Pr 20).

——S. 3—Constitutionality — Act cannot be held to be ultra vires of Art. 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution—Constitution of India, Arts. 19 (1)(f) and 31—Art. 31 (2) read with Art. 31 (2-A) excludes operation of Art. 19 (1) (f). ILR (1962) 1 Cal 109 : 65 Cal W N 869 : AIR 1962 Cal 269 (270, 271, 272) (Pt A) (Prs 9, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15).

——S. 3 (1)—Validity of Act—The Act deals with requisition and acquisition as contemplated in Art. 31 (2) of the Constitution and as such cannot be held to be ultra vires on the ground that it viotates Art. 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution. 63 C W N 101 and AIR 1966 S C 1203, Rel. on. A I R 1960 S C 1089, Expl.; A I R 1960 S C 344 and AIR 1956 Bom 300, Disting. 1962 Cal L J 173 : 66 Cal W N 423.

——S. 3 (1)—Person authorised by State Government —Collector under the Act does not become ipso facto "Person authorised by the State Government" mentioned in S. 3 (1). ILR (1961) 1 Cal 577.

—S. 3 (1)—Powers of Additional Land Acquisition Officer—In ordinary matters, Additional Land Acquisition Officer has the same powers as that of Land Acquisition Officer—Requisition and acquisition of land required for border and strategic roads in the district is a special power—Only Land Acquisition Officer and not Additional Land Acquisition Officer can exercise such powers. ILR (1961) 1 Cal 577.

——S. 3 (1) — Opinion of requisitioning authority—Only State Government or person authorised by it under S. 3 (1) can form a certain opinion on the acquisition of land—Where the "person authorised" considers the acquisition unnecessary, opinions of experts like Engineers cannot prevail—Acquisition based on Engineer's opinion invalid. ILR (1961) 1 Cal 577.

——S. 3—Validity—To this case what applies is Art. 31 and not Art. 19 of the Constitution. The provisions of S. 3 are intra vires and valid. See Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (f). AIR 1959 Cal 402.

——S. 3—Applicability—Conditions for Requisition or Acquisition.

It is one of the essential pre-conditions that the Provincial Government or the delegate must form an opinion that the land was necessary for the objects mentioned therein. Where it is the delegate who exercised the power, it is the delegate who must form the opinion. If it can be established that he did not form any opinion but merely acted under orders of the Government, then, indeed, the order would be invalid. A I R 1952 S C 16, Dist. 63 Cal W N 101 : AIR 1959 Cal 402 (406) (Pt B) (Prs 16, 17).

——S. 3, Proviso—Land used for religious worship—What is.

What is contemplated under the proviso is actual and not contemplated worship, and compulsory acquisition or requsition cannot be avoided by simply transferring the ownership to a deity. 63 Cal W N 101 : AIR 1959 Cal 402 (406) (Pt C) (Pr 18).

SECTION 6

——S. 6—Defence of India Act (1939), S. 19B—Requisitioning by Goverment of agricultural land during currency of tenancy—Compensation paid to tenant after determination of tenancy by efflux of time—Landlord is not entitled to same. See Defence of India Act (1939), S. 19B. AIR 1952 Cal 567.

SECTION 7

——S. 7 (2) (aa) (ii) (as amended by Act 12 of 1957) —Section is mandatory—Notice under—Cannot be substituted by any other notice even one under S. 12 (2) of Land Acquisition Act (1894). (1962) 66 Cal W N 446 : 1964 Cal L J 114.

——S. 7 (2) (aa) (ii), (as amended by Act 12 of 1957) —Application for reference — Limitation — Manner for giving notice under S. 7 (2) (aa) (ii) of W. B. Land (Requisition and Acquisition) Act not prescribed—Shorter period of limitation in S. 18 (2) (b) would not operate—Application held within time under last part of S. 18 (2) (b), though notice purporting to be one under S. 12 (2) sent. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S 18 (2) (b). (1962) 66 Cal W N 446 : 1964 Cal L J 114.

——S. 7 (1), Proviso 2 — Validity of — Provision offended S. 299 (2) of Government of India Act (1935) and was ultra vires — Provision not saved by Art. 31 (5) of the Constitution, See Government of India Act (1935), S. 299 (2). AIR 1961 Cal 112 (DB).

——S. 7 (1). Proviso 2—Validity—If contravenes S. 299 (2) of Government of India Act and Art. 31 (2) of Constitution — Art. 31 (5).

Article 31 (5) of the Constitution gives no validity or protection to the second proviso to S. 7 (1). The second proviso to S. 7 (1) being in contravention of S. 299 (2), Government of India Act, cannot be regarded as 'existing law' for purposes of Art. 31 (5). (1960) 64 Cal W N 714 : ILR (1960) 1 Cal 234.

——S. 8 (2)—Application for reference to Court—Limitation—Applicabiliy of S. 18 (2) (b) of Land Acquisition Act—(Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 18 (2) (b)).

Section 8 by itself does not lay down any bar of limitation to an application for reference of the matter to the decision of a Court. The bar of limitation that is attracted is under the provisions of the second part of S. 18 (2) (a) or (b) of the Land Acquisition Act. The application for reference to the Civil Court must therefore be made within six months from the date of the Collector's award. (1962) 64 Cal W N 44.

——S. 8 (2)—Section 8 (2) does not make S. 18 (2) of Land Acquisition Act applicable to application under S. 8 (1)—There is no limitation for application under S. 8 (1) but yet it must be presented within reasonable time—Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 18 (2)). AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 4511 (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1966 S C 1538],

——S. 8 (2)—Time for making a reference — (Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 18 (2)).

Only so much of Land Acquisition Act, 1894, as bears upon application for reference, the making of a reference and the consideration of it can be held to be incorporated by sub-s. (2) by the Bengal Act even on the assumption that the legislature intended by its language, to cover not only a reference as made but also the making of it — Application for reference by person not before the Collector and not represented when award was made—Sub-S. (2) (a) of Land Acquisition Act does not regulate period of time for making application—First alternative of sub-s. (2) (b) of that section also does not apply because under the Bengal Act no question of notice by Collector after making award arises as the Act does not require such a notice —Case is governed by the second alternative in sub-s. (2) (b) as the award under the Bengal Act, is made, as in cases under Land Acquisition Act. by the Collector. 57 C W N 283 : AIR 1953 Cal 595 (596) (Prs 5, 6) (DB).

WEST BENGAL PRIVATE FORESTS ACT (14 of 1948)

SECTION 1

——S. 1 (3)—Conviction under S. 6 (1) of the Act — Proof of notification under S. 3 (1)—Necessity—From S. 1 (3), it is clear that the Act has to be brought into life by an appropriate notification. The notification has to be proved that it was duly made. See West Bengal Private Forests Act (14 of 1948), S. 6 (1). AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 5337.

——S. 2 (13)—'Prescribed,' meaning of—(Words and Phrases—'Prescribed').

The word 'prescribed' is defined in the Act as 'prescribed by the rules' made by the Government. Anything which is not prescribed by the rules, but prescribed by the Regional Forest Officer, does not fall within the definition of 'prescribed' in the Act. ILR (1956) 2 Cal 16 : 58 C W N 963 : 96 C L J 98 : AIR 1954 Cal 580 (582) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

SECTION 3

——S. 3 — Working plans for conservation of private forests— Paragraphs for afforestation added by Forest authorities — Application for deletion of — Refusal by authorities. The refusal was wrong and unjust. The High Court in its power should remove this injustice. See Constitution of India, Art. 227. AIR 1954 Cal 580 (DB).

——S. 5 (1)—Applicability — Contract to purchase jute by owner of jute mill for purposes of jute press —Validity—Interpretation of statutes — Emergency legislation 'Owner of jute mill.'

The prohibition or restriction in S. 5 (1) is directed to selling or buying of raw jute in respect of a jute mill and not for other purposes. The expression 'owner of a jute-mill' in S. 5 (1) of the Ordinance means the person who is acting in his capacity as owner of a jute mill. It does not mean any and every contract by the owner of a jute mill but means only such contract by the owner of a jute mill which is for the purpose of his jute mill.

The plaintiff who was an owner of several jute mills and also ran the business of a jute press, contracted to buy jute for the purposes of his jute press, and not jute mills. It was contended that the contract was hit by S. 5 (1) of the Ordinance.

Held, that the contract in suit was not void under S. 5 (1). (1960) 64 Cal W N 992 : ILR (1961) 1 Cal 389.

——S. 5 (1)—Object of.

Section 5 (1) of Ordinance was intended for the particular purpose to ensure adequate supplies of raw jute at maximum prices to the jute mills. Contravention of S. 5 (1) makes the contract not only void but makes the persons contavening liable to punishment. AIR 1954 SC 498 and AIR 1953 SC 278, Rel. on. (1960) 64 Cal W N 992 : ILR (1961) 1 Cal 389.

——S. 5 (2)—Arbitration Act (1940), S. 34—"Matter agreed to be referred" — In the case of an invalid contract an arbitration agreement contained therein is not severable and capable of having independent effect and accordingly it cannot sustain a reference of the dispute to arbitrators. See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 34. AIR 1953 Cal 450 (DB).

——S. 5 (2)—Contract Act (1872), S. 23—"Forbidden by law" — An arbitration agreement regarding an unlawful jute contract would attract the ban imposed by S. 23, Contract Act. See Contract Act (1872), S. 23. AIR 1953 Cal 450 (DB).

WEST BENGAL RICE AND PADDY CONTROL ORDER (1957)

——Clause 3, Proviso (a)—"Paddy"—Meaning. Paddy does not include rice in so far as the omission to mention "rice" along with "Paddy" in the first clause of Proviso is intentional as construed from the scheme of Cl. 3. ILR (1961) 1 Cal 430 (DB).

WEST BENGAL RICE MILLS CONTROL ORDER (1949)

——Cl. 3 (a)—Officer purporting to act under Order passing an order—It should be presumed until the contrary is shown that he was so authorised — Evidence Act (1872), S. 114. AIR 1951 Cal 90 (93) (Pt C) (Pr 16).

CLAUSE 4

——Cl. 4—"Obtain"—"Apply" should not be read for "obtain." AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 799 (DB).

——Cls. 9 and 13—If ultra vires — Constitution of India, Arts. 13 and 19 (1) (g).

An order which arbitrarily or excessively invades the right of an individual cannot be said to contain the quality of reasonableness. Clauses 9 and 13 of the Rice Mills Control Order which empower cancellation or refusal of a license already issued and refusal to issue a new license without assigning any reasons, overstep the limits of reasonableness and must be held to be invalid in the face of the written Constitution of India. AIR 1951 Cal 90 (92) (Pt A) (Pr 10).

——Cl. 11—Validity—Constitution of India, Art. 19.

Clause 11 of the order which vests the Commissioner with absolute and unfettered discretion in the matter of granting renewal of licenses is not unreasonable, for, if a discretionary power is hedged round with restrictions or limitations it ceases to be a matter of discretion. The mere fact that the exercise of the discretion cannot be reviewed by the Court is no ground for declaring Cl. 11 as invalid. AIR 1951 Cal 90. Rel. on. 56 Cal W N 302 : AIR 1952 Cal 72 (73) (Pt C) (Prs 12, 13).

——Cl. 13 (1)—Institution of criminal proceedings.

The only ground on which under clause 13 (1) a licence can be cancelled or suspended is breach of one of the conditions of the licence. But the institution of criminal proceedings against a licensee does not, within the terms of the Clause, entail cancellation or suspension of the licence. 55 C W N 253 : A I R 1952 Cal 206 (206, 207) (Prs 8, 9) (DB).

——Cls. 13 and 9 — If ultra vires — Constitution of India, Arts. 13 and 19 (1) (g). See West Bengal Rice Mills Control Order (1949), Cl. 9. AIR 1951 Cal 90.

——Cl. 13 — Clause does not infringe Art. 14 of the Constitution and is not unconstitutional. AIR 1951 Cal 90 (92) (Pt B) (Prs 11, 12).

——Cl. 15—Apprehension of abuse of power — Validity of law.

The fact that the power conferred by Paragraph 15 is liable to be abused is not sufficient to declare it invalid. 13 S C J 328, Foll. ILR (1954) 2 Cal 281 : 57 C W N 194 : A I R 1953 Cal 187 (188) (Pt C) (Pr 9) (DB).

——Cl. 15—Validity—Constitution of India, Art. 14.

The system of granting permits as provided by Cl. 15, W. B. Rice Mills Control Order, does not infringe Art. 14 of the Constitution. There is nothing in that clause which makes it inherently unconstitutional. AIR 1951 Cal 90 (92) (Pt B) (Pr 12).

——Rr. 19, 20 — Standing orders by Minister in charge in the Department of Land and Land Revenue—Standing Order 2 (28) — Waste lands—Meaning. "Waste land" means land which was neither developed nor used as arable land. (1958) 62 Cal W N 640 : AIR 1960 Cal 113 (118) (Pt C) (Pr 15).

——Rr. 19, 20 — Standing Orders by Minister in charge in the Department of Land and Land Revenue — Standing Order 2 (29) — Acquisition under Land Acquisition Act. It would be absurd to suggest that an acquisition under the Land Acquisition Act was important enough to be placed before the Minister but not an acquisition under the Land Development and Planning Act. (1958) 62 Cal W N 640 : AIR 1960 Cal 113 (118, 119) (Pt D) (Pr 16).

——S. 31 — Constitution of ad hoc committee of school.

Section 31 deals with the framing of committee of the Board itself, viz., the 'Recognitions and grants committee', etc. An ad hoc committee of a school is not a committee of the Board, but a committee appointed by the Board and working under its direction and control. There is no delegation of the Board's powers to any ad hoc committee. It cannot be held that an ad hoc committee has not been properly constituted because such a committee has not got a single member of the Board. 58 Cal W N 617: AIR 1955 Cal 72 (75) (Pt D) (Pr 16).

—Ss. 36 (2) (q), 30 and Regulations 3 to 7—Constitution of India, Art. 226—Quasi judicial orders—Discretion, exercise of—Alternative reliefs—Granting of lesser relief should be supported by reasons—Non-speaking orders can be interfered with — Orders of Appeal Committee under West Bengal Secondary Education Act. ——S. 1 — West Bengal Ordinance (3 of 1948) not ultra vires — See Government of India Act (1935). S. 88 (1). AIR 1952 Cal 907.

——S. 1—Validity of Ordinance—Ordinance and Acts following it are not pieces of discriminatory legislation and do not contravene Art. 14—(Constitution of India, Arts. 13, 14). AIR 1952 Cal 907 (912) (Pt G) (Pr 41).

——S. 5—Newly constituted District Board — If ceases to exist on expiry of Ordinance.

The newly constituted District Board under the West Bengal Ordinance (3 of 1948), does not cease to exist and the old District Board is not revived on the expiry of that Ordinance. The dissolution of the old District Board is complete and the expiry of the Ordinance cannot have the effect of nullifying the dissolution and reviving the old District Board. All acts completed during the currency of the Ordinance have the same effect as acts done under a permanant statute and they endure permanently notwithstanding the expiry of the Ordinance. ——Ss. 5, 6 — Notification constituting District Board—Subsequent notification adding a member—Validity — Bengal General Clauses Acts (1 of 1899), Ss. 15, 22.

When a District Board is constituted by an earlier notification under S. 5 of the West Bengal Ordinance 3 of 1948, a subsequent notification adding a member to the Board does not constitute re-exercise of the powers under S. 5 to constitute a Board. The subsequent notification has the effect of only amending the earlier notification constituting the Poard and it is competent for the Provincial Government to do so under S. 15 read with S. 22 of the Bengal General Clauses Act, 1899. ——S. 6, Proviso—If ultra vires—Government of India Act, 1935, S. 88.

The provision in the proviso to S. 6 of the West Bengal Ordinance 3 of 1948, that the term of office of members of the District Board may extend up to two years, is not ultra vires, although such provision would endure beyond the life of the ordinance. There is no limitation put upon the ordinance-making power of the Governor under S. 88 of the Government of India Act, 1935, and so he can legislate by ordinance in any manner in which the Provincial Legislature can legislate subject to this that the duration of the ordinance shall be limited as prescribed in that Act. WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY ACT (17 of 1933)

—— Ss. 2(2), 3, 10—Wireless Telegraphy (Possession) Rules (1933), Rr. 2(c), 3 — Radio set not capable of being used without electricity — Absence of electricity in town—Licence—Necessity.

Radio set, which cannot be used without the help of electricity, is a 'complete wireless set within the meaning of R. 2(c) even in a town where there is no electricity and as such, cannot be possessed and held without licence as provided under S. 3 and R. 3(b) framed under the Act. 1960 Pat L R 247 : A I R 1961 Pat 268 (269, 270) (Pt A) (Pr 4).

——Ss. 3 and 6 — Scope — Essential ingredient is possession and not ownership.

Held, that Ss. 3 and 6, mention 'possession' but do not mention 'ownership'. Admittedly the set was in possession of N and R was only entitled to get back possession after paying the amount of money taken by him from N. While he was not in possession of the radio set, he could not be called upon to hold a licence for the set merely on the ground that he had retained certain ownership rights in the radio set. 1957 All L J 87 : 1957 Cri L J 494 (2) : AIR 1957 All 273 (273, 274) (Prs 2, 3) (DB).

See Wireless Telegraphy Act (17 of 1933), S. 2(2). A I R 1961 Pat 268.

—— Ss 3, 5 and 6—Clause (6) of conditions of licence for radio set—Interpretation — Temporary transfer of radio set by licensee to other person—Person if guilty for possessing set without licence — Not guilty if the transfer is for less than 3 months. ——Ss. 5, 6 and 3—Clause (6) of conditions of licence for radio set—Interpretation — Temporary transfer of radio set by licensee to other person — Person is not guilty for possessing set without licence if the transfer for less than three months. See Wireless Telegraphy Act (17 of 1933), S. 6. 1957 Cri L J 910 : A I R 1957 Raj 236 (DB).

●——S. 6 (1-A)—Object of Repealing and Amending Acts — Repeal of Amending Act of 1949 by Act of 1952—Effect—S. 6 (1-A) not affected — Section 4 of Act of 1952 not applicable—Case governed by S. 6-A, General Clauses Act (1897)—(Repealing and Amending Act (1952), S. 4)—(Interpretation of Statutes)—(Words and Phrases—Texts)—AIR 1955 Punj 141 and 61 Pun L R 702, Overruled.

The main object of an Amending and Repealing Act is only to strike out the unnecessary Acts. The earlier Act cannot incorporate the later Act, but can only be amended by it. AIR 1955 Punj 141 : 1955 Cri L J 990 and 61 Punj L R 702, Overruled. As, by the amending Act of 1949, the text of the Act of 1933 was amended by the insertion of S. 6 (1-A) therein, the repeal of the amending Act by the 1952 Act did not affect the continuance of the amendment made by the enactment so repealed. It must be held that S. 6 (1-A) of the Act continued to be on the statute book even after the amending Act of 1949 was repealed by Act (48 of 1952), and that it was in force when the offence was committed. ——S. 6—Conviction for being in possession of wireless receiving set without valid broadcast receiver licence — Penalty — Recovery of — If can include amounts due to the department.

There is no provision in the Wireless Telegraphy Act authorising Criminal Courts convicting a person for being in possession of a wireless receiving set without a valid licence to collect any amount due to the Posts and Telegraphs Department as if it were a fine. 1959 Mad W N 80 : (1959) 1 Mad L J 143 : 1959 Mad L J (Cri) 165 : 72 Mad L W 92 : 1959 All W R (Sup) 77 : 1959 All Cri R 343 (1) : 1959 Cri L J 1084 : AIR 1959 Mad 350 (351) (Pr 5).

WORDS

Interpretation of.
See (1) Interpretation of Statutes.
(2) Words and Phrases.

WORDS AND PHRASES

See also (1) Interpretation of Statutes—Words.
(2) General Clauses Act (1897).

"Abandon".

—Abandonment of interest in partnership — There is not a word in the English language used in a more highly artificial and technical sense than the word "abandon" — The inference whether or not a partner has abandoned his interest in the partnership will depend upon the peculiar facts of the case. See Partnership Act (1932), S. 40. A I R 1963 Madh Pra 155.

"Abandoned".

●—Meaning to be given to word "abandonment" depends upon the context in which it is used—Word "abandoned" used in S. 418(1) of the Delhi Municipal Corporation Act, does not mean that the cattle should be ownerless—Meaning to be given is "let loose" in the sense of being "left unattended" and not "left ownerless". See Municipalities — Delhi Municipal Corporation Act (66 of 1957), S. 418 (1). (1965) (2) Cri L J 1: AIR 1965 S C 871.

'Abandonment'.

—Abandonment when used with reference to a tenant or ryot essentially means the giving up of his right in the property by the person with the intention that he will no longer have any concern with it and that it is to revert to person to whom it ultimately belongs. A I R 1958 All 107 (Pr 6) (DB).

—Abandonment of guardianship — Minor girl who is in keeping of her lawful guardian can discard her guardianship by simply walking out of the home of the guardian — If no one is responsible for the minor girl abandoning the guardianship in that way, no one can be said to have taken her out of the keeping of the lawful guardian. See Penal Code (1860), S. 361. I L R (1964) Mys 486.

—There must be intentional and voluntary relinquishment of right for good without vesting it in any other person — It is not surrender — Onus to prove abandonment is on person alleging it. AIR 1960 Punj 494 (DB).

—Inactivity or passive attitude of a person cannot in law be interpreted as an act of abandonment — Abandonment is voluntary positive act. See Hindu law—Widow. AIR 1956 Punj 143.

'Abhimani—Meaning of.

—'Abhimani' means a well-wisher. It will not be proper to extend the term 'Abhimani' to include 'dharmakartha' or trustee. (1964) 1 M L J 369.

'Abide by decision'.

—Parties agreeing to "abide by Court's decision" afte local investigation — The expression without more held did not imply an abandonment or giving up right of appeal against decision of the Court. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 96. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 700.

"Abscond"

—"Absconding" does not necessarily mean absconding from one's residence, though usually when a person is hiding from his place of residence he is said to abscond—Primary meaning is 'hide' — Person may hide in his place of residence or away from it—"Absconded" in S. 512, Criminal P. C. — Meaning of. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 512. 1957 Cri L J 477: A I R 1957 Raj 126.

'Absent'.

—One of the conditions for applicability of S. 241 of Succession Act is that the executor is absent from the province in which the application is made — 'Absent' literally means "not Present"—Present means 'being in the place in question' — There is no implication in word 'absent' that the person should have been at any time present or the person is only temporarily not present. See Succession Act (1939), S. 241. A I R 1954 Mad 898 (FB).

——"Absurd mistake"—What is — Government order G. O. M. S 39, Education, dated 12th January, 1944.

It is not every mistake in the entry regarding date of birth that can be called an obviously absurd mistake, though it is difficult to lay down a definite test to find out whether a mistake is or is not obviously absurd. Practically there would be no difficulty in the Director of Public Instruction coming to a conclusion in any individual case whether the mistake is or is not obviously absurd.

Merely because the date in the school certificate does not correspond with the certificate of the Registrar of Births there is no obviously absurd mistake. It would depend upon each case. AIR 1944 Mad 187 : (1943) 2 M L J 665, Dissented from. (1955) 1 M L J 488 : 68 Mad L W 368 : I L R (1956) Mad 17 : A I R 1958 Mad 639 (640, 641) (Pt B) (Prs 6, 9) (DB).

"Abuse of discretion".

—"Abuse of discretion" by authority vested with discretion — Expression does not necessarily mean a reflection on the authority or carry with it the implication that his conduct was deserving censure — It is not synonymous with censure, perversity of will, passion, prejudice, partiality or moral delinquency — It simply means, that the reasons given by the authority for its action are clearly untenable and unreasonable and that it amounts to denial of justice—Discretion is abused when the action is arbitrary, fanciful or unreasonable. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 107. A I R 1957 Punj 312 (DB).

"A/C"

—Policy of insurance in names of A, B and C — Use of expression 'A/C' against name of 'A'—Meaning and effect of—'A/C' held did not mean 'on account of'—Possible meaning of A/C indicated. See Insurance Act (1938), Preamble. ILR (1957) 3 Cal 144.

"Accident".

See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 3.

"Accidental slip".

—Pure case of error in passing order — Error remediable by proper proceeding either by way of review or by an appeal—Party preferring appeal but not presenting the same but allowing it to be dismissed — Held that in the circumstances, it could not be said that the error of the Court was an "accidental slip or omission" justifying the Court in exercising powers under S. 152. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 152. AIR 1952 Cal 577 (DB).

"Accompany".

—Words "accompanied by a fee of Rs. 100" in S. 66 (1), Income-tax Act (1922), should not be given a too literal interpretation — Ordinary meaning of "accompany" is "go with" — Fee need not be enclosed along with application under S. 66 (1) — Both fee and application need not be delivered together at the same time - Fee should be sent at such time that in ordinary course it should either be received or deemed to be received within time allowed — Application can be sent by registered post with money order for requisite fees, mentioning the fact of the M. O. in the application See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 66 (1). AIR 1955 Mad 162 (DB).

See also Evidence Act (1872), S. 115.

—'The word 'acquiescence' is used in two senses; sometimes it is used to denote conduct which is evidence of an intention by a party, conducing himself, to abandon an equitable right; sometimes to denote conduct from which another party would be justified in inferring such an intention' : AIR 1926 Nag 416, Rel. on. AIR 1964 Him Pra 34 (37) (Pt C) (Pr 11).

"Acquire."

●—Acquisition of land within meaning of S. 299 (2), Government of India Act, 1935 — Deprivation of the landholder of the right of management and control over the forest without legal title thereto or beneficial enjoyment thereof being affected does not amount to acquisition of land. See Bihar Private Forests Act (9 of 1948). AIR 1961 S C 1684.

●—Word 'acquire' may include power to purchase by agreement but is wide enough to enable corporation to request the State Government to acquire property under the Land Acquisition Act. See Bombay Land Requisition Act (33 of 1948), S. 5 (1). AIR 1956 S C 294.

—Word 'acquire' in S. 14, Hindu Succession Act means according to the Oxford Dictionary "come into possession of" or "gain by oneself." See Hindu Succession Act (1956), S. 14 (1). AIR 1961 Andh Pra 241.

—Word "acquired" appearing in different sub-sections of S. 14, Hindu Succession Act has different connotations. See Hindu Succession Act (1956), S. 14 (1), Explanation and sub-s. (2). AIR 1962 Cal 438.

—"Acquired" signifies obtaining of title as a result of positive act by acquirer and will not apply to a case where on account of death right devolves upon heirs of deceased—Heirs are not persons who acquire title within meaning of S. 9 (1) of Cochin Verumpattamdars Act. See Tenancy Laws — Cochin Verumpattamdars Act (8 of 1118) (As amended in 1122). S. 9 (1). AIR 1953 Trav-Co 397 (DB).

"Acquisition"

(2) Government of India Act (1935), S. 299.
(3) Limitation Act (1908), Art. 17.

—Property of a citizen may either be taken by the State permanantly or temporarily and this is usually termed by calling the former "acquisition" and the latter "requisition" — In the former case title vests in the State — In the latter case the title remains unaffected but the title holder is deprived of its use for the time being. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 3. AIR 1963 Punj 411 (DB).

"Acquisition and requisition."

—"Acquisition" connotes that ownership and title of the owner is transferred to the State or corporation owned and controlled by the State. "Requisition" takes place when right of possession is transferred without transferring the title. Collection of blood for purpose of the test,under S. 129A, Bombay Prohibition Act is not acquisition of property without payment of compensation within meaning of Art. 31 (2) of the Constitution. It is not also requisition. See Prohibition — Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949), S. 129-A. 1964 (2) Cri L J 523 : AIR 1964 Bom 253 (DB).

"Acquittal."

—"Acquittal" and "termination of prosecution" within meaning of Limitation Act (1908), Art. 23 — Distinction, pointed out. See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 23, AIR 1963 All 547.

—There can be acquittal even in case where no charge has been framed — No charge framed against petitioner — Petitioner discharged under S. 253, Criminal P. C. — He is entitled to benefit of R. 112 of the Assam Jail Manual which applies to acquittal. See Assam Jail Manual, Chap. 8, Sch. 4, R. 112. AIR 1956 Manipur 34.

"Acquitted of blame."

—Words "acquitted of blame" in Railway Establishment Code, App. XXXI, S. 3 do not mean the same thing as "acquitted." The Court may neither say that the case against the employee is false nor does it say that he has been acquitted on ground of benefit of doubt — In such a case it is for the officer making the adjustment to read the judgment and come to his own conclusion whether it is a case of honourable acquittal or acquittal of blame or not. See Railway Establishment Code, Appendix XXXI, S. 3. AIR 1959 Raj 55 (DB).

"Act."

●—Omission to do an act—'Act done' — Meaning—Omission to do an act is not always incided in 'act done.' See U. P. District Boards Act (10 of 1922), S. 192 (1). AIR 1965 All 590 (FB).

—The word "act" in O. 3, R. 1 is not such as would include act of pleading and is intended to cover only such acts as are capable of being done in the act of acting for a litigant — Word 'act' appears to have been used in technical sense and not in ordinary sense. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 3, R. 1. AIR 1959 Bom 21.

—Expression "suit in respect of any act touching the business of the society" in S. 59 of Punjab Co-operative Societies Act — "Act" includes both lawful and unlawful act. See Co-operative Societies — Punjab Co-operative Societies Act (14 of 1955), S. 59. ILR (1957) Punj 1195.

"Act and illegal omission."

—An "act" includes an "illegal omission" within the definition of the word given in Rajasthan General Clauses Act. But non-payment of a sum which is due cannot be said an illegal omission as it is not directly forbidden by law. See Municipalities — Rajasthan Municipalities Act (38 of 1959), S. 271. 1963 Raj L W 605.

"Act done."

—"Act done," if includes illegal omission. See U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (28 of 1947), S. 14. 1958 All L J 17 : 1958 All W R (HC) 146: 1958 All Cri R 130 : (1959) 1 Lab L J 1.

"Act done under colour of office or duty."

—In order that an act could be said to be done under colour of office or colour of duty, it would at least be necessary that there should be some relationship between act complained of and duties appertaining to the office—Existence of such a nexus is indispensable—Such nexus may not be adequate. See Bombay Police Act (22 of 1951), S. 161. 1965 (2) Cri L J 193 : AIR 1965 Bom 124 (DB).

"Acting".

●—'Acting' includes applying and pleader who makes an application on behalf of his client acts for him —Presentation of application by him, when no authority in prescribed manner was given to him is an 'irregularity' which can be cured at later stage. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 3, R. 1. AIR 1957 Andh-Pra 172 (FB).

"Acting or pleading".

See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 3, R. 4 (2).

"Action".

—Word "action" in S. 328 (3) of U. P. Municipalities Act ought to be construed as meaning action brought within the United Provinces. See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 52. AIR 1956 Cal 216 (DB).

——"Action" — Meaning of — Construction of Insurance Policy—Words "unless the claim is the subject of pending action" — Application under S. 20, Arbitration Act—If amounts to an "action".

One of the conditions contained in an Insurance Policy provided that the Insurance Company would not be liable for any loss or damage after the expiration of 12 months from the happening of the loss or damage "unless the claim was the subject of pending action or arbitration." A question arose as to whether a petition under S. 20, Arbitration Act, filed in Court within 12 months of the date of the damage or loss was a "pending action."

Held, that the word "action" was not a word which was used in Indian law and therefore that word must be given the meaning which it had in English law, and that under that law that word was wide enough to cover an application to a Court under S. 20 of the Arbitration Act, for the filing of an agreement to refer to arbitration. 1951 Com Cas (Ins) 40 : ILR (1951) Punj 246 : AIR 1921 Punj 97 (98, 99) (Prs 5, 7) (DB).

"Actionable wrong"

—Term 'actionable wrong' means an illegal or unauthorised act infringing a legal right of another affording him a ground for action in law — If guarantees given by the Constitution are infringed, it is illegal and unauthorised act infringing a legal right of a citizen and amounts to an actionable claim within meaning of S. 88, States Reorganisation Act. See States Reorganisation Act (1956), S. 88. AIR 1959 Bom 363 (DB).

—Expression 'actionable wrong' in Cl. 10 of Indian Independence (Rights, Property and Liabilities) Order 1947, is not limited to tortious acts but includes all 'wrongs' which give right of action to the person wronged. See Indian Independence (Rights, Property and Liabilities) Order, 1947, Cl. 10 (2) (b). AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 3850.

—Consignment of foodstuffs—Seizure and requisition by Assam Government in 1946 under R. 81 (2) (f), D. I. Rules — Claim for compensation is 'actionable wrong' within meaning of cl. 10 (4) of Indian Independence (Rights, Property and Liabilities) Order (1947). See Indian Independence (Rights, Property and Liabilities) Order, 1947, Cl. 8. AIR 1960 Pat 215 (DB).

"Act of God".

—Expression "act of God" is a mere short way of expressing the proposition that a common carrier is not liable for any accident as to which he can show that it is due to natural causes directly and exclusively, without human intervention and that it could not have been prevented by any amount of foresight and pains and care reasonably to be expected from him. AIR 1953 Mad 519 (525) (Pt D) (Pr 19) (DB).

"Act of State".
See (1) Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9.
(2) Constitution of India, Art. 51.

"Act purporting to be done".
See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 80.

"Actually and voluntarily resides."

—"Voluntarily resides" in S. 5 of the Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act, 1951, the word "actually" excludes the idea of domicile or constructive residence. S. 5 is pari materia with S. 20, Civil P. C. A place where a person has abode and where he ordinarily resides would be a relevant factor — Merely because he leaves that place temporarily for short visits to other places, will not make him a resident of the place which he visits. See Debt Laws — Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act (1951), S. 5. AIR 1965 All 72 (DB).

"Actually resides."
See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 20.

"Adapted for use."

—Item 295 in Import Trade Control Schedule — Articles "adapted for use" as parts and accessories of motor cycles — Meaning of expression "adapted for use", explained. See Sea Customs Act (1878), S. 167 (8). AIR 1956 Cal 542.

"Addict."

—Expression 'addict' is applied to a person who habitually is given to a practice — Three instances when petitioner was known to have taken alcohol—To call him an addict will not be justified. See Bombay Police Act (22 of 1951), S. 33 (1) (w) (i). AIR 1959 Bom 346.

"Adhikari, Adhikarini."

—Will—Testator using words adhikari and adhikarini in respect of sons and daughters — Held words denoted full ownership. See Succession Act (1925), S. 86. AIR 1963 Cal 520 (DB).

"Administration."

—Word 'Administration' generally, except perhaps in any particular context, includes all normal functions and authority of Government, when the word is not used departmentally but with injunction to general obedience of the subject people — Word also has the meaning of executive part of Government. See Hyderabad Firman, dated 19-9-1948. AIR 1955 N U C (Hyd) 5624 (DB).

"Administrative", "Executive," "Judicial" — Meanings of.

The term "administrative" or "executive" is capable of bearing a wide range of meaning. Broadly speaking, however, this term refers to broad areas of Governmental activities in which the repositories of power may exercise every class of statutory function.

The meaning of the term "judicial" varies according to the purpose for which the term has to be defined. Not only do definitions of the term "judicial" vary between different legal contexts, but they will not infrequently vary within one individual legal context. (1964) 2 Andh L T 94 : AIR 1965 Andh-Pra 69 (72) (Pt E) (Prs 8, 9).

"Admission."

—"Admitted to possession as raiyat" in S. 6 (1) Madras Estates Lands Act — "Admission" must be conscious and deliberate act and not something which was not intended — Court of Wards merely granting permission to persons to continue cultivation on behalf of Court of Wards until they made up their mind about the person to whom raiyati patta should issue—This does not amount to "admission to possession" so as to confer raiyati right on such person. See Tenancy Laws—Madras Estates Land Act (1 of 1908), S. 6 (1). AIR 1963 Orissa 121 (DB).

"Admit," meaning of.

—Words "admits" and "permits" in R. 29 (1) are used in the ordinary sense and to make the proprietor of a theatre responsible for the presence of ticketless spectators in the cinema house, it is essential to prove that he had willingly and knowingly allowed them to get into it or that he was privy to it. See Madras Entertainments Tax Act (10 of 1939), S. 16 — Rules under—Rr. 29 (1) & 53. 1956 Cri L J 575 : AIR 1956 Andhra 100.

"Admitted in evidence."
See (1) Stamp Act (1849), S. 36.
(2) T. C. Stamp Act (1 of 1125 ME), S. 33.

"Adukuvathu."

—It is fee ordinarily paid at end of every 12 years' occupation for renewing grant for another twelve years —This can be paid at time of original grant itself. AIR 1955 NUC (Trav-Co) 5086.

"Adultery."
See also (1) Divorce Act (1869), S. 10.
(2) Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 13 (1) (i).

(3) Penal Code (1860), S. 497.
(4) Special Marriage Act (1954), S. 27 (a).

—'Adultery' means consensual sexual intercourse between a married person and another person of the opposite sex during the subsistence of the former's marriage. 1965 M P L J 559 : 1965 Jab L J 663 : AIR 1966 Madh Pra 130 (130) (Pt B) (Pr 3) (DB).

"Advance"

—Advance means literally a payment beforehand; in certain cases it may be a loan but it cannot be said that a sum paid by way of advance is necessarily a loan. But when 'advance' is declared to be 'repayable' (though only conditionally) it will lean to the side of loan. 26 Ch D 107; (1957) A C 697, Rel. on. 1960 Mad W N 74 : (1960) 2 Mad L J 13.

"Advance and deposit"

—Distinction between advance and deposit pointed out. ILR (1961) Mad 955.

"Affairs of State."
See Words and Phrases—"State"

"Affairs of State."—Meaning of
See Evidence Act (1872), S. 123.

"Affected by the order."

—Words "affected by the order" in S. 12, proviso, Kerala Cinemas (Regulation) Act, 1958, in law imply that the order must bring about or produce a change in the petitioner's legal rights. In short, the words affected and aggrieved though not synonymous are analogous. An order may be said to affect a person when it is directed against him or his property in the sense that the enforcement of the decision would involve some special, immediate and in its effect a direct injury to his interests. AIR 1960 Ker 378 (381) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

"After giving not less than 15 days notice."

—Expression "after giving not less than 15 day's notice thereof" in S. 22 (3), Territorial Councils Act, only means that 15 clear days must intervene between the issue of the advertisement or circular calling the meeting and the date of the meeting and the notice so given is effectual though it may not actually reach the holder until some days afterwards. See Territorial Councils Act (1956), S. 22 (3). AIR 1960 Manipur 25.

"After the date"

—One year "after the date" the Act came into force in S. 13, Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act — 'After' means "later in time than," "subsequent to," "following the expiration of." In legal consideration, where a time is expressed as to be computed or an act as to be done after a certain date, the word 'after' is usually judicially construed as not intended to include the day or the period governed by the word 'after.' See Debt Laws — Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act (1953), S. 13. AIR 1955 N U C (Pepsu) 2514.

"After which time."

—Expression "after which time" in proviso to S. 99, Bengal Irrigation Act can only mean after one month. See Bengal Irrigation Act (3 of 1876), S. 99. AIR 1956 Pat 482 (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

"Agent."

—For purposes of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, the expression 'agent' has much wider connotation than it is ordinarily understood under the law of contract — Anybody who acts in furtherance of the prospects of the candidate's election is an agent of the candidate, provided he does so with the consent, expressed or implied, of the candidate — Association of persons or a society or a political party and its prominent members who set up the candidate sponsor his cause and work to promote his election, may be called his agent for election purposes. But person who is merely an officer, intermeddler or a mere volunteer is not the agent even though such person may have acted for the candidate's benefit. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 123 (1). AIR 1959 Assam 200 (DB).

"Agnate."

—'Agnate' means a person whose relation to the deceased can be traced without intervention of female links. AIR 1951 J and K 21 (23) (Pt D) (Pr 6) (DB).

'Aggrieved party.'

—Offence of bigamy by husband — Wife is the aggrieved party who alone can file complaint, and not any of her relations — Her brother no doubt comes within the definition of the word "relative" specified in the explanation of S. 198, Cr. P. C., who can file complaint on her behalf but the authority conferred on him must be understood as being one that can be exercised only when she is alive and not after her death. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 198. 1965 (2) Cri L J 376 : AIR 1965 Mys 235.

"Agraharam."

—Property sold described as 'agraharam' — 'Agraharam' is a word apt to describe property held on inam tenure but not apt to describe property held on ryotwari tenure. 64 Mad L W 1 : AIR 1950 P C 105 (107, 108) (Pt A) (Pr 10).

—An Agraharam is a land granted to Brahmins either rent-free or at a low rate. It is a village or a portion of a village and in some cases even the grant conveyed the kudiwaram interest also. 1959 Andh L T 39 : (1958) 2 Andh W R 134.

"Agrarian reform."

—Words "agrarian reform" are not found in Art. 314 of the Constitution —Courts are not confined to their literal and narrow meaning — If the legislation is meant to improve the standard of living and working in villages it would certainly have agrarian reform as its object, not in a narrow and pedantic sense but in a context in which the general good of the village agricultural community would be covered. See Tenancy Laws — East Punjab Holdings (Consolidation and Prevention of Fragmentation) Act (50 of 1948), S. 2 (bb). AIR 1964 Punj 419 (FB).

"Agricultural income."
See (1) Income-tax Act (1922), S. 2.
(2) Rajasthan Agricultural Income-tax Act (23 of 1953), S. 2.

"Agricultural labourer."

—Though the expression has not been defined in the Act, it can only mean a person who being landless and poor, hired out his labour for agricultural purposes. See Debt Laws—Bombay Agricultural Debtors Relief Act (28 of 1947), S. 24 (2). ILR (1958) Mys 825.

"Agricultural land."

—Land used as an airfield cannot be termed agricultural land though originally it was agricultural land. 'Agricultural land' has not been defined either in the Constitution or in the Wealth Tax Act. Therefore we have to take into consideration the ordinary meaning attached to that expression. Normally an agricultural land means that land which is used or is capable of being used for agricultural purpose. It is not what use it can be put to by changing its character. Therefore, land which was once agricultural land but which, at the relevant time, is being used as an aerodrome for military purposes after its requisition by the Government cannot be termed as an 'agricultural land' within the meaning of that term in the Wealth Tax Act or the Constitution of India. The question as to how the land ceased to be agricultural land is irrelevant. AIR 1942 F C 27, Rel. on. (1963) 48 I T R 472 : 1963 Mys L J (Supp) 365 : ILR (1962) Mys 926 : AIR 1963 Mys 111 (112) (Pt B) (Prs 4, 5, 6) (DB).

—'Agricultural lands' must be taken to include lands which are used or are capable of being used for raising any valuable plants or trees or for any other purposes of husbandry. See Government of India Act (1935), Sch. VII, List 2, Item 21. AIR 1951 Orissa 11 (DB).

"Agricultural operations."

See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 2 (1).

"Agricultural produce."

— Forest trees of spontaneous growth cannot be regarded as agricultural or horticultural produce grown of land. See Sales-tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 2 (1), Proviso. AIR 1957 Andh. Pra 28 (DB).

Term 'agricultural produce' as used in the Civil P. C. is confined to growing crop standing on the land on which it has grown or cut crop lying on the threshing floor or fodder-stack. Once grain is separated from the chaff it ceases to remain agricultural produce and there is no protection against its attachment under O. 30, R. 12. Grain as well as straw can both be attached. AIR 1962 Raj 82 (82) (Pr 3).

"Agricultural purpose."

"Aid."

—In Arts. 29 (2) and 30 (2) of the Constitution cover the 'grant' under Art. 337. See Constitution of India, Art. 29 (2). AIR 1958 S C 956.

"Ala Malik and Adna Malik" — Meaning of.

—Where the proprietary right is divided the superior owner is known in settlement literature as Ala Malik or talukdar, and the inferior owner as Adna Malik. In cases of divided ownership the proprietary profits are shared between the two classes who have an interest in the soil. Long possession with or without a patta or lease from the Raja was the test for recording the ryot as an inferior proprietor (Adna Malik). Raja Rajinder Chand v. Mst. Sukhi. ILR (1957) Punj 819 : 1957 S C J 119 : 1957 S C A 251 : 1956 S C R 889 : AIR 1957 S C 286 (293, 294) (Pt D) (Pr 16).

"Allotment of houses" — Meaning of.

— Mysore Housing Board Act (20 of 1955), Ss. 21, 37, 61, 62, 3 (2) — Allotment of houses — Making of regulations under S. 62 (b) laying down principles to be followed in such allotment is condition precedent for exercise of power under S. 21 (g) or (1) — Allotment in S. 62 (b) includes allotment by way of sale — Requirement of S. 62 (b) cannot be discarded because of provisions in S. 3 (2)—Selection of deserving applicants by Board in contravention of S. 62 (b) not sufficient. See Mysore Housing Board Act (20 of 1955), S. 21. 1963 Mys L J (Supp) 397.

"Allotment of shares in company."

See Companies Act (1956), S. 75.

"Allow"

—Under S. 394 (1) (c), Bombay Municipal Corporation Act (1888) "no person shall . . . . allow to be kept in or upon premises, horses, cattle . . . ." — Word "allow" has extensive meaning and may mean "permit; suffer; to give leave; not to prevent." See Municipalities — Bombay Municipal Corporation Act (3 of 1888), S. 394 (1) (c) (iv). (1960) 62 Bom L R 543.

— Person "allowing" another to dishonestly misappropriate, commits offence under S. 5 (1) (c), Prevention of Corruption Act — Word 'allow' is much wider in import than the word "suffer" — Failure to bring offender to book or gross negligence in detecting fraud that was committed would not by itself lead to inference that the person allowed the fraud to be perpetrated — There must be some evidence to show that the person had known of the misappropriation and that by some act or omission of his he made it possible or easy for another to misappropriate See Prevention of Corruption Act (1947), S. 5 (1) (c). 1960 Ker L J 1056.

"All proceedings."

— Words "all proceedings" in S. 15 of Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act, mean 'each and every' proceeding in respect of the debt of the displaced debtor — Execution proceedings also come within the purview of the words "all proceedings". See Debt Laws — Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act (1951), S. 5. AIR 1957 Madh Pra 98 (DB).

"All the law in force."

— While "existing law" as defined in Art. 366 (10) of the Constitution is limited to statute law or law embodied in ordinances, orders, bye-laws, rules and regulations, "all the law in force" in Art. 372 (1) is not so limited and extends even to customary law, personal law like Hindu and Mahomedan law, being thus much more comprehensive than "existing law" as defined in Art. 366 (10). "Existing law" is a part of "all the law in force" in Art. 372 (1). See Constitution of India, Art. 372 (1). AIR 1956 Cal 222 (DB).

"All the parties interested."

— Expression "all the parties interested" in S. 21, Arbitration Act, means parties interested in specific dispute referred to arbitration and not in the subject-matter of the whole suit where the two are not identical. See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 21. AIR 1956 Punj 249.

"Alter"

— "Alter" does not mean "abolish". See Bombay Primary Education Act (61 of 1947), S. 8 (2). AIR 1950 Bom 18.

— Power to alter order imposing penalty — Does not include power to enhance penalty. See Constitution of India, Art. 309. 1963 Mys L J (Supp) 219.

"Alterations."

— "Alteration" of premises — Complete re-building also is alteration. See Houses and Rents — C. P. and Berar Letting of Houses and Rent Control Order (1949), Cl. 13 (3) (vii). AIR 1953 Nag 16 (DB).

"Alter the finding."

See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 423.

"Always."

— The word 'always' as referred to in R. 16 (B) of Mad. Shops & Establishments Rules, means that the registers etc. should be available to be produced or caused to be produced when called for inspection at all reasonable hours — Temporary non-availability for insufficient cause will not constitute breach of the rule. See Madras Shops & Establishments Rules (1948), R. 16. 1962 Mad W N 32.

"Amalgamation."

— "Amalgamation" of holding, in S. 134, Calcutta Municipal Act — Amalgamation means merger — Amalgamation of land and building or premises has to be taken in its general sense, namely the making or the conversion of plots of land or building into one either by erection of one boundary wall or by removal of the marks of separation between them. See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (3 of 1923), S. 134. (1958) 62 Cal W N 293.

"Amend."

● — Per Gajendragadkar C. J. Wanchoo and Raghubar Dayal JJ. — According to dictionary "amend" means to correct a fault or reform but in the context of Art. 368, this meaning cannot be relied upon because what the Article authorises is the amendment of the provisions of the Constitution, which may include deletion of any one or more of the provisions and substitution in their place new provisions — Power to amend Constitution conferred by Art. 368 includes even power to take away fundamental rights under Part III. See Constitution of India, Art. 368. AIR 1965 S C 845.

[Not good law in view of AIR 1967 S C 1643.]

"Amended."

— Word "amended" in S. 1 (2), Calcutta Thika Tenancy Amendment Act must be construed in its natural meaning as altered by "additions, substitutions and omissions." See Tenancy Laws — Calcutta Thika Tenancy Amendment Act (6 of 1953), S. 1 (2), Proviso. AIR 1954 Cal 119 (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1960 S C 936.]

"Amend his application."

—Expression "to amend his application" in S. 14 (3) Trade Marks Act (1940) cannot be given a very wide connotation. The proper construction of S. 14 (3) is to equate the discretion exercised by the Registrar under S. 48 (1) of the Act with the discretion conferred upon him under S. 14 (3). He has no power to allow an amendment of a trade mark after the original trade mark has been advertised in a manner affecting the identity of the trade mark. See Trade Marks Act (1940), S. 14 (3). AIR 1958 Bom 47 (DB).

"Amenity."

— Repairs of accommodation are not "amenities". See Houses & Rents — U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act (3 of 1947), S. 7-D. 1964 All W R (H C) 702.

— Word 'amenities' used in S. 12, Rajasthan Act 17 of 1950 is distinct from cost of maintenance and repairs like replacing of a door and repairs other than connected with the restoration of the amenities mentioned in the section. See Houses and Rents—Rajasthan Premises (Control of Rent and Eviction) Act (17 of 1950), S. 12. ILR (1959) 9 Raj 242.

—"Amnesty".

See Constitution of India, Arts. 72 and 161.

"Amount recoverable as if land revenue".

—The expression means that the amount recoverable, in its proper nature is not land revenue at all — The expression means that the procedure for recovery of land revenue, is made available to the Government for recovery of any amount due as land revenue—See Mysore State Aid to Industries Act (1951) (20 of 1951), S. 19 (1). AIR 1965 Mys 261.

"Amrita Manhi".

—The words Amrita Manhi literally mean food offering, and when property is dedicated as Amrita Manhi, it cannot be said that there is only a partial dedication to the deity or that the property is subject only to a charge and does not constitute absolute devottar. AIR 1951 Orissa 255 (257, 258, 259) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 7, 8, 11, 12) (DB).

"Amusements".

●—"Amusements" include cinema, dramatic performances, sports and the like—See Mysore Cinematograph Shows Tax Act (26 of 1951), S. 3. AIR 1959 S C 894.

'Anadhinam'.

—'Anadhinam' does not imply that it is domain or home farm land of the landholder and therefore private land — It would be ryoti land within meaning of S. 3 (16) Mad. Est. Land Act — See Tenancy Laws—Madras Estates Land Act (1 of 1908), S. 3 (10) (b). AIR 1958 Andh Pra 100.

"An aggrieved person".

—Any trader is, in the sense of the Trade Marks Act aggrieved whenever the registration of a particular trade make operates in restraint of what would otherwise have been legal rights — See Trade Marks Act (1940), S. 46 (2). AIR 1957 All 683.

"Any local authority."

●—Expression "any local authority" in S 15 (j) of the C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act, 1922, must be given the meaning "each and every local authority" and not "any individual local authority" with special rules of its own. See Municipalities—C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (2 of 1922), S. 15 (j). A I R 1957 Madh Pra 67 (FB).

"Any mode of transfer."

●—Succession to property by operation of law cannot appropriately be described as a mode of transfer which obviously contemplates a transfer inter vivos. See Administration of Evacuee Property Act (1950), S. 2 (f) (i). AIR 1953 S C 298.

"Any money due."

—Money claim for which is barred by limitation is not 'any money due' within meaning of S. 469, Companies Act (1956). See Companies Act (1956), S. 469. AIR 1963 Mad 307.

"Any one."

●—"Any one" in S. 76, Mines Act, 1952, means every one. See Mines Act (1952), S. 76. 1961 (2) Cri L J 12: AIR 1961 S C 849.

—Expression "any one of the individual partners or members thereof" in S. 53 (1), M. B Shops and Establishments Act means that only one and not more than one of individual partners or members can be prosecuted — Word "any" connotes indiscrimination and the word 'one' fixes the number. See Madhya Bharat Shops and Establishments Act (7 of 1952), S. 53 (1). 1959 Cri L J 1335: A I R 1959 Madh Pra 382 (DB).

"Any one of the directors."

●—Expression "any one of the directors" in S. 76, Mines Act (1952, before its amendment by Act 62 of 1959) is ambiguous. In some contexts it means "only one of the directors, does not matter which one" but in other contexts, it is capable of meaning "every one of the directors" which of the two meanings is intended has to be decided upon consideration of the context. See Mines Act (1952), S. 76. 1961 (2) Cri L J 1: AIR 1961 S C 838.

"Any other cause."

—Expression "any other cause" in para. 2 (q) of Art. 4, in schedule to Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, cannot be interpreted as being ejusdem generis to sub-paras. (a) to (p). The expression should be given wider interpretation. See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act (26 of 1925), Sch. 2, Art. 4, para. 2 (q). (1951) 55 C W N 10.

"Any other house"

"Any other proceedings under the said Act."

●—Per Full Bench — Effect of S. 40 (2) of the West Bengal Premises Tenancy Act, 1950, as substituted by the Amending Act 18 of 1956 is to keep the Act of 1950 alive for purposes of all proceedings pending, on 31.3.1956 and also pending at the date of the amendment, in which application of that Act was called for, whether such proceedings were brought under the Act itself or brought under other laws. See Houses and Rents — W. B. Premises Tenancy (Amendment) Act (18 of 1956), S. 5 (2) (a). A I R 1957 Cal 257 (FB).

"Any other reason."

—Reading cls. (a) and (c) of S. 39 (2) of U. P. Town Areas Act, together it is sufficiently clear that "any other reason" will not include the improper rejection of nomination paper of a person other than the petitioner — Ground under the latter part of cl. (a) must be the ground showing that for some reason the petitioner was not duly elected by majority of lawful votes. See Municipalities—U. P. Town Areas Act (2 of 1914), S. 39 (2) (f). 1957 All L J 79.

"Any other wife living."

See Hindu Adoptions and Maintenance Act (1956), S. 18 (2) (d).

"Any person."

—Words 'any person' in first part of notification No. E (1)/3/54-PWE, D/- 19-8-1955 under Ajmer Excise Regulation (1 of 1915), S. 16 (4) is only substitute for the "public" against whom the Chief Commissioner has no power to issue the notification — But where writ petition was not filed by petitioner in assertion of his individual right or personal right but in vindication of his right as proprietor of a hotel, it was held relief could not be given under the first part of the notification. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1956 Ajmer 50.

—Unless context otherwise directs, words 'any person' in a statute may include all persons i.e., the public as a whole — But in S. 16 (4) (Ajmer) Excise Regulation, the words are intended to cover only any single individual or specified persons and not the public as a whole. See Ajmer Excise Regulation (1 of 1915), S. 16 (4). AIR 1955 N U C (Ajmer) 150.

—One of the requirements of the definition of 'industrial dispute' is that the dispute should be connected with employment or non-employment or with the condition of labour of any person — Words used are "any person" and not a 'workman' — Words 'any person' could only mean those persons in whom the workmen themselves were directly and substantially interested. See U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (28 of 1947), S. 2. AIR 1958 All 80 (DB).

—Expression "any person" in S. 142, Calcutta Port Act (1890) — Commissioners for Port not excluded. See Calcutta Port Act (3 of 1890), S. 142. 1964 Cal L J 56.

—"Any person" in S. 73, Evidence Act includes a person accused of an offence. Section is not limited to persons other than a person accused of an offence. See Evidence Act (1872), S. 73. 1955 Cri L J 790 : AIR 1955 Cal 247 (DB).

—"Any person" — Undivided Hindu family — Son represented by father in proceeding under Income-tax Act (1922)—'Son' comes within 'any person', contemplated by S 34 (3), Proviso 2 of the Act. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (3), Proviso 2. AIR 1965 Mad 422 (DB).

—Expressions "any person" or "class of persons" in S. 12 (3) (a), Companies Act, 1913, are very general and are applicable not only to the creditors or debenture-holders of a company but also to every person whose interests may be affected. See Companies Act (1956), S. 17. AIR 1957 Orissa 232.

— "Any person" in Art. 14 of the Constitution includes Government. See Constitution of India, Art. 14. AIR 1957 Orissa 56 (DB).

"Any person claiming under him"

—Expression "any person claiming under him" in S. 53-A, T. P. Act 'means only the person who has derived any interest from or through the transferor, namely assignee or legal representative of the transferor. See Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 53-A. AIR 1956 Pat 308 (DB).

"Any person having an interest"

—"Any person having an interest" in S. 73 (1) Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act, 1927, is wide enough to include trustees of the institution—See Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act (2 of 1927), S. 73 (1). AIR 1957 Andh Pra 498 (DB).

"Any proceeding under this Act."

—"Any proceeding under this Act", scope of the expression in S. 28 of Hindu Marriage Act, 1955, indicated —See Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 24. A I R 1959 Andh Pra 49 (DB).

"Any right of succession".

—Expression "any right of succession" in Special Marriage Act (1872), S. 23, does not include right of survivorship—See Special Marriage Act (1872), S. 23. AIR 1955 Madh Bha 148 (DB).

"Any share or interest".

—Words "any share" or 'interest' which occur in Cl. (b) of sub-s. (2) of S. 22, in Hyderabad Municipal Corporation Act, 1956 not only covers such cases in which the lessee has some share or interest but also those where a lessee holds the entire lease and not merely a share or interest therein—See Municipalities —Hyderabad Municipal Corporation Act (2 of 1956), S. 22 (2) (b). AIR 1957 Hyd 27 (DB).

"Any time"

—Words 'any time' in S. 469 (1), Companies Act (1956) does not mean that the Court can make an order under the section without reference to the limitation prescribed by the law— See Companies Act (1956), S. 469. AIR 1963 Mad 307.

"Any vehicle or class of vehicles"

—"Any vehicle or class of vehicles" in R. 131 (2) (gg) of D. I. Rules—Expression is extremely comprehensive and can include classification in the sense of Govt. owned vehicles as contradistinguished from those owned by private persons or vehicles owned by the defence department as opposed to those owned by other departments of the Government—All classes of vehicles whatever be their nature and every vehicle, fall in the ambit of the expression — See. Defence of India Rules (1962), R. 131 (2) (gg). I L R (1965) 2 All 303 (DB).

"Apabyabahara"

—Remarks by Chief Minister that in many instances the judgments of the High Court were corrected by the Supreme Court and in many instances the "Supreme Court held that the High Court has abused (apabyabahara) the powers given to it" tend to lower the authority of the High Court to a considerable extent and bring the judges into contempt — Use of the expression "apabyabahara" conveys the idea that the High Court has abused its powers. See Constitution of India, Art. 215. 1958 Cr L J 1055 : AIR 1958 Orissa 168 (DB).

"A person"

—Presence of words "a person" in singular in S. 27 Evidence Act, does not mean that information should be by a single individual — See Evidence Act (1872), S. 27. 1958 Cri LJ 821 : AIR 1958 All 467 (DB).

"A person who has been a judge"

—The phrase "a person who has been a judge" in second proviso to S. 86 (3), Representation of the People Act, 1951 means a person who has at some time, held office as a Judge, but it does not necessarily mean that the person must be holding office as a Judge at the time of his appointment as a member of the tribunal. It is immaterial whether that person is a retired Judge. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 86 (3). A I R 1958 All 323 (DB).

"Appeal"

—The word 'petition' used in Rule 12 (1) of M. B. Nagar Palika Parshid (Nirvachan Evam Chunao) Niyam, 1954, essentially means an 'appeal' where remedy is provided to approach a superior authority to achieve the desired end, i.e. to get the order of an inferior authority tested and varied or reversed if found erroneous that is really an appeal—call it a petition or by whatever other name. 1959 M P L J 1070,

—The word "appeal" has not been defined anywhere. An appeal in legal parlance is held to mean the renewal of a cause from an inferior or subordinate to a superior tribunal or forum in order to test and scrutinise the correctness of the impugned decision. ILR (1962) 1 Punj 285 : AIR 1962 Punj 94 (99, 100) (Pt C) (Pr 11).

—The word "appeal" in proviso to S. 57 (2) Delhi Rent Control Act, 1950 has been used in generic sense and must be taken to include revision also — See Houses and Rents—Delhi Rent Control Act (LIX of 1958), S. 57 (2), Proviso I. ILR (1962) 1 Punj 558.

[Impliedly overruled on another point in AIR 1964 S C 1305.]

—The word appeal in S. 115, Civil P. C includes second appeal. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 115. A I R 1953 Raj 137 (FB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1964 S C 497.]

"Appealed from."

—See Constitution of India, Art. 133 (1).

"Appearance"

—See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 3, R. 1 and O. 9, R. 3.

"Appearance and act"

—See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 3, R. 1.

"Appearance by pleader"

—Appearance of pleader — Meaning of explained—Counsel appearing but reporting no instructions and not taking part in proceedings — Mere presence does not amount to appearance in case. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 17, R. 2. 1964 M P L J (Notes) 96.

"Appertaining"

—Word "appertaining" in S. 2 (b) (1), of Delhi and Ajmer-Mewara Rent Control Act 1947, means something which is usually occupied with the main building and is an adjunct to it. See Houses and Rents—Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act (19 of 1947), S. 2 (b). AIR 1955 N U C (Ajmer) 335.

"Applicant"

—Word 'applicant' in R. 29 in Chapter 23 of Allahabad High Court Rules, means a person who has made an application under R. 28. It does not mean a person who proposes to make an application to the Supreme Court for special leave. See Criminal P. C (1898), S. 426 (2B). 1956 Cri L J 1035 : A I R 1956 All 523 (DB).

"Application"

—In S. 24, Hindu Marriage Act, words "petition" and 'application' are used interchangeably — See Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 24. AIR 1957 Mys 44.

"Application is entertained"

—Mere fact that an application is taken on file and numbered is not entertaining of application — Authority must enter into merits of the application and give decision — Application dismissed on ground that the subject matter of the claim did not fall under the Act —There is no adjudication on merits — See Payment of Wages Act (1936), S. 17 (1). A I R 1957 Mad 68.

"Appoint"

—The word "appointed" in the sentence " . . . . the authority appointed by general and special order of the Provincial Government shall exercise such jurisdiction to entertain appeals . . . ." in S. 3 (3) of the Assam Revenue Tribunal (Transfer of Powers) Act (4 of 1948) is inappropriate to signify the constitution of any authority but is quite proper to signify the selection of the personnel of the already constituted authority to exercise the appellate powers of that authority. 'Appointed' does not necessarily mean already appointed—It may also mean "to be appointed" at any future time. See Assam Revenue Tribunal (Transfer of Powers) Act (4 of 1948), S. 3 (3). A I R 1957 S C 414.

—Word 'engage' has not the same connotation as the word "appoint" — 'Appointment' under S 492, Criminal P. C. by State Government is very much different from an engagement by Public Prosecutor of another person to act under his direction to conduct prosecution — Act of 'appointment' is an executive function of State and requires an order expressed in name of Governor. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 4 (1) (t). 1965 (1) Cri L J 150 : AIR 1965 Cal 79.

—Word "appoint" inter alia means to designate or to nominate. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 4, R. 1 (1). AIR 1961 Him Pra 2.

—The word "appointment" in Art. 309 of the Constitution cannot mean only appointed after the Constitution but means also appointed before the Constitution. See Constitution of India, Art. 309. A I R 1963 Punj 298 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1964 S C 72].

"Appointment".

See also Words and Phrases —"Employment".

—The word "appointment" in Art. 234 of the Constitution, does not necessarily mean fresh appointments directly from the Bar. Appointments referred to in the Article must be intended to include "appointments by direct recruitment and also by promotions". See Constitution of India, Art. 234. AIR 1956 Mys 20 (DB).

—Word "Appointment" in S. 2 of the Public Servants (Inquiries) Act (1850) has been used not in the sense of designation of a person to discharge the duties of a particular office but meaning only the office or post to which one is appointed. It is not synonymous with 'service'. A person may be appointed to a service by the Central Government but if he is employed under a State Government he may be appointed to a post by the State Goverment. See Public Servants (Inquiries) Act (1850), S. 2. AIR 1956 Punj 58 (DB).

"Apportionment".

—"Apportionment" has been defined as a division or distribution of the subject-matter in proportionate shares, the act of distributing or allotting in proper shares and division of whole in parts. See Tenancy Laws—Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwuri) Act (26 of 1948), S. 44. A I R 1957 Andh Pra 523 (DB).

"Apprehension".
See Words and Phrases — "Arrest".

"Appropriate Government".
See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Ss, 2, 10.

"Approximate".

—Word "approximate" in S. 7 (iv) (b), proviso Court-fees Act (U. P. Amendment) means, very near, closely resembling or fairly correct. See Court-fees Act (1870), S. 7 (iv) (b). AIR 1964 All 430 (DB).

"Aprathishtitha".

—The word "aprathishtitha" must be undetstood only in the literal sense of being "unendowed with wealth". Where of the two daughters the question is who can be said to be unprovided, it must be decided having regard to the circumstances peculiar to each case—Hindu Law—Stridhan—Succession. AIR 1951 Mad 1047 (1050) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 8) (DB).

"Arable land".
See also Land Acquisttion Act (1894), S. 17.

●—By "arable land" is meant not only land capable of cultivation but also actually cultivated. It is not arable not because it is cultivated but because it is something else. ILR (1967) Guj 620, Affirmed; A I R 1965 Bom 224, Overruled. AIR 1968 SC 870 (880) (Pt D) (Prs 23, 25).

"Area".

●—Word "area" in S. 68.C, Motor Vehicles Act should be read as meaning such "area" in the entire State as the corporation should consider proper and not an area within a circumscribed part of the State determined by outside authority. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939) (as amended in 1956), S. 68.C. A I R 1964 S C 962.
—The word "area" in Cl. (e), Item H, List 1 of Sch. (2) of S. 293 of the U. P Municipalities Act, 1916, cannot be restricted to a locality smaller in area than the entire limits of the municipality—The entire limit can come within the expression 'area'. See Municipalities —U P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 298. 1957 Cri L J 612 : AIR 1957 All 340 (DB).

"Are or have been District Judges".

—"Are or have been District Judges" in S. 86 (2) Rep. of the People Act, 1951 — "Have been" refer to retired judges—The expression "are or have been" indicate two different categories, word 'or' clearly shows that persons who are District Judges and persons who have been District Judges, belong to two groups—'Or' is always used to distinguish two subjects preceding it and following it. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 86 (2). AIR 1957 Andh Pra 1007 (DB),

'Arguable issue'.

—A point raises an "arguable issue" if the Court has some doubt upon the question raised or there are obscure points which require elucidation and upon which two views may reasonably be held. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1964 Cal 506.

"Ariat".

—A sunni under Hanafi law cannot without consideration convey ownership of the property with limitation for the life of the donee. But where ownership is vested in somebody and only the enjoyment of the property is conveyed or received the rule does not apply. Limitation on enjoyment of property is permissible though it is not allowed on ownership. This separate enjoyment is known as "ariat" — Distinction between hiba and ariat, pointed out — 1956 Andh W R 771, Overruled. AIR 1658 Andh Pra 751 (753) (Prs 9, 11, 12) (DB).

"Arises directly or indirectly".

—Accrual of income—"Arises directly or indirectly" in S. 16, Income-tax Act (1922)—Tests indicated. See Income tax Act (1922), S. 16 (1). AIR 1956 Bom 411 (DB).

"Arising out of".

—Expression "suits or proceedings relating to or arising out of mortgages of or charges or lien on immovable property", in Item 7 of 1st Schedule of W. B. City Civil Courts Act—Words "relating to" and "arising out of" are phrases of comprehensiveness and suits which directly or indirectly relate to or arise out of mortgages fall within the mischief of Item 7—Similar phrases, from different enactments considered. See W. B City Civil Court Act (21 of 1953), S. 5 (34). (1962) 66 Cal W N 767.

"Arrears".

—"Arrears" of rent — Deposit of — Meaning of 'arrears' indicated See Houses and Rents—A. P. Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act (15 of 1960), S. 11. (1965) 1 Andh L T 272 : (1965) 1 Andh W R 381.

—The term arrears involves a twofold notion namely that there is a debt and that the time for its payment has expired, and which remains unpaid though dues. (1962) 1 Andh W R 260 : (1962) I Andh L T 353 : ILR (1962) Andh Pra 897 (DB).

"Arrears and due".

—"Arrears" is not a term of art — It describes sums overdue and payable in respect of periods of time; it means something which is behind in payment or which remains unpaid at the due time — Word 'due' has variety of meanings depending on context—In the context of S 13 (2) ( ) Pepsu Urban Rent Restriction Ordinance (2006) it means the amount of rent which has matured or for which the tenant is in arrears—There is thus no distinction between the meanings of words "arrears" and "due". See Houses and Rents — Pepsu Urban Rent Restriction Ordinance (8 of 2006), S. 13 (2) (i), Proviso. AIR 1959 Punj 578 (DB).

"Arrears of rent"

—Words "arrears of rent" in the proviso to S. 13 (2) (i) of East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act, 1949, means rent due on date of application and not due on the date of deposit. See Houses and Rents — East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act (3 of 1949), S. 13 (2) (i). ILR (1961) 1 Punj 315.

"Arrears of rent for more than three months".

meaning, which is assessment payable by the occupant at the moment. See Saurashtra Local Development Fund Act (26 of 1956), S. 4. AIR 1959 Bom 43 (DB).

"Assignment," meaning of.

See Companies Act (1956), S. 312.

"Assigns."

—Explanation IV to S. 8, Madras Agriculturists Relief Act contemplates a splitting up of the debt amongst the heirs, legal representatives or assigns of a debtor where either because of the family partition or as a result of a decree in a partition suit, the debt is allotted to the share of an individual member, such a person could certainly be regarded as an assign. See Debt Laws — Madras Agriculturists Relief Act (4 of 1938), S. 8 Expln. IV. 1956 Andh W R 559.

"Associated with."

●—"Religious charity" in S 6 (13) Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act — It must be a public charity and that charity must be associated with Hindu festival or observance of a religious character. It is not necessary that the charity be connected with a math or temple. See Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (XIX of 1951), S. 6 (13). AIR 1965 S C 1916.

"Associated with others in subversive activities."

—Meaning of words "associated with others in subversive activities" in R. 3 (iii) Pepsu Civil Services (Safeguarding of National Security) Rules, 1954, simply means that the person be associated with others "in their subversive activities"; his association with persons who are engaged in subversive activities alone would not be sufficient. It is his association in the subversive activities of theirs that is made punishable. See Pepsu Civil Services (Safeguarding of National Security) Rules (1954), R. 3 (iii). AIR 1956 Pepsu 19.

"Association of persons."

"At least."

—When words such as so many "clear days" or so many days "at least" are used, the two terminal days must be excluded. Where a rule says that notice of a motion shall be given "at least ten days before moving it," ten clear days must elapse between the notice of the motion and the motion. See Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (II of 1922), S. 21. AIR 1955 Nag 35 (DB).

"At least one meeting in every three months."

—Expression "at least one meeting .... in every three months" in S. 22 (7), A. P. Panchayat Samithis and Zilla Parishads Act, 1959, means three months from the date of the last meeting and not that any meeting held shall be deemed to have been held for three calendar months. See Panchayats — Andhra Pradesh Panchayat Samithis and Zilla Parishads Act (XXXV of 1959), S. 22 (7) As Amended on 15th January, 1963. (1964) 2 Andh W R 375.

"At least seven days before the election."

—The expression "at least seven days before the election" in R. 4 of Rajasthan Panchayat Election Rules, 1954, clearly means that seven days period must intervene between the date of the announcement of the notice and the date of the election. Seven days clear interval is required to lapse between the date of the announcement of the notice and the date of election. See Panchayats — Rajasthan Panchayat Election Rules (1954), R. 4. AIR 1957 Raj 388 (DB).

"At least 21 (Twenty-one) days before."

—The expression "at least 21 days before" in Rule 3 (3) of Gujrat Taluka Panchayat (Election) Rules means that an interval of clear 21 days must elapse between publication of preliminary list of voters and the date of election. "Being the property of the assessee."

—"Being the property of the assessee" in S. 10 (2) (vi) Income-tax Act, 1922 can have only one meaning, namely, that the property, that is, the building in respect of which the assessee is claiming depreciation is the property which belongs to him; the property must be owned by the assessee and not only that the assessee has acquired some equitable interest in it. See Income tax Act (1922), S. 10 (2) (vi). AIR 1965 Assam 20 (DB).

"Belagan."

—In the district of Saran, "belagan" in respect of homestead lands means "rent-free" and not merely land in respect of which no rent has been assessed. AIR 1950 Pat 487 (487, 488) (Pt B) (Pr 2).

"Belief and knowledge."

—"Belief" and "knowledge" — Distinction — 'Belief' will be inculcated in the mind of a person by various factors. But not so with 'knowledge' which is gained by a person by making use of his perceptional faculties and is clearly distinguishable from belief—See Evidence Act (1872), S. 3. AIR 1952 J and K 49 (DB).

"Belonging."

—"Belonging to"—Phrase is capable of connoting interest less their absolute title—It can connote interest of permanent and heritable lessee. See T. P. Act (1882), S. 111 (g). AIR 1965 S C 1923.

—Word "belonging" in S. 4, Partition Act (1893), is used in the sense of "pertaining to"—See Partition Act (1893), S. 4. AIR 1956 Orissa 105.

—Word "belonging" does not always mean 'owned.' In the popular sense it means that to which a person has a right to use. The word used in Cl. (b) of S. 51 of the Pepsu Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act, is used in this sense. See Tenancy Laws—Pepsu Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (Presidents Act 8 of 1953), S. 51 (b). AIR 1955 N U C (Pepsu) 1879.

—The words "belonging to" in S. 2 (d), Punjab Public Premises and Land (Eviction and Rent Recovery) Act 1959, have to be understood not necessarily to mean "owned by" but as indicative of complete control and dominion over the property in dispute. See Houses and Rents — Punjab Public Premises and Land (Eviction and Rent Recovery) Act (31 of 1959), S. 2 (d). 1964 Cur L J 378 : 66 Pun L R 959 : ILR (1965) 1 Punj 19.

"Belonging to a territory."

—Words 'Belonging to a territory" connote something more than mere birth in the territory. There must be some association or intimate connection with the persons of the State. See Utkal University Act (13 of 1943). S 8 (3) (v). A I R 1957 Orissa 159 (DB).

"Belongs to the Government."

—In the expression "belongs to the Government" in S. 15, Easements Act, the word 'belong' is used in the present tense. The expression cannot refer to the time during which the easement is enjoyed. See Easements Act (1882), S. 15. AIR 1959 Raj 58.

"Bemiadi lease."

—"Bemiadi lease" means that it is not for a fixed period and therefore has the ordinary incidence of a lease or a tenancy at will. See Tenancy Laws—West Bengal Non-Agricultural Tenancy Act (20 of 1949), S. 6. AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 2957.

—Use of the word "bemiadi" would not be taken to negative the permanence of the tenancy, but at the same time the use of this word does not necessarily convey permanent heritable right to the grantee; yet it may be so. The word itself does not conclude the matter. Meaning should be determined after considering all the provisions of the lease. See T. P. Act (1882), S. 105. AIR 1955 Pat 499 (DB).

"Benami."

See Trusts Act (1882), Ss. 81 and 82.

"Beneficial owner."

—The expression "beneficial owner" is not susceptible of a very clear and precise definition. It means such a right to enjoyment of property as exits where the legal title is in one person and the right to such beneficial use or interest is in another and where such a right is recognized by law and can be enforced by the Court at the suit of such owner or some one on his behalf. One is also said to have the beneficial ownership of land who has done everything to entitle him to a patent from the Govt. and who therefore has the legal right to such patent, and all that remains to be done is for the proper officer to issue it. See Stamp Act (1899), Sch. I, Art. 23. A I R 1957 Punj 261 (DB).

"Beneficiary."

—A "beneficiary" is one who is beneficially entitled to, or interested in, property, i. e., entitled to it for his own benefit, and not merely as trustee or executor, holding it for others. The word is nearly equivalent to "cestui que trust" which on account of its cumbersomeness, "beneficiary" has begun to supersede in modern law. See Bihar Agricultural Income-tax Act (7 of 1938), S. 11. 1958 B L J R 796.

"Benefit."

See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 33-C (2).

"Betel leaves."

—"Betel leaves" are not articles of food. See Cantonments Act (1924), S. 210 (1) (i). 1962 (1) Cri L J 161 (Madh Pra).

—"Betel leaves" include processed pan. Betel leaves to which Chuna and Katha are applied do not fall outside the scope of the term "betel leaves," used in notification No. R. 5 (51) & T/58 D/- April 1, 1958, under S. 4, Rajasthan Sales Tax Act — See Sales Tax—Rajasthan Sales Tax Act (29 of 1954), S. 4 (2). 1965 Raj L W 444 : (1965) 2 Lab L J 398 : I L R (1965) 15 Raj 855.

"Bhatamanya land."

—"Bhatamanya lands" are grants and endowments of lands held by Brahmins for their support. AIR 1955 NUC (Mys) 3954.

"Bhayad."

—The word "Bhayad" forms part of a colloquial dialect and therefore should not be given a strict technical or derivative meaning.

Held, that the word 'Bhayad' occurring in the deed of Wakf executed by a Muhammadan lady should be interpreted in a wide sense as including all kindred or blood relations or even relations by affinity through the wakf, having regard to the express intention of the wakf in the earlier part of the deed. ILR (1957) 3 Cal 696 : AIR 1956 Cal 584 (587) (Pt D) (Prs 17, 18) (DB).

"Bias."

See Constitution of India, Arts. 226, 32 and 311.

"Bilti."

—'Bilti" is a Hindi word for a railway receipt. A "Bilticut" rate includes costs of bagging, weighing, transport to railway station, loading in wagons and other station charges till the Bilti is issued — Usual practice of the trade indicated. See Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 25 (1). AIR 1962 Raj 122.

"Bilticut."

—"Bilticut" means only a contract F. O. R. the price having to be paid against the delivery of the Railway Receipt. AIR 1956 Nag 118, Rel. on. 1960 Ker L J 658 : 1960 Ker L T 574 : (1960) 1 Ker L R 655 : AIR 1961 Ker 21 (22) (Pt A) (Pr 6) (DB).

"Birt Khakrobi."

—"Birt Khakrobi" is scavenging right and is not transferable and cannot be validly leased. See T. P. Act (1882), S. 6. AIR 1961 All 518.

"Bona fide."

—The notion of "bona fides" has nothing to do with the notion of negligence. Bona fides, is a mental state negativing dishonesty and has no relation to negligence or want of care. Expression only means negation of fraud or dishonesty and a real genuine transaction. See Debt Laws — Bombay Agricultural Debtors' Relief Act (28 of 1947), S. 4. (1964) 5 Guj L R 289.

—"Bona fide" means absence of intent to deceive. See Houses and rents — East Punjab Urban Rent Restrictions Act (3 of 1949), S. 13 (a). AIR 1965 Punj 188.

—Nothing is "bona fide" which was not done with due care and attention. ILR (1960) 10 Raj 266 : AIR 1961 Raj 32 (33) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

"Bona fide mistake."

—Civil P. C, O. 1, R. 10 (1) — Suit filed by Receiver for benefit of estate after cessation of receivership — Mistake however foolish or careless was held to be without doubt bona fide. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 1, R. 10 (1). (1963) 2 Andh W R 138.

"Bona fide practice."

—Words "bona fide practice" in S. 9, Bar Councils Act, meaning explained - Graduate in law working as public prosecutor for more than three years without enrolling himself as a pleader or taking training for being enrolled as advocate — Not entitled to be enrolled as an advocate. See Bar Councils Act (1926), S. 9. AIR 1959 All 341 (DB).

"Bona fide requirement."

—Landlord having several houses — Some of them vacated after application for ejectment and again let to other tenants—Held there was no "bona fide requirement" on part of landlord of premises. See Houses and Rents — Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act, 1947, S. 9 (1) (e). AIR 1952 Ajmer 35 (1).

—"Bona fide need" of landlord for personal occupation — Expression explained. See Houses and Rents — U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Rules (1947), R. 6. AIR 1965 All 366.

—"Bona fide requirement" of landlord need not be judged at the time when cause of action arose; but if there are certain alterations in the situations, they must also be kept in view and it is at the time of the final order that it was to be datermined whether the landlord has a pressing need of the house, i.e. genuinely requires the house for his own occupation. Bona fide means good faith or with sincerity or genuineness. See Houses and Rents — Hyderabad Houses (Rent Eviction and Lease) Control Act (20 of 1954), S. 15 (3) (a). (1963) 2 Andh W R 95.

—Expression "bona fide" cannot apply to a state of circumstances but only to the statements or intentions or actions of human being. All, therefore, that is necessary for a Court to decide; when a landlord demands or asks or sues for any building on the ground that he bona fide requires it himself is whether the statement that he requires it himself is a statement made bona fide. See Houses and Rents—Madras

—Delhi and Ajmer Rent Control Act (38 of 1952) — "Bona fide requirement" — Meaning of, explained. See Houses and Rents—Delhi and Ajmer Rent Control Act (38 of 1952), S. 13 (i) (e). (1962) 64 Pun L R 441.

"Bond."

"Bonus"

See also Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 10 and Sch. 3, Item 5.

●—"Bonus" in industrial sense does come out of available surplus of profits and is an addition to the wage whether it is called contingent or supplementary. None the less it is labour's share in the profits and as it is a remuneration which takes the form of a share in profits it comes within the mischief of S. 10, Banking Companies Act. See Banking Companies Act (1949), S. 10 (1) (b) (ii), (Prior to its amendment in 1956). AIR 1960 S C 12, ●—Per V. Bhargava J. — In modern times "bonus" is clearly regarded as deferred wages payable to employees which may be claimed by them as of right under the terms of employment. In the conditions, under which modern industries function, bonus has now come to be recognised as a right of employees which they can claim from their employers under certain circumstances.

Per Sapru J.: — The granting of bonus is not an act of charity but is to be regarded in some measure as a right of the workers to share in the profits of the company. Basti Sugar Mills, Ltd. v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 1954 A L J 452 : 1954 All W R (HC) 428 : ILR (1954) 1 All 457 : A I R 1954 All 538 (542, 547) (Pt G) (Prs 8, 17) (FB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 SC 420].

—"Wages"—Definition of word 'Wage' as contained in certain special Acts cannot be accepted for ascertaining meaning of "Wages" in S. 60 (1) (h)—"Bonus" is something not included in "Wages". See Civil P. C. (1908). S. 60 (1) (h). ILR (1960) 1 Cal 895.

—"Bonus" is not a regular part of wages, deferred or otherwise. In essence it is ex gratia payment. But by statute or by agreement it can assume permanency and become part of wages. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 60 (1) (h). AIR 1957 Mad 773.

"Bovine cattle".

●—Words 'Bovine cattle' is wide enough to include and does in ordinary parlance include buffaloes (male or female adults or cattle). See Bihar Preservation and Improvement of Animals Act (15 of 1950), S. 2. AIR 1958 S C 731.

"Bran".

—Husk of paddy is neither cereal nor bran — "Bran" ordinarily means the inner husk of the corn or grain or seed sifted or separated from the flour. See Sales Tax — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941), Schedule Items 1, 2. 1962-66 Cal W N 1.

"Brass scraps".

—"Brass scraps" and "brass utensils bhangar" mean the same thing. (1953) 1 M L J 504 : 1953 Mad W N 178 : 66 Mad L W 1125: ILR (1953) Mad 1159 : AIR 1954 Mad 268 (270) (Pt A) (Pr 11) (DB).

"Breach of contract".

—Expression 'breach of contract' in S. 22, Industrial Disputes Act means breach of contract of service or employment and not a special contract not to go on strike. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 22. 1958 Cri L J 1018 : AIR 1958 Cal 445 (DB).

"Bread"

—When the term "bread" has not been defined in an Act in which it appears, ordinary dictionary meaning has to be taken into consideration. Dictionary meaning given. 'Bread' has acquired a meaning as to include bread prepared without addition of yeast or leaven. 'Singaras' and 'nimkis' do not fall within ambit of expression 'bread'. The statute is in English and uses english words. The recognised meaning of the expression which it carries in the English speaking world may alone be attributed to it. No extended meaning may be given to it even when used by the Indian legislature. There is no justification for the view that the term 'bread' has come to be used in India in such comprehensive sense as to include all products of cereals which are used in place of or as substitute for bread. They may serve the same purpose but may not be 'bread' in the right sense. A I R 1953 Hyd 252, Dissented from. See Sales Tax—Assam Sales Tax Act (17 of 1947), S. 7. A I R 1957 Assam 31 (DB).

—When legislature uses a term relating to any article of food Court must construe it in the sense in which it is understood in this country and not elsewhere. In fact 'bread' which is commonly labelled as a loaf of bread in European countries, has a particular name in this country and is called "double roti" thereby distinguishing it from ordinary 'roti'. 'Bread' includes all forms or kinds of bread which is prepared by moisting, kneading, baking, frying or roasting meal or flour with or without addition of yeast, leaven or any other substance for puffing or lightening the articles. See Sales Tax—Hyderabad General Sales-tax Act (14 of 1950), Sch. I, Item 3. A I R 1953 Hyd 252 (DB).

'Breaking up or clearing for cultivation".

—Expression 'Breaking up or clearing for Cultivation' does not extend to cultivation of land broken up or cleared before the issuing of notification under S. 30, Forest Act. See Forest Act (1927), S. 33 (1) (c). 1963 (1) Cr L J 605: AIR 1963 Pat 195 (DB).

"Bridges".

—Tariff Act (1934), Sch. 1, Item 63 (9) — "Culvert" would come under expression "bridges" — Even if it did not, it would, on principle of ejusdem generis come under the construction of expression "similar structures" in Item 63 (9)—Road culvert is regarded as bridge structure even in Engineering terminology. See Tariff Act (1934), Sch. I, Item 63 (9). A I R 1958 Cal 630.

"Brother".

—Brother, includes uterine brother. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 2 (d). A I R 1958 Madh Pra 133.

"Brought into".

—Term 'brought into' denotes only physical act of shifting a thing from one place to another. The words in S. 4 (1) (b) (iii), Income-tax Act, are qualified or limited under the Act and have no reference to purpose for which the money is brought into British India or to the period for which it is intended to be retained in British India. See Income tax Act (1922), S. 4 (1) (b) (iii). AIR 1954 Nag 221 (DB).

"Building primarily used for collection of rent".

—Under S. 4 (a) of Bihar Land Reforms Act, 1950, a building or a part of it vests in the State only if it is primarily used for collection of rent — Use of the word "primarily" is very significant. See Tenancy Laws—Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 4 (a). AIR 1957 Pat 94 (DB).

——'Business' and 'Carrying on business' — [Houses and Rents — Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act (15 of 1946), S. 7 (3) (a) (ii).]

The term 'business' includes every trade, occupation and profession. The word "business' has no technical meaning, but is to be read with reference to the object and intent of the Act in which it occurs. The term 'business' means an affair requiring attention and care ; that which business or occupies one's attention and labour as his chief concern ; mercantile pursuits ; that which one does for a livelihood, occupation, employment.

The phrase 'carrying on business' implies a repetition or series of acts. This phrase is in itself one of varying import according to as it is construed with an implied addition, so as to make it mean: the whole business, the principal part of the business, any part of the business or that part of the business which may properly be supposed to have been contemplated. It has in the English Courts been interpreted according to the context and the apparent purpose of the Legislature. Case-law Rel. on.

A constructed an automobile factory at Madras at a cost of several lakhs and erected in a portion thereof some machinery which he had shifted from Calicut where he had been carrying on business in the name and style of Malabar fisheries. A room in front of the premises was under the occupation of B a tenant. When A applied for license to run the factory the Corporation of Madras refused to issue a license on the ground that as per rules no portion of the factory premises should be in occupation of another person. A thereupon applied to the Rent Controller for evicting B on the ground that he required the room for carrying on his business. B resisted the application alleging that A was not seeking accommodation for the purpose of the business which he was carrying on but required it for a business which he intended to carry on in future.

Held, applying the above tests of 'business' and 'carrying on business' to the facts, that A had been carrying on automobile business and towards that end he had been performing several acts like building the factory at a cost of several lakhs of rupees shifting of the machinery from Calicut and applying for the issue of licence to the Corporation of Madras for running the factory, and that in such circumstances the contention of B was devoid of any substance. "Business Connection"

See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 42 (1) and (3).

"Business efficiency"—What is.

—Expression "to carry on business more economically and more efficiently" in Cl. (a) of S. 17 (1), Companies Act 1956 — Words "economically" and "efficiently" are designedly vague with large import for obvious purpose of enabling a company to alter its memorandum in respect of its objects with as much freedom as possible. See Companies Act (1956), S. 17 (1) (a). AIR 1957 Cal 234.

"Bus Stand"

—"Bus Stand" means a place where bus services commence or terminate. The words "places at which motor vehicles may stand either indefinitely or for a specified period of time" in S. 79, Motor Vehicles Act cannot be reasonably interpreted to include a "bus stand" in the above sense. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 64-A. AIR 1965 S C 458.

"Butcher"

—Person selling meat is covered by the word "butcher". See Municipalities — Travancore District Municipalities Act (23 of 1116 M. E.), S. 283. I L R (1960) Ker 1057.

"Bye-laws and Rules"

—"Bye-laws and Rules" under Co-operative Societies Act—Bye-laws made under S. 43 (2) of the Act are quite different from the rules made under the Act and are not part of the Act. See Co-operative Societies — Co-operative Societies Act (1912), S. 3. AIR 1960 Madh-Pra 273 (DB).

●"By or under this Act or as may be preseribed"

—"By or under this Act or as may be" prescribed in S. 4 of the Forward Contracts (Regulation) Act—"By" an Act mean by provision directly enacted in the Act — 'Under' the Act would mean not directly by the Act itself but under power conferred by the Act i. e. bye-laws under the Act if bye-law framed under S. 11 of the Act would not fall within the phraseology "as may be prescribed", because "prescribed" has been defined to mean "by rules under the Act" i. e, those framed under S. 28—Bye-laws do not fall under that description. See Forward Contracts (Regulation) Act (1952), S. 4. AIR 1963 S C 274.

"Calculated."

—The word "calculated" in S. 20 (2) of the West Bengal Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Act, 1950 can best be interpreted as "likely" in the context, particularly of the words "gross negligence" which plainly suggest and support an objective interpretation of the said term "calculated" and exclude a subjective interpretation of the same. 64 Cal W N 342 : ILR (1960) 2 Cal 304.

—The word 'calculated' in S. 67 (3) (a), Companies Act (1956), suggests design, forethought or intention to accomplish a purpose. See Companies Act (1956), S. 67 (3). AIR 1959 Punj 196.

"Calendar year."

"Call."

—To "call" a meeting and to "hold" a meeting are not exactly synonymous but convey the same meaning. See Municipalities—Bihar and Orissa Municipal Act (7 of 1922), S. 44 (1). AIR 1956 Pat 367 (DB).

"Calling."

See Industrial Disputes Act (1948), S. 2 (j).

"Cancellation' and 'non-renewal.'

—"Cancellation" and "non-renewal" of license under Arms Act —Cancellation does not cover a case of non-renewal. See Arms Act (1878), S. 18 (a). 1955 Cri L J 1019; AIR 1955 Ajmer 32.

"Cancellation of Examination" and "withdrawal of degree."

—'Cancellation of Examination' and 'withdrawal of degree,' distinction between pointed out. See Agra University Act (U. P. Act 8 of 1926), S. 34 (2). AIR 1961 All 301.

"C. and F. Contract."

—Under C. and F. contract the buyer undertakes to insure the goods while in transit. A C. and F. contract is for all practical purposes and F. O. B. contract. In the case of such contracts property passes not when the goods are ascertained but subsequently. 67 Mad L W 647 : (1955) 6 S T C 47 : AIR 1954 Mad 1030 (1038) (Pt F) (Pr 27).

"Capable of being computed in terms of money."

See Industrial Disputes Act (1947).

"Capable of giving discharge."

—Mere passive act of non-filing of suit cannot be included under the word 'discharge.' The entire expression can only refer to cases where the person attaining majority is capable of giving a discharge of the right by any positive act even including release of a right to sue. See Limitation Act (1908), S. 6. AIR 1959 Orissa 179 (DB).

"Capital."

—It is not necessary to constitute "capital" that it should be only the money collected from the shareholders. "Capital" when used with respect to the property of a Co-operative Society, corporation or a company, means property or means contributed by the members or shareholders as the fund or the basis for the business or enterprise for which the Cooperative Society, corporation or the company is formed. It may be either fixed or circulating — Co-operative Housing Construction Society constructing houses out of money collected from share-holders —Allotment of houses to members on instalment payment — Houses come within ambit of word "capital" used in S. 23, A. P. Co-operative Societies Act (1932). (1965) 1 Andh W R 229.

—"Capital" of a company means subscribed capital. See Companies Act (1913), S. 105-C. AIR 1956 Pepsu 89.

—Income is the fruit of "capital" and "capital" is understood as the source of income. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 34 (as amended by Punjab Act 2 of 1954). AIR 1963 Punj 411 (DB).

"Capital base."

—Words "capital base" in sub-para. 1 of Para 17 of Sch. 6, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1948, construed. See Electricity (Supply) Act (1948), Sch. VI, Para 17, Item (9). ILR (1961) 11 Raj 495.

"Capital employed in business."

—If the funds of the assessee have been used to acquire assets for being used in the business of the assessee, that would be "capital employed in the business" within the meaning of Sch. II, R. 1 (1), Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940. See Excess Profits Tax Act (1940), S. 6 (1). AIR 1959 Mad 376 (DB).

"Capital expenditure" and "Revenue expenditure."

See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 10 (2) (xv).

"Capital gains."

—Tendolkor, J. — "Income" in Entry 54, List I, Sch. VII "Taxes on Income," in Government of India Act, 1935, is income in the widest sense and certainly income which would include "capital gains" as defined in S. 12-B, Income-tax Act, which are gains actually realised as a result of sale, exchange or transfer. See Income-tax and Excess Profits Tax (Amendment) Act (1947). AIR 1952 Bom 261 (DB).

"Capsule."

—Bhuki or poppy husk is not "capsule" of opium. See Opium Act (1878), S. 3 (1). 1956 Cri L J 917 : AIR 1956 Punj 159 (DB).

"Cargo."

●—Word 'cargo' in second proviso in Notification D/- 8.11.1962 of Reserve Bank of India under S. 8 (1) of Foreign Exchange Regulation Act is used as contra-distinguished from personal luggage in the law relating to carriage of goods. See Foreign Exchange Regulation Act (1947), S. 8 (1). 1965 (1) Cri L J 641 : AIR 1965 S C 722.

"Carriage by air."

—Storage of goods after transport awaiting delivery is not included in expression "carriage by air." See Carriage By Air Act (1934), Sch. I, R. 18. AIR 1955 N U C (Bom) 18.

"Carried."

● —Word "carried" in Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 56, has a larger scope. The word does not imply "carried by a common carrier," necessarily — All that the entry requires is that goods should be carried by road or inland waterways. See Constitution of India, Sch. VII, List II, Entry 56. AIR 1955 Assam 249 (SB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 S C 232.]

'Carrier."

—Word "carrier" in Limitation Act, Art. 30 — Definition in General Clauses Act of "common carrier" cannot be applied — Word should be given popular meaning — Any one doing business of carrying goods as public employment, he is a carrier — Fact that Government does this business, makes no difference. See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 30. AIR 1955 N U C (Mad) 3938.

"Cart stand."

—Meaning of the words "cart stand" explained — Tests indicated — Distinction between private and public "cart stands" pointed out. See Municipalities — Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920), S. 270B. AIR 1957 Mad 781.

"Case."
See also (1) Civil P. C. (1908), S. 115.
(2) Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 429.

—The word "case" in S. 85, U. P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947, has no wider and different meaning than given in the definition. See U. P. Panchayat Raj Act (26 of 1947), S. 53. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 1753.

—Word "case" in R 4 (vi) of U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Rules, 1952, is wider enough to include appeal and revision and is not confined to suit. 1952 All L J (Rev) 254: 1952 R D (BR) 384: 1952 All W R (Rev) 192.

—Words "there is a case" in S. 12 (5), Industrial Disputes Act, cannot be given the meaning "there is a prima facie case." They mean that there is a case for reference, not only because prima facie case has been made out, but also because of several other reasons, which the Government is entitled to take into consideration. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 12 (5). AIR 1955 NUC (Bom) 3844 (DB).

—The word "case" in S. 253, Criminal P. C. is not restricted to the complaint. 'Case' should also include case made out at the trial. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 253. 1954 Cri L J 1086 : AIR 1954 Kutch 33.

"Case decided."

(2) Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (1887), S. 25.

"Case instituted upon complaint."
See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 417 (3).

"Cases."

—The word "cases" in S 193 (2), Criminal P. C. — The word has no fixed or universal meaning — It must be construed with regard to the particular context in which it is used and with regard to the scheme and purpose of the measure concerned — The word is broader and wider than the words "trial of offences." See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 193 (2). 1964 (1) Cri L J 176 : AIR 1964 Andh Pra 59.

"Casual."
See also Income-tax Act (1922), S. 4.

— "Casual" actually means subject to or produced by chance or accidental or fortuitous, all of which suggest absence of any previously entertained object or intention. Where the principal, if not the sole, purpose, of the husband visiting his wife at her father's residence was for purpose of ceremonial consummation of the marriage, the stay of the husband cannot be said to be casual. See Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 19. (1965) 2 Law Rep 67 : AIR 1966 Mys 178 (DB).

"Cause of action."
See also (1) Civil P. C. (1908), S. 20, O. 2, R. 2, O. 9, R. 9.
(2) Court fees Act (1870), S. 17.

—Term "cause of action" in S. 88 (b), States Reorganization Act, 1956, means every fact which if traversed, it would be necessary for the plaintiff to prove in order to support his right to the judgment of the Court — Where the cause of action for wrongful dismissal is the fact that the order for termination of services was made, would form part of the cause of action and it would arise at a place where the order is made. See States Reorganization Act (1956), S. 88 (b). AIR 1959 Bom 363 (DB).

"Causing disaffection."

—Omission in S. 5 of Bihar Essential Services Maintenance Act of three explanations to S. 124A, Penal Code, should not lead to any difference in construction of the use of the same expression "causing disaffection towards the Government established by law." See Bihar Essential Services Maintenance Act (1 of 1948), S. 5. AIR 1956 Pat 188 (DB).

"Cease"

—The word "cease" means discontinue or 'put an end to.' There is no scope for importing any notion of suspension into that expression. (1959) 2 Andh W R 53 : ILR (1959) Andh Pra 254 : AIR 1959 Andh Pra 471 (474) (Pt D) (Pr 22) (DB).

"Ceiling area."

—Concept of "ceiling area" is directly and inseparably correlated to the concept of surplus land and what is to be ignored for the one is also to be ignored for the other. See U. P. Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holding Act, 1960 (1 of 1961), S. 5 (2). 1965 All W R (HC) 491 : 1965 All L J 852 : ILR (1965) 2 All 683.

"Central Government."

●—In the context of the Indian Constitution "Central Government" would mean the President acting through the council of Ministers. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 103 (FB).

—"Central Government" in relation to any thing done before the Constitution means the Governor-General or the Governor-General in Council. See Cinematograph Act (1952), S. 17. 1957 Cri L J 1172 : AIR 1957 Punj 243 (DB).

"Cereals."

—'Husk' of paddy is neither 'cereal' nor 'bran.' Paddy and husked paddy i.e., rice both fell under category of cereals. See Sales Tax — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941), Schedule, Items 1, 2. (1962) 66 Cal W N 1.

"Certified copy."

See also Evidence Act (1872), S. 76.

—Words "certified copy" is not defined either in the Representation of the People Act, 1951 or in the Rules. It is an authenticated copy and a certificate issued by an officer is only a written declaration of the fact that the copy is a true copy of the original. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 33 (5). AIR 1958 Andh Pra 485 (DB).

"Certifies."

See Constitution of India, Art. 134 (1).

"Cess."

—Word 'cess' according to Encyclopaedia Britanica, is a term formerly more particularly applied to local taxation. In India, it is said to apply with the qualifying word prefixed to any taxation; such as "irrigation cess" and the like. The word is said to be a shorter form of "assess.' According to shorter Oxford Dictionary 'cess' means "an assessment, tax or levy." See U. P. Land Revenue Act (3 of 1901), S. 91. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 4167.

—Word "cess" has a definite legal connotation indicating tax allocated to a particular thing not forming part of the general fund. Art. 277 of the Constitution refers to 'cess' as a special category of taxes. Import of the word 'cess' is only tax and not a mere 'fee'. See Constitution of India, Art. 265. AIR 1960 Mad 160.

"Cess and license fee".

—There is a distinction between 'a cess' and 'a license fee'. A 'cess' is a tax levied for a specific purpose often with a pre-fixed word defining the object. A 'license' on the other hand involves a permission to trade subject to compliance with certain conditions. I L R (1955) Madh-B 75: AIR 1954 Madh-B 196 (201) (Pt B) (Pr 15) (DB).

"Channel".

"Charge".

See also (1) Income-tax Act (1922), Ss. 3, 9.
(2) Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 100.

●—Word "charge" in the expression "charge of misconduct" in Punjab Civil Services Rules (1959), R. 3.26(d) is not to be interpreted narrowly as meaning 'the charges formally framed and communicated to the Government servant concerned' with the intimation that a formal departmental enquiry had been initiated against him on those charges. See Punjab Civil Services Rules (1959), R. 3.26 (d). AIR 1964 S C 72.

●—Word "charge" in S. 35, Police Act (1861), must retain the meaning which it had before the section was amended. See Police Act (1861), S. 35. 1956 Cri L J 174 : AIR 1956 All 96 (SB).

—Amount is "charged" not only when actually ascertained and debited but also when contract is concluded. See Debt Laws—Bombay Money Lenders Act (31 of 1947), S. 25(3). (1956) 58 Bom L R 1037.

—Word "charge" is not defined in the Madras District Police Act or the Criminal P. C.—Ordinary meaning given to it is "to prefer an accusation against one". See Madras District Police Act (25 of 1859), S. 47. 1953 Cri L J 959 : AIR 1953 Mad 507.

—"Charge"—Interpretation of. See Tenancy Laws—Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 4(d). I L R (1942) Pat 687 : 1962 B L J R 928.

"Charitable purpose".

See also Income-tax Act (1922), Ss. 4 and 15B.

●—"Charitable purpose" defined in S. 2(c), W. B. Estates Acquisition Act, 1953—Definition is not exhaustive but is only inclusive — Definition cannot comprehend provision for family of wakif or for himself — English authorities on question of what is charitable cannot be taken as guide in interpreting the expression in Indian Statute. See Tenancy Laws—W. B. Estates Acquisition Act (1 of 1953), S. 6(1)(i). AIR 1965 S C 1722.

"Cheruthettam"

—"Cheruthettam" means the right to a share in the properties of deceased towards the performance of the marriage and other ceremonies of minor children. See Marumakkathayam Law — Tarwad — Succession. AIR 1951 Trav-Co 135 (DB).

"Chief Officer".

—"Chief Officer" of a municipality means chief executive officer, whatever his designation. See Municipalities—Bombay District Municipal Act (3 of 1901), S. 183 (d). (1961) 2 Guj L R 189.

"Child".

See also Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 488.

—"Child" as defined in the Bombay Children Act means a boy or girl who has not attained the age of 16 years. See Bombay Children Act (71 of 1948), S. 4 (1)(e). (1960) 1 Guj L R 155.

"Chiranji".

—"Chiranji", "Batasa" and "Misri" are not sugar as popularly understood. They are not sweetmeats. See Sales Tax — M. P. General Sales-tax Act (2 of 1959), Sch. I, Item 41, Sch. 3, Item 1. A I R 1965 Madh Pra 254 (DB).

"Chit fund organisation".

—A "Chit fund organisation" is an organisation of a number of people who join together and subscribe amounts monthly so that that person or the subscriber who is in need of funds may draw the amount less discount. It is an organisation run on a co-operative basis for the benefit of the subscribers, the funds to be utilised by them as and when a particular subscriber needs it. It is to help thrifty persons to invest their savings with good chances of profit. I L R (1958) Andh Pra 409 : (1958) 2 Andh W R 5.

"Choli bangadi" or "Haldi Kunkum".

—Expression "choli bangadi" or "haldi kunkum" is a traditional set of words employed on the occasion of gift made to a woman either at the time of her marriage or under coverture. In such a case the nature of the estate cannot be said to be limited by the purpose for which the estate is given. Estate does not revert to the donor on cessation of the need for 'choli bangadi' or 'haldi kunkum' that is on the woman becoming a widow. See Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 8. AIR 1952 Nag 55.

"Chosen".

—Word 'chosen' does not necessarily imply that there ought to be a selection out of a larger number. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 284. 1954 Cri L J 1350 : AIR 1954 Raj 153 (DB).

"Choultry".

—Establishment of "choultry" by committee—Buildings situated outside choultry and rented out and income utilised for charity — Such buildings are not 'choultries'. See Municipalities—Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920), S. 83 (1)(b). (1959) 2 Andh W R 323.

"Choultry" or "Annasatram".

—The words 'choultry' or 'Annasatram' by themselves should not be considered as endowments for the benefit of a particular community or caste, or religion in the absence of any words to the contrary. (1963) 2 Andh L T 457 : (1964) 1 Andh W R 150.

"C. I. F. Contract".

—"C. I. F. and C. F. Contracts"—Contract is C.I F. in most of the cases, which means that the cost price would include the price of goods, insurance and freight and that is paid in advance by the seller which will be paid over to him by honouring of the bills drawn by him on the buyer, where the contract is C. F., the insurance is paid by the purchaser and for any loss in transit, the purchase will be indemnified by the insurers. See Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 4. AIR 1956 Mad 695 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 S C 1148.]

—The words "C. I. F." stand for costs, insurance and freight. A seller under a contract of sale containing such terms has firstly, to ship at the port of shipment goods of the description contained in the contract, secondly to procure a contract of affreightment under which the goods will be delivered at the destination contemplated by the contract; thirdly to arrange for an insurance upon the terms current in the trade which will be available, for benefit of the buyer; fourthly, to make out an invoice, and finally, to tender these documents to the buyer so that he may know what freight he has to pay and obtain delivery of the goods if they arrive or recover their loss if they are lost on the way. The essential feature of an ordinary C. I. F. contract for the sale of goods rests in the fact that performance of the bargain is to be fulfilled by delivery of documents and not by the actual physical delivery of the goods by the vendor. All that the buyer can call for is the delivery of the customary documents. This represents the measure of the buyer's right and extent of the vendor's duty. The buyer cannot refuse the documents and ask for actual goods nor can the vendor withhold the documents and tender the goods they represent. It is in short a transfer of symbols rather than physical property. Property passes to the buyer as soon as the documents are delivered to him. Case-law Referred. (1955) 6 S T C 47 : 67 Mad L W 647 : A I R 1954 Mad 1030 (1038) (Pt E) (Pr 26).

"Cinema."

—"Cinema"—It is an abbreviated form of cinematograph, which in its ordinary significance includes a film exhibition theatre. (1965.66) 29 FJR 277 : AIR 1965 Andh Pra 200 (213) (Pt J) (Pr 74) (DB).

"Circular letter."

—"Circular" means something addressed to a circle of persons and the meaning of 'cicrular letter' or 'circular' is notice, advertisement etc., reproduced for distribution. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 125 (3). AIR 1957 Mad 320 (DB).

"Circumstances and property."—Meaning of.

●—Tax on "Circumstances and property" is a composite tax—"Circumstances" means financial position, his status as a whole depending among other things on his income from trade or business. See Municipalities. U. P Town Areas Act (2 of 1914), S. 14 (1) (f). AIR 1957 SC 18.

"Citizenship."

●—Expressions "nationality" and "citizenship" are not interchangeable terms. Former has reference to jural relationship which may arise under international law while the latter has reference to jural relationship under municipal law—Further distinction pointed out. (1963) 2 SCJ 605 : AIR 1963 SC 1811 (1819) (Pt B) (Pr 18).

"Civil."

—"Civil proceeding" has not been defined in the Constitution and has to be given ordinary dictionary meaning — Word "Civil" when used as adjective to 'law' means pertaining to civil rights and remedies of citizen as distinguished from criminal, political etc. See Constitution of India, Art. 133 (1) (c). AIR 1959 All 607 (DB).

"Civil commotion."

—"Civil commotion" means an insurrection of the people for general purpose, though it might not amount to rebellion — Civil commotion might, technically speaking also constitute a "riot." AIR 1965 Madh Pra 32 (34) (Pr 8) (DB).

"Civil Court."

(2) Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 146.
(3) Hindu Succession Act (1956), S. 14 (2).

—"Civil Court"—Does not mean Court of District Judge—Suit under S. 8 (1), M. P. Public Trust Act, 1951, can be filed in ordinary Civil Court of competent jurisdiction. See M. P. Public Trust Act (30 of 1951), S. 8 (1). 1961 MPLJ 394.

—Courts which decide disputed rights between a subject and the State would be "civil Courts" as opposed to criminal Courts where the State vindicates wrongs committed against public. Courts constituted for deciding on purely civil questions between persons seeking their Civil rights must be considered to be civil Courts, notwithstanding that they are created by a special statute and are mentioned in that statue as distinct from Civil Courts. The true import of such a distinction is that while special Courts have jurisdiction over a limited class of suits specified in the statute the jurisdiction of the civil Courts is not limited to any class of suits. (1953) 1 MLJ 542 : 1953 Mad W N 200 : 66 Mad L W 287 : AIR 1954 Mad 340 (344, 345) (Pt E) (Prs 12, 13).

"Civil offence."

—"Civil Offences" are those punishable under laws applicable to those not subject to enactments similar to Air Force Act i.e., every offence of which magistrates can take cognizance as trial Courts See Air Force Act (1950), S. 71. 1964 (2) Cri L J 184 : A I R 1964 All 371.

"Civil proceeding."

See Constitution of India, Art. 133.

"Claim."

—Ordinarily word "claim" is used to mean substantive claim and not any costs when the latter are also intended to be covered the expression used is "claim and costs." See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 145. A I R 1955 NUC (Cal) 1085.

—Term "claim" is a word of very extensive signification embracing every species of legal demand. It includes "demand" and "debt". The word has been considered as word of art — It embraces action founded on tort as well as contract. See Banking Companies Act (1949 as amended), S. 45-A. AIR 1958 Mad 403.

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1962 Mad 75.]

●"Class."

In order that persons should form a "class" there must be a number of common attributes which bind them together to form a kind of unit readily and definitely ascertainable. See Press (Emergency Powers) Act (1931), S. 4 (1) (h). ILR (1951) 1 Cal 235 (SB).

—"Class and grade" — Class cannot be read as equivalent to grade. See Mysore Civil Service Commission (Consultation) Regulations (1958), Reg. 3. A I R 1963 Mys 219 (DB).

"Clearing."

—Word "clearing" in Ss. 5 and 26 of Forest Act must be interpreted to mean the act of cutting away and removing of the trees from a piece of forest land. Cutting away trees need not be for purposes of cultivation. See Forest Act (1927), S. 5. 1960 All L J 590 : 1960 All W R (HC) 462 : 1960 All Cri R 293 : 1961 (1) Cri L J 593 (All).

(2) Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 369.
(3) Representation of the People Act (1951) S. 33.

—Per Tek Chand J.:—"Clerical error" is an error which cannot reasonably be attributed to the exercise of judicial consideration or discretion. A "clerical error" is one made in transcribing or otherwise, and it must be apparent on the face of the record; and, therefore, capable of being corrected. It is, in the nature of, an inadvertent omission or mistake. The term "clerical error" is distinguishable from, a "judicial error" which can be corrected only on review or an appeal. "Cloth."

See Sales Tax—Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 3 (2) and (5) (iii).

"Coal."

—There is a distinction between a grant or reservation of "coal" and a grant or a reservation, as the case may be of a "mine". The word "coal" does not bear a definite meaning and its meaning must be gathered from the document under construction. AIR 1951 Pat 556 (563) (Pt E) (Pr 20) (DB).

"Cognizable."

See also Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 4 (1) (f).

—Word "cognizable" has not been defined in the Mysore Court-fees Act (1900) but 'cognizance' is explained to mean jurisdiction or right to try and determine causes. "The right to take notice of and determine a cause". See Mysore Court-fees Act (3 of 1900) (As amended by Act (18 of 1952), Sch. I, Art. 1 (a). AIR 1954 Mys 121 (DB).

"Cognizance."

—Taking cognizance of a case — Word "cognizance" used in S. 6 of the Hyderabad Jagirdars Debt Settlement Act, 1952, implies that before the Board can exercise specific powers conferred upon it, it should have seisin of the matter. Board will have taken cognizance if it applies its mind to any claim with a view to proceed in the manner provided in Act. See Debt Laws — Hyderabad Jagirdars' Debt Settlement Act (12 of 1952), S. 6. "Collection" of tax.

—Three expressions "levy", "assessment" and "collection" of tax embrace in their broad sweep all the proceedings which can possibly be imagined for raising money by exercise of the power of taxation.—See Constitution of India, Art. 265. AIR 1957 Punj 5. (DB).

"Collector"

See also General Clauses Act (1897), S. 3 (11).

—Expression "collector of the District" includes Deputy Commissioner. See Cotton Cess Act (1923), S. 2 (a). AIR 1975 Mys 73.

"Collector's office"

—Definition of "collector" in S. 3 (c) Land Acquisition Act discloses any person other than the collector or the Deputy Commissioner of a District can also be appointed to perform the functions of the Collector under the Act and that person will also be deemed to be a 'Collector' for purposes of the Act. That being so the expression "Collector's Office," in S. 12 of the Act includes the office of the Deputy Collector who holds an enquiry as the Land Acquisition officer under S. 11. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 12. AIR 1962 All 61.

"Collusion"

See also (1) Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9.
(2) Divorce Act (1869), S. 12.
(3) Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 23.

—"Collusion" is where two or more persons apparently in hostile position or having conflicting interests by arrangement do some act in order to injure a third person or deceive a court. It is a secret concert of action between two or more persons for the promotion of some fraudulent purpose and thereby accomplish a wrong. See Tenancy Law Punjab Village Common Lands (Regulation) Act (18 of 1961), S. 5. ILR (1962) 2 Punj 42.

"Colourable imitation".

See also (1) Penal Code (1860), S. 486.
(2) Trade and Merchandise Marks Act (1958), S. 29.
(3) Trade Marks Act (1940), S. 21.

—A Mark is said to be a "colourable imitation" of another mark when it is not realy an imitation of any other mark but just appears to be so and can pass off as such. 1958 Cri L J 1102: AIR 1958 All 645 (DB).

"Colourable legislation".

See also Constitution of India, Art. 246.

—The idea conveyed by expression "colourable legislation" is that although apparently the legislature in passing the statute purported to act within the limits of its power, yet in substance and reality transgressed those powers, the transgression being veiled by what appears on proper examination, to be a mere pretence or disguise. A dishonest motive cannot be imputed to legislature of the State and it cannot be held that it acted mala fide or maliciously in passing the impugned Act. AIR 1959 S C 308 Rel. on AIR 1960 Andh Pra 461 (464) (Pt C) (Pr 18) (DB).

●—Doctrine of "colourable legislation" does not involve any question of bona fides or mala fides on the part of the legislature. The whole doctrine resolves itself into a question of competency of a particular legislature to enact a particular law. If the legislature is competent to pass a particular law, the motives which impelled it to act is really irrelevant. On the other hand, if the legislature lacks competency, the question of motive does not arise at all. AIR 1953 S C 375 Relied on. See Tenancy Laws—Assam States Acquisition of Zamindaries Act (18 of 1951) (As amended by Assam Act VI of 1954), S. 1. ILR (1956) 8 Assam 379 (FB).

"Commencement of tenancy"

See also T. P. Act (1882), S. 105.

—The expression "Commencement of tenancy" in S. 73 (1), Berar Land Revenue Code must be held to refer to the original or the first tenancy under which the tenant or his predecessor entered into possession. See Berar Land Revenue Code (1928), S. 73 (1). AIR 1960 Bom 271 (FB).

"Commencing with immediate effect".

—Words "Commencing with immediate effect" in a notice of termination of service, mean commencing from date on which the notice was sevred and not from the date of its issue. AIR 1965 Him Pra 55 (58) (Pt C) (Pr 13).

"Commercial purpose".

—"Commercial purpose" covers an undertaking the object of which is to make a profit out of the undertaking. It is the aim and not the effect which has to be taken into consideration. Water works installed by licensee Municipal Board as part of statutory duty—Energy consumed by Board for water works is not for commercial purpose. See U. P. Electricity (Duty) Act (33 of 1952), S. 3, Expl. I. 1957 All LJ 496.

"Commercial venture".

—"Commercial venture" is a venture where capital is to be laid out on any work and a risk run of profit or loss. See Constitution of India, Arts. 31, 31A and 31B. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 522 (DB).

"Commission"

See (1) Companies Act (1956), S. 76 (1).
(2) Income-tax Act (1922), S. 10.

"Committing Magistrate".

—The words "Committing Magistrate" used in S. 287, Cr. P. C. simply mean the magistrate who commits the accused for trial and not necessarily the magistrate who holds an inquiry under Ch. 18 of the Code. The magistrate who commits the accused under S. 347 is a committing magistrate within meaning of S. 287. There is no justification for sayig that only that magistrate who commits under S. 213 is a committing magistrate. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 287. 1956 Cri L J 841: AIR 1956 All 385 (DB).

'Common ancestress".

—"Common ancestress" refered to in proviso (iii) to S. 35 (i) and S. 36 (2) (c) of the Mad. Aliyasanthana Act, 1949, is an ancestress in Kavaru common to all its remaining members and is not necessarily one who is an ancestress common to two or more Kavarus of family. See Madras Aliyasanthana Act (9 of 1949), S. 35 (i). ILR (1960) Mys 251.

"Common gaming house".

See (1) Calcutta Police Act (IV of 1860), S. 3.
(2) Public Gambling Act (1867), S. 1.

"Common object"

See Penal Code (1860), Ss. 34, 141 and 120A.

"Commorientes".

—"Commorientes" are person who perish at the same time in consequence of the same calamity. AIR 1963 Punj 66 (72) (Pt C) (Pr 21).

"Common utility"

—"Common utility" in S. 14 (1) (ee) U. P. Consolidation of Holdings Act (1954) means "Public utility". See Constitution of India, Art 31 (2). AIR 1957 AIR 297 (DB).

"Communal harmony".

—Person speaking in favour of interest of inhabitants of one particular province or State as against interest of those of another province or State cannot said as endangering "communal harmony" irrespective of the question whether such an act is proper or desirable. See Public Safety—W. B. Security Act, 19 of 1950, S. 2 (9) (a) (j). AIR 1951 Cal 424 (DB).

"Communicate."

—Expression "Communicate" in S. 39, Criminal P. C. is not synonymous with the expression "publish" which means "to make public,'. It means "to bestow, convey, make known, recount, to impart as to communicate information to any one." See Criminal P. C. (1928), S. 39 (2). 1956 Cri L J 1430 (1) : AIR 1956 Punj 254.

"Communication".

—"Communication" means bringing home to person communicated, active knowledge of facts. See Constitution of India, Art. 22 (5). 1962 (1) Cri L J 797: AIR 1962 S C 911.

—Word "Communication" in R. 8 of Slum Areas (Improvement and Clearance) Rules (1957) means furnishing of copy of order refusing permission. See Slum Areas (Improvement and Clearance) Rules (1957), R. 8. AIR 1965 Punj 315.

"Community."

See also Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 123 (3).

—Word "Community" is used in S. 10 (1), Cl. (8) Bikaner State Pre-emption Act has not been used in its widest but restricted meaning viz., "people orgnaised into a social unit". Persons belonging to Christian or Muslim religion will form communities by themselves. But in the case of Hindus, the restriction will have to go further because there are four well recognised 'varnas' among Hindus, each of which may be said to consist of a body of persons organised into a social unit. See Bikaner State Pre-emption Act (1 of 1919), S. 10 (1). AIR 1952 Raj 52 (DB).

"Commutation".

—Word "Commutation", in expression "commutation of pension" means interchange of two things or the buying off of an obligation by another obligation. It is in fact in the nature of a present value of a periodical payment expected to last an estimated number of years for which the Government purchases the obligation of having to make the said periodical payment for the said estimated number of years. See Constitution of India, Art, 14. AIR 1963 Mys 247 (DB).

"Company".

—A "Company" necessarily implies a voluntary association of persons who, under certain agreement or Articles of Association bind together to form a body or assamblage of persons for the purpose of carrying on any trade or business and are as such recognised and registered as company or in corporated as such under same statute. Mutual agreement or contract is of the very essence of the composition of a company. Merely because a body is incorporated under a statutory law, it does not become a company. A Board of the nature of Khadi Gram Udyog Board constituted under Rajasthan Khadi and Village Industries Board Act, 1955 is not a "Company" within the meaning of the Land Acquisition Act. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 3 (e). I L R (1961) 11 Raj 486.

"Compelled to answer".

—Witness being "Compelled to answer" — Meaning of words compelled to answer explained. See Penal Code (1860), S. 499. 1962 (2) Cri L J 193 : AIR 1962 Madh Pra 241 (DB).

"Compelled to give".

—'Compulsion' contemplated by the proviso to S. 132, Evidence Act, must arise out of the refusal of his prayer to be excused.' Giving evidence a is mattar of duty and not of compulsion. Duty cannot be treated as compulsion. See Evidence Act (1872), S. 132, Proviso. 1960 Cri L J 1285 : AIR 1960 All 606 (DB).

"Compelling reasons".

—Interference with order of acquittal—There must be "Compelling reasons" to show that the trial Court has grossly misconducted itself in the appreciation of evidence on record — Expression "compelling reasons" is not intended to place any restriction or impose any limitation on the appellate court's power. It has full powers to review the entire evidence. See Cr. P. Code (1898), S. 417. 1963 (2) Cri L J 216 (Ker).

"Compensation".

See (1) Assam Land (Requisition and Acquisition) Act (1948), S. 7.
(2) Constitution of India, Arts. 31, 31-A and 31-B.
(3) J & K. Limitation Act (1995 Smvt.), Art. 86.
(4) Land Acquisition Act (1894), S 34.
(5) Municipalities — U. P. Nagar Mahapalika Adhiniyam (1959), Sch. II.

"Compensation for loss of employment".

Expression "Compensation for loss of employment" used in Explanation 2 to S. 7, Income tax Act refers to any payment made, whether under legal liability or voluntarily to compensate or act as a solatium for the loss of employmet suffered by the employer. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 7 Expl. 2. AIR 1958 Bom 212 (DB).

"Competency to worship".

—The expression "competency to worship" is to be construed as having reference to actual incompetency according to the directions of the founder or according to the religious persuasion of the person clamining the right. See Hindu Law. AIR 1955 N U C (Orissa) 1111.

"Competent Court".

See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 11.

"Competent to remove him from his office."

—The words "competent to remove him from his office" in S. 6 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, show clearly that the authority contemplated therein is the one competent to remove that public servant from his office and not any public servant holding the office held by the accused person. See Prevention of Corruption Act (1947), S. 6. AIR 1956 Bhopal 36.

"Complaint"

See also Criminal P. C. (1898), Ss. 4 (1) (h), 195, 200, 417.

—Word "Complaint" in S. 48, Madras Prohibition Act is wider than that defined in S. 4 (1) (h) Criminal P. C. and includes a police report. 1960 M W N 317.

—Panchayats—Bombay Village Panchayats Act (6 of 1933), Ss. 87, 75 (a)—Word "Complaint" in S. 87 — Meaning of — Does not include Police report — Charge-sheet presented by Police before Magistrate—Latter returning it for presentation to Nyaya Panchayat — Order set aside See Panchayats — Bombay Village Panchayats Act (6 of 1933), S. 87. 1962 Nag L J 130.

"Complaint of facts constituting such offences".

—The plain meaning of expression "on a complaint of facts constituting such offence" made by person affected thereby" in S. 82, Bombay Industrial Relations Act as adapted in Madhya Bharat is on a complaint of facts constituting such offence made by a person whose position in respect of any of the rights, benefits or privileges conferred by the Act has been altered or injuriously vexed by the alleged offence. See Bombay Industrial Relations Act (11 of 1937), S. 82. 1957 Cri L J 513 : AIR 1957 Madh Pra 26 (DB).

"Component."

—For an article of food to be called a component part within meaning of S. 3 (3), Madras General Sales Tax Act prior to amendment by Madras Act 44 of 1961 it is not necessary that even after it becomes part of another article it should still retain its identity — All that is necessary to make an article a "component part" is that it should go into the composition of another article — Groundnut oil used in manufacture of vanaspati or soap is a component part of vanaspati or soap. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (1 of 1959), S. (3). (1964) 15 S T C 734 (Mad).

"Compromise".

See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 23, R. 3.

"Compulsory retirement.".

See (1) Constitution of India, Arts. 309-311.
(2) Punjab Civil Service Rules (1959).

"Computation" and "benefit."

—Word "computation" in S. 20 (2), Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, might imply that it was a benefit other than a pecuniary benefit that was contemplated — Expression "benefit" in S. 20 (2) is wide enough to include any benefit which has accrued to the worker under the terms of a valid and enforceable award —Scale of wages is a benefit under the award. See Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act (1950), S. 20 (2). (1956) 1 Mad L J 226.

"Computed."

—Word "computed" in S. 33-C (2), Industrial Disputes Act is not to be understood only as involving complex process of arithmetic or calculation — It merely means calculation simple or otherwise. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 33-C (2). AIR 1965 Mad 450 (DB).

"Concealment."

See (1) Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 109.

"Conclusive evidence."

See (1) Evidence Act (1872), S. 3.
(2) Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 6 (3).

"Conclusive proof."

See Evidence Act (1872), S. 3.

"Concubine"

See Madras Hindu (Bigamy Prevention and Divorce) Act (6 of 1949), S. 5 (1).

"Concur."

—Concurrence is a stronger word than "consult" used in Art. 320, Constitution of India — "Consult" does not mean "concur." See Constitution of India, Art. 320. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 135 (DB).

"Concurrent jurisdiction."

—The expression "concurrent jurisdiction" in S. 3 (1) of Provincial Insolvency Act (1920), only means that even though a Court subordinate to a District Court may be invested with jurisdiction under the Act, the District Court would still continue to possess jurisdiction under the Act. See Provincial Insolvency Act (1920), S. 75 (1). AIR 1959 Bom 74 (DB).

"Conduct in the discharge of his public functions."
See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 198-B.

"Confectionery" and "biscuits."
—"Confectionery" is a sweetmeat, while biscuit is in the nature of dry bread which has the characteristic of being baked. It cannot therefore be said that biscuit and confectionery are identical. 1963 Mad W N 567 : (1963) 2 Mad L J 311: AIR 1963 Mad 460 (463) (Pt C) (Pr 17) (DB).

"Conferment of power."
—Where power is conferred or a duty imposed by statute or otherwise and there is nothing said expressly inhibiting the exercise of the power or the performance of the duty by any limitation or restrictions, it is reasonable to hold that it comes with it the power of doing all such acts or employing such means as are reasonably necessary for such execution. "Confirm."
—The word "confirm", sometimes means verify. The word is commonly used in that sense at meetings of public bodies, which confirm the minutes of their last meeting, not meaning thereby that they give them force, but merely that they declare them accurate. AIR 1966 All 45 (56) (Pt L) (Pr 42).

"Confirmed."
—Word "confirmed" in S. 126 (3), Calcutta Port Act cannot be construed to mean to "confirm as a whole as it is or not at all." A I R 1961 Cal 365, Reversed. See Calcutta Port Act (1890), S. 126. A I R 1962 Cal 530 (DB).

"Confiscate."
—"Confiscate" is not synonymous with "forfeit." See Travancore Abkari Act (4 of 1073), S. 51-A. I L R (1961) 1 Ker 374.

"Connection by marriage."
—"Connection by marriage" referred to in Explanation in R. 3 framed with reference to S. 156 (1), C. P. Land Revenue Act refers not only to the marriage of ex-kotwar but also to the marriage of his female relative. See C. P. Land Revenue Act (2 of 1917), S. 197. 1951 N L J 572 (Rev).

"Connivance"
See (1) Divorce Act (1869), S. 14.
(2) Penal Code (1860), S. 497.

"Consent."
—"Consent" in law means an affirmative positive act and "assent" means passivity or inaction; the express "consent" has come to acquire a somewhat peculiar meaning under Hindu Law. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 6. AIR 1958 Punj 250 (DB).
—Consent and connivance — Word "consent" used in S. 100, Representation of the People Act, after its amendment is in no way stronger than the word 'connivance' used before the amendment, 'consent' is a legal term and is wider in import as it includes both express and implied consent. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 100 (1) (b). A I R 1953 Raj 324 (DB).

"Consent in writing."
—Expression "consent in writing" in S. 153-C (3), Companies Act, 1913 as amended in 1951, implies that the writing itself should indicate that the persons who have fixed their signatures have applied their minds to the question before them and have given their consent to certain action being taken. See Companies Act (1913) as amended by Act (52 of 1951), S. 153-C (3). AIR 1953 All 326.

"Consideration."

(3) Houses and Rents — W. B. Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Act (17 of 1950), S. 9 (1) (f).

"Consult."
—Word "consult" in Art. 320 of the Constitution means that a certain statutory preliminary ought to be performed before the act is done. See Constitution of India, Art. 320. A I R 1958 Madh Pra 135 (DB).
—"Consult" implies a conference of two or more persons or the impact of two or more minds brought about in respect of a topic with a view to evolve a correct or at least a satisfactory solution. It must be directed to the essential points of the subject under discussion and enable the consultor to consider the pros and cons before coming to a decision. The consultation may be between an uninformed person and an expert or between two experts. (1953) 1 M L J 88 : 66 Mad L W 53 : A I R 1953 Mad 392 (392, 393) (Pt A) (Pr 2).

"Consume."
See Prohibition — Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949), S. 66 (1) (b).

"Consumer".
— Words "consumer", "consumed", "consumption" are all cognate and when one is defined, the contents of the definition go into all of them wherever they occur in the same Act. Expressions "supplied to a consumer" or "supplied for consumption" involve the same idea, namely of actually using up the power. Where it comes from is altogether immaterial — It may come from a power plant owned by some body else. See C. P. and Berar Electricity Duty Act (10 of 1949), S. 3. AIR 1959 Madh-Pra 365 (DB).

"Consumption".
See Constitution of India, Art. 286 (1), Explanation; Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 84.

"Consumption, use or sale therein".
See Municipalities — Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act (18 of 1925) (As amended by Bombay Act 35 of 1954), S. 73 (1) (iv). AIR 1963 S C 906.

"Contempt of Court".
See Contempt of Courts Act (1952), S. 3.

"Contesting candidate".

See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 82 (a).

"Contiguous".

— Word "contiguous." in S. 24 (1) (b) of W. B. Non-Agricultural Tenancy Act means "touching in close contact, next in place". The secondary and loose meaning "neighbouring or situated in close proximity (though not in actual contact)" should not be given to the word unless there is something compelling in that behalf in the subject or context. See Tenancy Laws — West Bengal Non-Agricultural Tenancy Act (20 of 1949), S. 24 (1). (1956) 98 Cal L J 159.

"Contingency staff".

— Employees on "Contingency staff" are employed not in regular employment but employment merely incidental to an office for the period during which they have actually worked as no bill for any other period can be certified for payment. Such employees cannot claim to remain in employment when the work for which they are employed ceases to exist or they do not actually do the work or job. See Constitution of India, Art. 311. AIR 1955 Pepsu 25.

—A permanent incapacity for work due to old age infirmity is a case of continued ill health as envisaged in Cl. (c) of S. 2 (oo) of Industrial Disputes Act (1947). See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (oo), Cl. (c). AIR 1960 Pat 554 (DB).

"Continuing offence".

— "Continuing offence" means an offence that continues from moment to moment without any interruption or break. Giving daily exhibitions by means of a cinematograph in an unlicensed building is not a continuing offence — The act continues so long as the exhibition lasts. See U. P. Cinemas (Regulation) Act (3 of 1956), S. 3. 1961 (1) Cri L J 202 : AIR 1961 All 88.

— The expression "continuing offence" though not a very happy expression, has acquired a well-recognised meaning in criminal law. If an act committed by an accused person constitutes an offence and if that act continues from day to day, then from day to day a fresh offence is committed by the accused so long as the act continues. Normally and in the ordinary course an offence is committed only once. But there may be offences which can be committed from day to day and it is offences falling in this latter category that are described as continuing offences.

In every case of a continuing offence it may be possible to describe the default as amounting to an omission or to a positive act on the part of the defaulter. Hence the distinction between a default which consists of an omission to do an act and a default which consists in failure to comply with a discretion to do a positive act may not be very helpful in determining the character of a continuing offence. Observations of Bhagwati, J., in AIR 1952 Bom 146, Doubted. 1955 Cri L J 666 : (1956) 2 Lab L J 153 : ILR (1955) Bom 192 : 56 Bom L R 1172 : AIR 1955 Bom 161 (163, 164, 165) (Pt C) (Prs 5, 8) (DB).

— "Cotinuing offence" in Mines Act, S. 73—Meaning explained. See Mines Act (1952), S. 73. 1957 Cri L J 834 : AIR 1957 Cal 483 (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1961 SC 1543.]

— Concept underlying the word "continuing" is the same whether it is considered in relation to breaches of contract or wrongs independent of contracts, or offences, the concept being that so far as breaches and wrongs are concerned, they give rise to a fresh cause of action de die in diem so long as the wrongful state of affairs subsists and so far as offences are concerned they give rise to a fresh offence de die in diem so long as the omission which has been made Penal is not rectified. S. 23 Limitation Act does not apply in respect of offence. See Criminal Trial — Offence. 1962 (2) Cri L J 485 : AIR 1962 Madh-Pra 311 (DB).

— "Continuing offence" — Meaning of stated. Se Madras Factories Act (1948), S. 6. 1958 Cri L J 524 : AIR 1958 Mad 155.

— The expression "continuing offence" means that, if an act or omission on the part of an accused constitutes an offence, and if that act or omission continues from day to day, then a fresh offence is committed on every day on which the act or omission continues. State v. Kunja Behari Chandra. 1954 Cri L J 1187 : 1954 B L J R 459 : ILR 33 Pat 507 : AIR 1954 Pat 371 (374, 375) (Pt D) (Prs 12) (FB).

See also Contract Act (1872), S. 10.

— Lease is included in "contract". AIR 1957 Hyd 27 (28) (Pt B) (Pr 3) (DB).

— Word "contract" in proviso to S. 4 (1) of the East Punjab General Sales Tax Act means a contract as defined in the Contract Act and is not limited by the definition under S. 2 (c) of the East Punjab General Sales Tax Act. See Sales Tax — E. P. General Sales Tax Act (46 of 1948), S. 4 (1), Proviso. (1963) 65 Punj L R 24.

"Contract made with committee".

— Words "contract made with committee" in S. 48, Punjab Municipal Act do not include transfer of interest in immovable property. See Municipalities — Punjab Municipal Act (3 of 1911), S. 48. 1964 Cur L J 350 (Punj).

"Contract of service".

There is in law a well-established distinction between a "contract of services" and a "contract of service". In the one case master can order or require what is to be done, while in the other case he cannot only order or require what is to be done but how it shall be done. Test for determining whether contract is one of employment indicated. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 123 (7). AIR 1957 S C 444.

"Contract to the contrary."

—A contract to be a "contract to the contrary" within the meaning of the expression in S. 61, T. P. Act, should state that the mortgagor is prevented from exercising his right conferred under S. 61, T. P. Act and is obliged to redeem all the mortgages together. See Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 61. A I R 1956 Mad 434 (DB).

"Contribution" and "reimbursement."

—There is a clear distinction between claim for "contribution" and a claim for "reimbursement"—The former is based on the payment of common liability of two or more persons by one of them and the latter, on is based on the payment of the liability of one or more persons by another who is interested in making the payment but is not legally bound to pay. See Contract Act (1872), S. 69. A I R 1961 Pat 103.

"Contribution to the assets of society."

—The phrase "Contribution to the assets of society" in S. 42, Co-operative Societies Act refers to the liability of the members of the society to contribute to the assets in the event of the winding up of the society. See Co-operative Societies — Co-operative Societies Act (1912), S. 42 (4-A). A I R 1959 All 733.

"Control."

—The word "control" is not confined to mere regulation. It is more comprehensive and includes dominion or command over inferior. See Cinematograph Act (1918), S. 5 (3). A I R 1956 All 99 (DB).

—"Control" under Arms Act means that the accused must have power over the weapon so that he can direct its custody, production, use or disposal in some manner. See Arms Act (1878) S. 19 (f). 1957 Cri L J 1091 : A I R 1957 Andh Pra 758 (DB).

—Mysore Stamp Act (1900), S. 56 (1) — Word "control" in the section has not only reference to administrative control which may be exercised by the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority but also to the judicial control which he may exercise in his revisional jurisdiction. See Stamp Act (1899) S. 56 (1). (1963) 1 Mys L J 174.

—Word "control" in Cls. (23) and (26) of S. 3 (2), Defence of India Act, scope of indicated. See Defence of India Rules (1962), R. 125 (2). A I R 1964 Punj 307 (DB).

—Merely because word "control" has been used in S. 5, Punjab Cinemas (Regulation) Act, which is capable of being taken in the wider sense of command or direction, its true meaning and import should not be confined to that sense alone. See Punjab Cinemas (Regulation) Act (11 of 1952), S. 5. (1961) 63 Punj L R 580 : I L R (1961) 2 Punj 831.

"Controlling interest."

—"Controlling interest" contemplated by S. 2 (21), Excess Profits Tax Act, means extent to which shareholders have power of controlling the decisions of the company by votes at a general meeting. Fact that beneficial interest in the share is in a third party or the fact that a vote catching share is vested in a director as trustee is immaterial. See Excess Profits Tax Act, S. 2 (21). (1951) 55 Cal W N 237.

[Reversed on another point in A I R 1953 S C 473.]

—Words "controlling interest" in the company occurring in the preamble of the Orissa Motor Vehicles (Regulation of Stage Carriage and Public Carriers Services) Act, 1947, has got a definite connotation in Company law. It does not mean controlling interest of the State and the Union Government, in the company is limited to financial interest only. See Orissa Motor Vehicles (Regulation of State Carriage and Public Carriers Services) Act (36 of 1947). A I R 1952 Orissa 42 (DB).

"Convene."

—Words "to convene meeting" used in S. 22 (7), A. P. Panchayat Samithis and Zilla Parishads Act, has a definite meaning. Mere fixing of date and issuing notice to members is not enough. See Panchayats — Andhra Pradesh Panchayat Samithis and Zilla Parishads Act (35 of 1959), S. 22 (7). (1964) 2 Andh W R 375.

"Conviction."

—Word "conviction" in Constitution of India, Art. 311 (2), Proviso (a) — Proviso (a) contemplates "conviction" finally and not by trial Court. See Constitution of India, Art. 311 (2), Proviso (a). A I R 1965 Punj 153.

"Co-opt."

—The word "co-opt" in R. 4, U. P. Disciplinary Proceedings (Administrative Tribunal) Rules, means to elect into a body by the votes of existing members. See U. P. Disciplinary Proceedings (Administrative Tribunal) Rules (1947), R. 4. A I R 1960 All 754.

"Coparcenary property."

—Words "coparcenery property" in S. 19, Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act cannot mean "coparcenery property" as understood in Mitakshara Hindu Law. See Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act (1956), S. 19. A I R 1964 Punj 393 (DB).

"Copy."

—Word "copy" in S. 81 (3), Representation of the People Act does not mean an absolutely exact copy but means that the copy shall be so true that no body can by any possibility misunderstand it. Tests to see whether copy is a true copy is whether any variation from the original is calculated to mislead an ordinary person. Murarka Radhay Sham v. Rup Singh, (1964) 1 S C A 688 : A I R 1964 S C 1545 (1550, 1551) (Pt D) (Pr 11).

—Whether a "copy" in a particular section means a plain copy or a certified copy must depend on the subject or the context in which the word is used. In some cases it is intended to serve as a notice. Having regard to the context and the purpose of S. 419, Criminal P. C., the copy to be filed along with the petition of appeal, must be a certified copy. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 419. 1958 Cri L J 809 : A I R 1958 S C 414.

—Word "copy" means nothing more than a true reproduction, it is a transcript or double of an original writing. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 33 (5). A I R 1958 Ker 154 (DB).

"Corporation."

—One of the tests to see whether an institution is a corporation or a department of the Government, is to enquire whether the undertaking functions as a responsible independent organisation and not as part of any department of State. Another test would be to see whether it is endowed with the capacity to contract obligations and of suing or being sued. Further, the power to possess use and change a seal is incidental to a corporation and a corporation aggregate can, as a general rule, only act or express its will by deed under its common seal. A I R 1963 Andh Pra 479 (483) (Pr 14) (DB).

"Cotton cloth manufactured on hand-looms".

—Literal meaning of 'cotton cloth' would be cloth made of cotton — Embelishments in texture by use of negligible quantity of other fabric such as jari or silk — Cloth would still be cotton cloth — Where embelishment is substantial causing substantial increase in price, it would not be cotton cloth — It is a question of fact as to whether progress with jari border or pallas are cotton cloth or otherwise. This will equally apply to silk or artificial silk. See Sales Tax — Madhya Bharat Sales Tax Act (30 of 1950), S. 4 (2). AIR 1956 Madh Bha 214 (DB).

●"Could" and 'did'.

—Averment that respondent "could" in furtherance of his election enlist support of Government servant —"Could" can only mean that respondent was in a position to enlist support of Government servants — It does not amount to averment that in fact the respondent enlisted their support — Difference between "could" and "did" is too elementary to be mistaken. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 123 (8). AIR 1957 SC 444.

'Counterfeit'.

"Cowle".

—Use of the word "Cowle" in a grant is not in any way derogatory to the complete interest being created in favour of the grantee. See Tenancy laws—Madras Estates Land Act (1 of 1908), S. 3 (5). (1957) 2 An W R 420.

"Creditor".
See also Tenancy laws — Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act (26 of 1948), S 45.

—Definition of "creditor" in S. 2 (a), Presidency Towns Insolvency Act is inclusive one and not exhaustive. It includes assignee of a decree-holder. See Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (1909), S. 9 (1). AIR 1955 Bom 77 (DB).

—Word "creditors" in S. 6 (b), Provincial Insolvency Act means creditors of debtor generally and not some particular creditor or creditors. See Provincial Insolvency Act (1920), S. 6 (b). AIR 1958 Cal 319 (DB).

"Criminal charge".
See Constitution of India, Art. 311 (2). Proviso (a).

"Criminal law"—Meaning".

—Item "criminal law" in Entry 1, List 3 of Sch. 7 of the Constitution includes all matters included in the Indian Penal Code at the commencement of the Constitution, some of which offences are against public tranquillity and affecting public safety. Wilfully burning copy of the Indian Constitution or wilfully desecrating or insulting it, is likely to disturb public tranquillity and in a broad sense may affect public safety. On this view S. 5 of the Madras Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act, passed by the State Legislature is within the legislative competence of the state legislature. See Madras Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act (14 of 1957), S. 5. 1965 (1) Cri L J 49 : AIR 1965 Mad 11 (DB).

"Criminal misconduct."

—A public servant is said to commit an offence of criminal misconduct in the discharge of his duty, if he by corrupt or illegal means or by otherwise abusing his position as a public servant obtains for himself or for any other person any valuable thing or pecuniary advantage. Dishonest production of a false person before the officer by a public servant in the discharge of his duty and getting him paid certain sum which he was not entitled to receive would amount to "criminal misconduct" and would be covered by the term corruption—See Constitution of India, Art. 311. ILR (1965) 1 Punj 651 : 67 Pun L R 404 : A I R 1966 Punj 175.

"Criminal proceeding"

"Crop or other product raised on land".

—Trees are not crop. What is meant by expression "crop or other product raised on the land" must be what is familiarly known in the law as "emblements. Trees planted on Government land by a trespasser are not "crop". See under Travancore Land Conservancy Act (4 of 1091), S. 9. 1965 Ker L T 666 : (1965) 1 Ker L R 489 : 1965 Ker L J 858 : ILR (1965) 2 Ker 173 : AIR 1966 Ker 72 (DB).

"Crushing Season"

—The expression "Crushing Season" in relation to Sugar Factory in U. P. has to be construed in its ordinary meaning unless it is shown that in the the industry it has acquired some other sense. It means merely the period during which the crushing operations are carried on and not the period during which the Factory was actually working. The crushing season must deemed to have ended on the date on which the crushing operations in the sugar factory came to an end and not on the date on which the manufacturing process in the factory came to and end — See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Sch. 3 Item 4. (1963) 2 S C J 488 : (1963) 3 S C R 571 : AIR 1967 S C 161.

"Cultivable land"

—Waste land covered with shrubs and jungle is not uncultivable lands merely on account of that or on account of its not being cultivated for a long time — Land which can be brought under cultivation without undue expenditure of money and labour is cultivable land unless some provision of law provides for holding it otherwise in certain circumstances. AIR 1965 S C 338 (340) (Pt B) (Pr 5).

"Cultivating" and "Agriculture"

—Meaning of words "cultivaling" and "agriculture" in S. 2, Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act explained—Grass naturally grown on land— Fencing of land and keeping watchman is not cultivation. See Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), S. 2. AIR 1955 N U C (Bom) 2318 (DB).

"Cultivating tenant"

—A person who takes on lease for enjoyment of the usufruct of the cashewnut plantation thereon is a cultivating tenant. See Tenancy Laws — Madras Cultivating Tenants Protection Act (25 of 1955), S. 2 (a). (1960) 2 Mad L J 475.

—In order to be a "cultivating tenant" or a 'tenant' a person should not be the owner of the land and he should hold the land under tenancy agreement express or implied. Such agreement need not be directly with the owner of the land. See Tenancy Laws — (Madras) Tanjore Tenants and Pannaiyals Protection Act (4 of 1952), S. 2 (d). A I R 1954 Mad 805.

"Cultivator"

—See Cattle Trespass Act (1871), S. 10. 1960 Cr L J 932 : AIR 1960 Mad 331.

—"Cultivator" means person who tills or produces by tillage or prepares for crop. See Tenancy Laws— Chota-Nagpur Tenancy Act, S. 64. AIR 1955 N U C (Raj) 5001.

"Culvert"

—Tariff Act (1934), Sch. 1, Item 63 (9)—"Culvert" would come under expression "bridges." See Tariff Act (1934), Sch. I, Item 63 (9). AIR 1958 Cal 630.

"Curative statutes" —Meaning explained.

—"Curative statutes" are those which attempt to cure or correct errors and irregularities in judicial or administrative proceedings and which seek to give effect to contracts and other transactions between private persons which otherwise would fail to produce their intended consequence on account of some statutory disability or failure to comply with some technical requirement. 1950 Mad W N 24 : (1950) 1 Mad L J 508 : 1950 Mad W N (Cri) 4 : 51 Cri L J 754 : A I R 1950 Mad 324 (329, 330) (Pt C) (Pr 7) (DB).

"Cut"

—"Cut"—Cuts any electric supply line —Meaning of —See Electricity Act (1940), S. 40. A I R 1955 N U C (Raj) 4060.

"Damage".

—Word "damage" connotes a genus while deterioration and destruction connote bad species. See Railways Act (1890), S. 77. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 301 (DB).

—The word 'Damage' in Item 50 of Iron and Steel Control Price Circular issued by the Government of India, is not to be read by itself but as part of the phrase 'damaged but re-utilisable'. 'Re-utilisable' is a simple word meaning capable of being used again and implies previous use. 60 Punj L R 355: AIR 1958 Punj 270 (273) (Pt B) (Pr 13) (DB).

—The jurisprudential meaning of word "damages" is that it is nothing more than the compensation which the Court determines in the circumstances of each case for the injury or loss which has been sustained by the other party — Claim for damages when becomes "debt" within meaning of S. 2 (6), Displaced Persons (Debt Adjustment) Act, 1951, indicated. See Debt Laws — Displaced Persons (Debt Adjustment) Act (1951), S. 2 (6). AIR 1956 Punj 174 (DB).

"Damdati".

—It does not mean threat but may mean persuasion by sweet talk alternated by rough talk. A I R 1955 NUC (Raj) 525 (DB).

—"Ruinous" or "dangerous" in relation to a house means that the house may come down at any time. It does not mean that it must come down or that the fact that it has not come down for some years makes it less dangerous. See Municipalities — Indore Municipal Act, S. 71. 1960 M P L J 697.

"Dangerous part of a machinery".

See Factories Act (1948), S. 21 (1).

"Darobasthu".

—The word 'darobasthu" in the grant gives an indication as to the character of the grant that was contained in the permanent cowle. See Tenancy Laws —Madras Estates Land Act (1 of 1908), S. 3 (5). (1957) Andh W R 420.

"Date".

—"Date" means "Close of day" — Magistrate passing order under S. 251A (11), Criminal P. C. very soon after taking his seat in Court — Magistrate is in error in doing so. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 251A (7). 1965 All Cri R 471: 1965 All W R (HC) 686.

"Date fixed for general election or bye-election."

—"Date fixed for general election" or bye-election", does not mean date fixed for filing nomination papers. See Panchayats—M. P. Gram Panchayats Election and Co-option Rules (1963), R. 11 (6). AIR 1965 Madh Pra 251 (DB).

"Date of award".

See (1) Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 18 (2), Proviso (b).
(2) Cochin Land Acquisition Act (1070), S. 17.

"Date of order".

—Court passing order in absence of party without having previously informed it of the day on which it was going to be passed — Date of passing the order is not a starting point for limitation — Limitation starts from the date on which the party in question came for the first time to know as to when the order was passed. See Civil. P. C. (1908), S. 115. A I R 1953 Bilaspur 9.

—"Date of the order" — May mean date of receipt of order. See Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy Act (29 of 1939), S. 25. A I R 1955 N U C (Bom) 6056 (DB).

—In case of parties, "date of the order" of adjudication is the date of order, because they would have known of the prononcement—In case of third parties the starting point would be the date of Gazette notification which would fix them with knowledge of the order. See Provincial Insolvency Act (1920), S. 75 (4). AIR 1953 Mad 465.

——Word "Davao" may mean claim—Words "Mahesul adalat" do not include any executive officer collecting revenue — Only express legal provision will make executive authority Revenue Court.

—The word "Davao" may mean claim (and objections) for it cannot properly be said that there were any suits at all before any Revenue Court before the Act came into force. But it cannot be held that the expression "Mahesul adalat" includes any executive officer collecting revenues. When those words are deliberately used they must refer to a Revenue Authority on whom the power of entertaining claims objection and petitions and of investigating into them, in a manner resembling the manner of investigation by Courts and of deciding on them after due consideration, is conferred by any law for the time being in force. The words "Mahesul adalat" cannot refer to any office less than that. Only an express legal authority will make an executive authority a Revenue Court. AIR 1950 Kutch 8 (8) (Pt B) (Pr 3).

"Dawa".

—The Kannada expression 'Dawa' does not mean only the plaint. It actually comprehends the suit itself, or the dispute which is brought to Court for adjudication in a proceeding which is called a suit. (1965) 2 Mys L J 87 : AIR 1967 Mys 147 (150) (Pt C) (Pr 16).

"Day"

—"Day" contemplated by Rr. 1 and 2 of O. 17, Civil P. C., is "day" other than the "day" on which the suit had been taken up before the grant of adjournment. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 9, R. 9. 1965 All L J 575.

—Order of detention passed on 29th May 1960 — Order would lapse on midnight between 10th and 11th May 1960 — Order of approval by State Government on 11th May 1960 is of no avail — In computation of twelve days, "day" on which order of detention was passed will be included. See Public Safety — Preventive Detention Act (1950), S. 3 (3). ILR (1961) 1 All 427.

"Dealing and transport."

—Dealing means engaging in a business of purchase, sale, storage or distribution; distribution in this context means distribution to purchasers. Transport is the taking away from place to place by the owner of the property. It may be that the person transporting is a dealer and really transports the article with a view to distributing it. But the two acts are different. 1953 Cri L J 70 : AIR 1952 Vindh Pra 86 (87) (Pt B) (Pr 5).

"Dealing with offences."

—Words "dealing with offences" in S. 13 (1) of the Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act, cannot be taken to mean something separate and distinguishabie from the process of investigation though it has been found convenient to give separate labels whenever necessary to the different facets of police activity. See Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act (1956), S. 13 (1). 1961 (1) Cri L J 361: AIR 1962 Punj 91.

—Debt and liability — There is distinction between them — Dividend when proposed does not become "debt" but becomes "debt" when declared—Case for provision for taxation is a liability. See Companies Act (1956), S. 211. AIR 1961 Cal 649.

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1965 Cal 70].

—Substance of a loan is a right in the creditor to demand payment and the substance of a "debt" is a liability upon the "debtor" to repay the money. See Debt Laws — Bengal Agricultural Debtor's Act (7 of 1937), S. 2 (8). (1952) 56 C W N 728 : AIR 1953 Cal 232.

—The term "debt" is no doubt commonly used to describe liabilities which have an origin in contract but the connotation of that term should not be restricted to such liabilities only. Anything due and payable is a "debt" When money is paid to a person who is not entitled to it, under the mistaken impression that the money was due to him, there is an obligation on him to refund the money and such liability must be deemed to have arisen on the date of the payment itself.

Such a liability to refund if incurred during the Japanese occupation period in Malaya, would fall within the definition of occupation debt in Malayan Ordinance (42 of 1948). 74 Mad L W 145:1961 Mad W N 210 : 1 L R (1961) Mad 427:AIR 1961 Mad 438 (442) (Pt C) (Pr 12) (DB).

—Word "debt" evidently is independent of the liability created by the decree itself. In the absence of any specific definition, it has to be given the ordinary connotation of a loan, which as commonly understood, is an advance of money or in kind at interest. It does not include a claim for damages but a liquidated money demand. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 115. AIR 1957 Nag 97 (DB).

"Debt due."

—The expression "a debt due" means that a particular liability is in existence. 'Due' does not emphasise the moment of time when that liability is to be discharged but emphasises the existence of the debt and not the time when the debt is to be discharged. 'Debt due' is not the same as "debt recoverable" or "debt payable". See Debt Laws — Bombay Agricultural Debtors' Relief Act (28 of 1947), S. 17 (1) (b). A I R 1953 Bom 196.

"Debtor."

—Bombay Money-lenders Act (31 of 1947), S. 30(1)—Purchaser of equity of redemption of mortgage at court sale — Not a debtor. See Debt Laws—Bombay Money-lenders Act (31 of 1947), S. 30 (1). (1962) 3 Guj L R 1002.

●—Transferee of equity of redemption, if a debtor. See Debt Laws — Usurious Loans Act (1918), S. 3. AIR 1955 Pat 494 (FB).

"Debt owed'—Meaning of.

See Wealth Tax Act (1957), S. 2 (m).

"Debt payable."

●—Expression "Debt payable" by an agriculturist at commencement of this Act in S. 7, Madras Agriculturists Relief Act, interpreted — AIR 1960 Mad 207, Overruled. See Debt Laws — Madras Agriculturists Relief Act (4 of 1938), S. 7. AIR 1961 Mad 313 (F B).

"Debts provable"

See Provincial Insolvency Act (1920), S. 78 (2). AIR 1960 Andh Pra 257 (DB).

"Decency."

—Words "decency" and 'morality' are not well understood — Their precise meaning might be differently understood—S. 9, Punjab Security of the State Act imposing restriction on freedom of speech and expression in the interest of "decency" and 'morality' without clearly specifying the prohibited acts — Whether restrictions are reasonable or not, cannot be decided — Restrictions are both vague and unreasonable and to this extent S. 9 is invalid. See Public Safety — Punjab Security of the State Act (12 of 1953), S. 9. AIR 1956 Ajmer 52.

"Decides."

—"Decide" does not imply "try or hear" — It means something altogether different which follows after the trial or the hearing is complete. See Debt Laws — Madhya Pradesh Money-lenders Act (13 of 1934), S. 7 (a). 1962 M P C 292.

—Decision involves hearing all parties concerned. See Orissa Education Code, Art. 107. AIR 1959 Orissa 196 (DB).

"Decision."

—Per Agarwala J. — "Decision" of a Cane Commissioner or the 'award' of an arbitrator in sub-rr. (6), (8) under S. 30, U. P. Sugar Factories Control Act, are inter-changeable terms — Both are one and the same thing. Per Mootham J. — To hold that 'award' of arbitrator includes "decision" of Cane Commissioner would involve injustifiable straining of language. See U. P. Sugar Factories Control Act (1 of 1938), S. 30. AIR 1956 All 725 (DB).

—Word "decision" in S. 5A, Land Acquisition Act is not determinative of the question whether act is administrative act or quasi-judicial act. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 5-A. AIR 1963 Guj 50 (DB).

—"Decision" under O. 17, R. 3, Civil P. C. must be on merits. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 17, R. 3. AIR 1963 Him Pra 30.

●—Word "decision" in Art. 133 (1) of the Constitution is equivalent to word 'decree.' It embraces final determination on all claims put forward in controversy between parties in suit or proceedings. See Constitution of India, Art. 133 (1). AIR 1956 Pat 325 (FB).

"Declaration."

—"Declaration" in S. 75 (1), Railways Act means a written communication by a person delivering the parcel of goods to Railway Administration for carriage by Railway, telling the administration the nature, value and description of goods so delivered so that special freight, if leviable, may be levied. See Railways Act (1890), S. 75 (1). 59 Bom L R 117 : ILR (1957) Bom 321 (328).

"Declares."

—Word "declares" in the context of S. 40 (2A), West Bengal Premises Tenancy Act means "to make known," to 'announce.' In the realm of law, 'to enact' means to 'establish by law.' See Houses and Rents—West Bengal Premises Tenancy Act (12 of 1956), S. 40 (2-A). AIR 1963 Cal 470.

"Decree."

See also (1) Civil P. C. (1908), S. 2 (2) and O. 41, R. 22.
(2) Constitution of India, Art. 133.

—Word "decree" in O. 38, R. 5, Civil P. C. is not limited to decree passed on adjudication. It may relate to decree passed on consent or compromise between parties, provided it is not collusive. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 38, R. 5. AIR 1957 Assam 71 (DB).

"Decree appealed from."

●—Expression "decree appealed from" in S. 12 (3), Limitation Act (1908) includes a decree against which a person seeks leave to appeal. See Limitation Act (1908), S. 12 (2). AIR 1957 All 334 (FB).

"Deduction."

—It is not appropriate or possible to give to the words "deduct" and "deduction" in S. 64A (b), Sale of Goods Act, a meaning which relates to the physical act of "deduction" at the time of payment of price — In the context the word "deduct" refers and relates to and means the right to subtract and/or take off the duty in the process of calculation of and arriving at the contract price. See Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 64-A (b). AIR 1962 Bom 222.

—Word "deduction" in S. 15, Payment and Wages Act should be construed in wider sense when applying provisions of S. 15. An amount pertaining to wages which ought to have been paid and which has not been paid should be called a "deduction" from wages. See Payment of Wages Act (1936) (as amended by Act 68 of 1957), S. 15 (2). AIR 1965 Raj 11 (DB).

"Deemed."

See also Interpretation of Statutes.

●—Word "deemed" in S. 4, Income-tax Act within the net of chargeability income not actually accrued but which is supposed notionally to have accrued—In involves a number of concepts. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 4. AIR 1954 S C 155.

—Whenever the word 'deemed' is used in statute in relation to a person or a thing, it implies that the legislature after due consideration exercised its judgment in conferring that status or attribute to a person or thing. See Criminal Law (Amendment) Act (1952), S. 8. 1958 Cri L J 834 : AIR 1958 All 492 (DB).

—Use of the words "deemed" to be substituted in S. 16, Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act clearly implies that the result of the decision of the Appellate Tribunal is that the award of the Industrial Tribunal for all purposes becomes non-existent and its place is taken by the decision of the Appellate Tribunal. See Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act (1950), S. 16. AIR 1958 All 80 (DB).

—Where a statute declares that a person or thing shall be "deemed" to be or shall be treated as something which in reality it is not, it shall have to be treated as so during the entire course of the proceeding. See Houses and Rents — Assam Urban Areas Rent Control Act (3 of 1948), S. 9. AIR 1954 Assam 177 (DB).

—It is the normal meaning of use of the word "deemed" in legislation, that by law something or someone is to be taken to be something or someone which in fact it or he is not. AIR 1951 Cal 139 (140) (Pt B) (Pr 5).

—"Deemed" is a word which is apt to include the obvious, the uncertain and impossible. See Estate Duty Act (1953), S. 23. AIR 1965 Guj 9 (DB).

—The word "deemed" is more commonly used for the purpose of creating 'a statutory fiction' that is for the purpose of extending the meaning of some term to a subject-matter which it does not properly designate. When used in that sense, it becomes very important to consider the purpose for which the statutory fiction is introduced. AIR 1956 Manipur 34 (38) (Pt C) (Pr 9).

—Words "deemed to have accrued" in S. 29 (2) of Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act suggest a fiction that the right to possession has not in fact accrued to the landlord but it would be "deemed" to have accrued. See Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), S. 29 (2). ILR (1958) Mys 88.

—In statutes, the phrase "deemed to be" is generally used only to extend the application of a provision of law to a clause which would not be otherwise amenable to it. See Municipalities — Orissa Municipal Act (23 of 1950), S. 12 (1). ILR (1965) Cut 705 (Orissa).

"Deemed to be."

●—When a thing is "deemed to be" something the only meaning possible is that whereas it is not in reality that something, the Act directs that it should be treated as if it were that thing. AIR 1957 All 541 (545) (FB).

"De facto guardian."

—A "de facto guardian" is one who is not a legal guardian or a testamentary guardian or a Court guardian but who being interested in the minor, though a stranger, takes charge of the management of the minor's property. This rules out cases of fugitive or isolated act of a person with regard to the minor's property and which would not make him a "de facto guardian" of the minor. There must be continuous course of conduct as guardian of minor in regard to his property, the length of period being dependent upon the circumstances of each case. AIR 1956 Mad 476 (DB).

"Default."

—"Default" envisaged in R. 57 of O. 21, Civil P. C. not confined to non-appearance or non-payment of batta or failure to produce necessary documents. It also includes failure to do things for the successful execution of the decree. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 21, R. 57 (1), Proviso (Mad). AIR 1957 Andh Pra 991.

"Defaulter".

—"Defaulter" does not mean a person who admits himself to be so. The term also includes a person who contests his liability. See Patiala Recovery of State Dues Act (4 of 2002 B. K.), S. 11. ILR (1961) 2 Punj 823.

"Defeated candidate."

—A candidate cannot be said to have been defeated unless he has an opportunity to enter into a contest with others and solicit votes, of the electors and then lose on account of not being able to get sufficient number of votes. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1957 Raj 163.

"Defect."

—Word "defect" in O. 21, R 90 according to its connotation covers any omissions, irregularities or deficiencies but not also a fraudulent suppression or distortion of facts. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 21, R. 90 AIR 1956 Cal 59 (DB).

"Defence against eviction."

—"Defence against eviction" in S. 13 (4) and (6) M. P. Accommodation Control (Amendment) Act (1961), means "defence against eviction" resting on S. 12 of the Act and when an order under those subsections is made striking out the tenants "defence against eviction", the tenant does not lose his right of putting up a defence to the ejectment suit which does not fall under S. 12. See Houses and Rents — M. P. Accommodation Control (Amendment) Act (8 of 1961), S. 13. 1964 Jab L J 87 : 1964 M P L J 190 : ILR (1963) Madh Pra 669.

"Definite information."

See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (1).

"Definite matter of public importance."

See Commission of Inquiry Act (1952), S. 3 (1).

"Definitions."

See Interpretation of Statutes.

"Delayed wages"

See Payment of Wages Act (1936).

"Delegation."

See Constitution of India, Art. 245.

"Delimit."

——'Delimit' and 'Redelimit.'

—The word 'delimit' in its natural sense means 'to mark out as a boundary, to bound, to mark or determine the limits of; to define as a limit or boundary.' It is used in the sense of adjusting or demarcating the boundaries between two entities belonging to two different persons or countries or bodies. The word 'delimit' or 'redelimit' connotes only the determination of a limit or boundary, specially a frontier of a territory, and is totally inappropriate in its use to annex a territory of a neighbour in such a way as to deprive it altogether so as to bring about its total extinction. (1965) 1 Andh W R 317 : AIR 1965 Andh Pra 40 (47, 48) (Pt B) (Pr 23) (DB).

"Demand."

See also under Limitation Act (1908), Art. 60.

●—Word "demand" ordinarily means something more than what is due; it means something which has been demanded, called for or asked for. But the meaning must take colour from the context in which the word is used. In cl. (g) of S. 13-D, U. P. Municipalities Act, the context in which the word is used has a very obvious and clear reference to the amount of arrears or dues on which the disqualification depends. See Municipalities — U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 13-D (g). AIR 1957 S C 871.

—Word "demand" in the explanation to S. 48 (1) of Bihar and Orissa Co-operative Societies Act, merely means a legal claim. See Co-operative Societies — Bihar and Orissa Co-operative Societies Act (6 of 1935), S. 48 (1). 1960 B L J R 520 : ILR 40 Pat 7.

[Overruled in AIR 1962 S C 1367.]

—The word "demand" in S. 54, Bombay Co-operative Societies Act, should be given ordinary dictionary meaning which would include "any claim" irrespective of the fact whether it is backed by statute or not. See Co-operative Societies — Bombay Co-operative Societies Act (7 of 1925), S. 54 (as applicable to Delhi). (1965) 67 Punj L R 566 : ILR (1965) 2 Punj 61.

"Demonstration."

●—Broadly speaking "demonstration" is a visible manifestation of the feelings or sentiments of an individual or a group. It is communication of one's ideas to others to whom it is intended to be conveyed. It is in effect, therefore a form of speech or of expression, because speech need not be vocal since signs made by a dumb person would also be a form of speech. See Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (a). AIR 1962 S C 1166.

—"Demonstration" always means expression of resentment by a number of persons grouped together. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 144. 1960 Cri L J 215 : AIR 1960 Assam 20.

"Denial of title of landlord."

See also (1) T. P. Act (1882), S. 111 (g).
(2) Evidence Act (1872), S. 116.

—The lessees deny the title of their landlord within meaning of S. 3 (f), U. P. Temp. Control of Rent and Eviction Act, 1947, when they allege that the person from whom they have taken the lease is not the sole proprietor of the accommodation they are holding but is only a co-sharer along with another person. See Houses and Rents—U. P. Temporary Control of Rent and Eviction Act (3 of 1947), S. 3 (f). AIR 1958 All 847 (DB).

"Denotes."

●—Use of the word "denotes" in a definition clause shows that the legislature did not intend to put down a cast-iron definition of the word but only sought to describe what the word might mean. A I R 1957 All 541 (545) (FB).

"Department."

—"Department" of Govt. is a particular activity or a branch of Govt. under the political charge or control of minister or a minister of State responsible to the legislature. See Specific Relief Act (1877), S. 56. AIR 1952 All 520 (DB).

"Dependent."

See (1) Houses and Rents — Delhi :Rent Control Act (59 of 1958), S. 14.
(2) Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 2 (1) (d).

"Deposit."

—"Deposit" and loan—Distinction between "deposit" not for a fixed term and loan is that the "deposit" does not impose an immediate obligation on the depositee to seek out the depositor and repay him—He is to keep the money until asked for, whereas in the case of a loan it is the debtor or the person to whom the loan was paid who is to seek the creditor. See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 59. (1958) 2 Andh W R 621.

—"Deposit" does not mean sending money by money order. See Houses and Rents — W. B. Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Act (38 of 1948), S. 12 (1) (b). AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 2942.

●—Money belonging to one can be said to be in "deposit" only with another person or authority. It can never be a "deposit" in the hands of the very person to whom the money belongs. See Provident Funds Act (1925), S. 2 (a). AIR 1956 Mad 283 (FB).

"Deposit and loan."

See Limitation Act (1908), Arts. 59 and 60.

"Deprave" and "Corrupt."

—Words "deprave" and "corrupt" in S. 3 (c), Rajasthan Dramatic Performances and Entertainments Ordinance, 1949, should be understood having regard to the ordinary moral standards of the society. Considered thus, they are not vague. See Rajasthan Dramatic Performances and Entertainments Ordinance (29 of 1949), S. 3 (c). 1953 Cri L J 1283 : AIR 1953 Raj 162 (DB).

"Deprivation."

See Constitution of India, Arts. 31, 31A and 31B.

"Deputy Tahsildar."

—Officer of the Revenue Department (Madras) exercising powers as stationary Sub-Magistrate is a "Deputy Tahsildar" and therefore a member of the Revenue Subordinate Service. See Madras Service Manual Vol. 3. AIR 1956 Mad 613 (DB).

"Derived."

See also Income-tax Act (1922), S. 4 (3).

"Descend."

—Property is said to "descend" when the estate vests by operation of law in the heirs immediately upon the death of the ancestor. When property devolves by rule of hereditary succession on the death of an ancestor, it is said to "descend." By the word "descend" is understood the passing of the property to the heir or heirs without disposition by will or by alienation in the form of gift, sale etc. It is a transmision by inheritance from ancestor to the next heir. AIR 1958 Punj 164 (165, 166) (Pr 7) (Pt C).

"Descriptions."

●—The word "matter" in S. 5, Stamp Act does not convey the same meaning as the word "description" in in S. 6 of the Act. Both these words have different connotations. See Stamp Act (1899), S. 4. AIR 1956 S C 35.

"Desertion."

See (1) Madras Hindu Bigamy Prevention and Divorce Act (6 of 1949), S. 5 (1) (c).
(2) Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 10.
(3) Divorce Act (1869), S. 10.
(4) Rajasthan Armed Constabulary Act (12 of 1950), S. 6 (e).

"Despatched"

See Coal Mines (Conservation and Safety) Act (1952), S. 8 (1) (a).

"Detain."

See also (1) Constitution of India, Art. 22.
(2) Penal Code (1860), S. 498
(3) Preventive Detention Act (1950), S. 3.

—Expression "failed to obtain promotion" in Cl. 5 of Chap. XIII of Regulations of under S. 16, M. B. Board Secondary Education Act, 1950, has to be read in the limited meaning which is known as "detaining a student in a class." In the context the word "detain" would apply to a case where a student who seeks to be promoted, is not promoted to the higher class but is detained in the same class either because he does not secuire the requisite marks or because he is held back for adopting foul means at the examination or for some such reason. But "detaining" must be by an authority. A student cannot be told, "since you left the class in September, you are detained in that class." See M. B. Board of Secondary Education Act (51 of 1950), S. 16. AIR 1959 Madh-Pra 367 (DB).

"Deterioration."

—Expression "deterioration" in S. 9 (2) (a) of Bom. Land Requisition Act, 1948, is not used as distinct from "damage"; it merely means "impairment in value." It may be from natural causes as well as from human agencies, except when damage is done intentionally or maliciously. See Bombay Land Requisition Act (33 of 1948), S. 9 (2) (a). ILR (1958) Bom 771.

—Word "deterioration" in S. 72, Railways Act and S. 161, Contract Act is wide enough to include depreciation in value on account of a fall in the price of goods. See Railways Act (1890), S. 72 (1). AIR 1963 Orissa 68.

"Determination."

—The expression "determination" in the definition of "award" in the Industrial Disputes Act, indicates only a coming to an end of a dispute. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 10 (1) (c). AIR 1960 Ker 31 (34).

—Meaning of word "determination" in 73, Orissa Hindu Religious Endowments Act— Legislative history dealing with new provisions of S. 73 reviewed as guide to proper interpretation. See Orissa Hindu Religious Endowments Act (2 of 1952), S. 73. AIR 1965 Orissa 76 (77-80) (DB).

"Devadayam."

—The word "Devadayam" is not decisive as to whether the grant was to a temple or a personal grant burdened with service. There is no presumption that the grant is one in lieu of wages or one burdened with service. Question turns upon the particular facts of each case. AIR 1957 Andh-Pra 477 (DB).

"Development of land."

—Acquisition "for the development and utilisation of land as an industrial area — "Development of land" means utilisation of potentialities of land by building or mining. See Constitution of India, Art. 31. AIR 1965 Bom 224 (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1968 S C 870.]

"Devolution."

—Words "devolution or succession" in Entry 47, List II, Sch. VII, of the Constitution, imply passing of property to another on death of person and cannot apply to transfers inter vivos. See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List II, Entry 47. AIR 1962 Ker 97 (DB).

—Expression "devolution" "succession" or "transfer" in provincial and concurrent lists include partition of joint family property. Chapter VI of Madras Aliyasanthana Act is enacted competently. See Constitution of India, Sch. VII, List, Entry 18. AIR 1956 Mad 642 (DB).

—Word "devolution" in O. 22, R. 10 has been used to connote the accession of a right. See C. P. Code, O. 22. R. 10. AIR 1952 Orissa 64 (DB).

"Dharmila."

—The term "Dharmila" is not a term of art, but is a convenient expression to describe those inams which are post-settlement as distinguished from those that are pre-settlement. Nedunuri Kameswaramma v. Sampati Subba Rao. (1963) 2 S C R 208 : (1963) 2 Mad L J (S C) 49 : (1963) 2 Andh W R (SC) 49 : (1963) 2 S C J 113 : AIR 1963 S C 884 (887) (Pt C) (Pr 10).

"Direction,"

See also Payment of Wages Act (1936), Ss. 15 and 17.

—"Finding" can only be which is necessary for disposal of appeal or case. "Direction" is a direction which the appellate or revisional authority is empowered to give under the enactment. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (3), Second Proviso. AIR 1965 S C 342.

"Director."

See also Companies Act (1956), S. 2 (13).

—Legal practitioner appointed "director" of company, to enable him to represent company in industrial proceeding circumventing the Industrial Disputes Act — Effect stated — See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 36. AIR 1955 N U C (Bom) 19.

"Discharge."

See (1) Constitution of India, Art. 311.
(2) Employees' State Insurance Act, (1948), S. 73.
(3) Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act (1950), S. 22.
(4) Railways Act (1890), S. 138.
(5) Limitation Act (1908), S. 7.

"Discharged from liability."

—Expression "Discharged from liability', in Cl. 3, Para. 6, Art. III, in Schedule to Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1925, does not connote "free from remedy as regards liability" but is more apt to mean a total extinction of the liability following upon an extinction of right—In view of international character of the rules, Courts should be slow to put an interpretation which would produce varying results in different countries. See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act (1925), Sch. Art. III, Para 6, Cl. 3. AIR 1960 S C 1058.

"Discharge from service."

See Constitution of India, Art. 311 (2).

"Discipline."

—"Discipline and misconduct" — Breach of "discipline,' or 'misconduct' — Connotation of — Strictly possible connotation to be attached as "discipline" is the very core of police service. See Bombay Police Act (22 of 1951). S. 25 (1). 1963 (2) Cri L J 743 : AIR 1965 Guj 283 (DB).

"Discovers."

See Income-tax Act (1922) (as amended in 1939), S. 34.

"Discovery."

See Evidence Act (1872), S. 27.

"Discretion."

—"Discretion" means something to be done according to rules of reason and justice, and not according to private opinion — See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 33 (4). AIR 1955 N U C (Pat) 5955 (DB).

"Dishonest concealment of fact."

See Penal Code (1860), S. 415.

"Dishonestly."

See Penal Code (1860), S. 24.

"Dismiss."

—Word "dismiss" in fourth proviso to S. 82, U. P. District Boards Act, 1922, means to determine the appointment. Board which has power to make appointment has also power to unmake it. See U. P. District Boards Act (1922), S. 82. 1959 All L J 197.

"Dismissal from service" and "dispensing with service."

—Consequences of "dismissal" and "dispensing with" services are different. Punishment in the former involves some serious consequences to the person affected and is also a slur on his character. In such a case he should be afforded an opportunity. In the latter case, it is open to the master to dispense with services of a servant unless he was bound by some agreement not to do it. (1959) 1 Lab L J 554 (Andh Pra).

"Dismissal," "removal" and "reduction in rank."

"Dispute."
See also (1) Criminal P. C. (1898), S 145.
(2) Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Ss. 2 (K), and 10.

—Word "dispute" in S. 2 (j) of the Bengal Co-operative Societies Act has a limitation. It has to touch the business of the co-operative society — See Co-operative Societies — Bengal Co-operative Societies Act (21 of 1940), S. 2 (j). AIR 1958 Cal 373.

"Dispute pertaining to agreement."
See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 2.

"Dispute touching business of society."
See Co-operative Societies — Co-operative Societies Act (1912), S. 43 (2).

"Disqualification attaching to a conviction."

—There is a vital distinction between a "disqualification attaching to a conviction" and the taking of proceedings; consequent upon such a conviction. What S. 12A of Madras Probation of Offenders Act, has in view, when it used the former expression, is an automatic disqualification flowing from a conviction and not an obliteration of the misconduct of the accused. See Madras Probation of Offenders Act (3 of 1937), S. 12 A. (1956) 2 Mad L J 562.

"Disqualified by or under any law made by Parliament."
See Constitution of India, Art. 191 (1) (e).

"Disqualify"

—Candidate debarred from appearing at University examination — He does not possess legal capacity to pass the examination—Fact that he actually appeared at and passed the examination or was actually declared to have passed, is wholly immaterial. See University of Saugar Act (M P. Act XVI of 1946), S. 32. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 356 (DB).

"Dissolution of marriage."

●—Word 'dissolved' in S. 28, Travancore Nayar Act (1088) means not only dissolution by act of parties or through Courts of law but includes also a natural termination of the marriage by the death of the wife. See Travancore Nayar Act (1088), S. 4. AIR 1955 Trav-Co 235 (FB).

"Dissolution of Parliament."

● —Effect of dissolution and prorogation of Parliament stated. See Constitution of India, Art. 107. AIR 1962 S C 694.

"Distinct matters" and "Descriptions."

● —In popular sense, the expression "distinct matters" would connote something different from distinct 'categories.' The word 'matter' in S. 5, Stamp Act, was not intended to convey the same meaning as the word "description" in S. 6. The expressions "distinct matters" in S. 5 and 'descriptions' in S. 6 have different connotations. See Stamp Act (1899), S. 4. AIR 1956 S C 35.

"Distinct offence."
See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 233.

"Distribute."

—Ordinary and general meaning of the word "distribute" conveys spreading of the goods anywhere by whatever means that may be employed. See Drugs Act (1940), S. 18 (a). 1962 (1) Cri L J 16 : AIR 1962 Bom 21.

"Distributed as dividends."

—Income-tax Act (1922), S. 23A — "Distributed as dividends"—Meaning of — Declaration of dividends amounts to distribution within meaning of S. 23A — It does not mean actual payment. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 23A. 1962 M P C 485.

"Distribution of capital assets."

●—The expression "distribution of capital assets" in the third proviso to sub-s. (1) of S. 12B of the Income-tax Act, 1922, means distribution in specie and not distribution of sale proceeds of capital assets. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 12-B (1). AIR 1960 S C 751.

"District."

—In interpreting the word "district" in S. 488 (8), Criminal P. C. it is not only the word "district" which one must have regard to, but the entire expression 'any district where he resides.' The express use of the word "district" should not be given any meaning different from normal connotation of that word. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 488 (8). 1965 (2) Cri L J 73 : AIR 1965 Bom 107.

"Dividend."

—Ordinary meaning of "dividend" is the receipt by a share-holder by reason of his being a share-holder of a part of profits of the company of which he is a share-holder. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 2 (6A) (a). AIR 1956 Bom 381 (DB).

"District Judge."

—Expression "District Judge" used in S. 7 (3) (b) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, does not include an Additional "District Judge" — AIR 1954 Assam 161, Dissented from. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 7 (3) (b). AIR 1956 Madh Bha 183 (DB).

"Divyadesh."

—"Divyadesh" is a temple of greater religious efficacy where Vaishnavas are enjoined to take charnamrit even in presence of non-Vaishnavas as opposed to other temples where they are avoiding to do so. 1961 B L J R 206.

"Document."
See also Penal Code (1860), S. 29.

—Any decipherable information which is set down in a lasting form would be a "document" as defined in S. 3 (18), General Clauses Act and as found in the definition of 'paper' in S. 1, Press and Registration of Books Act, as amended in 1955. See Press and Registration of Books Act (1867) (as amended by Act 55 of 1955), S. 1. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 176 : 1960 Cri L J 452.

—'Currency' which will include foreign currency comes within the meaning of other "document" in S. 19 (3), Foreign Exchange Regulation Act. Word 'book' will also be included in term "document." It is perhaps to avoid vagueness or doubt that 'book' is specially mentioned in addition to other "documents.' The word "document" is used in the sense in which it is defined in S. 3 (18) of the General Clauses Act. See Foreign Exchange Regulation Act (1947), S. 19 (3). 1962 (2) Cri L J 794 : AIR 1962 Tripura 50.

"Does not include."

—Words "means," "includes" and "but does not include" in the definition of 'Wages' in S. 2 (vi) of the Payment of Wages Act, clearly shows that the definition is an exhaustive one and no other meaning can be assigned to the term 'wages' than is given in the definition. See Payment of Wages Act (4 of 1936), S. 2 (vi). AIR 1956 Madh Bha 152.

"Domain or homefarm land"

—Alternative expression "homefarm land of the landholder" in S. 3 (10) (b) (i), Madras Estates Land Act is intended to explain the meaning of the word 'domain.' That is what the legislature intended a 'domain' to be — Meaning of 'domain' compared with meaning of words 'domain' 'de mesne' and 'demain' in England. See Tenancy Laws — Madras Estates Land Act (1 of 1908), S. 3 (2) (d). AIR 1958 Mad 95 (DB).

"Domicile."

(5) Succession Act (1925), Ss. 9, 15, 16.

"Domiciled in England or Wales."

—The words "domiciled in England or Wales" as applied to India must be interpreted as "domiciled in the Union of India" and not as domiciled within admiralty jurisdiction of the respective Courts of Admiralty in Calcutta, Madras or Bombay. The criterion of domicile is the existence of one system of law and the whole of Indian Union can be regarded as the area of domicil wherein one system of law prevails. See Letters Patent (Calcutta) (1865), Cl. 32. AIR 1954 Cal 415.

"Done or intended to be done."

—The expression "done or intended to be done" in S 111 (2) of the Orissa Gram Panchayats Act would carry the same connotation as the expression "acting or purporting to act" in S. 197, Criminal P. C. See Panchayats — Orissa Gram Panchayats Act (15 of 1948). S. 111 (2). (1965) 31 Cut L T 314 : (1965) 7 O J D 294 : ILR (1965) Cut 255.

"Dried coconuts."

—Distinction between fresh coconuts, "dried coconuts" and tender coconuts pointed out. See Sales Tax — A. P. General Sales Tax Act (6 of 1957), S. 6, Sch. III. Item 5 (1965) 16 S T C 511 (AP) : AIR 1966 Andh Pra 128.

"Drinks."

—Word "drinks" in Entry No. 49, M P. General Sales Tax Act, in Part II, Sch. II, is followed by words 'such as' and ends with 'etc.,' Words 'such as' and 'etc.' are words of limitation. Rule of ejusdem generis must be applied. See Sales Tax — Madhya Pradesh Genersl Sales Tax Act (1958), Sch. II, Part VI, Item 1. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 71 (DB).

"Driving."

—The Motor Vehicles Act makes a distinction between "driving" a motor vehicle and its 'user.' See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 42 (1). 1960 Cri L J 923 : AIR 1960 Mad 265.

"Droit" and "permis."

—The French word 'droit' is a word of general import. By reference to French English Dictionary by Harrap, it is seen that one of its meaning is "right" as known in English. Another meaning which it has acquired in legal parlance is "charge," 'fee due.' Therefore, use of the word 'droits' will not be conclusive as to whether the charge is fee or a tax. But the word 'permis' will provide a clue to the import of the levy. According to the same dictionary, 'permis' means permission and it is used to mean license. The use of the word 'droits' in juxtaposition with the word 'permis' would indicate, that the provision refers to a fee. See Decree of French Republic (D/- 12-3-1880), Art. 44 (6). 1965 Mad W N 328 : ILR (1966) 1 Mad 93.

"Drug."

—The word "drug" should not be confined to medicinal "drug" as defined in Drugs Act. It includes dangerous drugs also. See Constitution of India, Art. 372 (1). 1955 Andh L T (Cr) 205.

"Drunk" — Meaning of.

—Word "drunk" in S. 85 (1) (3), Bombay Prohibition Act is not synonymous with to "drink" defined in S. 2 (12) of the Act. Expression "drunk" in S. 85 (1) (3) must be given its plain natural meaning, viz as overcome by alcoholic liquor or intoxicated. See Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949), S. 85 (1). Cls. (1), (3). 1956 Cri L J 384 : AIR 1956 Bom 173 (DB).

"Due."

—The word "due" in S. 13, Madras Agriculturists Relief Act means "that which one contracts to pay," Meaning 'payable' is also not inappropriate. See Debt laws — Madras Agriculturists Relief Act (4 of 1938), S. 13. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 546 (FB).

—Expressions "due" and "assessed" do not connote the same meaning — Sales Tax — Mysore Sales Tax Act (1948), S 20. (1951) 2 S T C 35 : 29 Mys L J 72 : 52 Cri L J 440 : ILR (1951) Mys 403 : AIR 1951 Mys 37 (38) (Pt B) (Pr 3).

● —"Due"—Meaning of considered. 1962 Cur L J 36: 64 Pun L R 255 : ILR (1962) 1 Punj 211 : AIR 1962 Punj 256 (260, 261) (Pt C) (Pr 16) (FB).

● —"Sums due under this Act" in S. 30, Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act would also cover 'sums payable under this Act' or even 'sums recoverable under this Act" and in that case they need not necessarily be 'owned.' See Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act (1954), S. 30. AIR 1961 Punj 34 (FB).

—A debt or other obligation is "due" when it is legally enforceable i.e., when the creditor has a right to demand payment and to enforce collection. See Administration of Evacuee Property Act (1950), S. 48. AIR 1957 Punj 58 (DB).

"Due and own."

—Ordinarily "due" means payable. As a noun it connotes an existing obligation. As an adjective it means capable of being justly demanded, claimed as of right, payable.

The dictionary meaning of the word "own' is to have a good legal title to or to hold as a property. Owner is one who has an absolute dominion over it. See Debt Laws — Madras Agriculturists Relief Act (4 of 1937), S. 4 (h). ('52) 1952-2Mad L J 36 : AIR 1953 Mad 174.

"Due process of law."

See also Constitution of India, Art. 21.

● —Per B. K. Mukherjea J.— "Due" means "what is just and proper" according to the circumstances of a particular case. The best description of the expression "due process of law" would be to say that it means in each particular case such an exercise of the powers of Government as the settled maxims of law permit and sanction and under such safeguards for the protection of individual rights as those maxims prescribe for the class of cases to which the one in question belongs. (1950) 2 Mad L J 42 : 63 Mad L W 638 : 1950 S C J 174 : 51 Cri L J 1383 : 1950 SC R 88 : 1950 Mad W N 495 : 1950 Mad W N (Cri) 127 : AIR 1950 S C 27 (99, 102) (Pt ZP) (Prs 185, 192).

"Dukhtar Khana Nishin."

—The term seems to have become more or less a term of art well understood in Jammu and Kashmir State as implying something more than the meaning referred to (that is nearly "resident daughter"). When a daughter is spoken of as Khana Nishin, the conception seems to be that "the father treated such daughter in all respects as a son and that by custom she is entitled in the matter of inheritance to occupy the same position as a son would have done." ('49) 8 J & K L R 117 (DB).

"Duly."

—The word "duly" appearing in the expression "duly" submitted for examination" in S. 510, Criminal P. C., means 'properly.' The word "only" emphasises the fact that proof of "identity" of the article sent to the Chemical Examiner with articles examined by him must be established. 1965 (1) Cri L J 321 : AIR 1965 Orissa 38 (42) (Pt F) (Pr 8) (DB).

"Duly authorised agent,"

See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 110-A (1) (c).

"Duly made."

—Word "duly" means "such as ought to be," 'fitting' 'proper,' 'such as is required' etc. The word used in S. 533, Criminal P. C. is 'made' and not "recorded" and the word "duly" governs the making of the confession and not the recording of it. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 533. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 4425 (DB).

"Duly served."

—Substituted service upon defendants in terms of O. 5, R. 20, Civil P. C., may or may not be "due service" required by O. 9, R. 13. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 9, R. 13. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 1 (FB).

"Duly stamped."

See Stamp Act (1899), S. 35.

"During pendency of the application"

—Words "during pendency of the application" in Proviso to S. 62, Motor Vehicles Act will include any period of time subsequent to the disposal of the application by R. T. A. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 62, Proviso. AIR 1958 Ker 140.

"Duties of excise."

See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 84.

"Duty."

—Word "duty" connotes obligation. It connotes that one cannot refuse to perform the act but is bound to do it. 'Discretion' and "duty" have different concepts. See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 182 (5). AIR 1963 Andh Pra 452 (DB).

"Dwelling house."

See (1) Partition Act (1893), S. 4.
(2) Income-tax Act (1922), S. 4-A (a) (ii).

"Dying intestate."

See Hindu Succession Act (1956), S. 8.

"Earnest money."

—"Earnest money" is the sum of money paid by the buyer of property under a contract of sale in order to bind the seller to the terms of the agreement for sale. It is a guarantee for the performance of a contract. When the transaction goes forward, the "earnest money" becomes a part of the purchase money. It is forfeited if the transaction falls through by reason of the fault or failure on the part of the buyer and the buyer cannot get it back — Deposit distinguished from "earnest money." A I R 1956 Vindh Pra 42 (43).

"Eating house"

—Expression "eating house" is not defined in the Calcutta Municipal Act and as such, referring to the dictionary meaning "eating house" means a restaurant where meals or food taken at one time may be had by the customers and therefore such an "eating house" is distinguished from a place where food is manufactured, sold, stocked, distributed or exhibited for sale. See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), S. 442. 1966 Cri L J 525 : AIR 1966 Cal 203.

"Edible."

—The word "edible" should be interpreted to mean fit to be eaten as food. (1961) 12 S T C 210 : 1960 All W R (HC) 368 : 1960 All L J 491.

"Effect of an award."

—Words "effect of an award" in S. 32, Arbitration Act are wide enough to cover a suit to enforce an award. Suit to enforce a claim under an award is hit by S. 34 of the Act. AIR 1944 Nag 24, Dissented from. See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 32. A I R 1964 Orissa 21.

"Either."

—Either—Means each and not both. See Land Acquisition Act (1 of 1894), S. 17 (3). A I R 1965 Bom 224 (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1968 S C 870.]

"Either . . . . or."

—Words "either" 'or' in S. 2 (q), M. B. Sales Tax Act are not used in any technical sense, they denote two states of affair in which a turnover would be found. See Sales Tax—M. B. Sales Tax Act, Smt. 2007 (30 of 1950), S. 2 (9). AIR 1958 Madh Pra 16 (DB).

"Ejected."

—Word "ejected" in S. 27, M. P. Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1947, has not been used in the restricted sense of eviction in execution of a decree or order of ejectment. It means that person was dispossessed of his holding as a consequence of a decree or an order passed under either of sections 171 or 180 of the U. P. Tenancy Act. See Tenancy Laws — U. P. Tenancy (Amendment) Act (10 of 1947), S. 27 (1) (c). AIR 1955 N U C (All) 3303 (DB).

—Word "ejected" in S. 112, Maihar State Quanoon Mal includes every case of dispossession not made according to provisions of the Act. See Tenancy Laws — Maihar State Quanoon Mal, S. 112. 1962 M P L J 884.

"Ejectment."

—Word "ejectment" has not been defined in the U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1951. In Murray's 'New English Dictionary' Vol. 3, the following has been mentioned with regard to 'eject' : "Thrown out; the term was coined by Prof. Clifford on analogy of subject, objection to throw, to throw from within, to turn out, evict (a person) from property or possession esp. in law." See Tenancy Laws—U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 7 (b). 1963 All L J 338.

"Elector."

—Word "elector" has not been defined in the Madras Village Panchayat Act or the Rules under it—Consequently the word appearing in R. 1 (1) of the Rule for the 'Decision of Election Disputes' under the Act must be given its normal dictionary meaning, namely any person entitled to elect. See Panchayat—Madras Village Panchayat Act (10 of 1950), S. 21. (1962) 1 Mad L J 422.

"Electrical and mechanical products."

—An electric torch case is receptacle in which the torch batteries are kept and must be deemed to be an electrical, mechanical or general engineering product within meaning of Sch. 1, Expl., Item 241 of Employees' Provident Funds Act. A I R 1956 All 495, Reversed. AIR 1959 All 133 (134) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

—Electrical product does not mean anything produced through electrical process. Words "electrical and mechanical" have not been used in the schedule in Employees Provident Funds Act only in contradistinction with hand-made products. The words have to be given narrower meaning. Words do not cover all products which are made by means of mechanical or electrical process but means products which are utilised for purposes of producing electricity or implements and other apparatus and machinery or goods like fans, radio and battery cells. A torch case is only an article for purposes of keeping batteries and not for purposes of generating electricity. See Employees Provident Funds Act (1952), S. 1 (3). AIR 1956 All 495.
[Reversed in AIR 1959 All 133.]

"Electrical goods."

—Only such articles, the use of which cannot be had except with the application of electric energy can be termed "electrical goods" or appliances. See Sales Tax—Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 3 (2) (viii). AIR 1955 Mad 656 (DB).

"Electrical, mechanical or general engineering products".

See Employees' Provident Funds Act (1952), S. 1 (3) and Sch. I.

"Embezzlement".

See Penal Code (1860), S. 405.

"Emergency."

—Urgency and emergency—Former relates to a situation requiring prompt action while the latter indicates situation suddenly arising and demanding prompt action and is a stronger word. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 4. AIR 1959 Punj 538.

"Employed".

See (1) Factories Act (1948), Ss. 2 (1) and 66 (1) (b).
(2) Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (s).
(3) Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 4.

"Employed in the construction".

— Expression "employed in the construction" in Sch. II, Cl. (viii), Workmen's Compensation Act, means not necessarily actually employed to construct, but employed in connection with the construction — Building Inspector employed to see that those who are concerned in the construction are building according to the plan, has nothing to do with the construction and is not one "employed in the construction". See Workmen's Compensation Act, S. 2 (n) and Sch. II, Cl. (viii). (1951) 55 C W N 496.

"Employee".

—"Employee" does not mean ex-employee or a person whose contract of service has been put an end to. See Companies Act (1956), S. 419. 1962 (1) Cri L J 706 : AIR 1962 Bom 130 (DB).

— "Employee" does not include an ex-employee. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. (1965-66) 28 F J R 472 : ILR (1965) 2 Punj 837 (DB).

— Definition of "employee" as given in S. 2 (b) of the Employees' Provident Funds Act, 1952, must be restricted to such employees who are paid wages and who do not receive compensation or monthly salary exceeding Rs. 200/-. See Employees' Provident Funds Act (1952), S. 2 (b). AIR 1959 Punj 27.
[Reversed in AIR 1962 Punj 507.]

"Employer".

— Word "employer" as defined in S. 2 (6) of U. P. Shops and Commercial Establishments Act includes a person having charge of or owning the business of a shop or commercial establishment and is not confined to a person employing some one to assist him in the conduct of his business. (1958) All L J 333, Overruled. AIR 1961 All 599 (600) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

— Word "Employer" used in U. P. Shops and Commercial Establishments Act, 1947, contemplates such an owner of the shop who has engaged some employees to help him in running his business and does not convert an owner of the shop per se into an employer, even when he has no 'employees'. See U. P. Shops and Commercial Eetablishments Act (22 of 1947), S. 10. 1958 All L J 333.
[Overruled in AIR 1961 All 599.]

— "Employer" in S. 2 (1), Mines Act — Whether person is "employer" is primarily a question of fact. Where a person is entitled to share the profits has a power to check the accounts and is liable to contribute for the construction of structures, he must be called a "owner". See Coal Mines Provident Fund and Bonus Schemes Act (1948), S. 2 (e). AIR 1959 Cal 208.

— Word "employer" has been used in a very peculiar sense in S. 2 (7), M. B. Shops and Establishments Act. So far as S. 16 (1) of the Act is concerned, an "employer" would be an owner, whether or not he employs one or more hands in the establishment. See Madhya Bharat Shops and Establishments Act (7 of 1952), S. 2 (3). 1961 M P L J 113.

— In the absence of definition of "employer" in the Payment of Wages Act, in the case of a private limited company, the Directors are "employers". See Payment of Wages Act (1936), S. 3 (b). AIR 1964 Pat 292.

"Employment".

● — The real test for deciding whether contract is one of "employment" is to find out whether the agreement is for the personal labour of the person engaged, and if that is so, the contract is one of "employment" whether the work is time work or peace-work or whether the employee did the whole work himself or whether he obtained the assistance of other persons also for the work. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 123 (7). AIR 1957 S C 444.

— Word "employment" used in Entry 8, Part I, Sch. A of Minimum Wages Act should be construed, having regard to the intention of the legislature and to its object in the most general sense of "the action of employing or the state of being employed" and not with reference to any particular trade, business or occupation. See Minium Wages Act (1948), Sch. A, Part I, Entry No. 8. AIR 1958 Bom 332 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1960 S C 1068.]

— Per Ramaswami J. — Words "employment" and "appointment" connote two different concepts. Latter obviously, refers to appointment to an office. The term appointment implies conception of tenure, duration, emolument and duties and obligation fixed by law or by some rule having the force of law. These elements are absent in the case of "employment" which is a contract for a temporary purpose.

Per Ahmed J. — "Employment" refers to a condition in which a man is kept occupied in executing any work. It means not only appointment to any office for first time but also continuity of that appointment. See Constitution of India, Art. 16. AIR 1957 Pat 617 (DB).

"Employment injury".

— Employee while going into the factory collaping due to heart failure — It is neither an accident as usually understood nor is it the result of occupational disease — Death is not as the result of "employment injury" as defined in S. 2 (8) Employees' State Insurance Act. See Employees' State Insurance Act (1948), S. 2 (8). AIR 1959 Madh-Pra 338.

"Enactment".

— The expression "enactment" applies not only to a complete Act but also to the various provisions in an Act. AIR 1958 All 109 (110, 111) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

"Encumbrance"

—"Encumbrance" in its widest sense is a right which limits or derogates from some more general right belonging to some other person in respect of the same subject-matter. It runs with the right encumbered by it and follows the encumbered right into the hands of a new owner, so that a change of ownership will not free the right from the burden imposed on it. AIR 1955 N U C (Orissa) 2472 (DB).

There is no definition of "encumbrance" in Bihar Land Reforms Act, the legislature in using the word in S. 4 (a) of the Act could not have used it in the sense in which it is used in S. 161 (a) of Bihar Tenancy Act read with S. 2 (t) of Bihar Land Reforms Act. The word "encumbrance" in S. 4 has been used in its general or dictionary meaning, that is, in the sense of a burden of charge upon property. See Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 4 (a). AIR 1959 Pat 589 (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1963 S C 454].

—Property subject to right of pre emption — Right is not encumbrance. See Punjab Pre-emption Act (1 of 1913), S. 4. ILR (1961) 2 Pun 882.

"Encumbrances."

See Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act (1954), S. 12.

"Endal"

—The suffix "endal" denotes generally a hamlet of a big village See Tenancy Law—Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari Act) (26 of 1948), (1962) 1 Mad L J 170.

"Endorsed".

— "Endorsed" — Means personal signature. See West Bengal Land Acquisition and Requisition Rules (1948), R. 3 (1). AIR 1962 Cal 269.

"Endorsement in blank".

See also Negotiable Instruments Act (1881), S. 16.

— "Endorsement in blank" means writing one's name merely on the back of the instrument without specifying any restrictions as to payee, manner of payment etc., which details may be filled in by the holder thereof in whatever manner he likes. See Railways Act (1899), S. 72. AIR 1959 Pat 438.

"Enforce."

—Word "enforce" in Art. 183, Limitation Act, 1908, is wider in implication than the word 'execute.' See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 183. AIR 1956 All 32.

"Enforcement."

—Word 'enforce' in the expression "enforce the payment of the loan made" in S. 295 (3), Companies Act, 1956, means the taking of such action on the part of the creditor which compels the debtor to effect repayment of the loan, such as institution of a suit, attachment or sale of the latter's properties etc. See Companies Act (1956), S. 295 (3). 1963 (1) Cri L J 61 : AIR 1963 Raj 6.

"Engage."

—Word "engage" has not the same connotation as the word 'appoint'. A person acting under the directions of a Public Prosecutor is obviously a person 'engaged' by the Public Prosecutor. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 4 (1) (t). 1965 (1) Cri L J 150 : AIR 1965 Cal 79.

"Engagement."

—Word "engagement" in S. 1, Madras Irrigation Cess Act, is not qualified in any way and is not limited to cases of "engagements" deducible from the circumstances under which the peishcush was determined at the time of permanent settlement but include all "engagements" between the Government and the zamindar that might have been made at any time after the permanent settlement. See Madras Irrigation Cess Act (7 of 1865), S. 1. AIR 1955 N U C (Andhra) 5848.

"Enquiry."

See also under W. & P.—'Inquiry.'

—"Enquiry" within the meaning of S. 202, Cri. P. C. is not limited to and does not necessarily mean an "enquiry" and examining witnesses or by holding investigation into the case, in any particular form. Going to the scene of occurrence and making a local "enquiry" is within the competence of the Magistrate. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 202. 1957 Cri L J 504 : AIR 1957 Assam 76.

"Enter."

—Expression "enter" in Rule 3 of Passport Rules, includes travel within territory also—Offence is continuing one within S. 182, Criminal P. C. See Passport Rules (1950), R. 3. 1965 (1) Cri L J 410 : AIR 1965 All 158.

—The connotation of the word "enter" is sufficiently wide to cover even cases where the entry is continued or retained, just as the word 'omitted' would cover the case of the person who is a member of the company being struck out See Companies Act (1913), S. 38 (1) (a). (1953) 23 Com Cas 168 (Mad) : AIR 1955 N U C (Mad) 1004.

"Entered."

—Reasonable interpretation of the words "entered" in the electoral roll contained in S. 2 (i) (e) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, should be "included in the electoral roll." See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 2 (1) (e). AIR 1959 Pat 450 (DB).

"Entering into enquiry."

—"Entering into an enquiry" does not necessarily mean following the procedure of physically hearing both sides or taking evidence. It really means applying an enquiring mind to the claim. See Houses and Rents—U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Rules (1949), R. 6. 1958 All W R (HC) 752.

"Entering on the reference."
See Arbitration Act (1940), Sch. I, Rule 3.

"Entertain."

—Magistrate holding that he could not "entertain" petition—Use of the word 'entertain' shows that he doubted his own jurisdiction. See Municipalities—Bengal Municipal Act (15 of 1932), S. 529A. AIR 1956 Cal 393.

—The word 'entertain" means "to receive and take into consideration" The plain meaning of the expression no Civil Court shall have jurisdiction to "entertain a suit" is that no Civil Court shall have jurisdiction to entertain a suit in its inception. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 110F. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 295 (DB).

—The word "entertain" used in respect of a suit means "to receive and take into consideration." AIR 1955 Manipur 39 (41) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

"Entertainment."

—Natural import of the word "entertainment" is amusement and gratification of some sort. It connotes something in the nature of organised "entertainment," such as exhibition, performance, amusement, game or sport for purposes of "entertainment" i.e. for affording some sort of amusement and gratification to those who see or hear it. A place where fabrics are displayed and shown off by mannequins wearing them is no more a place of "entertainment" than a shop establishment where wearing apparels are displayed on dummy models. Nothing turns on the fact that display by mannequins was on a stage or on the fact that there were sealing arrangement inside the dome for having a good view of the display. See C. P. and Berar Entertainments Duty Act (30 of 1936), S. 2 (a). AIR 1961 Madh Pra 257 (DB).

"Entertainment and amusement."
See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List 2, Entries 33 and 62.

"Entitled to benefits of the Act."

—Etymologically meaning of the word 'benefit' is 'advantage' that is provided to a person. It cannot be said that S. 19 of Madras Agriculturists Relief Act does not confer any benefit — Courts have to give liberal construction to the expression "entitled to the benefits of the Act" in S. 23 (a) and not a restricted meaning, namely benefits conferred under Ss. 8, 9 and 9(a) alone. See Debt Laws—Madras Agriculturists Relief Act (4 of 1939), (as amended by Act (23 of 1948), S. 23. AIR 1955 N U C (Mad) 3170 (DB).

"Entrustment", "entrusted."
See Penal Code (1860), Ss. 403 and 405.

"Entry."

—"Entry" in India is not synonymous with remaining in India. See Passport Act (1920), S. 3. 1956 Cri L J 20 : AIR 1956 All 69.

—Word "entry" in S. 3, Passport Act should be given the ordinary interpretation. It can by no stretch of imagination mean continuance of stay. See Passport Act (1920), S. 3. (1964) 2 Mad L J 301.

"Equality before law."
See Constitution of India, Art. 14.

"Equity, justice and good conscience."
See also Civil P. C. (1908), S. 151.

—In applying the principles of "equity, justice and good conscience" the Court cannot treat the common law on the subject divorced from the statute law when the established law at the relevant date prevailing on the topic whether in India or in England is the law as modified by the statutes. See Fatal Accidents Act (1855), S. 1. AIR 1960 Raj 224 (DB).

"Equally divided in opinion."

●—Per Das, C. J. (Panigrahi, J., concurring). — The "opinion" contemplated by S. 429, Criminal P. C. is nothing more or nothing less than the decision as to the operative order to be passed in the case It is not merely, what may be called the inclination of the Judge as to the view to be taken on the questions arising in the case. It is only when there is any difference as to the disposal of the case, that it can be said that the Judges are divided in opinon. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 429. A I R 1953 Orissa 160 (SB).

"Error apparent on the face of record."
See (1) Arbitration Act (1940), Ss. 14 and 30.
(2) Civil P. C. (1908), O. 47, R. 1.
(3) Constitution of India, Art. 226.

"Erroneous."

—Word "erroneous" is wide enough to include illegality or impropriety. An illegal or improper order is necessarily "erroneous" order. See Sales Tax —Madhya Bharat Sales Tax Act (30 of 1950), S. 12 (1). 1961 M P L J 775.

"Escaped assessment."
See also (1) Bihar Agricultural Income-tax Act (7 of 1938), S. 28.
(2) Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34.

●—The expression "escaped assessment" in S. 11-A, C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act includes a turnover which has not been assessed at all, because for one reason or other no assessment proceedings were initiated and therefore no assessment was made in respect thereof. See Sales Tax—C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (21 of 1947) (as amended by C. P. and Berar Act 23 of 1953), S. 11-A. A I R 1964 S C 766.

"Especially."

●—The word "especially" in S. 106, Evidence Act means facts that are pre-eminently or exceptionally within the person's knowledge. See Evidence Act (1872), S. 106, Illus. (b). 1956 Cri L J 794 : A I R 1956 S C 404.

"Established."

—It cannot be said that a factory has been "established" unless in any part of it a manufacturing process is carried on or is ordinarily carried on. See Employees' Provident Funds Act (1952), S. 16. A I R 1956 All 495.

"Establishment."

—From the use of the expression "establishment" in the Industrial Disputes Act, it is fairly clear that the 'establishment" must exist in some definite and identifiable form. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 18 (c). A I R 1953 Bom 451.

—"Establishment" referred to in S. 16, Employees' Provident Funds Act is not the same thing as 'employer' or 'employee'. A I R 1968 Mad 508, Overruled. See Employees' Provident Funds Act (1952), S. 16 (1). (1965-66) 28 F J R 279 : A I R 1966 Mad 416 (DB).

—"Establishment" in the context of S. 16, Employees' Provident Funds Act, means an "organised body maintained for the purpose." See Employees' Provident Funds Act (1952), S. 16 (1). A I R 1965 Mad 508.
[Overruled in A I R 1966 Mad 416.]

—"Establishment" means an organisation employing persons between whom and establishment relationship of employer and employee comes to exist. A I R 1965 Mad 466 (467) (Pt B) (Pr 3).

—Out agency established by Railway department to collect goods and sent to railway station is an "establishment". See Madras Shops and Establishments Act (36 of 1947), S. 2. A I R 1953 Mad 376.

"Estate."

—Interest of landlord in land is an "estate" within meaning of S. 3 (5) of the Bombay Land Revenue Code and therefore within meaning of Art. 31-A (1) (a) of the Constitution. See Tenancy Laws—Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948) (as amended by Act 13 of 1956), Ss. 32 to 32-R. A I R 1957 Bom 252 (DB).

[Overruled on another point in A I R 1959 S C 459.]

—Expression "obtain maintenance from the "estate" of her husband or father or mother" used in proviso (a) to S. 19, Hindu Adoptions and Maintenance Act, construed. See Hindu Adoptions and Maintenance Act (1956), S. 19, Proviso (a). A I R 1961 Punj 391 (DB).

"Estate or share therein."

●—Per Majority (Desai, C. J., contra).—Words "estate or share therein" in S. 14 (1) of the U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act are not confined to fractional share but include specific or isolated sir plot—So mortgage of specific plot is covered by these words. 1962 All L J 612, Overruled. See Tenancy Laws—U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 3 (8). A I R 1964 All 311 (FB).

"Estimated present cost of erecting the building."

—The words "estimated present cost of erecting the building" in S. 140 (1) (a), U. P. Municipalities Act, 1916, connote that the cost of the building should be calculated, if a new building were to be erected on the date of assessment but allowance should be made for depreciation in assessing the value depending upon the condition of the building. See Municipalities—U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 146 (1) (a). A I R 1957 All 452 (DB).

"Etc."

—Where parties jointly appoint an arbitrator to "decide the measurements "etc" of the building newly constructed" it cannot be held that the word "etc" can cover the question of payment. The reference has to be judged on its own facts. See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 3. A I R 1955 N U C (Ajmer) 2621.

"Evade."

—Ordinary meaning of the word "evade" is to escape or avoid artfully; to baffle. It may also mean "nothing more than the intentional avoidance of something disagreeable". In the case of penal statutes, it should generally be held to suggest underhand dealing. It is in this sense that the word is used in R. 17 (b) of the Rules for the collection of octroi framed under S. 150 (2) (a) of the C. P. Municipalities Act, 1903. See Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (1903), S. 150 (2). 1958 M P C 106.

"Eviction"

●—Section 202, Bombay Land Revenue Code shows that "eviction" requires vacation of land. Words "eviction" and "vacation" do not mean mere physical removal of the occupant from the land. The words mean that on "eviction" the land has to be restored to the original position so as to be used for purposes for which it was given to the occupant. It is not necessary to have any specific power to have the land vacated of all unauthorised structures. See Bombay Land Revenue Code (5 of 1879), S. 68. A I R 1961 S C 722.

—Word "eviction" connotes dispossession by process of law; an act of depriving a person of the possession of lands which he has held in pursuance of a judgment of a Court, "eviction" is an actual expulsion of the lessees out of the whole or some parts of the demised premises. See (Kerala) Stay of Eviction Proceedings Act (1 of 1957), S. 4. 1959 Ker L J 34.

"Evidence"

See Evidence Act (1872), S. 3.

—Word "evidence" in S. 252, Criminal P. C. means all statements which the Court permits or requires to be made before it by witnesses, including statements made by them in cross-examination and re-examination. See Ciminal P. C. (1898), S. 252. 1956 Cri L J 841 : A I R 1956 All 385 (DB).

"Exceptional depravity."

See Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 14.

"Exceptional hardship."

See Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 14.

"Excessive."

—"Excessive" rent cannot be equated with 'not reasonable'. There is always a gap between what is reasonable and what is "excessive". What is "excessive" does not begin where what is reasonable necessarily ends. See Houses and Rents — Bombay Rents, Hotel and Lodging House Rates Control Act (57 of 1946), S. 11 (1) (a). A I R 1957 Bom 207.

"Excessive interest."

See Debt Laws—Usurious Loans Act (1918), S. 3.

"Excise duty".

—Term "excise duty" has not been precisely nor authoritatively defined anywhere. It is generally used in contra distinction to the term 'customs duty. See Constitution of India, Art. 369. AIR 1955 Raj 114 (DB).

"Ex communication".

—The combined effect of the definition of the word "excommunication" and the provisions of S. 3, Bom. Prevention of "Ex communication" Act, is that what is prohibited by the Act is expulsion of a member of a community from the community itself, which, unless otherwise expressed, would carry with it the deprivation of all legal rights and privileges to which the member expelled was entitled as such. See Bombay Prevention of Ex communication Act (42 of 1949), S. 2 (b). ILR (1961) Bom 200.

"Execution".

—To 'execute' a document simply means to perform what is required by law to give validity to a writing as by signing and sealing it. The word 'executed' does suggest that there should be a formal contract between parties. Formality is of the essence. Contract cannot be spelled out of correspondence. It requires "execution" of formal document. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1964 All 128.

—Drafting of letter is not "Execution". A I R 1957 A P 584 (587) (Pt A) (Pr 11) (DB).

"Executive action".

—The expression "executive action" in Art. 116 of Constitution is comprehensive enough and apt to include even orders which emerge after and embody the results of a judicial or quasi-judicial disposal by Government. An order by the State Government under S. 64A, Motor Vehicles Act, is an executive action within meaning of Art. 116. See Constitution of India, Art. 116. AIR 1957 Mad 48 (DB).

"Executive", "Administrative".

—Terms 'administrative' or "executive" is capable of bearing a wide range of meaning. Broadly speaking term refers to broad areas of Governmental activity in which repositories of power may exercise every class of statutory function. (1964) 2 Andh L T 94 : A I R 1965 Andh Pra 69 (72) (Pt E) (Prs 8, 9)

"Exhibit"

See also Civil P. C. (1908), O. 13, R. 4.

—"Exhibit" means a decument exhibited for the purpose of being taken into consideration in deciding some question or other in respect of the proceeding in which it is filed. ILR (1957) 3 Cal 660 : AIR 1956 Cal 619 (619) (Pt B) (Pr 4).

"Existing Act".

"Existing salary".
—Words "existing salary" in industrial award interpreted. AIR 1956 Bom 573.

"Ex parte".
See also Civil P. C. (1908), O. 9, R. 13.

"Ex parte".
—Even giving to the expression "ex parte" its plain natural meaning, the expression "ex parte" does carry with it the connotation that a Court or a Judge or a Tribunal has proceeded in the absence of the other party when it could have had the other party before it or when it was not prevented by law from having the other party before it. 59 Bom L R 406: ILR (1957) Bom 520 : AIR 1958 Bom 10 (12) (Pt B) (Pr 3) (DB).

"Expense".

"Express contract".
See Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 35.

"Expression 'within a period of not less than one month".
—Expressions "not less than one month" and "within one month" mean same thing. See Rajasthan Agricultural Produce Markets Act (38 of 1961), S. 3 (2) 1965 Raj L W 358 :ILR (1965) 15 Raj 897: AIR 1966 Raj 142 (DB).

"Expressly".
—"Expressly" entrusted to the employed person for custody" in S. 7 (2) (c), Payment of Wages Act—"Expressly" in the context means clearly. See Payment of Wages Act (1936), S. 7 (2) (c). AIR 1958 Mad 585 (DB).

"Expressly excluded".
See Limitation Act (1908), S. 29 (2) (a).

"Extend".
—"Extend" means to "prolong", "to enlarge". See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 43-A (2) (Mad). AIR 1965 Mad 58 (DB).

"Extend" and "enlarge."
—To extend a certain period is the same thing as to enlarge that period. The words "to extend" and "to enlarge" are synonymous. Whenever any period fixed for doing a certain thing is extended, the extension would commence from the point of time when the earlier period ends. ILR (1954) 2 All 378 : AIR 1953 All 624 (626) (Pt B) (Pr 9) (DB).

"Extension"
—The word "extension" imports the continuance of an existing thing, and must have its effect given to where it occurs. 65 Pun L R 302 : (1963) 1 Com L J 146 : (1963) 33 Com Cas 265 : (1963) Com Cas Rep 49 : ILR (1963) 1 Punj 850 : A I R 1963 Punj 239 (241, 242) (Pt B) (Pr 5).

"External, violent and visible" injuries.
—Meaning of words "external, violent and visible" bodily injury explained. AIR 1956 Bom 633 (637) (Pt C) (Pr 18).

"Extinguishment".
—It is plainly incorrect to interpret Art. 31A of the Constitution in a manner as to render the word 'modification' therein wholly redundant. Both the words "extinguishment" and 'modification' in Art. 31A, must be given their respective meanings and significance Difference in their import lies in degree of the impairment or invasion of the rights in an estate. "Extinguishment" indicates total annihilation of the right. Modification covers a case where a right in the estate is abriged or impaired short of extinguishment". See Constiiution of India, Art. 31-A. AIR 1959 J & K 35 (FB).

"Fact discovered".
See Evidence Act (1872), S. 27.

"Factory"
See (1) C. P. & Berar Industrial Disputes Settlement Act (1947), S. 16.
(2) Employees' Provident Funds Act (1952), S. 2 (g).
(3) Employees' State Insurance Act (1948), S. 2 (12).
(4) Factories Act (1948), S. 2 (k) (m).

—Dictionary meaning of "factory" is "manufactory" or 'workshop' and a weaving concern working twenty handlooms would be a "factory"—Definition of "factory" in Factories Act is artificial. The word "factories" in Items 33 to 35 of the schedule to the notification D/- 1-2-1950, by Cannanore Municipal Council under S. 249, Madras District Municipalities Act, 1920, means not factories as defined in Factories Act but only manufactories or workshops. See Municipalities — Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920), S. 249. ILR (1959) Ker 837.

"Facts".
See Sales tax—Madras General Sales tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 12A.

"Failed to get himself registered"
—A person can be said to have "failed so get himself registered" within meaning of S. 11 (2) Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act, 1941, when he does not take any steps whatsoever to obtain a registration certificate; but when has applied for registration and has not thereafter done anything to prevent or obstruct registration but the authorities concerned are unable for some reason or other, to complete registraction before a certain time, the dealer concerned cannot be said to have "failed to get himself registered" within the meaning of S. 11 (2) —See Sales Tax —Bengal Finance (Sales-tax) Act (6 of 1941), S. 7 (3). AIR 1958 Cal 246.

"Fail to elect"
—Expression "fail to elect" in S. 6 (4), Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919, does not only embrace a case where electors did not in fact turn up at the election and thereby did not elect any member. The expression means failure to elect according to law—See Bengal Village Self-Government Act (5 of 1919), S. 6 (4). A I R 1958 Cal 287.

"Fails without sufficent cause to comply."
See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 488 (3).

"Failure"
—Word "failure" in S. 34 (1), Income-tax Act must connote that that is an obligation which has not been carried out and if there was no obligation upon the assessee to make a return then it would not be a failure on his part to carry out that obligation. The expression "omission," does not connote any obligation as the expression 'failure' does. Omisston is a colourless word which merely refers to not doing of something and if the assessee in fact does not make a return, it is an omission on his part whether the law casts any obligation upon him to make a return or not. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (1). AIR 1956 Bom 557 (DB).

"Failure of justice"

—"Failure of justice" or 'miscarriage of justice' has reference to and has been construed in the light of the substantive or procedural provisions of a particular law in the observance of which there has been some irregularity or error and the Court has to satisfy itself that the same has not led to the failure or miscarriage of justice before interfering with the sentence, order or judgment. See Panchayats — Punjab Gram Panchayat Act (4 of 1953), S. 8 (2) (a). 64 Pun L R 213 : ILR (1962) 2 Punj 74.

"Fair Price"

—"Fair price" has not been defined in D. I. Rules — But it is obvious that it means a price which is neither more nor less but one which is just and appropriate. It does not necessarily mean the price which the market conditions may demand. See Defence of India Rules (1962), R. 125 (3) (e) read with R. 123 (2). 1964 All L J 884.

"False charge"

—The sense in which the word 'charge' is used in S. 211, I. P. C. is different from that in which it is used in S. 47, Madras District Police Act. Unfounded allegations that a police officer was asking and taking bribes amounts to making a false and frivolous charge within S. 47, Madras District Police Act. See Madras District Police Act (24 of 1859), S. 47. 1960 Mad W N 154.

"Falsify"

See Penal Code (1860), S. 477-A.

●—The word "family" in a family settlement is not to be understood in a narrow sense of being a group of persons whom the law recognises of as having a right of succession or having a claim to a share in disputed property — See Hindu Law — Family Settlement. (1965) 2 S C W R 837 : (1965) 3 S C R 841 : A I R 1966 S C 323.

●—The word "family" in R. 10 (1) of the Rules for Assessment of Conservancy Tax framed under C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act 1922, has according to the context in which it appears has variable connotation. Even a single person may be regarded as "family". A master and servant may also be regarded as "family". See Municipalities — City of Nagpur Corporation Act 1948 (2 of 1950), S. 114. AIR 1963 S C 1192.

●—In its popular sense the word "family" means children and when the settlor recites that he has no children that is an indication that the dedication is not for the benefit of the "family" but for the public. See Hindu Law—Religious Endowment. A I R 1957 S C 133.

—The word "family" in the context in which it is used in S. 106, T. P. Act, cannot receive a restricted interpretation given to that word in Hindu law merely because the parties to the litigation are Hindus. It includes all those who are connected by blood relation or by marriage with each other and in that sense would cover married daughters. See T. P. Act (1882), S. 106. AIR 1964 Bom 96.

—"Family" includes both agnates and cognates. See Mussalman Wakf Validating Act (1913), S. 3 (a). AIR 1957 Mad 583 (DB).

—Meaning of the word "family" in a particular statute must be determined with reference to the context in which it has been used; blood or affinity is not necessarily in all cases, the pre-condition to constitute a "family". Divided members of a "family" do not fall within the expression in exception (1) to S. 2 (1) (j), Orissa Tenants Relief Act that is to say they are not members of the landlord's family and therefore are not excluded from being tenants created by the Act. The exception must be limited to the members of the "family" having joint proprietary interest. See Tenancy Laws—Orissa Tenants Relief Act (5 of 1955), S. 2 (1) (j), Exception (1). 31 Cut L T 608 : ILR (1965) Cut 179.

—Word 'family' used in S. 10, Bihar Agricultural Income-tax Act, 1948 must be construed with reference to Mahomedan law. The word includes (1) all those persons residing in the same house as the settlor and dependant upon him for maintenance and (2) all those connected with the Settlor through a common progenitor or by ties of common lineage. It is not, however, confined to persons who are dependants for their maintenance on the wakif the settlor and as such the son of a half-brother, the son and grandson of a paternal uncle and the son of a half-sister though not dependants of the wakif for their maintenance and residing separately from him are included in the term "family". See Bihar Agricultural Income-tax Act (32 of 1948), S. 10. 1956 B L J R 663.

—Widow of husband's cousin and her children not members of "family". See Houses and Rents — Rajasthan Premises (Control of Rent and Eviction) Act (27 of 1950), S. 13 (1), (4) (i). 1962 Raj L W 693.

"Fast dye".

—Per Bhandari J.—A 'fast dye' need not necessarily be a deep dye. Fast colour means a colour which cannot be removed by water or possibly by sun. The colour itself may be light or deep. 1953 Cri L J 1313: 55 Pun L R 145 : I L R (1953) Punj 542 : A I R 1953 Punj 204 (207) (Pt B) (Pr 23) (DB).

"Ferari"

—Held that in the context in which the word "ferari" was used in the patta the lotdar intended to mean by it that old tenants had abandoned their holdings; otherwise he could not assert his right of granting a new settlement to defendant—See Tenancy Laws—Bengal Tenancy Act (8 of 1885), S. 87. A I R 1955 N U C (Cal) 2332 (DB).

"Fictitious"

—In S. 17 (g), Drugs Act, the word "fictitious" means forged — Label declaring that firm A was the manufacturer of the goods, when in fact the firm A was not the a firm of manufacturers, manufacturers being some other company — Firm A held took up "fictitious" role and therefore the name of the manufacturer given on the label was fictitious." ●—'Final decision'—Preliminary decree for partition is 'Final decision'. See Provincial Insolvency Act (1920) (As amended in 1948), S. 28 A, Proviso 1. AIR 1963 SC 992.

—Word "final" in Gujarat District Panchayats Election Rules (1962), is used in regard to the decision of the Returning Officer in sub-rule (a) of R. 14 in order to eliminate interference at an intermediate stage. See Panchayats—Gujarat Panchayat Act (6 of 1962), S. 24. ILR (1965) Guj 111 : (1965) 6 Guj L R 200 : AIR 1966 Guj 19 (DB).

—Speaking generally, when it is said in an enactment that the decision shall be "final", it must mean that the decision is not open to appeal or revision by any Court of correction. In its ordinary signification, the expression "final" means last or that it absolutely puts an end to or concludes a matter. The use of that expression would connote that further controversy on the question is precluded. Or to put the same thing somewhat differently, it connotes that there is to be a finality to the proceeding. (1960) 1 Guj L R 1 : 1 Guj H C R 1.

"Financial obligations".

See Indian Independence (Rights, Property and Liabilities) Order (1947), Art. 8.

"Find".

—Word "find" when used in regard to legal proceeding means "to determine and declare an issue of fact by decision". It means to decide after judicial investigation or judicial enquiry. When a Court is to "find" a thing, it means an objective test, which of necessity depends upon an enquiry into the matter. See Tenancy Laws—Madhya Bharat Tenancy Act (66 of 1950), S. 50. 1961 M P L J 963.

"Finding".

●—The word "finding" in the second proviso to S. 34 (3), Income tax Act, will only cover material questions which arise in a particular case for decision by the authority hearing the case or the appeal which being necessary for passing the final order or giving the final decision in the appeal, has been the subject of controversy between the interested parties or on which the parties concerned have been given a hearing. A 'finding' therefore can be only that which is necessary for the disposal of an appeal. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (3), Second Proviso. AIR 1965 SC 342.

"F. O. B." and "F. O. R."

—The words F. O. B. and F. O. R. stand for Free on Board and Free on Rail respectively. Where the seller agrees to sell goods on F. O. B. or F. O. R. terms it means that the seller will bear all the expenses prior to the putting on board or rail. As soon as the goods are put on board or rail the responsibility of the seller ceases and the risk as well as property vests in the buyer. Prior to the putting on board a ship or rail of the goods the seller alone must bear the damages to the goods. "Food and Foodstuff".

—Practically there is no distinction between the meaning of the words "food" and "food stuff". A thing may be a food or food stuff even if not directly consumed and has no nutritive value but is only used for culinary purposes in the preparation of food. 'Food stuff' has no special meaning of its own. Wheat and wheat products are food. See Defence of India Rules (1962). R. 35 (5). 1964 (1) Cri L J 662 : AIR 1964 Cal 279 (DB).

"F. O. R." and "F. O. B."

—F. O. R. means Free on Rail and F. O. B. means Free on Board. See Words and Phrases — "F. O. B." and "F. O. R."

"For".

—Though the word "for" may mean "Concerning", in Art. 15 (3) it means only "in favour of". See Constitution of India, Art. 15 (3). AIR 1952 Cal 825 (DB).

"For any other purpose".

—Words "for any other purpose" in Art. 226 have got to be construed in the context of what precedes the same. These words necessarily imply "for the enforcement of any other right". See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1956 All 503 (DB).

—Expression "for any other purpose" — Meaning — Not to be read ejusdem generis — Hut or shed—Used for purpose not analogous to dwelling and stable not excluded. See Municipalities — Bombay Provincial Municipal Corporations Act (59 of 1949), S. 308. (1961) 2 Guj L R 495.

"For any other substantial cause".

—Words "for any other substantial cause" in O. 41, R. 27 (b), C. P. C. must be read with the word "requires" in the beginning of the sentence. The words cannot be construed in the narrow sense suggested by the doctrine of ejusdem generis. See under C. P. Code (1908), O. 41, R. 27 (b). AIR 1965 Punj 494.

"For any other sufficient cause".

—"For any other sufficient cause" in O. 47, R. 1, Civil P. C. mean a reason sufficient on grounds at least anologous to those specified immediately previously. See C. P. Code (1908), O. 47, R. 1. AIR 1963 Cal 100.

"Force and violence".

—While 'force' has been defined in S. 349, I. P. C., the word 'violence' has not been defined in the Penal Code. 'Violence' must therefore be understood in its ordinary sense. It is a word of wider import than force and includes force used against inanimate objects also. See Penal Code (1860), S. 146. 1955 Cri L J 671: AIR 1955 All 232 (FB).

"Force majeure".

—Expression "force majeure" is not a mere French version of the latin expression 'Vis major'. It is a term of wider import. Strikes, breakdown of machnery, which though normally not included in 'Vis major' are included in 'force majeure'. See Contract Act (1872), S. 29. AIR 1961 SC 1285 (c).

"Foreigner".

—Person who is a citizen of Pakistan and not a citizen of India, is a "foreigner" within meaning of Foreigners Act. See Public Safety — Preventive Detention Act (1950), S. 3 (1) (b). 1957 Cri L J 703: A IR 1957 Andh Pra 143 (DB).

"Foreign power".

—Pakistan, though a part of Commonwealth must be regarded as "foreign power" within meaning of S. 3, Preventive Detention Act—The expression must be construed in an ordinary way. See Public Safety —Preventive Detention Act (1950), S. 3. 1960 Cri L J 764: AIR 1960 SC 625.

'Foreign service".

—Permanent Postal employee under Government of India opting provisionally in 1947 for Pakistan — Servant reserving his option and changing it for India finally before prescribed period — Held that under Fundamental Rule 26 (9), servant's service in Pakistan should be treated as "foreign service" and will count for increment. "Forest rights".

—Expression "forest rights" in S. 193, Bihar Tenancy Act includes the right to appropriate any kind of forest produce. See Tenancy Laws — Bihar Tenancy Act (8 of 1885), S. 193. 1962 B L J R 774.

"Forfeiture".

See also Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 114.

—According to dictionary meaning of the word "forfeiture" the loss or the deprivation of goods has got to be in consequence of a crime, offence, or breach of engagement or has to be by way of penalty of transgression or a punishment for an offence. See High Court Rules and Orders—(Calcutta) Rules of the High Court Pt. 1, Chap. II, R. 9, Proviso. 1953 Cri LJ 1101: AIR 1953 SC 248.

"Form".

—The word "form" connotes a visible aspect such as shape or mode in which a thing exists or manifests itself, species, kind or variety. Rice in all forms would mean all kinds or varieties of rice or species of rice, such as broken rice, kichidi rice, pichodi rice or rice flour etc. See Sales Tax — Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (14 of 1950), Sch. I, Item. AIR 1953 Hyd 252 (DB).

Authority must give reasons to be recorded in writing. See Arms Act (1878), S. 18 (a). AIR 1956 Pepsu 37.

"For the purpose of growing tea".

—The words "for the purpose of growing tea" in Item 4 of Schedule, in Minimum Wages Act would mean growing tea plants no matter whether for the purpose of collecting leaves or for collecting seeds. The word 'growing' would only mean growing the plants and maintaining and nursing them, which are also the circumstances in case where tea has to be reared up for the purpose of plucking seeds and not leaves. The word 'tea' does not bear any other limited interpretation in the context in which it appears in Item 4. See Minimum Wages Act (1948), Sch., Item No. 4. AIR 1958 Assam 155 (DB).

"For the time being in force".

—The expression law: "for the time being in force" in S. 19 (1) (g), Defence of India Act, refer to law actually in force when Act was passed — Expression in S. 46 of Arbitration Act has the same meaning. See Defence of India Act (1939), S. 19 (1) (g). A I R 1954 Cal 41.

"Fortnight".

—The ordinary interpretation and connotation given to English words in the English language and the dictionaries should be adopted in construing English words. Such construction sometimes causes inconvenience and hardship, but in construing a statute or certain expressions, the Court cannot be influenced by such considerations. A "fortnight" is equal only to two weeks and not to fifteen days, (1958) 1 An W R 223, Affirmed. (1960) 2 Andh W R 213: 1960 Andh L T 783.

—The expression "fortnight" must be given meaning as stated in the English Dictionaries. It is not open to interprete the English language in a manner different from how it is understood in the English Dictionaries. According to Oxford Dictionary 'fortnight' means 'A period of fourteen nights; two weeks' It is a 'contracted form of O. E. Feowertyne night fourteen nights'. In Webster's New International Dictionary of the English Language the meaning given is 'the space of fourteen days; two weeks'. The argument that 'fortnight, means fifteen days inasmuch as month has only two pakshams cannot be accepted. (1958) 1 An W R 223.

"For want of prosecution".

—The expression "for want of prosecution" is a dubious expression. It may mean for default on the ground that no one was present on behalf of the plaintiff to prosecute the case and it may also mean for want of evidence on the ground that the plaintiff was present or deemed to be present but took no steps to produce evidence in support of his case. 1956 All W R (HC) 824 : 1956 All L J 827: A I R 1957 All 107 (109, 110) (Pt C) (Pr 14) (DB).

"Fraud upon statute."

—The expression "Fraud upon Statute" is a very high-sounding expression. If the letter of a statute permits a certain course of action, it is difficult to describe it as a fraud upon the statute. If that course of action is no longer desired the statute should be changed. To permit an action and then to call it illegal, cannot be supported. 61 C W N 414 : AIR 1957 Cal 656 (658) (Pt D) (Pr 11).

"Free consent."

See Contract Act (1872), S. 14.

"Freedom of Press."

See Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (a).

"Free-hold."

—Though the term "free-hold" has no well defined meaning in Indian law where the term has been used in a contract for sale of land the Court must assign to it a legal meaning as closely resembling the meaning of the term in England as Indian conditions permit.

Free-holds have now come to be recognised in England as practically equivalent to absolute property and having regard to the nature of a "freehold" in England, both from the point of view of its origin and its incidents, it would be appropriate to consider that estate in land as "freehold" in India which is not liable to terminate after a fixed period of time and in which the owner has an estate as nearly as possible equivalent to absolute property. Heritability and transferability are two of the most important attributes of absolute property.

A "freehold" does not mean land held free from payment of assessment or taxes. The liability for payment of land revenue cannot affect the question whether the land is or is not "freehold." So also the fact that an assessment is liable to be revised after fifty years does not make the land lease-hold for fifty years nor is the interest in such land terminable after 50 years. The interest continues indefinitely subject to the payment of assessment as may be levied from time to time. Similarly the fact that restrictions are imposed regarding the building to be put on the land under a town-planning scheme cann ot derogate from its nature as a "free hold." ('50) 52 Bom L R 636 : ILR 1950 Bom 568 (571, 572, 576, 577).

"Free of all encumbrances."

—Term 'encumbrances' of which the revenue auction-purchaser would be free comprehends the claims developed by the adverse possessor in the property possessed and the purchaser gets his title under his revenue sale free from the prescriptive title which had not yet matured but is in the course of acquisition by reason of the adverse possession up to the date of the revenue sale. See Travancore Revenue Recovery Act (1 of 1068), S. 35. AIR 1957 Trav-Co 14 (DB).

"French polish."

—"French polish" is included in the word "Varnishes" in Ch. I, Item 22. 'Varnish' is a generic name given to a homogeneous solution of gums or resins in alcohol, linseed oil or the like which is coated on various articles for protective or decorative purposes. "French polish" is only a species, being a homogeneous solution in alcohol with the result that the volatile solvent evaporates quickly. See Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), Sch. 1, Item 22. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 353 (DB).

"Fresh election."

—Fresh General Election under S. 554 (2) (ii) of Bengal Municipal Act, 1932, must be the general election that is directed by the State Government after the decision to reconstitute the municipality by a fresh general election is made. The election that takes place before the decision to reconstitute the municipality is made, cannot be considered a 'fresh' general election. See Municipalities — Bengal Municipal Act (15 of 1932), S. 554. AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 2399 (DB).

"From."

See also General Clauses Act (1897), S. 9.

—In S. 58 (1), Bombay Agricultural Debtors Relief Act, 1947, the word "from" is not used in the sense in which it is indicated in S. 10 (1), Bombay General Clauses Act. See Debt Laws — Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (1879), S. 1. AIR 1953 Bom 198.

—Word "from" is much akin to 'after,' when used in reference to the computation of time e.g. "from" a stated date, prima facie excludes the day of that date. See Travancore-Cochin Shops and Establishments Rules (1950), R. 9 (1). 1956 Ker L T 609.

—The provisions of S. 9 of the General Clauses Act, although those provisions may be looked into only for the interpretation of the enactments referred to in that section, do afford valuable guidance as to the method to be adopted for the purpose of computation of time even in notifications issued by an authority in the exercise of power conferred on it by law. The word "from" is akin to 'after' and if the word "from" is used for the purpose of and in reference to the computation of time, as for example, from a stated date, date is prima facie excluded from computation. 39 Mys L J 1006 : 1962 (4) F L R 144 : (1963-64) 24 F J R 37 : (LR (1962) Mys 23 : AIR 1962 Mys 117 (123, 124) (Pt C) (Prs 62, 63, 64) (DB).

—In S. 33 A (2), Income-tax Act, 1922, means from date of actual order and not from date of communication of the order. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 33-A (2). AIR 1953 Punj 16 (DB).

"Fully."

—Word "fully" in S. 28, Evidence Act means "thoroughly," "completely" 'entirely,', so as not to leave any trace of the impression created by the torture or fear. See Evidence Act (1872), S. 28. 1959 Cri L J 48 : AIR 1959 Madh Pra 17.

"Full time earning."

●—The expression "total full time earning" can only mean the earnings, a worker earns in a day by working full time on that day, full time to be in accordance with the period of time given in the notice displayed in the factory for a particular day. See Factories Act (1948), S. 79 (1). 1962 (1) Cri L J 497 : AIR 1962 S C 517.

"Function"

—The natural meaning of the word "function" is an activity proper to a thing or person or mode of action by which it or he fulfills its or his purpose. See Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (20 of 1933), S. 6-A. ILR (1961) Mys 951.

"Functus Officio."

●—Per Golvalker J. — The expression "functus officio" means, "having fulfilled the function," "having discharged the duty," "having discharged the office" or "accomplished the purpose" and therefore no further force or authority. See Stamp Act (1899), S. 33 (1). AIR 1966 Madh Pra 20 (FB).

"Fund"

●—Word "fund" may mean actual cash, resources of a particular kind (e.g. money in a drawer or a bank) or it may be a mere accountancy expression used to describe a particular category which a person uses in making up his accounts. The words "payment out of" when used in connection with the word "fund" in its first meaning connote actual payments i. e. by taking money out of the drawer or drawing a cheque on the bank. In its second meaning, they connote that, for the purposes of the account in which the fund finds a place; a payment is debited to that fund. See Penal Code (1860), S. 405. 1962 (2) Cri L J 805 : AIR 1962 S C 1821.

"Fundamental principles of justice."

—The words "fundamental principles of justice" cannot be interpreted so as to make mere want of jurisdiction or excess of jurisdiction a violation of that principle. See Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, S. 7. AIR 1952 Bom 209.

"Further inquiry."

See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 436.

"Further or other relief."

See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 92 (h).

"Gaddi".

—The word "gaddi" is used very loosely and in different senses; in one use of the word a "gaddi" appears to be necessary part of the dignity of a religious ascetic of the highest class. AIR 1943 P C 7, Foll. ILR (1952) Punj 506 : A I R 1952 Punj 361 (364) (Pt B) (Prs 25, 27) (DB).

"Gain".

—In S. 4 (2). Companies Act (1913) the word "gain" means 'acquisition' and is not limited to mere pecuniary "gain". The word is to be taken as referring to a company which is formed to acquire something or in which the individual members are to acquire something. See Companies Act (1913), S. 4 (2). A I R 1955 Mys 149.

—In Cl. (1) of S. 4 of Bengal Alluvion and Diluvion Regulation, the word "gain" has been used in a limited sense, contemplating only those gains which do not give rise to any forfeiture of title or confiscation of any other man's property. See Bengal Alluvion and Diluvion Regulation (1825), S. 4 (i). AIR 1955 N U C (Pat) 1861 (DB).

"Gaining wrongfully".

See Penal Code (1860), S. 23.

"Gambling".

See West Bengal Gambling and Price Competition Act (32 of 1957), S. 19 (d).

"Gang".

—The word "gang" means any band or company of persons who go about together or act in concert. The essence of the word in S. 400, Penal Code is that the persons should act in concert and therefore two or more persons can constitute a "gang". See Penal Code (1860), S. 400. 1963 (2) Cri L J 121 : AIR 1963 Andh Pra 314 (DB).

—The term "gang" is well-known and when we talk of a certain person's gang it is understood that it means the gang organised by that person and constituting that person and others. 1953 Cri L J 1519: ILR (1952) Patiala 445 : AIR 1953 Pepsu 145 (145, 146) (Pt A) (Pr 3).

"Garbling".

—Process of "garbling" pepper by washing and drying it and packing the dried pepper in gunny bags after winnowing the dried pepper to remove all dust and dirt amounts to manufacturing process as defined in the first part of cl. (k) of S. 2, Factories Act. See Factories Act (1948), S. 2. 1958 Cri L J 1026 : A I R 1958 Ker 237.

"Gehan" and "Jaine".

—"Gehan" and "Jaine" corrupt form of "Gehna"—Meaning of — Pledge is denoted — "Rehan" denotes mortgage. See Court-fees Act, Ss. 7 (3) and 7 (a). AIR 1952 Madh-B 196 (DB).

"General custom".

●—In Punjab the expression "general custom" has really been used in the sense that the custom has been repeatedly recognised by the Courts and therefore requiring no proof. Such a custom is entitled to judicial notice. AIR 1959 S C 1041 (1045) (DB).

"General meeting of Company".

—An extraordinary "general meeting" is as much a general meeting as an annual "general meeting" or a statutory meeting and there is nothing in the Companies Act which would justify the restriction of the term "general meeting" to annual "general meeting". :See Company — Articles of Association. AIR 1964 Ker 273.

"General public".

—Words "general public" in Art. 19 (6) of the Constitution do not mean all the members of the public in general. They apply to a particular section of the public. See Bihar Shops and Establishments Act, (1953) (8 of 1954), S. 26 (2). AIR 1958 Pat 442 (DB).

"Genuine".

—The word "genuine" does not necessarily imply "unreal in point of fact." It may also connote "not legally valid." (1942) L R 69 I A 119, Foll. ILR (1955) 2 Cal 44.

—The word "genuine" as defined in the law lexicon means not spurious or counterfeit, or as explained in dictionary 'belonging to, derived from or descended from the original source or stock, authentic, typical, pure'. Where the jewels auctioned were not admittedly imitation stones the mere fact that the quality of those jewels though real, was of an inferior order cannot be ground for holding that they were not 'genuine' at all. It may be that 'Dagi and doshi are less valuable than the real jewels without dagi and doshi, but dagi and doshi cannot make the jewels unreal or any way less genuine.' AIR 1959 Pat 490 (495, 496) (Pt B) (Pr 9).

"Genuinely requires".

—There is a distinction between words "genuinely requires" and 'reasonably requires'. The former refers to a state of mind and the latter to an objective standard. "Genuine requirement" would vary according to the idiosyncracy of the individual and the time and circumstances in which he lives and thinks. Reasonable requirement belongs to the knowledge of law and means reasonable not in the mind of the person requiring the accommodation but reasonable according to the actual facts. See Houses and Rents—M. B. Sthan Niyantran Vidhan (15 of 1950), S. 4(g). AIR 1955 N U C (Madh-B) 2098 (DB).

"Ghair-maoroosi".

—"Ghair-maoroosi" means a tenant at will and when a person is so recorded along with the original tenants at will the entry in his favour can only by interpreted as a sub-tenancy and it is incorrect to give the entries their natural meaning on the ground that it was never the case of the plaintiff that the person so recorded held the land as his sub-tenant. See Punjab Land Revenue Act (17 of 1887). AIR 1951 H P 65.

"Gift".

See (1) Gift Tax Act (1958), S. 2(xii).
(2) T. P. Act (1882), Ss. 122, 129.

"Girasdar".

●—The generic term "Garasia" or "Girasdar" includes Talukdars, Bhagdars, Mulgaresias and Bhagats, who can be generally classed as landholders with proprietary rights as distinguished from ordinary landholders included in the generic term Barkhalidars, which term includes Inamdars, Jiwaidars, Dharmada or kherati grantees and service tenure holders such as chakariatas and pasaitas who are merely entitled to the usufruct of the land granted to them. AIR 1952 Sau 114 (118, 119) (Pt H) (Pr 12) (SB).

"Goodwill."

■—"Goodwill of a business depends upon a variety of circumstances or a combination of them. The location, the service, the standing of the business, the honesty of those who run it, and the lack of competition and many other factors go individually or together to make up the "good.will" though locality always plays a considerable part. At the same time, locality is not everything. In the case of a theatre or restaurant, what is catered, how the service is run, what the competition is, contribute also to the goodwill. Messrs. S. C. Cambatta and Co. v. Commr. of Excess Profits Tax. (1961) 41 I T R 500 : (1961) 2 S C R 805 : (1961) 2 S C J 265 : A I R 1961 S C 1010 (1012) (Pr 9).

—Execution of decree—Order of Court to sell "goodwill" of judgment-debtor's business - What is "goodwill" explained. AIR 1957 Cal 250 (DB).

—Meaning of "good will" explained. See Estate Duty Act (1953), S. 36. AIR 1962 Mad 315 (DB).

—Nature of — "Goodwill" of business when attaches to premises in which it is carried on—Law relating to explained—(Landlord and tenant.)

"Goodwill" may be either incident to premises or stocktrade. Sometimes it happens that on the sale or transfer of business the purchaser takes a lease of the old premises for a specified period and then removes his business to another site. On the termination of the lease the question arises whether the goodwill of the business continues to be annexed to the premises or is carried away by the purchaser and lessee along with the stock-in-trade and machinery. The answer will depend on the original terms of sale, as well as, on the nature of the business; one or more of the elements going to make up what is called goodwill may be retained, while others may be parted with and all or every such elements may be disposed of without express mention. Where the "goodwill" is incident to the means of production rather than to the place of business as, for instance, a manufacturing business the "goodwill" will pass on with plant and stock to the lessee. On the other hand, where the attribute is the predominant feature as in the business of a hotel or public house, the "goodwill" is generally incident to the premises and, consequently, passes to the reversioner. By an express contract it may, however, pass to the lessee. Thus, we have "cat goodwill." When considering a tenant's claim for "goodwill" it is not permissible to take into account so-called 'cat' "goodwill," which is part of the "goodwill" attributable to the site as distinct from the tenant's own business carried on on the site. The "goodwill" of a solicitor's business cannot adhere to the premises in which it was carried. English case law referred.

Applying these principles to the facts of the case it was held that the "goodwill in the condiment business carried on by plaintiff in the suit premises, was a personal "goodwill" and had not become attached to the premises. AIR 1955 Mad 350 (356, 357) (Pt B) (Prs 20, 21, 25).

"Goonda."

—To characterise a person as "goonda' which is well understood term, is per se defamatory. See Penal Code (1860) S. 499. 1962 (2) Cri L J 142 (Ker).

"Go slow."

—"Go slow" is a picturesque description of deliberately delaying of production by workmen pretending to be engaged in the factory. This is misconduct. 1962 (3) S C R 684.

"Government."

See also Penal Code (1860), S. 17.

—Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), S. 51 —Expression "clamis of the Government" includes all claims which may be made by State Government or by the Central Government of India. See Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), S. 51. AIR 1957 Bom 155 (DB).

—Per Narasimham J.—"Government" referred to in the expression "appropriate Government" in S. 2 (a), Industrial Disputes Act is the "Government" exercising administrative or executive authority and not the "Government" exercising its powers as an employer in an industry. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (a). AIR 1960 Orissa 205 (DB).

"Government of the Vindhya Pradesh."

—The words "Government of the Vindhya Pradesh" used in an order made by a Secretary to the Chief Commissioner conveys exactly the same meaning, and has the same effect as the words "Chief Commissioner of the Vindhya Pradesh." AIR 1952 Vin.Pra 18 (19) (Pt B) (Pr 7).

"Gratification."

"Gratuity."

—Death-cum-Retirement "Gratuity" in revised Pension Rules — Expression, explained. See Constitution of India, Art. 14. AIR 1963 Mys 247 (DB).

—"Gratuity" is a payment in the nature of gift and the donor cannot be compelled to make a gift, the matter being within his sole discretion. "Gratuity" does not rest upon a consideration. Any amount paid over and above what is due for services is "gratuity." "Gratuity" is not synonymous with compensation. A pension which is granted for services previously rendered and which at the time they were rendered gave rise to no obligation is a "gratuity," not giving rise to an action. In certain case "gratuity" is also in the nature of expectacy granted by the donor. See Master and Servant. AIR 1961 Punj 443.

"Habi".

See U. P. Disciplinary Proceedings (Administrative Tribunal) Rules (1947), Rr. 2 (e) and 4 (1) (d).

"Hajat kami"

—Hajat kami" when applied to rent would mean relief given to the tenant on account of his want or necessity—Principles stated—Kabuliat not mentioing 'hajat'—'Hajat' granted after creation of tenancy — Held that tenant was not entitled to 'hajat'. I L R (1951) 1 Cal 133 : AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 1064 (DB).

"Hakka" (हक्क) — Meaning and implication.

—The word "Hakka" should not be narrowly interpreted meaning present right or title in the property. It has reference to future title also. By the words "यावर कोणाचा कोणतेही प्रकारचा हक्क व बोझा नाहीं" occurring in the sale deed the vendor must be deemed to have agreed that if the title which he is purporting to convey is at any future point of time displaced by a better title the vendor would reimburse and compensate the vendee and if such contingency occurs full effect must be given to the guarantee contained in these words and the vendee is entitled to enforce his right for the breach of the guarantee. 1963 Mah L J (Notes) 22 (Bom).

"Haqiyat"

—"Haqiyat" does not include abadi site. AIR 1952 All 148 (Pr 4) (DB).

"Harijan".

See Untouchability (Offences) Act (1955), S. 3.

"Has been".

—Plain implication of the words "has been" "incorrectly valued or assessed" in S. 138 (1) (c) of the Bengal Municipal Act is whether having regard to the state of things existing at the time when the original or initial assessment was made, it can be said that the original or initial assessment was incorrect. See Municipalities—Bengal Municipal Act (15 of 1932), S. 138 (i) (c). AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 5608.

—Though the expression "has been" in cl. (f) of S. 10 (1) of Tanjore Tenants and Pannaiyal (Protection) Act (Mad. Act 14 of 1952) may include past conduct also, the proper construction of the clause read along with the other clauses and in the context would be to confine it only to conduct or behaviour of the tenant subsequent to the passing of the Act. See Tenancy Laws—Tanjore Tenants and Pannaiyal (Protection) Act (Madras Act (14 of 1952) S. 10 (1) (f). AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 1570 (DB).

"Has been previously issued".

—The words "has been previously made" in cl. 2 (1) of the schedule to Bihar Town Planning and Improvement Trust Act 1951, do not merely connote the issuing of a notification before the Bihar Act was passed but include all notifications made prior or anterior to the first publication of a notice of an improvement scheme under S. 46. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 4. AIR 1963 SC 1077.

"Has fallen vacant".

—Under U. P. (Temp.) Control of Rent and Eviction Act, the power of the District Magistrate to let or not to let any accommodation to any person is only in respect of the accommodation which "has fallen vacant" S. 7-A of the Act gives an indication as to the meaning of the words "has fallen vacant" where the tenancy of the tenant-in-chief is terminated by an ejectment decree, the accommodation falls vacant after the ejectment decree as a whole. (See Houses and Rents —U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act (3 of 1947), S. 7. AIR 1958 All 393.

"Have regard to".

—Under S. 4 (i) (iv) of the C P. and Berar Accommodation (Requisition) Act, 1948, the Arbitrator in making the award "shall have regard to" the provisions of S. 23 (1) of the Land Acquisition Act, in so far as the same can be made applicable. The words "shall have regard to" show that S. 4 (1) (iv) is not exhaustive of the matters which the arbitrator should take into consideration in assessment of compensation. See C. P. and Berar Accommodation (Requisition) Act (43 of 1948), S. 4 (1) (iv). 1962 M P L J 109.

"Head of Department".

—For the purposes of S. 123, Evidence Act, the expression "Head of Department" has two distinct meanings. It may be limited to Heads of the various Departments of the secretariat, namely Secretaries of the Departments or else it may also include Heads of Departments of attached offices either under the Union Government or under the State Government. See Evidence Act (1872), S. 123. AIR 1963 Orissa 111.

"Hear".

—Word "hear" used in relation to the complainant in S. 208 (1), Criminal P. C. means granting audience to the complainant that is, has to detail the facts which constitute the offence and to state by what evidence he is going to prove these facts. As the word "hear" means granting audience to the complainant, his counsel is competent to appear on his behalf and detail the facts which constitute the offence and the evidence proposed to be led to prove those facts. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 208 (1). 1959 Cri L J 978 : AIR 1959 J & K 77 (DB).

"Hear the parties."

See (1) Constitution of India, Art. 226.
(2) Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 145 (1).

"Heir."

—Word "heir" within meaning of S. 22, Hindu Adoptions and Maintenance Act includes all those on whom the estate of the deceased devolves, whether on intestacy or by means of a testamentary instrument like a will. See Hindu Adoptions and Maintenance Act (1956), S. 22. AIR 1961 Punj 288 (DB).

"Held."

—In S. 9, U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, the legislature has deliberately used the word "held" and this word connotes the existence of a right or title in the holder. The other words used are "belonging to" and that expression certainly refers to owner. The word "held" follows the words "belonging to" and also denotes that the person in possession is there because of some right or title to the land. See Tenancy Laws — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 9. AIR 1953 All 406 (DB).

—Words 'possessed' and "held" used in S. 14 (1), Hindu Succession Act mean one and the same thing. See Hindu Succession Act (1956), S. 14 (1). AIR 1958 Mad 255 (DB).

"Hereafter."

—The word "hereafter" as an adverb excludes both the present and the past. ILR (1963) 1 Ker 385.

"Hessian"

—The word "hessian" as understood in the trade is a fabric woven in a particular manner, namely, plain weave single yarn and 'sacking' is a fabric woven with double wrapped yarn. See Sea Customs Act (1878), Sch. 2, Cl. 1. (1961) 65 Cal W N 1206.

"High Court."

—"High Court" referred to in Stamp Act, Art. 25 (Mad), Stamp Act, is a "High Court" within the territory to which the Stamp Act applies. See Stamp Act (1899), Sch. 1-A, Madras, Art. 25. AIR 1954 Mad 78 (DB).

"Highway."

—The common definition of 'highway' is that it is a way leading from one marked town or inhabited place to another inhabited place, and which is common to all the subjects of the Sovereign. Public bridges are highways so far as the right of passage is concerned. 1957 Raj L W 541 : I L R (1957) 7 Raj 850 : A I R 1958 Raj 138 (139) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

"Hindu."

—Word "Hindu" in Ss. 3 and 4, Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act, necessarily means a male and not a female Hindu. See Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act (1937), S. 3 (1). A I R 1958 Pat 600 (DB).

—In general the term "Hindu" does not include those professing the Buddhist religion. It includes only those persons who are governed by Hindu Law. Jains and Sikhs are governed by Hindu Law and they are included in the term "Hindu." See Constitution of India, Art. 14. ILR (1961) 11 Raj 63.

"His own business."

—What is meant by the word 'own' is something in which the landlord or his family have pecuniary interest. Where the wife of the landlord wants to start a maternity home, it is "his own" business. See Houses and Rents — C. P. and Berar Letting of Houses and Rent Control Order, 1949, Cl. 13 (vi) (c). AIR 1951 Nag 51 (DB).

"His own occupation."

—Expression "his own occupation" in S. 11 (3) (a), Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act cannot be restricted only to occupation of the landlord himself but should be given a wider and liberal meaning so as to include occupation of persons who are living with him and are economically dependent on him. See Houses and Rents — Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act (3 of 1947), S. 11 (3) (a). AIR 1955 Pat 496 (DB).

"Hissedar."

●—"Hissedar" means in Kumaon and Garhwal, a cosharer in Zamindari rights. A I R 1955 All 65 (66, 67) (Prs 8, 10, 12, 15) (FB).

"Hold."

(2) Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (f).
(3) Tenancy Laws — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1951), S. 9.

"Horticulture."

—Cocoanut whether a horticultural produce—Whether particular produce is horticultural produce or not does not depend upon extent of its cultivation — Mere fact that some tilling has to be done for purposes of raising crop or that watering has to be done, a produce does not cease to be horticultural produce — "Horticulture" means art of gardening and since cocoanuts are raised in gardens they answer definition of horticultural produce. See Sales Tax — Hyderabad General Sales Tax Rules (1950), R. 5 (2) (b). 20 S T C 285 : ILR (1965) Andh Pra 685.

"Hotel."

—In order to constitute a "hotel" two elements viz. (i) access thereto by the public or a section thereof and (ii) supply of articles constituting meals and drinks for a price are necessary. See Municipalities —

Bombay District Municipal Act (1901), S. 59 (1)(xi). 61 Bom L R 52 : I L R (1959) Bom 829.

—"Hotel" is a place where the proprietor makes it his business to furnish food or lodging or both to travelling public or other persons. The fact that no food or other service is provided by the proprietor does not show that the building is not a "hotel" or a lodging house. So also the mere circumstance that certain persons remained in possession of the rooms for over three years does not prove that the rooms in question were not rooms in a "hotel" or lodging house. See Houses and Rents — Delhi and Ajmer Merwara Rent Control Act (19 of 1947), S. 2 (b). ('51) 53 Pun L R 75.

"House."

—Word "house" is an ambiguous word with no common or ordinary meaning so fixed and definite that by the mere use of the word one can determine in what sense the legislature has used it. The word "house" is not defined in T. C. Panchayats Act or the Rules or in Bye-laws of the Panchayats. But looking at the object and the context, the "house" tax imposed is not confined to dwelling houses and will apply to non-residential buildings. See Panchayats — Travancore-Cochin Panchayats Act (2 of 1950), S. 56. ILR (1957) Kerala 700.

—"House" means structure intended to be used for human habitation. Stables or outhouses used permanently as dwelling houses are "houses." See Municipalities — Indore District Municipal Act (4 of 1919), S. 21 (ix). 1960 M P L J 72.

"Household servant."

See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 7.

"Hukamnama."

—"Hukamnama" is clearly a fee charged by the state for the recognition of the successor to the estate (being a scheduled jagir) held by his deceased ancestor. It is a special levy connected with the succession of a jagirdar. See Rajasthan Land Reforms and Resumption of Jagirs Act (4 of 1952), S. 4. AIR 1955 N U C (Raj) 2539 (DB).

"Husband and wife"

See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 16 (3) (a) (iii).

"Hut"

—Plain meaning of the word "hut" is a small or mean house or a small temporary dwelling or similar structure. See Tenancy Laws—Kerala Stay of Eviction Proceedings Act (1 of 1957), S. 2. 1958 Ker L T 404 : 1958 Ker L J 573 : ILR (1958) Ker 696.

"Ijaredar"

●—Considering the setting in which the word "ijaredar" has been used in S. 2 (1) (e) U. P. Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act, it must take colour from it and cannot be held to mean any lease of land of whatever kind. In the setting the word is used, it should be confined to a person holding an Ijara which is a lease or farm of land revenue or other proprietary right as distinguished from other kinds of leases of land. See Tenancy Laws—Vindhya Pradesh Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act (11 of 1952), S. 2 (1) (e) AIR 1961 S C 1204.

"Illatom"

See Hindu Law—Adoption.

"Illatom son-in-law"

See Hindu Law—Succession.

"Illegal"

See Penal Code (1860), S. 43.

"Illegally and with material irregularity"

See C. P. Code (1908), S. 115.

"Illegal practice".

—"Illegal practice"is not defined in C. P. & Berar Panchayat Act. The term may cover a wide range of subjects. The expression cannot be given a restricted meaning so as to require for its application something done by a candidate at the time of the election, that is to say, some overt act with the result that it will not apply if there is no such overt act, as for instance, where a person incurs a disqualification under S. 14 of the Act. See Panchayats — C. P. and Berar Panchayat Act (1 of 1947), S. 14. I L R (1958) Bom 801.

"Immediately"

See (1) High Court Rules and Orders—Nagpur High Court Rules, Chap. 4, R. 10.
(2) Income-tax Act (1922), S. 2 (6-A), (c).
(3) Letters Patent (Nag) Cl. 10.

"Immoral"

—The word "immoral" in S. 11 (1) (c) of West Bengal Premises Rent Control Act (1948), is not limited by the ideas, and notions of brothel as expounded and defined in the Bengal Suppression of Immoral Traffic Act—Living as only one man's mistress stand on the same plane as prostitution and is sufficiently "immoral" to come within the meaning of the Rent Control Act. See West Bengal Premises Rent Control Act (1948), S. 11 (1) (e). AIR 1951 Cal 164.

"Immoral purpose"

—Word 'immoral' in S. 11 (1) (e), W. B. Premises Rent Control Act is not limited by the ideas and notions of brothel as expounded and defined in Bengal Suppression of Immoral Traffic Act. Prostitution and living as only one man's mistress differ only in degree but stand on the same plane. The latter is sufficiently immoral to come within the meaning of the Rent Control Act, so as to exclude such person from obtaining the benefit and protection of the Rent Act. See Houses and Rents—West Bengal Premises Rent Control Act (1948), S. 11 (1) (c). AIR 1951 Cal 164.

"Immovable property"

See (1) General Clauses Act (1897), S. 3 (26).
(2) Jammu and Kashmir Right to Prior Purchase Act (1993), S. 15.
(3) Madras Revenue Recovery Act (1864), S. 8.
(4) T. P. Act (1882), S. 3.
(5) U. P. District Boards Act (1922), S. 192 (1).

"Impediment"

—The word "impediment" in S. 40, Bengal Wakf Act must mean an "impediment" in law and such impediments are well-known e. g. minority, unsoundness of mind, apostacy etc. The mere fact that two persons are rival claimants for the office cannot be described as an "impediment" to the appointment of a mutawalli. See Bengal Wakf Act (13 of 1934), S. 40. AIR 1954 Cal 436.

"Implied contract"

See Contract Act (1872), S. 10.

"Import"

or departure therefrom. This would lead to confusion. See Municipalities—C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (2 of 1922), S. 66 (1) (o). A I R 1958 S C 341.

"Importation"

—"Concerned in illegal "importation" of foreign gold" – Connotation of terms "concerned in" and "importation" indicated. See Sea Customs Act (1878), S. 167 (8). 1962 (1) Cri L J 600 : AIR 1962 Cal 242 (DB).

"Imported into the area"

—Expression "Imported into the area" in the notification of the Punjab Govt. No. 11992 L D 58/13577A D/-23-4-1959 under Punjab Dist. Boards Act cannot be given its derivative meaning and cannot cover the goods brought in and taken out of the limits of the District Board in the course of transportation without being unloaded there. See Punjab District Boards Act (20 of 1883), S. 30. AIR 1965 Punj 97.

"Import into"

●—Words "import into" and 'export out of' in the context of Cl. (1) (b) of Art. 286 of the Constitution do not mean the article or commodity imported or exported. The expressions mean exportation out of the territory and importation into the country. See Constitution of India, Art. 20 (2). AIR 1953 S C 333.

"Impose"

●—Word "imosed" in S. 59 (1) of Bombay District Municipal Act means actual levy of tax. See Municipalities—Bombay District Municipal Act (3 of 1901), S. 59 (1). AIR 1962 S C 988.

"Impose and levy."

—Sometimes the terms "impose" and 'levy' may only refer to fixing tax liability or assessment or quantification of the liability. These terms are used in various senses sometimes to include also collection of tax from tax payers. Court should therefore be guided by the context, the term 'levy' in S. 21, Rajasthan Motor Vehicles Taxation Act has to be construed widely. See Cantonment Act (1924), S. 60. AIR 1963 Raj 190 (DB).

"Impossible"

See Contract Act (1872), S. 56.

"Impotency"

See Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 12 (1) (a).

"Impracticable."

—Word "impracticable" in S. 186, Companies Act, 1956, must be given practical meaning. It must be understood to be "impracticable" from the business point of view. It must not be held "impracticable" on the slighest excuse that the directors cannot agree. See Companies Act (1956), S. 186. A I R 1956 Cal 658.

—Term "impracticable" implies that it is "impracticable" from reasonable point of view. Court must take common sense view of the matter and must act as prudent person of business. See Companies Act (1913), S. 79 (3). AIR 1953 Cal 355 (DB).

"Improvements."

See Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 51.

"In."

—Preposition "in" does not always mean or is limited to "inside" of a particular thing—The connotation of the word will depend upon the context. The word "in" in the expression "alteration in any building" in S. 131 (2) (c) of the Calcutta Municipal Act, should be taken to mean "in respect of" or "in relation to." The alterations and improvements need not be within four walls under the roof. See Municipalities —Calcutta Municipal Act (3 of 1923), S. 131 (2) (c). AIR 1954 Cal 20 (DB).

"In accordance with."

●—Words "in accordance with" in S. 47A (1), U. P. Municipalities Act mean "in conformity with" or "as provided for"—See Municipalities—U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 47A (1) (a). A I R 1958 All 374 (FB).

"In accordance with law."

See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 182 (5).

'In accordance with the form."

—There is no material difference between the expressions "in the form" and "in accordance with the form." Where a statute requires an agreement to be 'in the form' or 'in accordance with the form' prescribed by it, then unless the contrary is clearly expressed, it is sufficient compliance with the statute if the agreement is substantially in the form; any inconsequential variation is immaterial. AIR 1956 All 725 (728) (Pt B) (Pr 14) (DB).

"Inam."

See also (1) Government Grants Act (1895), S. 3.
(2) Tenancy Laws—Madras Estates Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari Act (26 of 1948), S. 9.

—The word "inam" does not necessarily indicate an absolute grant, but has to be understood with reference to the context and the accompanying words. 1952 K L T 436 : A I R 1952 T C 105 (110, 111) (Pt C) (Pr 18) (DB).

"In any case."

See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 62. A I R 1957 Raj 162 (DB).

"In any proceedings under this Act."

—The words "in any proceedings under this Act" in S. 54 (1), Land Acquisition Act reveal that the necessary intendment of that sub-section is that if the proceedings before the Court in which the award was made is a proceeding under the Act on whatever date it might have commenced. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 54 (as amended by Mysore Act (17 of 1961). AIR 1965 Mys 93.

'In any reference."

●—"In any reference" in Arbitration Act S. 31 (4) means in the "matter of a reference to arbitration—See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 31 (4). A I R 1953 S C 313.

"Incapable of taking care of himself."

—"Incapable of taking care of himself" in S. 85 (1) (i) Bombay Prohibition Act does not include making a nuisance of oneself. It means being in a state in which one cannot do for oneself what one has to do if care has to be exercised. See Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949), S. 85 (1) (i). AIR 1955 N U C (Bom) 5887.

"Incidental."

See (1) Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Ss. 10 (1) (c). and 10 (4).
(2) Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947), S. 29 (2) (5).

"Incite."

—Words 'instigate' and "incite' should be read to signify something deeper than mere asking of a person to do a particular act. There must be something in the nature of solicitation to constitute instigation or incitement. The words convey the meaning 'to goad' or 'urge forward' or 'to provoke' or 'encourage' to do an act. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 27. 1958 Cri L J 662 : AIR 1958 Pat 259 (DB).

"Include."

—"Include" — Word is generally used to enlarge the normal or popular connotation of expression for purposes of statute. AIR 1955 N U C (Bom) 2319.

—'Including' is a term of extension. It imports addition. It adds to the subject-matter already comprised in the definition. 55 Bom L R 941 : I L R (1954) Bom 434 : A I R 1954 Bom 204 (205) (Pt D) (Pr 5) (DB).

"Includes."

● —The expressions "includes" or 'shall be deemed to include' in a definition clause is very generally used in order to enlarge the meaning of the words or phrases occurring in the body of the statute. A I R 1957 All 541 (545) (FB).

—Word "include" in an interpretation clause is intended to be enumerative and not exhaustive. When it is intended to exhaust the signification of the words interpreted the word 'means' is used — See Tenancy Laws—M. P. Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates, Mahals and Alienated Lands) Act, 1950 (1 of 1951), S. 2 (j) (1). 1958 Nag L J 172.

● —The effect of a definition clause, beginning with the word "includes" is not to single out for specific mention some of the things comprised within the natural import of the term defined, but the effect is to enlarge that import by the addition of certain things which would not otherwise be regarded as included. In that sense, it is undoubtedly true that a definition clause, so expressed, is ordinarily not exhaustive, but it can be so in certain contexts. Tarak Chandra v. Ratan Lal. I L R (1958) 1 Cal 153 : 61 C W N 263 : A I R 1957 Cal 257 (270, 271) (Pt L) (Pr 43) (FB).

● —Per Kaul C. J. — 'Including' is a term employed generally where the scope of the class indicated by the words preceding it is wider than that of the class specified by the terms which follow. Dayabhai Poonambhai Patel v. Regional Transport Authority. 52 Cri L J 1305 : I L R (1952) Madh Bha 454 : AIR 1951 Madh Bha 121 (128) (Pt B) (Pr 42) (FB).

"Income."

"Income, profits or gains have escaped assessment."

See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (1A).

"Income-tax"

● —Expression "income-tax" as used in Sch. I, R. 2 (2) (c) of M. P. Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estate, Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act, 1950 (1 of 1951), does not include super-tax. See T. L.—Madhya Pradesh Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estate Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act, 1950 (1 of 1951), S. 8 (1). AIR 1965 S C 198.

—Expression "Income-tax" used in Sch. I, R. 2 (2) (c), M. P. Act 1 of 1951, does not include 'super-tax.' See Tenancy Laws — M. P. Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates, Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act, 1950 (I of 1951), Sch. 1, R. 2 (2) (c). 1960 M P L J 370.

"Incumbrance."

See also Words and Phrases—"Encumbrance."

—Word "incumbrance" in S. 4 (a) of Bihar Land Reforms Act cannot be understood in the same sense as defined in S. 161, Bihar Tenancy Act. AIR 1965 Pat 328 (330) (Pr 5).

—Lease for holding bazar on plots which were orchard on bakasht land of proprietor of zamindari—Lessee not to pay rent to landlord—Petitioner entitled to construct sheds — Settlement held for non-agricultural purposes and amounted to "incumbrance" within meaning of S. 4 (a), Bihar Land Reforms Act. See Tenancy Laws—Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 4 (a) (h). AIR 1953 Pat 48 (DB).

"Incurred."

—Debt "incurred" — 'Incur' means "render liable or subject to, entail." It means to have liabilities cast upon one by act of parties or operation of law. Liability is "incurred" only when amount is borrowed and not when the accounts are settled or when any document is executed in pursuance of settlement of accounts. See Debt Laws—Madras Agriculturists Relief Act (4 of 1938), S. 13. (1960) 1 Andh W R 397.

"Indal-talab."

—Bond under S. 499, Cr. P. C. using words "Indal-talab"—"Indal-talab" means on demand. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 499. (1963) 65 Punj L R 716.

"Independent contractor."

● —Master, servant and "independent contractor," who are, explained—Master employing servant—Latter authorised to employ persons — Such persons, if servants of master, has to be determined on facts of the case. AIR 1955 S C 404 (407 to 412).

"Indian law."

● —The expression "Indian law" in para. 17 (c) of the U. P. High Courts (Amalgamation) Order, 1948, includes not only an Act of the legislature, but also all rules, bye-laws and orders or notifications made thereunder—Vide S. 3 (29), General Clauses Act. See Bar Councils Act (1926), S. 1 (3). AIR 1955 All 269 (FB).

"Individuals"

See (1) Constitution of India, Sch. 7 List I Entry 86.
(2) Expenditure Tax Act (1957), S. 3 (1).
(3) Wealth Tax Act (1957), S. 3.

"Industrial disputes."

See (1) C. P. and Berar Industrial Disputes Settlement Act (23 of 1947), S. 2 (13).
(2) Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Ss. 2 (k), 10 (1) (c).
(3) U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (28 of 1947), S. 2.

"Industrial employees."

● —Expression "industrial employees" used in the Notification No. 3754 (LL)/XVIII-894 (L), 1948 issued by U. P. Govt. on 6-12-1948 is not limited to the class of employees who are employed directly or indirectly for purpose of manufacturing process carried on by the factory—Malis (gardeners) employed by the Mills who are workmen within S. 2 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act—Notification applies to them See U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (28 of 1947), S. 3 (b). AIR 1964 S C 737.

"Industrial matter."

See C. P. and Berar Industrial Disputes Settlement Act (23 of 1947), S. 2 (13). AIR 1958 S C 311.

"Industrial undertaking."

—The words "industrial undertaking" are given by the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951 a meaning which is separate and distinct from the word "industry". To be an 'industrial undertaking', the work of manufacture or production should be carried on in one or more factories by person or authority including Government. See Industries (Development and Regulation) Act (1951), S. 3 (d). AIR 1959 All 80 (DB).

—Expression "industrial undertaking" in Sch. 2 of Bihar Electricity Duty Act must be construed in a wide and comprehensive sense so as to include not only premises within which manufacturing process is carried on, but also premises from which any manufacturing process is controlled and directed. See Bihar Electricity Duty Act (36 of 1948), S. 3 (v) (b). (1960) ILR 39 Pat 296.

"Industry"—Meaning.

See (1) Constitution of India, Art. 246.
(2) Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Ss. 2 (j), 10.
(3) Interpretation of Statutes—Word—Land.
(4) Manipur Land Revenue and Land Reforms Act (1960), S. 14 (2).

"Industry carried on under the authority of Central Government"—Meaning of.

See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (a) (1).

"Inefficiency."

—The word 'inefficiency' means 'want of efficiency; incapacity to produce the desired effect'. Negligence in the performonce of his duty by a public servant over a period obviously indicates his incapacity to show the effect or result desired by the authority employing him. (1958) 60 Punj L R 277.

"Information."

See (1) Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 154.
(2) Evidence Act (1872), S. 27.
(3) Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34.

"In furtherance of common intention of all".

See Penal Code (1860), S. 34.

"In hands of a person."

—Expression "in the hands of a person" in S. 100, T. P. Act, interpreted—Transfer of interest in property by way of mortgage — The property must be regarded to be "in the hands of a "person" to whom it has been transferred. Words "in the hands of" can and must only mean "held by" or "owned by" and cannot mean physical holding of the property. See Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 100, Para. 2. AIR 1964 Bom 1 (DB).

"In his opinion."

—Words "in his opinion" in Administration of Evacuee Property Act. S. 40 (4) do not mean that his opinion is unrelated to the facts and the cirumstances placed before him at the inquiry—In one sense there is always a subjective element in arriving at a conclusion on the evidence by a Judge or Court. Words do not mean that his conclusion is arbitray or entirely subjective. See Administration of Evacuee Property Act (1950), S. 40 (4). AIR 1955 Mad 75 (DB).

"In his view."

—The expression "in his view" in S. 20, Madras Pawn-brokers Act, 1943 should obviously be construed as in immediate presence of a police officer. See Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (g). 1957 Cri L J 962 : AIR 1957 Mad 514.

"Injury."

See also (1) Civil P. C. (1908), O. 39, R. 1.
(2) Constitution of India, Art. 311 (2).
(3) Criminal P. C (1898), Ss. 4 (l) (k), 494.
(4) Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 3.

—"Injury" in S. 53, C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (1922) means unlawful infringement or privation of a right. See Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (2 of 1922), S. 53. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 40 (DB).

"In lieu of payment."

—The expression "in lieu of payment" connotes that payment is outsanding i. e., there is subsisting obligation. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 49E. AIR 1965 SC 1316.

"In like manner."

—In S. 35 (2), Income-tax Act, 1922, the expression "in like manner" does not mean anything more in the context than "similarly." See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 35(1). AIR 1959 Mad 108 (DB).

"In matters of religion."

See Constitution of India, Art. 26 (b).

"In other cases before the judgment is pronounced."

See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 494.

"In possession and power."

—The words "in possession and power" in Rr. 1 and 2 of O. 13, Civil P. C, imply that the document in question must be in actual physical possession or control of the plaintiff — The expression does not include a document over which the plaintiff has no control and which can be produced only through the intervention of the Court by calling a witness and asking him to produce the document. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 13, R. 1. AIR 1964 J & K 59.

"In pursuance of."

—The words "in pursuance of" used in a notification do not mean what would be conveyed by "in exercise of powers conferred by." The words "in pursuance of" have several meanings. Thus, it may appropriately in a particular case mean 'conformable to' or 'in accordance with.' 5 Raj L W 355 : ILR (1954) Raj 861 : AIR (1954) Raj 224 (225) (Pt C) (Pr 6) (DB).

"Inquiries and trials."

See Criminal P. C. (1898), Ss. 4 (1) (k), 337.

"Inquiry."

—"Does not always mean a judicial inquiry. It depends on the content in which it is used. AIR 1957 All 767 (768, 769) (Pt B) (Pr 9) (DB).

"In regard to" —The words 'in regard to" occurring in statute must be given interpretation justified by the context in which they occur in S. 115 (5). States Reorganisation Act. Those words mean 'for' or 'for the purpose of.' See States Reorganisation Act (1956), S. 115 (5). AIR 1961 Mys 210 (DB).

"In relation to."

See also Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 195 (1) (b).

—The words "with respect to the legislature" and "in relation to the legislature" in Art. 208 of the Constitution have wider significance than words 'in the legislature.' The words include within its scope not only the rules dealing with procedure and conduct of business during the actual session of the legislature but all other incidental or ancillary matters. See Constitution of India, Art. 208 (2). AIR 1953 Orissa 111 (DB).

"In respect of."

—Words "in respect of" in S. 3 (14), Railways Act (1890), are wide enough to permit changes being made as terminals so long as any these things, viz., Stations, Sidings, Wharves, depots, Warehouses, Cranes and other similar matters have been provided and are being maintained and there is no reason to cut down the generality of the language used in the section. The expression "in respect of" may be taken to mean "for the provision of" and not "for the user of." See Railways Act (1890), S. 3 (14). AIR 1960 SC 695.

●—Giving the words "in respect of" in S. 18 (1), Bombay Rents, Hotels and Lodging House Rates (Control) Act, widest meaning, viz., "relating to" or "with reference to," it is plain that this relationship must be predicated of the grant renewal or continuance of a lease and unless a lease comes into existence simultaneously or near about of time that the money is received, it cannot be said that the receipt was "in respect of" the grant of a lease. See Houses and Rents — Bombay Rent, Hotel and Lodging House Rates (Control) Act (57 of 1947), S. 18 (1). 1954 Cri L J 1333 : AIR 1954 SC 496.

—Words "in respect of" in S. 195 (1) (b), Criminal P. C., are wide enough to include even a document which was prepared before proceedings started in Court of law but was produced or given in evidence in that proceeding. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 195 (1) (b). 1965 All W R (HC) 82 : 1965 All Cri R 93 : AIR 1966 All 124.

—Words "in respect of" in Art. 212 has wider connotation than the word "in" and so long as the speaker's action is relatable to any of the provisions dealing with his powers of regulating the procedure and conduct of business in the legislature the Courts' jurisdiction would be ousted. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1953 Orissa 111.

"Inspection" and "watch"

—A. P. General Sales Tax Act (1957), S. 28 (2)—"Open to inspection"—The words "inspection" and "watch" connote two different meanings. A reference to the Oxford Dictionary would show that "inspection" means the action of inspecting, looking narrowly into, careful scrutiny or survey, close or critical examination; while "watch" would indicate that it is an alert state, being on the look out, vigilant, constant observation, attention to what may come. "Inspection" and "watch" connote two different ideas. A scrutiny for the purpose of inspection may require a reasonable or sufficient time, while a watch would indicate a constant observation irrespective of the time required for careful scrutiny of the particular object to be achieved. (1962) 1 Andh L T 499: ILR (1962) Andh Pra 1036: (1962) 13 S T C 860 : 1962 Andh W R 96 (DB).

"Installation".

—"Installation" of machinery does not mean employment of machinery — Machinery in existence long prior to bye-law requiring license for installations is not machinery installed after the bye-law. See Interpretation of Statutes. AIR 1955 Mys 147 (DB)

"Installed"

See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 10 (2) (vi).

"Instigates"

—Words "instigates" and "incites" should be read to signify something deeper than a mere asking of a person to do a particular act. There must be something in the nature of solicitation to constitute instigation or incitement under S. 27, Industrial Disputes Act. The words seem to convey the meaning "to goad or urge forward or to provoke or encourage the doing of an act". Words "instigates" and "incites" appear to be synoymous. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 27. 1958 Cri L J 662 : AIR 1958 Pat 259 (DB).

"Instituted".

—Word "instituted" in S. 3 (5) Workmen's Compensation Act can be taken as meaning "setting on foot an enquiry" and is more than a mere filing of a claim. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 3 (5). AIR 1957 Mad 216.

"Instituted upon a complaint".

See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 417 (3).

"Institution".

—Ordinarily an individual is not referred to as an "institution". A grant to an individual would not be a grant to an 'institution'. Various meanings of the word 'institution' indicated. See Tenancy Laws—Hyderabad Abolition of Inams Act (8 of 1955) S. 1(2). (1965) 67 Bom L R 815 : 1966 Mah L J 55 (DB).

—Word 'Institution' in Punjab Government Notification No. 186-G. 45/6960 D/- 16-2-1945 means the foundation and not the property attached to the foundation. Property attached to the institution is not the institution itself. See Municipalities—Punjab Municipal Act (3 of 1911), S. 71. AIR 1955 NUC (Punj) 1036.

"Instrument".

●—Award of Industrial Tribunal is an 'instrument". See Payment of Wages Act (1936), S. 2 (vi) (d). (1965-66) 28 F J R 227 : AIR 1966 S C 856.

●—"Instrument" includes Presidents' order under Art. 359 (1) of the Constitution. See General Clauses Act (1897), S. 8 (1). 1964 (1) Cri L J 132 : AIR 1964 S C 173.

—Word "instrument" means legal document. AIR 1956 All 71, Dissented from. See Court-fees Act 1870), S. 7 (IVA) (U. P.). AIR 1956 All 492 (DB).

—Word "Instrument" in S. 26A, I. T. Act means a document of a legal nature, by which any right or liability is or is purported to be created, transferred, limited, extended, extinguished or recorded. The document must be executed by parties. A mere draft of partnership deed, unsigned and undated will not constitute an instrument of partnership for registration of the firm under S. 26A, I. T. Act. 1965 Mah L J 557 : ILR (1965) Bom 610 : (1966) 59 I T R 645 : (1966) 1 I T J 667 : 67 Bom L R 403.

—"Instrument" covers a cheque. See High Court Rules and Orders—(Calcutta) Rules of the High Court, Original Side, Ch. 13, R. 9. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 2941.

"Insufficient grounds"

—Words "insufficient grounds" mean without reasonable or probable cause. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 95. AIR 1953 Madh B 90 (DB).

"Insurer".

—Word "insurer" is used in the Insurance Act to include (a) Person actually carrying on insurance business (b) persons about to commence insurance business and (c) persons who have stopped insurance business but against whom claims and liabilities might be outstanding. See Insurance Act (1938), S. 33. AIR 1959 Mad 181.

"Intangible assets".

—Words 'intangible assets' in Para 17 (4) of Sch. 6, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1948, means underwriter's commission and such preliminary and promotional expenditure shown as a debit in the capital account of the undertaking and has fairly arisen in promoting the business of electricity supply excluding any amount paid on account of good will. See Electricty (Supply) Act (1948) Sch. 6 Para 17, Item (9). ILR (1961) 11 Raj 495.

"Intended execution".

—Words "intended execution" in S. 350 (1), Madras District Municipalities Act would cover a case of a person who though his act may be wrongful, nonetheless is purporting to exercise his power under the Act. See Municipalities—Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920), S. 134 (1) (b). AIR 1964 Andh Pra 360 (DB).

See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 47. 1962 All L J 269.

"Intermittent".

—Words "seasonal" and "intermittent" used in S.25-A (2) are not synonymous terms. The word "intermittent" is used in relation to a given period annual or otherwise. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 25-A (2). AIR 1957 Mad 410 (DB).

"In the manufacture of goods".

—Goods required in manufacturing process are goods which have gone to the making of it such goods may not be directly contained in the finished goods. A building which merely contains the machinery and in which the whole process is housed or which contains the staff or offices etc. cannot be said to form a part of manufacturing process and the ingredients of the buildings in which the manufactory is housed cannot ordinarily be said to be goods intended for use by the manufacturer in the process of the manufacture of his goods. See Sales Tax — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941), S. 5 (2) (a) (iii). AIR 1956 Cal 299.

"In the opinion of".

●—The expression "in the opinion of the Income-tax officer" in the proviso to S. 13, I. T. Act, does not contain merely discretionary power but a statutory duty to examine in every case the method of accounting employed by the assessee. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 13. AIR 1964 SC 1843.

—"In the opinion of" means subjective satisfaction which may not be reached by judicial process. Satisfaction is not amenable to judicial review. See Banking Companies Act (1949), S. 38 (3) (b). AIR 1961 Ker 268.

"In the ordinary course of business".

—The expression "in the ordinary course of business" is susceptible to one meaning namely that there should be series of transactions as distinguished from one transaction. A stray transaction does not constitute ordinary course of business. See Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), S. 2 (a). AIR 1959 Andh Pra 647 (DB).

"In the performance of functions".

●—Expression "In the performance of functions" in S. 33 Stamp Act means only so long as the function is not performed and completed and not afterwards. See Stamp Act (1899), S. 33 (1). 1965 M P L J 606 : 1965 Jab L J 656 : AIR 1966 Madh Pra 20 (FB).

"In the trade".

"In the way of his business as agent".

●—Expression, "in the way of his business as agent" in S. 409, Penal Code is not restricted to person who carry on profession of agency. It is enough if a person is entrusted with property in course his duties as agent. See Penal Code (1860), S. 409. 1962 (2) Cri L J 805 : AIR 1962 SC 1821.

(2) Prohibition—Madras Prohibition Act (1937) S. 4 (A).
(3) Prohibition — Travancore Prohibition Act S. 9.

"Investment in securities".

—Word 'investment' means nothing more than 'lay out money' — Where a person purchases securities whether as stock in trade or capital investment he is in either case investing in securities. The word 'investment' in sub-clause (1) of the explanation to S. 60, I. T. Act (1922), related to only such securities as did not form stock-in trade. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 60. AIR 1958 Bom 443 (DB).

"Irreparable injury."

See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 39, R. 1.

"Irrigation."

—"Irrigation" means supplying land with water by means of channels or streams, a process which should be considered as very opposite of the dewatering. See Travancore-Cochin Revenue Recovery Act (7 of 1951), S. 2 (a). 1957 Ker L J 386.

"Iruvaramdar."

—In relation to land in an estate, a claim by a person that he owns both the warams in some particular lands situate in the estate signified nothing more than that, in relation to the lands, he is under no liability to pay any rent, cist or melwaram to the proprietor or the landholder or any other person. The expression 'iruvaramdar' does not necessarily lead to the inference that such person is the owner, proprietor or landholder of the village in which the land is situate. (1959) 72 Mad L W 767 : (1959) 2 Mad L J 513.

"Is assessed."

—Words "is assessed" means "bears an assessment" or is under a state of being assessed or "stands assessed." See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 2 (1) (a). AIR 1956 Cal 48 (DB).

"Is charging."

●—Words "charging" in cl. (b) and 'levying' in cl. (c) of S. 41, Railways Act, were used in the one and the same sense. But they were not used to include "collecting." They must be construed to mean demanding a price at the present time for services to be rendered. See Railways Act (1890), S. 41 (1) (b). AIR 1963 S C 217.

"Is found drunk."

●—Expression "is found drunk" in S. 85 (1), cl. (3) of Bombay Prohibition Act (1949) means is found overcome or intoxicated by liquor or any intoxicating drug. See Prohibition — Bombay Prohibition Act (Bom 25 of 1949), S. 85 (1). 1962 (1) Cri L J 710 : AIR 1962 Guj 84 (FB).

"Is included."

—When S. 48 (3), Income tax Act says "is included under the provisions of this Act" it means included by the Act, that is to say, includible under its provisions. It is not the actual inclusion in any assessment made which is in contemplation of the section but the includibility under the provisions of the Act. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 48 (3). A I R 1958 Cal 350 (DB).

"Is otherwise invalid."

●—The rule of ejusdem generis cannot be applied in construing the words "is otherwise invalid" in S. 30 (c), Arbitration Act. These words are perfectly general and intended to be so. They cover all forms of invalidity including nullities. See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 30. AIR 1956 Cal 321 (FB).

"Is pending."

—Words "is pending" in S. 23-A (1) of Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, means pending on date of transfer. See Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act (1950), S. 23-A (1). A I R 1958 Mad 139.

"Is satisfied."

See also Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 145.

—"Is satisfied" is not equivalent to "it appears." See West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act (21 of 1948), S. 8 (1a). (1965) 69 Cal W N 1067.

——"Issue" (Santhathi) — Meaning—Adopted son — T. P. Act (1882), S. 8 — (Succession Act (1925), S. 74).

'Issue' or 'Santhathi' is a word of wide connotation and comprehends within its compass an adopted boy. The expression 'does not have in issue' is not synonymous with 'does not beget any children.' It seems that the word is compatible with the view that both natural and adopted sons were contemplated. A I R 1928 Mad 126, Rel. on. Case-law referred. (1958) 2 Andh W R 25 : 1958 Andh L T 413 : A I R 1958 Andh Pra 447 (449, 450) (Pt B) (Prs 12, 14) (DB).

—Word "issue" in first proviso to S. 34 (1), Income-tax Act cannot be equated with the expression "serve." Thus notice issued within eight years is valid though served on assessee after expiry of eight years. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (1), first proviso. AIR 1960 Guj 27 (DB).

—The word "issue" has not acquired any technical sense in India. 66 Mad L W 231 : A I R 1954 Mad 19 (37, 38) (Pt H) (Pr 67) (DB).

"Issued" and "Served."

See Income-tax (Amendment) Act (1959), S. 4.

"Issue" of security.

—Words "issue any security" in R. 94-B (1) (b), in Defence of Travancore Rules (as amended on 17-7-1944) are used in the sense in which they are used in merchantile language. Word 'issued' is used in R. 94-B (1) (a) in the same sense in the case of all the four categories of instruments mentioned in that sub-rule. It is not used in the sense of 'executed' or 'created' but in the same sense in which it is used in relation to shares, stocks, bonds and debentures. See Capital Issues (Continuance of Control) Act (1947), S. 3. AIR 1957 Trav-Co 6 (DB).

"Is used."

—Expression "is used" in S. 4 of the Press (Objectionable Matters) Act, 1951 must relate to a time proximate to the time at which the application has been preferred. See Press (Objectionable Matter) Act (1951), S. 4. 1956 Cri L J 864 : A I R 1956 Bom 447 (DB).

"Its capacity or efficiency."

●—The expression "its capacity or efficiency" occurring in S. 3 (1), Madras Irrigation Tanks (Improvement) Act means the capacity or efficiency of irrigation tank in question. The word 'capacity' in its ordinary dictionary meaning means "holding power" or 'receiving power' and must depend on cubic content of the tank. 'Efficiency' of the tank depends in a large measure upon the quantity of water that is available for irrigation purposes. See Madras Irrigation Tanks (Improvement) Act (Mad. 19 of 1949), S. 3 (1). AIR 1965 S C 580.

"It shall be lawful."

See also Prohibition—Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949), S. 11.

—Where the words 'It shall be lawful' are to be found used in the provision of a statute, they should be taken to convey the meaning that if the law had not been enacted, there would have been no authority to do the act, in other words, that the law as it stood without the provision that was being considered did not in fact permit the doing of the act. It does not mean that it is to be inferred from the provision itself that there was in the law as it existed before the provision no authority to do the act. AIR 1956 Bom 304 (310, 311) (Pt D) (Pr 12).

"Jaine."

See Words and Phrases—"Gehan" and "Jaine."

"Jalkar."

See Easements Act (1882), S. 7.

"Japti Sanadhi."

—Words "Japti Sanadhi" only mean that the watan characters of the property was divested and lost by discontinuance of service and the withdrawal of remuneration which had attached to the performance of the service. See Bombay Hereditary Offices Act (3 of 1874), S. 4. AIR 1952 Bom 387 (DB).

"Jeeryot."

●—Dictum—"The task of this Court, in ascertaining the special meaning which an expression used in the revenue administration and by the residents of a certain area has acquired, is indeed difficult. If the expression "Jeeryot" in "jeroyati ryots" is a local variation of Zeerait used in the revenue administration, especially in northern India, it may mean assessed land, or agricultural land." "Joori land."

—"Joori land" used in respect of land described in Sanad means land subject to concessional rate of assessment. 1962 Mys L J (Supp) 290 : AIR 1962 Mys 253 (257) (Pt D) (Pr 12) (DB).

"Jote."

—The word 'jote' has no fixed connotation and is adopted to describe a tenure or a raiyati holding, though often the latter. 'Jote' is a generic term and it is not necessarily equivalent to 'raiyati jote.' The converse of it is not true, namely, that if it is not equal to raiyati jote, it must be equivalent to tenure. In common parlance, however, the raiyati lands are spoken of as jote and tenures as mukarrari. At any rate, it is inconclusive as to a particular land being a tenure or raiyati holding. 1957 Pat L R 288.

"Judge."

See Penal Code (1860), S. 19.

"Judicial."

See also (1) Civil P. C. (1908), S. 24.
(2) Constitution of India, Art. 226.
(3) U. P. General Clauses Act (1 of 1904), S. 21.

—Meaning of the term 'judicial' varies according to purpose for which the term has been defined. Not only do definitions of the term vary between different legal contexts but they will not infrequently vary within one individual legal context. (1964) 2 Andh L T 94 : AIR 1965 Andh Pra 69 (72) (Pt E) (Prs 8, 9).

—Meaning of judicial and quasi judicial discussed. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 24. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 132 (Prs 2, 17).

●—Per Hidayatullah. J. — The term "judicial" has not been successfully defined. Sometimes it is contrasted with 'administrative,' sometimes with 'ministerial,' sometimes with 'executive' and sometimes with the word 'non-judicial.' Whatever be the meaning it is at least certain that the term 'judicial' extends 'to the acts and orders of a competent authority which has power to impose a liability or to give a decision which determines the rights or property of the affected parties.' The term "judicial" embraces even the acts of special tribunals which though administrative in character perform functions resembling those of Courts. Such tribunals may be subject to certiorari and mandamus. Bhailal Jagadish v. Addl. Deputy Commr., Akola, 1952 Nag L J 613: ILR (1952) Nag 839 : AIR 1953 Nag 89 (92, 93, 94) (Pt A) (Prs 13, 15, 20, 22) (FB).

"Judicial act."

See also Constitution of India, Art. 226.

—Procedure prescribed for disposal of objection to nomination papers by Rules made under Madras Village Panchayats Act is essentially judicial in nature. The Officer has duty to act judicially. If the act of original authority is judicial acts of appellate or revisional authorities would also be judicial. In deciding questions, the authority must hear the parties, and may also make an inquiry. The question decided affects the rights of parties. See Panchayats —Madras Village Panchayats Act, 1950, Rules under R. 40 (1). AIR 1957 Andh Pra 539 (DB).

—A "judicial act" seems to be an act done by a competent authority upon a consideration of facts and circumstances and imposing liability or affecting the rights of others.

Thus, it must be that of a person or persons who have legal authority to determine questions affecting the rights of parties and in a judicial manner. (1878) 2 L R Ir 371 (376), Foll. 1953 Mad W N 200 : (1953) 1 M L J 542 : 66 Mad L W 287: AIR 1954 Mad 340 (343) (Pt C) (Pr 6).

"Judicial experience."

—Chairman of State Transport Authority and the Regional Transport Authority must be a person of "judicial experience." This term is not defined in the Act. It means knowledge or skill gained by person by actually working as a Judge in a court of law. A person who has acted as a Judge or Magistrate and has gained an experience in that capacity alone is qualified to be a Chairman of S. T. A. or R. T. A. Experience acquired as Chairman of S T. A. in deciding about 100 appeals is not judicial experience. Even experience in deciding revenue cases, is not judicial experience, See Motor Vehicles Act (1939) (as amended in 1958), S. 44 (2). ●—Per Chari J. — It is settled law that because a proceeding is subject to the confirmation and approval of another authority the proceeding does not cease to be a "judicial proceeding." Ahmad-Un-Nisa Begum v. State. I L R (1952) Hyd 595 : A I R 1952 Hyd 163 (172, 173) (Pt H) (Pr 33) (FB).

"Judicial Revenue matter"

—Words "judicial revenue matter" have not been defined in Rajasthan Appeals and Petitions (Discontinuance) Ordinance, 1949. These words should be given their ordinary meaning according to the purpose for which this ordinance was passed Cl. (b) of S. 4, which deals with revenue judicial matters relates to those appeals, revisions, references or petitions which were pending before the Rulers from the decisions of revenue Courts of the former covenanting States—Order of resumption of certain muafi land, passed by Chief Minister of former Sirohi State in his executive capacity and not as Court cannot be said to be judicial revenue matter. See Rajasthan Appeals and Petitions (Discontinuance) Ordinance (40 of 1949), S. 4 (1) (b). AIR 1955 N U C (Raj) 1049 (DB).

"Jurisdiction"

See also Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9.

●—Expression "Jurisdiction" in S. 1, Judicial Officers Protection Act, 1850 does not mean power to do or order the act impugned but generally the authority of judicial officer to act in the matter. See Judicial Officers Protection Act (1850), S. 1. 1965 (2) Cr L J 686 : AIR 1965 S C 1651.

●—Per Dixit J. — There is a distinction between "jurisdiction" and 'power' in that jurisdiction has reference to the exercise of power and the extent and limits within which such power is exercisable for the administration of justice. But jurisdiction is defined in terms of power. It is the power of a Court to hear and determine a cause, to adjudicate and to exercise any judicial power in relation to it and to award the remedies provided by law upon a state of facts proved or admitted and presented to the Court in a formal way for its decision. The concept of jurisdiction embraces the power to grant the remedies provided by law. Dayabhai Poonambhai Patel v. "Kalabattu"

—From the origin of the word "Kalabattu" it is clear that the correct meaning of kalabattu, is gold or silver thread obtained by twisting gold or silver wire with silk or cotton thread. 'Kalabattu' is also 'thread' and not 'wire' and 'thread' is obtained only by twisting two or more strands of any material or materials together and it does not mean a single thread or wire. See Sales Tax — U. P. Sales Tax Act (15 of 1948), S. 4. (1963) 14 S T C 88 (All).

"Kalan"

—"Kalan" though used ordinarily to mean 'encumbrance' it connotes also 'a dispute' in appropriate context. (1950) 1 Mad L J 499 : 63 Mad L W 399 : AIR 1950 Mad 621 (622, 623) (Pt B) (Pr 3) (DB).

"Kamat"

●—Word "kamat" used in a deed of transfer has a definite connotation and means "private lands"— See Tenancy Laws — Bihar Tanancy Act (8 of 1885), S. 116. AIR 1956 S C 305.

"Kamins"

—"Kamins"—Who are—When the defendants who are indubitably Chamars are not shown to have been doing any menial work for any of the landlords they are not necessarily Kamins in the sense in which the word 'Kamin' is popularly used. The fact that defendants have been since long time past cultivating land under the Biswedars in the village would not bring them in the category of Kamins as the distinction between a tenant and a person rendering menial service is too clear. I L R (1952) Pepsu 279 : A I R 1953 Pepsu 126 (126, 127) (Pt B) (Pr 1).

"Katlai"

—"Katlai" as applied to temple endowment signifies special endowment for specific duty —It is used in contradistinction to denote endowment generally for maintenance and upkeep of temple—Family property dedicated for performance of Kattalai Dharmam in temple — Performance of trust attended to by family as trustee—Lease by manager of family as if property belonged to him absolutely — Suit by member of family for possession without asking for removal of manager is maintainable. A I R 1955 N U C (T C) 1903 (DB).

"Katra"

—The word 'Katra' in S. 5 has not been dafined in the Punjab Pre-emption Act (1913). The primary meaning of the word 'Katra' is enclosure and the secondary meaning is market. Generally therefore a katra would be business locality though there might be purely residential katras. "Lahan."

—Term "lahan" means a mixture of any substance which on fermentation is capable of producing alcohol, togather with a fermanting agent, of which there are many. See Punjab Excise Act (1 of 1914), S. 61 (1) (a). ILR (1957) Punj 238.

"Lakhiraj Jagir."

—The word 'lakhiraj' or 'jagir' or the words "lakhiraj jagir" do not necessarily mean private, bakasht or kamat lands of a proprietor of an estate or a holder of a tenure. Lakhiraj jagir is not a peculiar tenure and in common parlance both raiyati lands and proprietor's kamat lands when granted free from rent or revenue are described as 'lakhiraj.' 1957 Pat L R 288.

"Land."

—Word "lands" in Entry 49, List 2, Sch. 7, Constitution of India is wide enough to include all lands, whether agricultural or not and it would be plainly unreasonable to assume that it includes non-agricultural lands but does not include agricultural lands. See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List 2 Entry 49. AIR 1962 S C 1563.

—Word 'land' in S. 78-A (1) does not include structures. It contemplats bare land. See Calcutta Improvement Act (5 of 1911), S. 78-A. AIR 1957 Cal 578 (DB).

—The word "land" may mean land together with structure situated on the land. It may also mean the bare land, the ground, the soil or the site of the land exclusive of such structures. (1956) 60 C W N 642.

—"Land" includes house. See Limitation Act, (1908), S. 20 (2). (1965) 6 Guj L R 364 : ILR (1965) Guj 378 : AIR 1966 Guj 59.

—In S. 145 (2), Criminal P. C. "land" is used as synonymous with "immovable property" which includes things attached to earth — Mill which is attached to earth will fall within immovable property or land. AIR 1951 Mad 722 (723) (Pr 1).

—'Land"—Does not include crops standing thereon. See Debt Laws — Bihar Money-Lenders (Regulation of Transactions) Act (7 of 1939), S. 15 (1) (f). 1965 B L J R 134.

"Land appurtenant to building."

—In order that a piece of land may be held to be appurtenant to a building, their existence adjacent to one another is not the only consideration. Before any land can be said to be appurtenant to a building it must further be proved that it is reasonably necessary for the proper enjoyment of the building itself. ILR (1960) 1 All 232.

"Land held."

—"Land held by protected tenant" in cl. (1) of S. 34 (2A) of Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act can only mean and must mean land in possession of tenant for cultivation. See Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), S. 34 (2A). AIR 1957 Bom 68 (DB).

"Landholder."

—Fact that subsequent to partition A's branch conveyed their kudiwaram rights in favour of alieness subject to collection of Thirava from them every year cannot make them "landholders." See Tenancy Laws—Madras Estates Land Act (1 of 1908). S. 3 (5). AIR 1958 Mad 91 (DB).

—"Law" — Executive orders.

Executive orders made by Government in respect of the administration of its own properties cannot be considered as statutory rules and are not justiciable under Art. 226 of the Constitution. Government can own property and deal with it in any manner that is permissible under the law. If there is any statute which imposes a restriction or if there are any statutory rules which compel a certain procedure to be followed, that is another matter, and Government would have to follow them.

Held, that the procedure for settlement of fisheries in West Bengal is by executive orders issued by the Government of West Bengal in its Department of Irrigation and Waterways and those orders cannot be considered as statutory rules and any violation thereof does not give rise to a legal right which can be agitated in an application under Art. 226 of the Constitution. ●—"Lease and Lend" scheme—Meaning of.

—The scheme known as "Lease and Lend" scheme was introduced by the Government of India somewhere about March-April, 1942, as a war measure to facilitate the import of certain essential goods and to conserve them for the effective prosecution of the war. Oil and lubricants were among the goods which were controlled under this scheme. Under it, the Government prohibited the direct import of oil and lubricants from America through private agencies, whether individuals, firms or companies and took upon itself to import the required quantity. The procedure adopted in the import of goods was this; the importers were to state their requirements to the Committee formed by the Government which sent the same to the Government. Then on intimation given by the Government authorities, the dealers would have to make deposits on account of the price to be paid for the goods. The Government had a purchasing agent in America and he would be required by them to purchase the requisite goods and to arrange to get them transhipped to the destinations in India mentioned by the several dealers. The shipping documents would be taken in the name of the Government and on payment of the bills endorsed over to the importer for clearance at the harbour. The features of the system to be noticed are that it was the Government who was the importer of the goods and the dealers became entitled to the goods only on the shipping documents being endorsed to them by the Government. "Legal entity" and "Legal person".

—"Legal entity" and "legal person"—A "legal entity" means only a thing recognised by the law as real in itself and distinct from its equalities and attributes and while every legal person is necessarily a legal entity the converse is not true. I L R (1963) 2 Ker 238; AIR 1964 Ker 144 (147) (Pt B) (Pr 8).

"Legal fiction".

—Fiction is defined as a legal assumption that a thing is true which is neither not true, or which is as probably false as true; an assumption or supposition of law that something which is or may be false is true, or that a state of facts exists which has never really taken place; an allegation in legal proceedings that does not accord with the actual facts of the case, and which may be contradicted for every purpose except to defeat the beneficial end for which the fiction is invented and allowed. Thus fiction in the realm of law has a defined role to play but it cannot be stretched to a point where it loses the very purpose for which it is used and in no case should it be allowed to perpetrate injustice; fiction of law shall not be permitted to work any wrong, but shall be used 'ut res magis valeat quam pereat'. 1958 B L J R 122 : I L R 37 Pat 339: A I R 1958 Pat 589 (594, 595) (Pt D) (Pr 12) (DB).

"Levy" — Sales Tax — Mysore Sales Tax Act (25 of 1957), S. 32.

—In fiscal enactments the word "levy" is generally used in a restricted sense. Ordinarily the expression "levy" in a fiscal statute connotes that an imposition has been made on the party who is called upon to pay the amount in question. (1962) 40 Mys L J 912 : (1963) 14 S T C 625: 1963 Mad L J (Cri) 521 (Mys).

"Levy, assessment and collection".

—"Levy, assessment and collection" include "reassessment". See Travancore Income-tax Act (1121), S. 47. AIR 1957 Trav-Co 303 (DB).

"Liability".

—Word "liability" in its widest import means an obligation or duty to do something or to refrain from doing something. There is no reason why any restricted meaning should be given to the word 'liability' used in the States Reorganisation Act, S. 87. Parliament intended to include in the word not only a financial objection but also objections of every other kind, including one of reinstating a government servant wrongly dismissed. See States Reorganisation Act (1956), S. 87. AIR 1959 Bom 363 (DB).

—Term "liability" is of large and comprehensive significance and when construed in its natural ordinary sense, in which it is commonly employed it expresses the state of being under obligation in law or in justice. See Companies Act (1913), Sch. I, Table A, Regn. 28. AIR 1959 Punj 328.

"Liability" and "due from debtor".

—Word "liability" used in the definition of 'debt' in S. 2 (5) of the Saurashtra Agricultural Debtors Relief Act means a civil liability and a liability which will be enforced by a civil Court. The words "due from a debtor" in S. 2 (5) also mean that the debt must be due legally in a civil Court and not merely morally due. See Limitation Act (1908), Preamble. A I R 1964 Guj 122.

"Liable"

—The word "liable" in the expression 'shall also be liable to fine' means a future possibility or probability happening which may or may not actually occur. See Penal Code (1860), S. 381. 1957 Cri L J 389; AIR 1957 Punj 55.

"Liable to assessment".

—Both the expressions "liable to assessment" and "assessable to excess profits tax" emphasise not the fact of assessments but the liability to be assessed. See Finance Act (1942), S. 10 (1), Proviso. A I R 1958 Bom 23 (DB).

"Liable to confiscation".

—Words "liable to confiscation" in S. 14, Mysore Prohibition Act, explained. See Mysore Prohibition Act (37 of 1948), S. 14. AIR 1952 Mys 39.

"License".

"License"—Meaning of.

—In the popular as also in the legal sense, license is a permission to do something which without the 'licence' would not be allowable. In the secondary sense, it denotes a certificate or a document which embodies the permission in question. In the first sense, 'licence' is a franchise or creation of a right, or grant, and in the second sense, it is the instrument evidencing the rights and interests mentioned therein and furnishes the proof of permission to exercise a particular right to engage in a trade or calling. Whether the word 'license' is to be construed a right or an instrument, must perforce depend on the context. In the third sense the word 'license' is sometimes used to mean the license-fee which is the price paid for the privilege conferred. ILR (1963) 1 Punj 148 : A I R 1963 Punj 76 (80) (Pt A) (Pr 9) (DB).

"Likely to affect more than one hundred workmen".

—When the proviso to S. 10 (1) Industrial Disputes Act speaks of a dispute which is not "likely to affect more than one hundred workmen", what is meant is not only those who are actually involved in the dispute. All those who are interested in the dispute or concerned with it will also be regarded as persons likely to be affected by the dispute. The words "likely to affect" have the same import and should be understood in the same way as the words "workmen concerned in the dispute" occurring in S. 33 of the Act. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 10 (1) 78 Mad L W 83 : (1965) 1 Mad L J 387.

"Limitation."

—Law of "limitation" is not covered by the expression "procedure to be followed" in S. 14 (2), Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act (1947). See Houses and Rents — Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act, 1947, S. 14 (2). AIR 1955 N U C (Ajmer) 1411.

"Limited estate."

—The expression "limited estate" has been used in various places in the (Mysore) Hindu Law Women's Rights Act and in all those places and by necessary implication it can only mean the limited estate of a woman according to the Hindu Mitakshara law. See (Mysore) Hindu Law Women's Rights Act (10 of 1933), S. 3 (h). A I R 1954 Mys 179.

"Lineal descendant."

●—Words "lineal descendant" used in cl. (b), Sch. I, Part 1 (A) (i), Finance Act (1951) have to be interpreted in their natural meaning without any preconceived notion as to whether a Hindu female can form a line of succession. See Finance Act (1951), Sch. I, Part I (A) (i), Condition (B). A I R 1956 Raj 30 (FB).

"Lineal male heirs in male descent.".

"List of voters."

●—The words "the list" in the expression "the list of voters" in S. 11-A (2), Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act, refers to the "lists" pertaining to the wards of any particular Municipal Borough. See under Municipalities — Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act (10 of 1925), S. 11-A (2). A I R 1965 Mys 227 (FB).

"Living."

—The word "living" in S. 18 (2) (d) of the Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act must be given a restricted meaning like, any other "wife living with him". If ordinary interpretation is accepted then all wives that a man had married at such a time when such marriages were legal, can live without him and claim separate residence and maintenance under S. 18 (2) (d) of the Act. See Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act (78 of 1956), S. 18 (2) (d). AIR 1965 Mad 139 (DB).

"Loco parentis."

—A person in "loco parentis" is a person assuming the parental character or discharging parental duty. It is a relationship which a person assumes towards a child not his own and towards whom he discharges parental obligation. By expression 'a person in loco parentis' is meant a person who puts himself in situation of a lawful father of the child with reference to the father's office and duty of making provision for the child. Amongst Hindus the elder brother on the death of the perents has always been in loco parentis. See Contract Act (1872), S. 16. A I R 1958 Punj 190 (DB).

IV in cases of death or permanent disablement. The words "or otherwise" occurring in the clause are clearly intended to include all such cases within the scope of the clause. "Magistrate and officer exercising powers of."

—There is a vital difference between the phrase "a Magistrate" and the phrase "an officer exercising the powers of a Magistrate" — The former expression includes a person who does not enjoy all the powers of a Magistrate, but enjoys some of them, whereas the expression "an officer exercising powers of a Magistrate' has a technical meaning assigned to it—Meaning of expressions in Ss. 28 and 29. "Maintain a dwelling place."

See Income-tax Act (11 of 1922), S. 4-A.

"Maintenance."

See also Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 488.

—"Maintenance" does not only mean food and raiment. It must vary according to status and dignity.

See Part B States (Taxation Concessions) Order, 1950, Para. 15(1)(j). AIR 1960 S C 1343.

●—The words "for requiring the maintenance" in S. 30 (bb), Mines Act, indicate that the Central Government may make rules requiring some other person to construct and maintain a creche. See Mines Act (1923), S. 30 (bb). 1954 Cri L J 1187 : AIR 1954 Pat 371 (FB).

—Word "maintenance" has not been defined in Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. According to dictionary (Oxford) 'maintain' means to provide with means of subsistence of necessaries of life, to pay or furnish the means for keeping up of, to support. See Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (1887), Sch. II, Art. 38. 1958 All L J 876.

—"Maintenance" is a wide word and covers everything which a person may require e. g. means of subsistence, support, livelihood, supplies ot necessaries and convenience. It means more than food, lodging, clothes and other forms of necessaries. But a suit on basis of agreement to pay rent will in itself not amount to suit relating to maintenance. See Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (1881), Sch. II, Art. 38. 1956 M B L J 1218.

—The word "maintenance" referred to in S. 45, Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act and the corresponding provisions of the Madras Act 26 of 1948, is to the maintenance payable to the members of the family and not to a sum payable to support charities. See Tenancy Laws—Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act (26 of 1948), S. 45. (1957) 2 Mad L J 73 : AIR 1958 Mad 105 (DB).

"Maintenance and support".

—Per Malik C. J.—Word 'maintenance' is generally intended to mean lodging, boarding, clothing and other such necessaries of life. Word "support", however, appears to amplify the meaning of the word 'maintenance' and might include expenses not only for the necessaries of life but also for all conveniences. See Mussalman Wakf Validating Act (1913), S. 3. AIR 1952 All 127 (DB).

"Make any order admitting any instrument in evidence, as duly stamped."

—The expression "order admitting any instrument in evidence as duly stamped" in S. 61 Stamp Act means an order dealing with the question of due stamping of the document and not an order formally admitting a document in evidence. See Stamp Act (1899), S. 61. AIR 1960 All 359 (DB).

"Making of order."

—An order may be taken to be made on the date it came into existence, if the nature of the order is such that it is not necessary to communicate it to any one. But where an order is made which affects the right of a person, then the order must be communicated to such person in order to be complete and effective. The date of the order is the date when it is made known to the affected person. To this there are, however, certain exceptions. (Exceptions indicated)—See Municipalities—Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), S. 87. AIR 1959 Cal 219.

"Making out a prima facie case".

—There is a substantial distinction between "making out a prima facie case" and 'disclosing' a prima facie case. If application does not disclose prima facie case it is liable to be summarily dismissed. 'Making out' a prima facie case means establishing a prima facie case by legally admissible evidence, either oral or documentary or affidavits. See Banking Companies Amendment Act (1953), S. 45-H. "Makkathayam"

—"Makkathayam" means gift by the father. In Ezhava Act, "Makkathayam" property is defined to mean property obtained from husband or father by gift, inheritance or bequest. See Travancore Ezhava Act (3 of 1100), S. 32. AIR 1964 S C 164.

"Malice in law".

—Mala fide action or "malice in law" are not to be easily presumed. Mere non-adherance by a departmental inquiry committee to the strict procedure followed by a judicial tribunal does not amount to either acting mala fide or acting contrary to natural justice. See Evidence Act (1872), S. 114. AIR 1957 All 671 (DB).

—"Malice in law" denotes absence of legal excuse. (1965) 2 Com L J 152 : 70 Cal W N 280 : AIR 1966 Cal 151 (159) (Pt B) (Pr 18).

"Malicious".

See (1) Penal Code (1860), S. 295-A.

"Malik".

●—The word "malik" when used in a will describes the position of the devisee as owner possessed of full proprietary rights including right of alienation, unless there is something in the context or in the surrounding circumstances to indicate that such proprietary rights were not intended to be conferred. See Succession Act (1925), S. 75. AIR 1963 S C 1703.

●—The word "Malik" is of very common use in many parts of India and it cannot certainly be regarded as a technical term of conveyancing. When used in a will or other document as descriptive of the position which a devisee or donee is intended to hold it has been held apt to describe an owner possessed of full proprietary rights, including a full right of alienation, unless there is something in the context or in the surrounding circumstances to indicate that such full proprietary rights were not intended to be conferred. A I R 1922 P C 63, Rel on. Ram Gopal v. Nand Lal, 64 Mad L W 547 : 88 Cal L J 1 : 1951 All L J 24 : 1950 S C J 575 : 1950 S C R 766 : AIR 1951 S C 139 (141) (Pt C) (Pr 10).

—Hindu Law — Will — Construction — Use of word "malik" (owner) in relation to interest conferred on testator's widow — Not sufficient to confer absolute estate. I L R (1962) 2 All 199.

—The term "malik" is apt to describe an owner possessed of full proprietary rights including a full right ot alienation, unless there is something in the context or in the surrounding circumstances to indicate that such full proprietary rights were not intended to be conferred. A I R 1953 Sau 146 (151) (Pt C) (Pr 15) (DB).

—The literal meaning of the terms Malik and Waris are quite different ; the former means the owner and latter heir, and they are never regarded as synonymous, with each other. When we say that A is the 'Waris' all that we mean is that he is the heir while when we describe him as 'Malik' the idea is to convey that he is the owner having heritable and alienable estate : A I R 1948 Bom 261, Dissented. —"Malik Kabza" means an owner of the estate. AIR 1955 N U C (Raj) 305 : 1953 Raj L W 43 (DB).

"Malik Kamil" and "naslan bad naslan".

●—The words "malik kamil" (absolute owner) and "naslan bad naslan" (generation after generation) used in a will are descriptive of a heritable and alienable estate in the donee, and they connote full proprietary rights unless there is something in the context or in the surrounding circumstances which indicate that absolute rights were not intended to be conferred. "Mamul".

—"Mamuls" are in the nature of customary payments made by the khonds to the Oriya headman. See Custom. AIR 1958 Orissa 15 (DB).

"Manager".

—Terms "managers", "trustees" and "dharmakarthas" are used loosely in documents which are not written by legally trained persons. It cannot therefore be said that because a sale deed in favour of the then trustees as early as 1884, spoke of the trustees as mere managers of the temple, this description of these trustees as mere managers or dharmakarthas would not entitle them to claim the temple as their private place of workship. See Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act (2 of 1927), S. 9(12). A I R 1955 N U C (Mad) 669.

"Managerial, administrative and supervisory capacity."

—Words such as "supervisory", "managerial" and "administrative" are advisedly loose expressions with no rigid frontiers and too much subtlety should not be used in trying to precisely define where supervision ends, management begins or administration starts. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (s)(iii). AIR 1958 Cal 273.

"Manner".

— Sales Tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), Ss. 9 (3) and 10A — Word "manner" in S. 9 (3) — When it is required by S. 9 (3) that the tax payable under the Act shall be paid and collected in the same manner in the tax payable under the general sales tax law of the state is paid, and collected, it means that the provisions of the State Sales Tax Act must also be applicable to payment and collection of tax under the Central Sales Tax Act. See Sales Tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), S. 9 (3). (1963) 14 S T C 587 (Mys).

"Manner and condition".

—The word 'manner' in S. 202, Companies Act, 1913, refers to the procedure to be followed in the matter of institution and hearing of the appeal. The word 'condition' has reference to the nature, quality, qualification of the order or decision itself against which an appeal is proposed to be filed and the other circumstances touching the right of appeal. "Manufactured or produced".

— Coal is not 'manufactured' in a colliery as 'coke' is. But it is produced. Word 'produced' is to be taken in widest sense. Coal is not of course produced in a colliery in the sense that fruit is produced in a tree. See Constitution of India, Sch. VII, List I, Entry 54. AIR 1957 Cal 326.

"Maral".

●—The question as to what the word "maral" means is one that must depend on the proof in each particular case of usage of that word by the Nattukottai Chetti firms.

Held, that there was no pleading in this case as to the meaning of the word "maral" or that the word 'order' in the context of this case had been used in the sense of 'maral'. The Court was mot prepared to uphold the contention that the word 'order' in this case could be given the meaning which was attributed to the word 'maral' in some of the decided cases. "Market overt".

— "Market overt" means that where goods are sold in "market overt", according to the usage of the market, the buyer acquires a good title to the goods, provided he buys them in good faith and without notice of any defect or want of title on the part of the seller. See Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 27. AIR 1958 Raj 269.

"Marketable title".

— It is very difficult to lay down any hard and fast rule with regard to the requirement of "marketable title" or 'a title free from reasonable doubt'. Generally speaking a 'marketable title' is one which at all times and under all circumstances could be forced on an unwilling purchaser under a contract for sale, made without special conditions. "Mate's receipt".

—"Mate's receipt" is a mere acknowledgment of receipt of goods by the ship owner; the contract of carriage will be contained only in the bill of lading signed by the person who agrees to carry them. This is a document of title to the goods. AIR 1961 Mad 442 (444) (DB).

"Matter"

—The "matter" to which Art. 133 of the Constitution applies is the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court in appeals from the High Courts in regard to civil "matter". See Constitution of India, Art. 135. AIR 1956 All 321 (DB).

"Matters of religion"

See Constitution of India, Arts. 25 (2) (b) and 26 (b).

"Maufidar"

●—Expression "Maufidar" is not necessarily confined to a grantee from a State or a Ruler of a State. "Maufidar" can be a person who is the holder of land which is exempt from payment of rent or tax. See Tenancy Laws — M. P. Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates, Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act (1 of 1951), S. 2 (m) (ii). AIR 1961 S C 775.

"Mawari"

—Expression "gaon sanjayat mawari" is technical and means "common land divisible according to families" — Secondary families are not entitled to equal shares with primary families — Expression is used in Kumaon Division. A I R 1955 N U C (All) 884 (DB).

"May"

●—"May" when to be read as "shall" indicated. See C. P. and Berar Revocation of Land Revenue Exemption Act (37 of 1948), S. 5 (3). AIR 1965 S C 1222.

●—Word "may" may be used as enabling or premissive power and also as compellable duty particularly when it refers to a power conferred on a Court or other judicial authority. See Prbation of Offenders Act (1958), S. 11 (1). 1963 (2) Cri L J 173 : AIR 1963 S C 1088.

●—Industrial Dispute —Wages —Increment —Notification of state minister ordering increments in wages to workers in colliery — Clause in notification that employees not entitled to increase in accordance with the provisions of notification "may" be given 12½ p. c. increase—"May" gives discretion—Dispute regarding applicability of the clause referred to industrial tribunal—Tribunal can decide dispute on merits. (1960) 2 Lab L J 71 (SC).

●—The word "may" in S. 363, Calcutta Municipal Act, is not used in the sense of "shall" — Municipalities — See Calcutta Municipal Act (3 of 1923), S. 363. 1956 Cri L J 285 : AIR 1956 S C 110.

●—By the use of the word "may" in the expression "a subsequent scheme "may" be prepared" in S. 36, East Punjab Holdings (Consolidation and Prevention of Fragmentation) Act, 1948, the Legislature cannot be intended to have granted a mere discretion but rather have imposed a positive and absolute duty. See Constitution of India, Art. 19. AIR 1963 Punj 255 (FB)

—Significance of the word "may" in S. 6B (2) of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, indicated. See U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (28 of 1947), S. 6B (2). (1965) 2 Lab L J 598 : (1965) 11 Fac L R 35 : ILR (1965) 2 All 716 (DB).

—Expression "may" reduce into writing in S. 161 (3) —Use of word "may" cannot always mean that procedure laid down is discretionary and not mandatory. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 161 (3). 1964 All W R (HC) 307.

—The word "may" in S. 17 (2), Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act has been used in imperative and not permissive sense. See Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act (1956), S. 17 (2). 1963 All L J 894.

—Word "may" in S. 180, U. P. Municipalities Act has reference to sanction and does not control the opening words — Municipality cannot dispense with bye-laws framed and sanction plans not in accordance with bye-laws. See Municipalities—U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 180. AIR 1953 All 681 (DB).

—The word "may" in S. 12 (3) (a), Bombay Rents Hotel and Lodging House Rates Control Act means "shall" or "must". See Houses and Rents — Bombay Rents Hotel and Lodging House Rates Control Act (57 of 1947), S. 12 (3) (a). (1961) 63 Bom L R 855.

—Usually the word "may" is an enabling word; it gives discretion to the person who is given the option to act in a particular manner mentioned in the section. But it is well recognised that the word "may" in the context can mean "shall". If statutes authorise any specified persons to do acts for the benefit of others, the authority conferred is coupled with an obligation to discharge a duty by the statutes themselves; and in such a case, the intention is to impose an obligation upon the authority to discharge his duty, with the result that the word "may" in the context means "must" or "shall". Whether the authorised person is given a discretion or is under a compulsion or obligation to do a particular act would inevitably depend upon the context in which the word "may" has been used, the scheme of the statute wherein the section using the word "may" occurs, and such other relevant considerations. (1880) 5 A C 214 and AIR 1923 P C 138 and 10 Bom L R 345, Ref. 59 Bom L R 158 : ILR (1957) Bom 314 : AIR 1959 Bom 401 (402, 403) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

—The word "may" in S. 12 (5), Industrial Disputes Act has an implication of an obligation. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 12 (5). AIR 1956 Bom 273 (DB).

—The word "may" in Rule 1, framed under the Bengal Wakf Act, even if does not mean must, shows that it must atleast mean that wherever possible the discretion involved in the word should be fairly and reasonably used and the procedure laid down should not be capriciously bypassed. See Bengal Wakf Act (13 of 1934), S. 28. (1964) 68 Cal W N 509.

—The word "may" is used in S. 5A, W. B. Estates Acquisition Act for the simple reason that it gives permissive power to enquire on condition that there is a prima facie reason to believe that such transfer is not bona fide. See Tenancy Laws—W. B. Estates Acquisition Act (1 of 1954), S. 5A. (1963) 67 Cal W N 129.

—The word "may" in S. 9, Bengal Ferries Act merely incorporates an option between administering a ferry directly and leasing it out. It does not imply any option as regards method of granting lease. See Bengal Ferries Act (1 of 1885), S. 9. ('59) 63 Cal W N 158 : ILR (1959) 2 Cal 768.

—There can be no question of the corporation itself proceeding to make a compulsory acquisition of land, although the language of both Ss. 310 and 468 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1923, is that "Corporation may acquire." See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (1923), S. 310. A I R 1956 Cal 122 (DB).

—Word "may" in S. 237 (1) is used in permissive sense and does not mean 'shall.' See Companies Act (1913), S. 237 (1). 1955 Cri L J 107 : A I R 1955 Cal 29 (DB).

—In S. 6 of the West Bengal Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Amendment Act, 1950, the word "may" means 'may' and not 'shall.' See Houses and Rents—W. B. Premises Rant Control (Temporary Provisions) Amendment Act (62 of 1950), S. 6. A I R 1951 Cal 514 (DB).

—The word "may" in S. 12 (3) (a) of the Bombay Rents, Hotel and Lodging House Rates (Control) Act, means 'must' or 'shall.' See Houses and Rents — Bombay Rents, Hotel and Lodging House Rates (Control) Act (57 of 1947), S. 12 (3) (a). A I R 1964 Guj 9 (DB).

[Overruled on another point in A I R 1967 S C 1078.]

—Use of the word "may" in S. 54 (1), M. B. Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates, Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act (1 of 1951), does not confer discretionary power on the Deputy Commissioner. The word has the effect of 'shall.' See Tenancy Laws — M. P. Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates, Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act (1 of 1951), S. 54. 1960 M P C 367.

—Word "may" is consistent with its being read as compulsive or as 'shall' if the conditions postulated are satisfied. See Co-operative Societies—Madras Co-operative Societies Act (6 of 1952), S. 49 (1). A I R 1957 Mad 634 (DB).

—The word "may" without a negative would certainly connote that giving of a discretionary power; but "may" with a negative would amount to a positive prohibition. It expresses the negation of a power and of an inability to exercise it. See Trusts Act (1882), S. 52. AIR 1955 N U C (Mad) 3934 (DB).

—The word "may" used in R. 3 (2) (iv) of the Rules of Recruitment by Mysore Government only empowers the Government to choose such officer as it thinks fit. The choosing of an officer is a 'must' but the person to be chosen is at the discretion of the Government. See Constitution of India, Art. 309. (1965) 2 Mys L J 160 : (1965) 3 Law Rep 333 : A I R 1966 Mys 36 (DB).

—In the last proviso to S. 4 (1), Mysore House Rent Control Order, 1951, the word "may" means "shall." See Houses and Rents — Mysore House Rent Control Order (1951), S. 4 (1). AIR 1955 N U C (Mys) 3955.

—The word "may" in S. 40, C. P. Tenancy Act does not give discretion. See Tenancy Laws — C. P. Tenancy Act, (1920), S. 40. AIR 1953 Nag 1 (DB).

—"May" in S. 58 (2), Motor Vehicles Act does not mean "shall." See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 58 (2). AIR 1957 Orissa 121 (DB).

—"May" in Rule 4 (2) of the Orissa Disciplinary Proceedings (Administrative Tribunals) Rules, 1951 has imperative force. See Constitution of India, Art. 309. AIR 1957 Orissa 70 (DB).

—Prima facie the meaning of "may" is permissive, until contrary is established. The word "may" in S. 6, Criminal Law Amendment Act could be read to mean that "it shall be lawful" for the State Government to appoint special Judge. There is nothing to compel Court to give a meaning to the word 'may' other than its ordinary meaning and to interpret it to mean 'shall.' See Criminal Law Amendment Act (1952), S. 6. 1954 Cri L J 139 : AIR 1954 Pat 80.

—The word "may" used in sub-r. (3) of Rule 70 of Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Rules (1955) does not mean 'shall' and the Rehabilitation authorities are not bound to sell a garden or grove to person to whom it has been allotted. See Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Rules (1955), R. 70 (3). (1960) 62 Punj L R 220.

—Word "may" in S. 13 (2), East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act does not mean 'shall.' It is used in permissive sense. See Houses and Rents — East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act (30 of 1949), S. 13 (2). AIR 1955 N U C (Punj) 738 (DB).

force of 'shall.' See Stamp Act (1899), S. 42. A I R 1937 Raj 211 (DB).

"May seize any cattle trespassing on such land."

—The expression "may seize any cattle trespassing on such land and doing damage thereto" in S. 10, Cattle Trespass Act does not connote that the seizure must be effected in the process of the trespass and causation of damage on the land. See Cattle Trespass Act (1871), S. 10. 1966 Cri L J 1132 : A I R 1960 Pat 385.

"Means."

See also (1) Words and Phrases—"Includes."
(2) Interpretation of Statutes—Words.

●—Use of the word "means" in a definition section shows that the definition is a hard and fast definition and that no other meaning can be assigned to the word or the expression defined than is put down in the definition. AIR 1957 All 541 (545) (FB).

—Use of the words "means", 'includes' and 'but does not include' in the definition of 'wages' in S. 2 (vi) of the Payment of Wages Act, clearly shows that the definition is an exhaustive one and no other meaning can be assigned to the term 'wages' than is put down in the definition. See Payment of Wages Act (4 of 1936), S. 2 (vi). AIR 1956 Madh Bha 152.

—The word "means" in S. 51, Proviso, C. P. C. is not equivalent to cash. The word "means" realisable assets. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 51, Proviso. AIR 1964 Mad 233 (DB).

"Measurement."

—"Measurement" in S. 5, M. B. Identification of Prisoners Act includes finger impressions and foot impressions. See M. B. Identification of Prisoners Act, Smt. 2008 (15 of 1951), S. 2 (a). 1957 Cri L J 855 : AIR 1957 Madh Pra 106 (DB).

"Meenas Bara Gaon"

—"Meenas Bara Gaon" are only tenure holders. Their estates are heritable and partible and if some of them still render service, they do it in order to save the payment of land revenue in cash. ILR (1959) 9 Raj 348 : 1959 Raj L W 362 : A I R 1959 Raj 250 (253) (Pt C) (Pr 11) (DB).

"Meeting"

—Word "meeting" in its individual sense means a "sitting on a particular day" and in its cumulative or collective sense means a conglomeration of meetings held in a particular session and therefore a 'session', in legal parlance, the word in its application to the sittings of a house of legislature, has come to mean a 'session' of the House. The expression as it appears in S. 22 (5), Punjab Pure Food Act, is wide enough to embrace not only one sitting but all the sittings within a particular session, in other words the expression is synonymous with 'session'. See Punjab Pure Food Act (8 of 1929), S. 22 (5). 1953 Cri L J 373 : AIR 1953 Punj 40 (DB).

"Member"

—Word "member" in S. 21, Chartered Accountants Act, includes past "member" for the purpose of enquiry contemplated by the section. See Chartered Accountants Act (1949), S. 21. AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 2891 (DB).

"Members of the family"

See (1) Houses and Rents—Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act (1947), S. 9 (1) (e).

"Memorials or petitions"

●—According to strict construction of the words of Art. 320 (3) of the Constitution, an application for review would be covered by the words "memorials or petitions". See Constitution of India, Art. 320 (3) (c). AIR 1957 S C 912.

"Mera"

—The word "Mera" in adoption deed by Hindu widow, cannot have the significance that the widow had taken the boy as a son to her own self apart from her husband, where the fact that she had acted for the benefit of both the parents appear clear from her wish as expressed in the document, that the boy would perpetrate the name and fame of not only herself but also of her 'kutumb' meaning the family to which she belonged. A I R 1958 Madh Pra 287 (289) (DB).

"Merchant"

●—(Per Weston, C. J.) — The term "merchant" as used in a contract for the supply of piece goods is not restricted to person trading entirely on his own account. A "merchant" is a person who trades in goods that is to say, who buys and sells goods. It may not include a manufacturer of goods but it includes a General Manager of a trading company. The test is whether the person does buy or sell goods on his initiative. It is immaterial whether he was remunerated by a share of the profits or by salary. Parmeshwari Das v. Firm Ram Chand. ('51) 53 Pun L R 432 : A I R 1952 Pun 34 (37) (Pt B) (Pr 12) (FB).

"Merchantable quality".

—Sale of Goods Act does not define the expression "merchantable" yet the word has by long use become a term of art in commercial law. "Merchantable quality" means that the goods comply with the description in the contract so that to a purchaser buying the goods of that description the goods would be a good tender. See Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 15. AIR 1960 Mad 520 (DB).

"Merpadiyanil" and "Merpaditayappadi"

—The word "merpadiyanil" would mean "in or at the said time or prescribed time". The word "merpaditayapaddi" should be translated "as per or according" and not within. See T. P. Act (1882), S. 60. AIR 1954 Mad 193.

"Mesne profits"

"Metals"

—"Metals" in Sch. 3, Travancore District Municipalities Act does not cover precious metals, gold and silver. See Municipalities — Travancore District Municipalities Act (23 of 1116-M. E.), S. 261. I L R (1960) Ker 1065.

—'Metal' in expression "beating of metals" does not cover precious "metals" like gold or silver. See Municipalities — Trivandrum City Municipality Act (4 of 1116 M. E.) S. 295, Sch. 4. 1951 K L T 308 : AIR 1952 Trav-Co 42 (DB).

"Mica works"

—"Mica works" is a general term of widest possible import and includes all kinds of works in relation to mica including mining. See Minimum Wages Act (1948), Sch. Part I, Item 10. A I R 1957 Raj 35 (DB).

"Migrate"

See Constitution of India, Arts. 6 and 7.

"Migration"

See Constitution of India, Art. 7.

"Milkiyat maqbooza"

—The mere use of the words "milkiyat maqbooza" does not necessarily connote that the interest referred to is the zamindari or Biswedari interest. The words may only mean what they say, namely the possessory title of the plaintiff. Recital in the plaint must be taken as a whole. 1961 Raj L W 259 : I L R (1961) 11 Raj 255.

"Miller"

—The word "miller" in item 3-C of Col. (2), Sch. 4, A. P. General Sales-tax Act, 1957, means both the decorticating miller and the oil "miller" See Sales-tax — Andhra Pradesh General Sales-tax Act (6 of 1957), Sch. 4, Col. 2, Item 3 (c) (as amended by Act 26 of 1961). (1964) 15 S T C 795 (AP).

●—Even assuming that the introduction of indirect election by the "modification" of Art. 81 of the Constitution, is a radical alteration of the provisions of Art. 81 (1), the "modification" is justified by the word "modification" as used in Art. 370 (1) (d). See Constitution of India, Art. 370 (1) (d). AIR 1961 SC 1519.

●—Suspension of the rights of a mine-owner or a lessee of a mine is "modification" within meaning of S. 31A (1) (e), of the Constitution of India. See Coal Bearing Areas (Acquisition and Development) Act (1957), S. 13 (4). AIR 1961 SC 954.

—The word "modification" in S. 52, W. B. Estates Acquisition Act means contextual adaptation of Chapters II, III, V and VII of the Act to the case of raiyats and under-raiyats and not amendments of the substantive provisions and effects of those chapters. The contextual adaptation is only intended to make those chapters applicable to the case of raiyats and under-raiyats, which without the modification might not have been applicable to the case of raiyats and under raiyats. See Tenancy Laws—W. B. Estates Acquisition Act (1 of 1954), S. 52. (1963) 67 Cal W N 129.

●—The word "modification" also means addition and that power to extend an enactment subject to "modifications" will comprehend the power to add certain provisions to that enactment and extend to area concerned, the enactment so added to. See Constitution of India, Art. 370 (1) (a). AIR 1959 J & K 35 (FB).

—Where a reading of the old and new Acts shows that they deal with the same subject matter except that the new Act has made certain addtitional provisions, the new Act is substantially the same as the old one and the word "modification" in S. 24, General Clauses Act, is comprehensive enough to include such additions as have been made in the new Act. See General Clauses Act (1897), S. 24. 1958 Cri L J 767 : AIR 1958 Madh Pra 162 (164) (DB).

—The word "modification" in S. 8 (1), General Clauses Act means variatton and include sextension also although in ordinary parlance this word may signify restrictions only. General Clauses Act (1897), S. 8 (1). AIR 1959 Punj 291 (DB).

"Modify".

—Word "modify" in S. 89 (2) means either to enhance or reduce sentence or fine, in absence of limiting clause. See Panchayats — U. P. Panchayat Raj. Act (26 of 1947), S. 89 (2). 1964 All L J 989.

"Mokhasa".

—"Mokhasa" not an Inam village—Tenants on lands in "Mokhasa" not entitled to ryotwari patta under S. 4 (2)(c), of Andhra Inam (Abolition and Conversion in Ryotwari) Act, 1956. See Tenancy Laws –Andhra Inams (Abolition and Conversion in Ryotwari) Act (37 of 1956), S. 2 (c). (1963) 2 Andh L T 197.

—"Mokhasa" is not synonymous with ryoti — Means tenure subject to service. (1959) 2 Andh W R 254.

"Money had and received".

See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 62.

"Money-lender."

See (1) Debt Laws—C. P. and Berar Money-lenders Act (13 of 1934), S. 11.
(2) Debt Laws — Orissa Money-lenders Act (3 of 1939), S. 2 (j).

"Month."

(2) Marwar Limitation Act (1945), S. 12.
(3) Penal Code (1860), S. 49.

—Word "month" in its ordinary acceptance, means a calendar month and not a lunar "month," except where in a particular place or business or trade the word "month" has acquired a secondary meaning. In such cases, the accepted interpretation in the particular place, business or trade must govern the rights of the parties. The word "month" used in judicial pronouncements means calendar "month." AIR 1951 Cal 316 (317, 318) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

—"Month" in decree — Meaning — In a suit for ejectment the Court passed a conditional decree that "if within a month of the passing of the decree the judgment-debtors pay the arrears of rent, then the suit for ejectment would be dismissed.' The decree was passed on 4-2-1954 :

Held, that it would be straining the language if it was held that the meaning given to the word "month" in a commercial document was to be extended to decrees. The month in the decree should be read as a calendar month. 58 Punj L R 123 : AIR 1956 Punj 112 (112) (Pr 5).

"Monthly wages not exceeding Rs. 400."

—Expression "monthly wages not exceeding Rs. 400" means wages which do not exceed on an average Rs. 400 a month. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 2 (1) (n). AIR 1961 Raj 45.

"Mooris."

—The ordinary meaning of "mooris" is an ancestor from whom inheritance is derived. It means a deceased person from whom another has inherited property. 'Mooris' or ancestral is quite different from a former possessor or predecessor-in-title. See Tenancy Laws — Gwalior Qanoon Mal (Smt. 1993), S. 247, Note 4. 1956 M B L J (H C R) 1557.

—"Moral delinquency."

—Offence under S. 120B read with Ss. 109, 121, I. P. C. for various offences of criminal conspiracy to set fire and blow up railway bridges and violation of Explosive Substances Act, involves "moral delinquency." See Panchayats—Madras Village Panchayats Act (10 of 1950), S. 16 (1). (1963) 76 Mad L W 857.

"Morality."

—The words "morality" and 'decency' are not well understood. There may be wide difference of opinion as to their precise meaning. Restriction imposed with regard to 'decency' or "morality" without clearly specifying the prohibited acts, is both vague and unreasonable and to this extent S. 9 of the Punjab Security of the State Act, 1953 (as appplied to Ajmer) is invalid. See Public Safety — Punjab Security of the State Act (12 of 1953) (applied to Ajmer), S. 9. AIR 1956 Ajmer 52.

"Moral Turpitude."

See also (1) Legal Practitioners Act (1879), S. 12.
(2) Panchayats — U. P. Panchayat Raj Act (1947), S. 5A (h).

—Conviction of panch under S. 457, I. P. C. involves moral "turpitude." See Panchayat—Vindhya Pradesh Gram Panchayats Ordinance (1949), S. 5. 1962 Jab L J 936.

—Constitution of India, Art. 311 — Departmental enquiry — Offence involving moral "turpitude" — Meaning of — Offence under S. 4 (1) (a) of Mysore Prohibition Act (37 of 1948) held involved moral "turpitude" — Omission to specify in notice by disciplinary authority that offence committed by delinquent involved moral "turpitude" — Conviction established under Standing Orders — Punishment held was competent. See Constitution of India, Art. 311. 1962 Mys L J (Sup) 498 (DB).

—Moral "turpitude" — Connotes conduct inherently base and contrary to accepted rules of morality and may or may not be punishable as crime. See Tenancy Laws — Delhi Land Reforms Act (8 of 1954), S. 153. AIR 1965 Punj 433.

—The term "moral turpitude" is rather vague one and it may have different meanings in different contexts. The term has generally been taken to mean to be conduct contray to justice, honesty, modesty or good morals and contrary to what a man owes to a fellowman or to society in general. It has never been held that gravity of punishment is to be considered in determining whether the misconduct involves moral turpitude or not. AIR 1957 Punj 97 (98) (Pt C) (Pr 5).

"Mortgagee".

—Mortgagee for purpose of redemption would include all persons who derive title from him and it is immaterial whether that title is derived by sale in invitum or by private treaty. See Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 59A. AIR 1957 Pat 136.

"Mortgagor".

—Mortgagor—Includes auction purchasers as hislegal representatives. Sse Tenancy Laws—U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 14. 1957 All W R (HC) 850.

"Motion"

●—A "motion" means a proposal and nothing more. See Municipalities — U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S, 87A. AIR 1958 All 374 (FB).

"Motor."

—"Motor" is wide enough to include a motor truck. See Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipal Act (1922), S. 66. AIR 1955 N U C (Nag) 1847 (DB).

"Moveable property."

—Electricity is moveable property. See Municipalities —C. P. & Berar Municipalities Act (2 of 1922), S. 44. AIR 1964 Madh Pra 101 (DB).

"Mritasanjivani Sura."

—"Mritasanjivani sura" is not a country liquor but a medicated wine. See Sales Tax — Bihar Sales Tax Act (29 of 1947), S. 6. AIR 1959 Pat 138 (DB).

"Mukadama."

—A general word like "Mukadama" can mean either a suit or proceeding or a case. For the purposes of a civil suit it means 'suit.' See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 38. R. 2. AIR 1955 N U C (Raj) 297 (DB).

"Multifarious suits."
See Court-fees Act (1870), S. 17.

"Municipal election roll."

—The expression "the municipal election roll," in S. 428 (1), City of Nagpur Corporation Act means the person indicated in S. 428 is a person who is enrolled in a particular electoral roll in respect of a particular ward or special constituency from which the particular councillor has been elected and whose election has been challenged under S. 428. See Municipalities — City of Nagpur Corporation Act (2 of 1950), S. 428 (1). AIR 1959 Bom 2 (DB).

"Muramat Shakasht rekhat"

—Phrase "Muramat Shakasht rekhat" does not include destruction ot mortgaged property by mortgagee himself, at his own sweet will, irrespective of its nature and condition. The stipulation that the mortgagor shall pay the cost of "shakasht" (breakage) and "rekhat" (destruction) cannot be taken to mean that the mortgagor thereby binds himself to pay expenses which the mortgagee may incur in breaking and demolishing the mortgaged property and then in rebuilding the same. See Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 63A. AIR 1955 Pepsu 87 (DB).

"Naslan bad naslan."

—Expression "naslan bad naslan butnun baad butnun" (generation after generation) when used with respect to succession to office of shebait has been interpreted to mean heritable and heritable only by the lineal male descendants. See Hindu law — Idol. AIR 1958 All 371 (SB).

"Nashtansh."

—The expression "Nashtansh" does not mean dying without lineal descendants. But it means the absence of all the known heirs. AIR 1956 Bom 237 (238) (Pt A) (Pr 4).

"Nationality."

—"Nationality" and Citizenship—Distinction pointed out. See Constitution of India, Art. 51. AIR 1963 S C 1811.

"National symbol"
See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 123 (3).

"Natural annual produce."

—"Natural annual produce" of trees including fruits and flowers, (phal and phul) — Lessee to enjoy these —Right to draw toddy juice from sindi trees held included. ILR (1952) Nag 668 : AIR 1953 Nag 205 (209) (Pr 36) (Pt D) (DB).

"Natural justice."
See Constitution of India, Arts. 226 and 32.

"Near relation"

—Right to inherit the property of another is not the only test of near relationship. It cannot be said that the relationship between persons who have married sisters is not a near relationship in the ordinary sense of the term. See Co-operative Societies—Madras Co-operative Societies Act (6 of 1932), S. 27 (a). AIR 1953 Mad 542.

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1954 Mad 738.]

—The term "near relation" in wajib-ul-arz is used in contradistinction with the term relations not connected with the family. See Custom (Rajasthan — Adoption). AIR 1955 NUC (Raj) 4053.

"Necessary for disposal of suit"—Meaning of.
See Constitution of India, Art. 228.

"Neglect or refusal to maintain"
See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 488 (1).

"Neglects."

—Word "neglects" in S. 106 (2) Cantonments Act cannot mean that a person whom a notice has been served can only be prosecuted if he fails to send any reply at all and that any sort of reply to the notice, however inadequate or evasive, is sufficient to avert the prosecution for failure to comply with the terms of the notice. See Cantonments Act (1924), S. 103 (2). 1958 Cri L J 1343 : AIR 1958 Punj 396.

"Neighbouring country."

—The expression "neighbouring country" in S. 7 (1) and (1a) of Bengal Embankment Act (1882), means the country neighbouring the embankment in question. See Bengal Embankment Act (2 of 1882), S. 7. AIR 1953 Cal 653 (DB).

"Nerpattom."

"Net income."

—In calculating "net income" for purposes of S. 46 (1) read with S. 3 (g) Wakf Act, the expenses of cultivation must be deducted. Net income is the total income defined in S. 3 (g) minus the revenue, cess, rates and taxes payable to the Govt. or any local authority. See Wakf Act (1954), S. 3 (g). AIR 1964 Ker 310 (DB).

"Net profits."

—"Net profits" are difference between gross earning and working expenses. See Interpretation of Statutes. (1963) 67 Cal W N 138.

"New building."

●—The expression "new building" in the Calcutta Municipal Act does not bear the popular meaning of a building freshly constructed but means and includes, according to the definition given in S. 3 (46) of the Act, any building erected or partially rebuilt or converted into masonry building or convertedt into a place of human habitation after the commencement of the Act of 1923 i.e., the Calcutta Municipal Act. See Municipalities—Calcutta Municipal Act (3 of 1923), S. 3 (46). 1957 Cri L J 722 : AIR 1957 Cal 399 (FB).

"New machines."

—The word "new" when used with reference with "machine," its meaning is "new made or brought into existence for the first time". "New" as used in S. 10 (2) (vi) does not mean "new to the assessee." The machines must be "new machines." See Income-Tax Act. (1922), S. 10 (2) (vi). (1963) 49 ITR 310 (Ker).

"News-paper".

—The essential pre-requisite of a periodical in order to make it a "newspaper" is that it must contain mainly public news or comments on public news.

Law reports, publishing decided cases of High Courts with headnotes, statutes and orders and articles on current legal topics are not "newspaper", even though it is registered as a "newspaper". See Sales Tax—Orissa Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947). AIR 1960 Orissa 221 (DB).

"Niskar Bhogdakhal sutra"

—The word "niskar", when it appears in record of rights by itself does not necessarily mean rent free tenancy but only means that the tenant is not in fact paying rent. An entry "Niskar Bhogdakhal sutra" means that a tenant is not actually paying rent to anybody and not that the tenant is not liable to pay rent to any one. It does not mean that the tenant has acquired rent free title by possession and enjoyment. AIR 1954 Cal 558 (559) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

"Niwas" .''निवास"

—"Niwas" means residence and not a shop. See Houses and Rents—Madhya Bharat Sthan Niyantran Vidhan (5 of 1950), S. 4 (g). AIR 1953 Madh Bha 195.

"No appeal shall lie".

●—The expression "no appeal shall lie" in proviso to S. 30 (1) I. T. Act, is not that no memorandum of appeal can be presented. All that it means is that the appeal will not be held to be properly filed until tax has been paid. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 30 (1), Proviso. AIR 1961 S C 1134.

"No bill or amendment shall be introduced or moved".

●—Meaning of expression "No bill or amendment shall be introduced or moved" in the proviso to Art. 304 of the Constitution indicated. See Constitution of India, Art. 304, proviso. 1955 Cri L J 844: AIR 1955 Tra-Co 82 (FB).

"Nomination of candidate and nomination paper".

There is a clear distinction between "nomination of candidate and nomination paper" in the Bombay Municipalities Rules, 1950, particularly: in R. 13 (4)—Distinction pointed out. See Municipalities — Bombay Borough Municipalities Election Rules (1950), R. 15 (3) (ii). (1964) 5 Guj L R 536.

"Normal labour" "normal delivery" and "mis-carriage".

●—What is "normal labour" "normal delivery" and "mis-carriage", discussed. See Evidence Act (1872), S. 112. AIR 1965 S C 364.

"Normal requirement".

"Normal requirement" may differ from person to person. Normal requirement of a person in possession of cloth must depend not only upon his status in society but also upon his business need. See Orissa Cotton Cloth and Yarn Control Order (1948), Cl. 18 (2). AIR 1953 Orissa 32 (DB).

"Noscuntur a sociis".

See Interpretation of Statutes.

"No suit shall be instituted"

—When the law says suits cannot be instituted during the period prescribed and makes an allowance for the consequent loss of time, the institution during the time is bad and the plaint is liable to be rejected on that ground or the suit dismissed. See M. B. Famine (Suspension of Proceedings) Act (12 of 1953) S. 7. AIR 1955 NUC (Madh B) 3083.

"Not being earlier than 3 days".

—Words "not being earlier than 3 days" from the date of the service of the order in S. 6 (c), Requisition of Buildings (Andhra Area) Ordinance, mean that three whole days must elapse between the date of the service of the order and the date fixed for delivering possession. Allowing three periods of 24 hours calculated from the hour of the day on which the order was served, before possession is taken or required to be delivered, is not sufficient compliance. See Requisition of Buildings (Andhra Area) Ordinance (1 of 1953), S. 6 (e). AIR 1957 Andh-Pra 229 (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1968 S C 5].

"Not being less than one month"

●—Travancore District Municipalities Act (23 of 1116 Malyalam Year) S. 78 proviso—Requirement that notice in gazette should give reasonable period not being less than one month, for objection — Requirement as to period is not mandatory but only directory —Expression 'not being less than one month' implies the necessity of one clear month's notice excluding the first and the last day of the month. See Municipalities — Travancore District Municipalities Act (23 of 1116 Malyalam Year) S. 78 proviso. (1961) 3 S C R 609 : AIR 1967 S C 684.

"Nothing contained in the said Act".

"Notice".

—"Notice" referred to in S. 158 Limitation Act does not mean notice in writing. See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 158. 1961 Raj LW 521.

"Notice in form XVI".

—Expression "notice in form XVI in M.P. Generel Sales Tax Rules. R. 33 does not mean "notice in accordance with Form XVI". See Sales Tax—M. P. General Sales Tax Rules, R. 33. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 315 (DB).

"Notice of the appeal".

—Words "notice of the appeal" in Art. 169, of the Limitation Act, 1908, mean the notice of the day fixed for hearing and disposal of the appeal and not merely notice to the respondent that an appeal has been filed. See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 169. AIR 1963 All 311.

"Notification".

—The word "notification" in S. 290 (1) Orissa Municipal Act, bears the same meaning as is given in definition S. 2 (28), Orissa General Clauses Act. See Municipalities—Orissa Municipal Act (23 of 1950), S. 290 (1). 1965 (2) Cri L J 657 : AIR 1965 Orissa 196.

—Word "notification" in R. 14, Rajasthan Panchayat and Nyaya Panchayat Election Rules has been used in its general or non-technical sense and does not bear somewhat narrow connotation which has been assigned to it in General Clauses Act. See Panchayat—Rajasthan Panchyat and Nyaya Panchayat Election Rules (1960), R. 14. 1962 Raj L W 32.

"Notified"

—The word "notified" in S. 357 of the M. P. Panchayat Act does not signify that so long as an election is not notified it can be questioned in proceedings under Art. 226 of the Constitution, but it is that an election petition would be competent only after the election or selection is notified and not before. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 258.

"Not in accordance with".

●—Expression "not in accordance with" in S. 8, Bombay Cotton Contracts Act, 1932, interpreted against the facts of the case. See Bombay Cotton Contracts Act (4 of 1932), S. 8. AIR 1958 S C 713.

"Not later than"

—Section 55 A (2) Representation of the People Act, 1951 does not talk of ten days clear notice but merely says that retirement must be not later than ten days prior to the date of the poll—Date of poll, 10-3-1957—Ten days prior to poll would be 28-2-1957—Retirement by candidate on that day would not be improper or irregular. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 55.A (2). AIR 1958 Punj 483 (DB).

"Not less than six weeks".

—When expressions 'not less than so many days' occur in enactments there are two terminal points and the period specified must be outside those two terminal points. Expression "not less than six weeks" in S. 57 (2), Motor Vehicles Act means six clear weeks i.e., 42 days, exclusive of the date of the application and the date on which they are desired to take effect. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 57 (2). AIR 1962 Andh Pra 462.

"Not less than ten days."

—Expression, "not less than ten days" means not less than ten clear days. See Municipalities — Punjab Municipal Election Rules (1952), R. 3 (3). AIR 1964 Punj 135 (DB).

"Not resident in the territories."

—It is unreasonable to give the words "not resident in the territories" in S. 18 (3-B), I. T. Act, a special meaning different to the definition in S. 4-A (c). See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 18 (3-B). AIR 1956 Cal 450.

"Notwithstanding."

—Word "notwithstanding" means without prejudice to. See Tenancy Laws—U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 7. 1963 All L J 338.

—"Notwithstanding" means "in spite of the fact," "however," "yet". See Municipalities — Mysore Municipalities Act (7 of 1953), S. 41. (1965) 4 Law Rep 58 : (1965) 2 Mys L J 365 (DB).

"Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law or anything having force of law"

—The non-obstante clause "notwithstanding anything contained in any other law or anything having the force of law" in the concluding part of S. 5, Bihar Essential Services Maintenance Act, 1948, does not in any way enlarge the meaning and construction of the three parts of the section, which state the essential ingredients of the offence. See Bihar Essential Services Maintenance Act (1 of 1948), S. 5. 1956 Cri L J 768 : AIR 1956 Pat 188 (DB).

"Notwithstanding anything contained in the said Act".

(2) Municipalities— Hyderabad Municipal Corporation Act (1950), S. 338 (1) (d) (ii).

(3) Railways Act (1872), S. 120 (b).

—Non-supply or short supply of water does not amount to "nuisance". See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), S. 5 (50). (1965) 69 Cal W N 674.

—What is "annoyance" or "nuisance" in a particular case may not be so in a different case. Each case depends on its facts — For a landlady or landlord who is ailing from some disease, even the noise or disturbance caused by normal use of premises may amount to 'annoyance or nuisance'. See Houses and Rents—Mysore House Rent and Accommodation Control Act (30 of 1951), S. 8 (2) (vi). AIR 1955 Mys 107.

—Term "nuisance" is incapable of exact and exhaustive definition. The word "nuisance" is derived from french word "nuire" which means "to injure, hurt or harm". Literally anything that causes annoyance or injury, harm or prejudice to an individual or the public or anything wrongfully done or permitted which injures or annoys another in the legitimate enjoyment of his legal rights would constitute nuisance. In short anything done which unwarrantably affects the rights of the others, endangers life or health, gives offence to the senses, violates the laws of decency or obstructs the comfortable and reasonable use of property may amount to nuisance. Every inconvenience, discomfort or annoyance is not, however, sufficient to constitute a nuisance. No precise rule can be laid down as to the degree and every case must be decided on its own particular facts. Generally speaking however, to constitute nuisance the injury caused must be real and not fanciful or imaginary. It must not be such as results only in a trifling inconvenience. A well kept vegetable shop near a costly dwelling house or any other business which is apt to attract large number of orderly customers may constitute an undesirable neighbour but it may in all cases be nuisance even if the value of the property in certain respects, is affected. "Obscene"

See Penal Code (1860), Ss. 292 and 294.

"Obstruction"

See also Penal Code (1860), S. 186.

—It is not necessary that there should be resistance in the sense of some force having been used by the accused. S. 30, U, P. Pure Food Act, 1950, penalises is wilful obstruction of any person acting in performance of a duty under the Act. "Obstruction" need not be by force. See U. P. Pure Food Act (32 of 1950), S. 30. 1957 Cr L J 1384 : AIR 1957 All 829.

—"Obstruction" means physical obstruction i.e, actual resistance or obstruction put in the way of discharge of the duties of the search party. The word implies the use of criminal force. The word in S. 25, Orissa Sales Tax Act contemplates some overt act and not mere passive conduct. See Sales Tax—Orissa Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947), S. 25 (1) (f). :1962 (1) Cri L J 835 (Orissa).

"Obtain"

—West Bengal Rice Mills Control Order (1949), S. 4 —The word "apply" should not be read in the place where the legislature had used the word "obtain". See West Bengal Rice Mills Control Order (1949), S. 4, AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 799 (DB).

"Obtain maintenance from."

See Hindu Adoptions and Maintenance Act (1956), S. 19.

"Obtaining or attempting to obtain"

See Penal Code (1860), S. 161.

"Obtains"

●—Word "obtains" in S. 5 (1) (d), Prevention of Corruption Act does not eliminate the idea of acceptance of what is given or offered to be given, though it connotes also an element of effort on the part of the receiver. See Prevention of Corruption Act (1947), S. 5 (1) (d). 1956 Cri L J 837 : AIR 1956 S C 476.

—Word "obtains" in S. 123 (7), Representation of the People Act, 1951 has been used in the sense of the meaning which connotes purpose or effort behind the action of the candidate. The word has not been used in the sense of a mere passive receipt of assistance without the candidate being even conscious of the fact that the assistance has been rendered. See Representation of the People Act (1951), (as amended in 1956), S. 123 (7). AIR 1958 All 794 (DB).

"Occasional or casual visits"

See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 4A (a) (iii).

"Occupant"

See Tenancy Laws—U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (I of 1951), Ss. 16 and 20 (b) (i).

"Occupation"

See (1) Houses and Rents — East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act (3 of 1949), S. 13 (3) (i) (a).
(2) Houses and Rents —U. P. Temporary Control of Rent and Eviction Rules (1949), R. 7.

●—Occupation under Cl. (g) of S. 13 (1), Bombay Rents, Hotel and Lodging House Rates (Control) Act includes occupation for demolition to make it fit for residence. See Houses and Rents — Bombay Rents Hotel and Lodging Houses Rates (Control) Act (57 of 1947), S. 13 (1) (g). AIR 1964 S C 1676.

—Study in the University is not "occupation." See Universities Act (1940), S. 25. AIR 1953 Cal 783.

—Word "occupation" is not synonymous with "residence" under Cl. 9 (3) of Mysore House Rent and Accommodation Control Order. See Houses and Rents —Mysore House Rent and Accommodation Control Order, Cl. 9 (3). AIR 1951 Mys 66 (DB).

—Son living with father in Daya Bhaga family—Not joint occupier. See Municipalities—Bihar and Orissa Municipal Act (7 of 1922), S. 82 (1) (a). A I R 1955 N U C (Orissa) 717 (DB).

—"Occupation" of brother-in-law is not occupation of owner. See Houses and Rents — U. P. Control of Rent and Eviction Rules (1949), R. 7. 1958 All L J 915.

"Occupation involving risk of infection to childern"

—A ticket collector of a cinema theatre is engaged in an "occupation involving risk of infection to children" —Tests of such occupation indicated — See Madras Medical Code, R. 536 (2). 78 Mad L W 383 : (1962) 2 Mad L J 129 : (1965) 2 Lab L J 425: (1965-66) 28 F J R 99 : AIR 1966 Mad 39.

"Occupier"

See also Factories Act (1948), S. 2 (n).

—An 'occupier' is a person in use or enjoyment of the land, i. e. a person having the actual use or occupation. See Madras District Boards Act (14 of 1920), S. 78. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 1042.

—"Occupier" of land is not necessarily a cultivator. Term 'cultivator' includes not only a person who actually toils in the land on his own account but also the owner of the land who gets it cultivated through his farm servant or daily labourers. See Cattle Trespass Act (1871), S. 10. 1960 Cr L J 932 : A I R 1960 Mad 331.

"Of."

—"Of" means 'after.' See Houses and Rents—Kerala Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act (16 of 1959), S. 4 (3). 1960 Ker L T 456.

"Offence."

See (1) Constitution of India, Art. 20 (3).
(2) Penal Code (1860), S. 40.

"Offence involving moral turpitude."

—It is for the State Government to signify its intention as to whether a particular offence which carries with it the prescribed punishment involves moral turpitude or not. It is the subjective opinion of the Government that matters. Unless the Government has expressed such opinion, it cannot be said that a person has committed an offence which comes under the category referred to in S. 22 (2) of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932. See Municipalities—Bengal Municipal Act (15 of 1932), S. 22 (2). A I R 1957 Cal 95.

"Offence not punishable with death or transportation for life."

—The plain meaning of the words "offence not punishable with death or transportation for life" is "an offence not punishable with death or an offence not punishable with transportation for life." See U.P. First Offenders' Prohibition Act (6 of 1938), S. 4. 1956 Cri L J 659 : AIR 1956 All 326 (DB).

"Office."

—An "office" is a right to exercise "a public or private employment' or to hold a position which has certain duties attached to it. It means a position or a place to which certain duties are attached more or less of a public character and it is a sort of a permanent position held by successive incumbents. It may be with or without remuneration. See Municipalities—Hyderabad District Municipalities Act (18 of 1956), S. 27 (1) (c). A I R 1964 Andh Pra 421 (DB).

—Word "office" has been judicially construed in several different senses and in each case a meaning has been assigned to it having regard to the language used in the enactment and its object. The word "office" does not necessarily imply that it must have an existence apart from the person who may hold it. See Constitution of India, Art. 191 (1) (a). AIR 1958 Bom 314 (DB).

—Expression "office" in S. 7, Estate Duty Act, has to be understood as a "position to which certain duties are attached." A Sthanam is merely a dignity entitling the sthani to the caste, social or religious privileges or precedence and not an "office." See Estate Duty Act (1953), S. 7 (4), Explanation. A I R 1957 Mad 522 (DB).

"Office of profit."

See also (1) Constitution of India, Arts. 102 (1) (c) and 191 (1) (a).
(2) Municipalities—Mysore Town Municipalities Act (1951), S. 14.
(3) Panchayats — Orissa Panchayat Samiti and Zilla Parishads Act (1960), S. 46 (l) (g).
(4) Panchayats — U. P. Panchayat Raj Act (1947), S. 5-A.

—The expression "office of profit" means that an office must be held under Government or Municipality or local authority to which any pay, salary, emoluments or allowance is attached. The word 'profit' connotes the idea of pecuniary gain, its quantum is immaterial. See Municipalities — Hyderabad District Municipalities Act (18 of 1956), S 27 (1) (c). AIR 1964 Andh Pra 421 (DB).

—Expression "office of profit" is not defined in Constitution or Representation of the People Act. But before a person can be held to be disqualified under Art. 191 (1) (a) three things must be proved (1) that he held an office (2) that it was an "office of profit" and (3) that it was an office under Government of India or State Government. See Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (a). AIR 1958 Bom 314 (DB).

"Office purposes."

—The expression "office purposes" in the 2nd Schedule to the Bihar Electricity Duty Act has been used in the sense of clerical business. See Bihar Electricity Duty Act (36 of 1948), S. 3 (v) (b). (1960) ILR 39 Pat 296.

"Officer."

See also Civil P. C. (1908), S. 80.

●—When the State Govt. has under S. 41 (1) of the East Punjab Holdings (Consolidation and Prevention of Fragmentation) Act, 1948, delegated its power given under S. 21 (4) to hear appeals to an "officer," an order passed by such officer is an order passed by the State Government itself and not an "order passed by any "officer" under this Act" within the meaning of S. 42. A I R 1959 Punj 157, Overruled. See Constitution of India, Art. 32. AIR 1963 S C 1503.

●—An individual who is invested with the authority and is required to perform the duties incidental to an office is an "officer." See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 133-A. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 413 (FB).

—Word "officer" in S. 2 (d) of the Co-operative Societies Act, and in R. 115 of the Co-operative Societies Rules means a person who is appointed for the supervision of a directory character. It is not synonymous with the word "employee" for all "employees" do not necessarily become officers. See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 30. A I R 1960 All 500 (DB).

—The word "officer" in the expression "order passed by any "officer" under this Act" in S. 41, Pepsu Holdings (Consolidation and Prevention of Fragmentation) Act, includes an "officer" to whom the powers of the Government under S. 2 (4) have been delegated. See Tenancy Laws—Pepsu Holdings (Consolidation and Prevention of Fragmentation) Act (5 of 2007, B. K.), S. 41. AIR 1959 Punj 157 (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1953 S C 1503].

'Office under the State."

●—Office of village munsif under the Madras Hereditary Village Offices Act, 1895, is an "office under the State" within the meaning of that term in Art. 16 (1) (2) of the Constitution. See Constitution of India, Art. 16. AIR 1961 S C 564.

"Official residence."

—The expression "official residence" includes the gardens of Raj Bhavan. See Government of India (Governor's Allowances and Privileges) Order (1950), Cl. 3 (a). AIR 1956 Pat 398 (DB).

"Officiating."

—The word "officiating" is frequently used in more than one sense. "To officiate" means to act, or to discharge an office, but it is sometimes used with the meaning of to act 'for,' or to discharge an office 'on behalf of' some other person : as for example, in the expression "Officiating" Chief Justice. 1953 All L J 405 : 1953 All W R (H C) 420 : I L R (1954) 1 All 280 : AIR 1953 All 664 (665) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

"Officiating appoitment."

—The words "officiating appointment" have not been defined in any circulars or notifications nor have they been defined in the Fundamental Rules. They seem to have been used in contradistinction with the words 'substantive appointment' or an appointment that creates a lien in favour of the employee to the post on which he is appointed. See M. B. Fundamental Rules, (1951). 1958 Jab L J 187.

"Officiating service and substantive service."

●—To 'officiate' is to perform the duties of an office and 'substative' means permanent. 'Substantive service' means service as a permanent holder, 'officiating service' means service rendered by non-permanent holder. See Indian Administrative Service (Appointment by Promotion) Regulations, 1955, Reg. 4. AIR 1965 Ker 84 (FB).

"Oil Seeds."

—Only seeds commonly known as "oil seeds" included—Coriander Voma and Sompu held are not "oil seeds." See Sales Tax — Andhra Pradesh General Sales Tax Act (6 of 1957), Sch. IV, Item III. (1961) 2 Andh W R 291.

"Omission."

See (1) Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (1).
(2) Penal Code (1860), S. 33.
(3) Words and Phrases—"Failure."

"Omits" and "Refuses.

—Word 'omission' in S. 24, Punjab Municipal Act envisages, a prior meeting of the committee in which oath has been taken when no meeting has been convened within three months from the date of notification of the election, the election of the persons cannot be said to be invalid for their 'refusal' or 'omission' to take oath within meaning of S. 24 (2). Words 'omits' and 'refuses' indicates essential element of volition. See Municipalities — Punjab Municipal Act (3 of 1911), S. 24. ILR (1965) 2 Punj 642 : AIR 1966 Punj 137.

"On a complaint of facts constituting such offence made by the person affected thereby."

—The plain meaning of expression "on a complaint of facts constituting such offence made by the person affected thereby" is on a comlaint of facts constituting such offence made by a person whose position in respect of any of the rights, benefits and privileges conferred by the Act has been altered or injuriously varied by the alleged offence. See Bombay Industrial Relations Act (11 of 1947), S. 82. 1957 Cri L J 513 : AIR 1957 Madh-Pra 26 (DB).

"On behalf of."

"Order of assessment."

—Andhra Pradesh General Sales Tax Act (6 of 1957), Ss. 20 (3), 23 — "Order of assessment"—Not confined to order of first assessing authority. See Sales Tax — Andhra Pradesh General Sales Tax Act (6 of 1957), S. 20 (3). (1962) 2 Andh W R 57.

"Order passed on made in the exercise of its power of superintendence."

●—An order on an application under Art. 226 by a single Judge is not an order passed in exercise of the power of superintendence possessed by the High Court and an appeal from such an order is not barred under Chap. VIII, R. 5 of the Rules of the Allahabad High Court. See High Court Rules and Orders — Allahabad High Court Rules (1952), Chap. 8, R. 5. AIR 1957 All 414 (FB).

"Ordersheet."

—"Ordersheet" not defined in Criminal P. C. It is merely the creation of the General Rules (Criminal) framed by the High Court for guidance of Subordinate Courts. Contents of an ordersheet refer neither to a judgment nor to an order as recognised by the Code. It is a mere piece of waste-paper for purposes of S. 419, Criminal P. C. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 419. 1956 Cri L J 1179 : AIR 1956 All 633.

"Orders."

—The word used in Ss. 33 (4) and 33 (6), Income-tax Act is "orders." This does not mean that more than one order can be passed under S. 33 (4). The word "orders" is often used in the sense of 'order.' See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 66 (1). (1965) I T J (Supp) 195 : (1965) 55 ITR 508 (All).

"Ordinarily."

●—"Ordinarily" means "in the large majority of cases but not invariably." See Constitution of India, Art. 311 (2). AIR 1961 S C 1346.

●—It is in the sense of non-exceptional or usual that the word "ordinarily" is used in S. 2 (v) (a), Prevention of Food Adulteration Act. The word does not mean "primarily" nor does it mean "uninversally" or 'generally.' By the use of this word the legislature intended to provide that if an article enters into or is used even by some persons usually and not as exception, it would be deemed 'food'. See Prevention of Food Adulteration Act (1954), S. 2 (v). 1963 (2) Cri L J 244 : AIR 1963 All 433 (FB).

●—Per Subba Rao. C. J. — "Ordinarily" means habitually and not casually. It cannot obviously mean 'always.'

Per Chandra Reddy, J.— The plain and popular meaning of the word "Ordinarily" means usually, normally and not exceptionally as contrasted with extraordinarily. Putta Ranganayakalu, In re. 1956 Cri L J 1049 : 1955 Andhra L T (Cri) 335 : 1956 Andhra W R 456 : ILR (1956) Andh 13 : AIR 1956 Andhra 161 (167, 173) (Pt I) (Prs 23, 65) (FB).

●—The word "Ordinarily" in Kerala Educational Rules, (1959), Chap. 14, Pt. A, R. 44, gave certain amount of elasticity to that rule. See Constitution of India, Art. 30 (1). AIR 1965 Ker 75 (FB).

—"Ordinarily" in R. 31 (5) — Indicates an absolute discretion for the Custodian or Custodian-General to extend time on any ground considered fit. See Administration of Evacuee Property (Central) Rules (1950), R. 31 (5). (1957) 59 Pun L R 52.

—"Ordinarily" means in the large majority of cases and not invariably. See Indian Railways Establishment Code, Vol. II, R. 2046 (2) (a). A I R 1954 Punj 245.

—The word "ordinarily" in S. 177, Criminal P. C., means "except in the cases provided hereinafter to the contrary". See Criminal P. C. S. 177. 1952 Punj Cri L J 775 : AIR 1952 Punj 186 (DB).

"Ordinarily resides."

See (1) Guardians and Wards Act (1890), Ss. 9 and 25.
(2) Income-tax Act (1922), S. 4.

"Ordinary rate of wages."

—Words "Ordinary rate of wages" used in R. 25 of the Minimum Wages (Central) Rules, 1950 mean minimum rate of normal work fixed under the Act. See Minimum Wages Act (1948), S. 3 (2) (d). A I R 1963 Bom 54 (DB).

"Original costs to the assessee."

●—In the case of sale of property the words "original cost thereof to the assessee" in S. 10 (2) (vi), Income-tax Act, mean the cost to the assessee and not to the person who makes the sale. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 10 (2) (vi). AIR 1959 S C 1232.

"Original jurisdiction."

—Term "Original jurisdiction" is well understood and comprises those matters of which the Court takes cognizance as a Court of first instance. See Travancore-Cochin High Court Act (5 of 1125), S. 21 (ii) (b). ILR (1958) Ker 141.

"Ornaments."

—As applied to human beings there is a real distinction between a weapon and an "ornament". But in the case of deities like Lord Shiva or Lord Vishnoo, some of the weapons have become such necessary adjuncts of those deities when they are contemplated in human form, that they become their ornaments also. The trishul of Lord Shiva may be considered as his ornament. A I R 1963 Orissa 115 (117) (Pr 8).

"Or not."

—The words "or not" in S. 61 Saurashtra Gharkhed Tenancy Settlement and Agricultural Lands Ordinance, 1949, must be construed in the sense "or is not a tenant" and cannot include the determination of every possible relationship between the parties. See Tenancy Laws — Saurashtra Gharked Tenancy Settlement and Agricultural Lands Ordinance (41 of 1949), S. 61. A I R 1955 N U C (Sau) 974 (DB).

"Or otherwise."

—The general words "or otherwise" in Bihar Land Encroachment Act, is to be construed in such a way as to carry out the object to be accomplished by them; so far as it can be collected from the language used. The words are intended to cover other cases which may not come within the meaning of the preceding words. See Bihar Land Encroachment Act (31 of 1950), S. 2 (ii) (e). A I R 1957 Pat 666 (DB).

"Ostensible."

See T. P. Act (1882), S. 58 (c).

"Other allowance."

—Words "other allowance" used in Item 4 of Sch. II, Industrial Disputes Act, is to be interpreted in a broad manner so as to include claim for special allowance also. See Industrial Disputes Act. (1964) 9 Fac L R 338 : (1965) 1 Lab L J 13 (All).

"Other authorities."

See Constitution of India, Art. 12.

"Other persons."

—Words "other persons" in Ss. 76 and 77, Electricity Supply Act, are ejusdem generis. See Electricity Supply Act (1948), S. 76 (1). 1961 Jab L J 754.

"Own occupation."

—The words "own occupation" in S. 11 (1), West Bengal Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Act (1948) should be interpreted to include all persons who are dependent on the landlord. It is not limited to mean personal occupation by the landlord by or his immediate relations such as wife, son, daughter-in-law and grand children etc. See Houses and Rents — West Bengal Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Act (38 of 1948), S. 11 (1). ILR (1951) 1 Cal 375 : AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 1088.

—"Own occupation" does not exclude occupation by juristic person. 'Own' when used as an adjective is described as of or belonging to oneself or itself. See Houses and Rents — East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act (3 of 1949), S. 13 (3) (a) (i) (a). (1962) 64 Punj L R 1141.

"Package."

"Paditharam" expenses.

—No doubt, "paditharam" means "an allowance made to a temple" (Wilson's Golssary, 1855, at page 286) or "allowances" (Sankaranarayana's Telugu English Dictionary, 1953 at page 668).

When by an agreement between archakas and the trustee "Paditharam" expenses of the temple were to be borne by the trustee and the order of the Assistant Commissioner temporarily fixed "Padithar-man charges" until "dittam" was approved and the archakas filed a suit against the trustee on the basis of the agreement. for the recovery of the "Padithram expenses" incurred by them :

Held, that "Paditharam expenses" indicated that it was an allowance for an expenditure incurred. "Dittam" referred to the scale of expenditure (cf. S. 51 of Madras Act 19 of 1951). The purpose of the expenditure apparently was the performances of the daily rituals of 'Nitya Neivedya Deeparadhana'. The allowance was therefore intended to meet the expense incurred for necessary rituals. It might be that some of the offerings made to the deity during the rituals, such as the cooked food, were ultimately given to the archakas and by the manner of their disposal become perquisites. But this would not be a ground for regarding the ritual itself as being intended for the profit or advantage of the archakas.

The suit did not raise any dispute as to the disposal of the offerings and therefore no question under section 57 (e) of the Act arose. The enforcement of the agreement between the parties was the subject-matter of the suit and therefore the Civil Court had clearly jurisdiction to entertain it. (1965) 2 Andh W R 183.

"Paid".

●—So far as the word "paid" in S. 7 (1), Expl. 1, cl. (q), I.. T. Act is concerned, takes in every receipt by the employee from the employer whether it was due to him or not. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 7(1), Expl. 1, Cl. (v). AIR 1965 S C 49.

—Word "paid" carries a varied meaning and is no necessarily confined or limited to actual payment. It includes and may mean payment by adjustment or settlement of accounts. See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 61. 1964 Cur L J 42 (Punj).

"Paid in full".

—Words 'paid in full' in S. 35, Provincial Insolvency Act (1920), mean payment of the full amount as the creditor would be entitled to, as if no order of adjudication had been passed against the debtor. See Provincial Insolvency Act (1920), S. 35. AIR 1965 Mys 117.

"Paimali"—Meaning of.

—"Paimali" as the term connotes, is 'the toll for utilising the lands of khas mahal in course of holding of a mela, transport of goods and the throwing of sacrificial goats in the Ganges. 1958 B L J R 343 : AIR 1959 Pat 72 (74) (Pt C) (Pr 5) (DB).

"Pairwi".

—Word "pairwi" denotes something more than giving mere information to the police. It means taking of an active part in the prosecution by production of witnesses and during all other things required for the success of the prosecution. See Torts — Malicious prosecution. AIR 1963 All 580.

"Pakka adatia".

See Contract Act (1872), S. 182.

"Pakka khaikar".

●—"Pakka khaikar" is a term used in Kumaon and Garhwal in special sense. A kachcha khaikar seems to mean a tenant, while pakka khaikar is in a sense a proprietor. A pakka kharikari village may in course of time become a kachacha khaikari village by reason of pakka khaikars losing their pakka khaikari rights. But kachcha khaikari village can in no case become a "pakka khaikar". AIR 1955 All 65 (66, 67) (Prs 8-10, 12, 15) (FB).

"Panch".

—With amendment of S. 2 (3), Rajasthan Panchayat Act by Rajasthan Act 40 of 1958 "panch" means a member of a panchayat other than a sarpanch. See Panchayats — Rajasthan Panchayat Act (21 of 1953), S. 2 (3). ILR (1962) 12 Raj 609.

"Panchayat".

—It is not correct to say that the word 'panchayat' in S. 127 (2), Madras Village Panchayats Act meant not the area over which the "Panchayat" Board exercised jurisdiction but only the Board which was constituted to administer the affairs of the area. See Panchayats — Madras Village Panchayats Act (10 of 1950), S. 127 (2). AIR 1959 Mad 38.

"Panja land".

—Thottam or garden land would be described in the 'revenue records only as "panja lands". See Succession Act (1925), S. 74. AIR 1956 Mad 521 (DB).

"Panth".

●—Held that though the word "panth" by itself has come to indicate the Sikh religion, in the context of the language used in the poster, the word did not mean Sikh religion. The word could properly be interpreted as used for the Akali Dal party. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 123 (3). AIR 1965 S C 141.

'Paper".

See Press and Registration of Books Act (1867), S. 3.

"Parcel".

—'Parcel' signifies a part of the whole taken separately and has for one of its meaning "a small bundle". See Railways Act (1890), S. 75. AIR 1955 N U C (Mad) 85.

"Pardanashin".

—Word "pending" in S. 25 (1) of Hyderabad Jagirdar Debt Settlement Act, is not correlated with the date on which the enactment came into force. (1962) 1 An W R 340.

—Word "pending" in regard to suits or proceedings for ejectment mean "pending before a decree was passed by the trial Court." It does not refer to appeals. See Tenancy Laws—Calcutta Thika Tenancy Act (2 of 1949), S. 29. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 1070.

—Word "pending" in S. 30 (1) of Kerala Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Ordinance, 1959 is to be interpreted in a liberal sense so as to take in not only proceedings which have become concluded before Rent Control Court but also those in which the period of appeal had not expired. Proceedings before the Court and in appeal are continuous. See Houses and Rents — Kerala Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Ordinance (1959), S. 30 (1). 1962 Ker L J 640.

—A cause is said to be "pending" in a Court of justice where any proceedings can be taken in it. 'Pending' does not mean that it has not been tried. It may have been tried years ago. See Houses and Rents — Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Amendment Act (8 of 1951), S. 20. (1951) 2 Mad L J 477 : 64 Mad L W 905 : 1951 Mad W N 788 : I L R (1952) Mad 308 : AIR 1951 Mad 1044.

"Pending proceeding".

—Words "pending proceedings" in S. 4, of Indian Independence (Legal Proceedings) Order, 1947, should be given liberal and wide interpretation, so as to cover not merely exemption proceedings pending on the appointed day but also decree which has been filed on or before the appointed day but in respect of which execution has not been filed on the appointed day. See Indian Independence (Legal Proceedings) Order (1947), S. 4. AIR 1956 Cal 132 (DB).

"Pending such decision".

—"Pending such decision" in S. 54 (3), Travancore District Municipalities Act, means unless and until a decision is given by the District Judge. See Municipalities—Travancore District Municipalities Act (13 of 1116), S. 54 (3). AIR 1955 N U C (Trav Co) 4697 (DB).

"Pending the completion of inquiry".

—Expression "pending the completion of the inquiry" in S. 117 (3), Criminal P. C. means pending the completion of the inquiry which has been started in pursuance of S. 112 or pending the completion of inquiry which has been ordered under S. 112 but which has not been started. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 117 (1). (1963) 4 Guj L R 490 : 1963 (1) Cri L J 663.

"Pension".

See (1) Civil P. C. (1908), S. 60 (1) (g).
(2) Constitution of India, Art. 14.
(3) Pensions Act (1871), S. 4.

—"Pension" is in the nature of a bounty granted by the Government. It cannot be deemed to be property as contemplated in Ss. 33 and 34 Hyderabad Jagirdars Debt Settlement Act — Even if considered property, it is exempt under S. 60 (g) of Civil P C. See Debt Laws — Hyderabad Jagirdars Debt Settlement Act (12 of 1952), S. 33. (1962) 2 Andh W R 82.

"People in general".

—The "people in general" do not connote the inhabitants of any particular village but they signify all members of the public irrespective of any class or community or any place of residence. AIR 1954 Cal 125 (127) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

"Period".

— Word "period" in S. 11 (5) C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act covers the whole "period" during which a dealer being liable to pay tax had wilfully failed to apply for registration. It does not mean the quarter for which return is to be filed. See Sales Tax — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (21 of 1947), S. 11 (5). AIR 1964 Madh Pra 161 (DB).

"Periodically recurring right".

See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 131

"Period of service".

—Regulating the "period of service" in S. 31 (1) (d) Calcutta Port Act must be read as meaning "controlling by regularising the service of employees during the period of their incumbrancy". See Calcutta Port Act (3 of 1890), S. 31 (1) (d). AIR 1957 Cal 720 (DB).

"Permanent".

—The word "Permanent" in the appointment order is descriptive of the nature of the appointment so as to distinguish it from a mere acting or temporary appointment. AIR 1954 Trav Co 104 (DB).

'Permanent appointment', meaning of—(Master and Servant).

—An appointment as a permanent teacher does not mean that the tenure of office is guaranteed for any definite period. The word 'permanent' in an appointment order is used as a descriptive of the nature of the appointment so as to distinguish it from a mere acting or temporary appointment. A permanent appointment is not so precarious as an acting or a temporary appointment. On the other hand, it has a fixity of tenure though nor for any fixed period. The duration of such a service will depend on the rules and conditions governing such service. 1954 K L T 33 : I L R (1955) T C 482 : AIR 1954 T C 104 (107, 108) (Pt C) (Pr 7) (DB).

"Permanent post".

See Constitution of India, Arts. 310 and 311.

"Permanent structure".

—Permanance of structure depends upon nature of structure itself and not on what tenant intends it to be—Held structure made of bamboos and iron sheets was not permanent structure. See Houses and Rents — Saurashtra Rent Control Act (22 of 1951), S. 13 (1) (b). AIR 1965 Guj 152 (DB).

"Permanent workman".

—Workman engaged on work of permanent nature lasting throughout the year is a permanent workman —Distinction between permanent and temporary worker. See Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act (1946), S. 2 (i). (1961) 20 F J R 34 : AIR 1967 S C 513.

"Permis".

See under Words and Phrases — "Droit" and 'Permis'.

"Permission".

—The word "permission" shows that a person is granted leave to act in a particular way. It is a word of wide import. "Permission" in S. 21, Foreign Exchage Regulation Act means only leave to do some act which but for the leave would be illegal. In this sense, exemption is just one way of giving leave. See Foreign Exchange Regulation Act (1947), S. 21. AIR 1961 S C 1285.

—There is no difference in meaning between the words "permission" and 'leave'. ILR (1956) Mys 225 : AIR 1957 Mys 25 (27) (Pt C) (Pr 5).

'Permit".

—Word "permit" in R. 29, made under Madras Entertainment Tax Act, 1939 is used in the ordinary sense. See Madras Entertainments Tax Act (10 of 1939), Rules under. 1956 Cri L J 575 : AIR 1956 Andhra 100.

—Word "Permit" in S. 42, Motor Vehicles Act carries with it the meaning that a person actually or knowingly allows a thing to be done. Mere negligence such as not locking up his vehicle so that the driver could not take it would not amount to permitting the use of the car. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 42 (1). 1957 Mad W N 1.

—"Permitted to enter".

—The expression "permitted to enter" in S. 36 (3) explained. See Factories Act (1948), S. 36 (3). 1958 Cri L J 858: AIR 1958 Bom 257 (DB).

"Permitted to retire".

—"Permitted to retire" — The words mean that a Government servant against whom there is a charge of misconduct shall not be allowed to retire on the date of reaching the normal age of compulsory retirement or superannuation — The words are not used with limited meaning given in Rr. 5, 32 (a) (Vol. 2), Punjab Civil Service Rules (1959), which deals with retiring pension to a Government servant permitted to retire after completing qualifying superior service for 25 years. See Punjab Civil Services Rules (1959), Vol. 1, Rr. 3 (26) (d). AIR 1963 Punj 298 (DB).
[Reversed in AIR 1964 S C 72.]

"Permitting any disorderly conduct".

—The codition in the license which renders the "permitting of any disorderly conduct" on the premises a ground for cancelling the license is wide enough to include cases where the premises are used or permitted to be used as a brothel house. 'Disorder' in this context does not mean that there should be rioting or affray. See Madras City Police Act (3 of 1888), S. 36. (1956) 1 Mad L J 220.

"Persistent default".

—"Persistent default" is something more than a casual and inadvertent failure to perform ones duty. It does not imply or require successive defaults of a particular duty in spite of intervening warning. A single default revealing persistent attitude of a series of defaults each in respect of different duties may amount to "persistent default". See Municipalities — U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 30. ILR (1960) 2 All 539.

—"Persistent default" connotes the idea of successive defaults in spite of warning or protest and opposition. It must be in respect of duties imposed by statute or any other law and not in respect of any and every act or duty. See Municipalities — Bengal Municipal Act (XV of 1932), S. 553. —Word "person" in S. 7 (2), U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act by necessary implication means a person who is capable of becoming a tenant. In other words he is a person who is competent to contract for creation of tenancy in his favour. See Houses and Rents — U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act (3 of 1947), S. 7. 1960 All L J 927.

—There is no sfficient reason for excluding from the ambit of the definition of "person" in S. 3, General Clauses Act, the body of individuals, the Government responsible for the governance of a state — State Government, if person — See Contract Act (1872), S. 2. AIR 1956 All 383 (DB).

—Expression "person" as used in sub-s. (4) read with sub-s. (2) of S. 29, Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act must mean a landlord. See Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), S. 29 (2) and (4). 56 Bom L R 638 : A I R 1955 N U C (Bom) 186.

—Port Commissioner, is a "person" within meaning of S. 5 (2), Bengal General Clauses Act. See Calcutta Port Act (3 of 1890), S. 142. A I R 1964 Cal 290 (DB).

—The word "Person" in S. 2 (5) and S. 3 (2), W. B. Non-Agricultural Tenancy Act must be read as a "person other than proprietor or tenure-holder". See Tenancy Laws — W. B. Non-Agricultural Tenancy Act (20 of 1949), S. 21 (1). AIR 1957 Cal 511.

—A member of a Nambudiri Illom governed by the Madras Nambudiri Act is a "person" within the meaning of S. 2 (c), Madras Preservation of Private Forests Act. See Madras Preservation of Private Forests Act (18 of 1946), S. 2. (1956) 2 M L J 452 —"Person" in Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act, S. 13 — State Government is included. See Debt Laws — Displaced Persons (Debt Adjustment) Act (1951), S. 13. AIR 1956 Pat 91.

—"Person" does not include State. See Public Safety —East Punjab Public Safety Act (5 of 1949), S. 43. AIR 1954 Punj 49 (DB).

—Government is included in the term "person" in S. 44, Rajasthan Public Safety Ordinance, 1948. See Public Safety — Rajasthan Public Safety Ordinance, 1948, S. 44. AIR 1961 Raj 64 (DB).

—Word "person" in S. 293 (Kha), Tripura Municipal Act means natural person as well as holder of office. See Municipalities — Tripura Municipal Act S. 293 (Kha). (1961) (2) Cri L J 807: AIR 1961 Tripura 52.

"Person aggrieved".

—A "person aggrieved" by an order must mean a man against whom a decision has been pronounced which has wrongfully refused him something which he had a right to demand. See Houses and Rents — C. P. and Berar Letting of Houses and Rent Control Order (1949), Cl. 21. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 221 (DB).

"Persona designata".

See (1) Civil P. C. (1908), S. 115.
(2) Constitution of India, Art. 226.
(3) Panchayats — Madras Village Panchayat Rules, R. 1 (1) (3).
(4) Panchayats — U. P. Panchayat Raj Act (1947), S. 12C.

●—A "persona designata" is a person pointed out or described as an individual, as opposed to a person ascertained as a member of a class, or as filling a particular character. Ram Milan v. Bansilal Tejsingh, 1958 M P C 302 : 1958 M P L J 446 : 1958 Jab L J 481 : AIR 1958 Madh Pra 203 (205) (Pt B) (Pr 9) (FB).

—The expression "persona designata" connotes a person pointed out by name or other personal description in contra-distinction to one whose identity is to be ascertained by the office which he holds. If a person be a judicial officer and is intended by the statute to act not otherwise than in a judicial capacity or Court of civil jurisdiction he cannot come within the expression "persona designata" so that he may, irrespective of his continuance in office, perform the duty. The question whether such a person is a persona designata or not depends upon the intention to be gathered from the words used, nature of the functions to be performed and object and purpose of the statute. 1961 Andh L T 752 :

"Person aggrieved by such offence."

See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 198.

"Personal capacity."

—"Personal capacity" means no more than private capacity. It does not import public capacity. An act of a person of accepting the office of Governor is an act done in his "personal capacity." But after acceptance of office, his acts as Governor are no more acts done by him in his "personal capacity." See Constitution of India, Art. 361 (1). AIR 1962 Madh-Pra 73 (DB).

"Personal cultivation."

—Expression "personal cultivation" in S. 54, M. P. Abolition of Proprietary Rights Act indicates not merely bodily possession of the land but constructive possession and also right to possess against a trespasser. See Tenancy Laws — M. P. Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates Mahals Alienated Lands) Act (I of 1951), S. 54. 1961 M P L J 501.

"Personal hearing."

—"Personal hearing" does not mean that the person cannot be represented by lawyer. See Land Customs Act (1924), S. 7 (1). AIR 1956 Cal 553.

"Personal luggage."

—'Personal luggage" means whatever a passenger takes with him for his personal use or convenience, either with reference to his immediate necessities or for his personal needs at the end of his journey. "Personal luggage" is to be distinguished from cargo. See Foreign Exchange Regulation Act (1947), S. 8 (1). Cr L J 641 : AIR 1965 S C 722. 1965 (1) Cr

"Personally."

"Person in loco parentis."

—A "person in loco parentis" is a person assuming the parental character or discharging parental duty. It is a relationship which a person assumes towards a child not his own and towards whom he discharges parental obligations. By the expression is meant a person who puts himself in the situation of a lawful father of the child with reference to father's office and duty of making provision for the child. See Contract Act (1872), S 16. AIR 1958 Punj 190 (DB).

[Reversed on facts in AIR 1963 S C 1279.]

"Person interested."

See also Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 3 (b).

"Person interested in the objection."

—The phrase "all persons interested in the objection" in S. 20 (e) Land Acquisition Act, does not cover "persons interested in success of the objection." See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 18. A I R 1958 Andh-Pra 226 (DB).

"Persons aggrieved."

See Administration of Evacuee Property Act (1950), S. 24 (1).

"Persons practising before the Court."

●—Expression "persons practising before the Court" in Art. 145 (1) (a) of the Constitution is narrower than the expression 'persons entitled to practice before the Court' in Entry 77 of List 1, Sch. VII. See Constitution of India, Art. 145 (1) (a). 1964 (1) Cri L J 724 : AIR 1964 S C 855.

"Petitioner."

See Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 24.

"Picketing."

●Word "picketing" in cl. (g) of Reg. 236, U. P. Police Regulations, is not used in the sense of offering resistance to the visitor— physical or otherwise — or even dessuading him from entering the house of the suspect but merely of watching and keeping a record of visitors. See U. P. Police Regulations Regn. 236, Cl, (a). 1963 (2) Cri L J 329 : AIR 1963 S C 1295.

—"Picketing" has been described as "the marching to and fro before the premises of an establishment involved in a dispute, generally accompanied by the carrying and display of a sign, placard or banner bearing statements in connection with the dispute." Such marching to and fro may sometimes be accompanied by a polite request asking persons in the employ of an establishment not to assist in the running of that establishment, or customers not to patronise that establishment. 53 Bom L R 739 : 21 Bom Cr C 232 : 1952 Cri L J 37 : AIR 1951 Bom 459 (462) (E) (Pr 7) (DB).

"Place."

—Word "place" in S. 17 (b) Drugs Act, is not synonym for country. The word definitely connotes a different meaning from the word 'country.' It means that where the produce of one form is being described as the product of another form. It amounts to a 'misbranding within the meaning of S. 17 (b) of the Act. See Drugs Act (1940), S. 17 (b). AIR 1958 All 865 : 1958 Cri L J 1453.

—Word "place"" connotes a particular point or portion of space specifically occupied or belonging to the thing under consideration. See Municipalities — Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920), S. 248. 1958 Mad L J (Cri) 628 : (1958) 2 Mad L J 180.

—A particular "place" referred to in S. 144 (3), Criminal P. C may be a large area — All that is necessary is that the place should be so sufficiently defined that the public is reasonably notified of its extent. See Criminal P. C., S. 144 (3). 1953 Cri L J 731 : AIR 1953 Orissa 96 (DB).

"Plaint."

(2) Income-tax Act (1922), S. 10 (2) (vi-b).
(3) Sales Tax — Rajasthan Sales Tax Act (1954), Sch. Item 2.

—Even though the dictionary meaning of the word "plaint" is very wide, it has, in legal phraseology come to acquire a more limited meaning and that is a statement in writing of the cause of action in a suit. Every proceeding in suit is not commenced in a plaint, third party notice is not a "plaint." See High Court Rules — Bombay High Court Criminal Side

Rules, Rr. 151-155. 67 Bom L R 644 : AIR 1966 Bom 126 (DB).

—The word "plaint" is not equivalent to 'suit.' See Debt-Laws — Rajasthan Relief of Agricultural Indebtedness Act (28 of 1957), S. 5. I L R (1963) 13 Raj 716.

"Plaintiff."

●—Word "plaintiff" includes his assigns and legal representatives. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 9, R. 9. AIR 1965 S C 295.

—Word "plaintiff" used in O. 9, R. 9, Civil P. C. includes his heirs and representatives-in-interest. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 9, R. 9. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 364 (DB).

"Plaint or memorandum of appeal."

See Court-fees Act (1870), Sch. 1, Art. 5.

"Plead."

—Word "plead" means, amongst other meanings, to address the Court as an Advocate on behalf of either party. See Constitution of India, Art. 220. AIR 1963 Cal 178.

"Pledge."

See Contract Act (1872), S. 172.

"Plying for hire."

—There must be soliciting or waiting to secure passengers before a vehicle can be said to ply for hire. There must be general invitation by person in charge of vehicle to the members of the public to make contracts with him for carriage in the vehicle and it is only at the place where such invitation is extended that the vehicle can be said to ply for hire. See Municipalitjes —U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 298 (2). 1958 All L J 539.

"Playing off."

—"Playing off" is a technical term in industry and means that due to the closure of certain departments some of the employees are asked to work for less hours than they were working before the closure and these employees are paid on the basis of less work done by them. AIR 1955 Bom 369 (372) (Pr 1) (Pt A) (DB).

"Policy of Marine Insurance."

—Marine Insurance policy has not been defined in the Insurance Act, 1938, but 'marine insurance business' has been defined in S. 2 (13-A) — Insurance policy read in the light of the definition, held was marine insurance policy. See Tranasfer of Property Act (1882), S. 135A. (1958) 62 Cal W N 539.

"Political sufferer."

—A "political sufferer" is one who has suffered in the cause of the country may be, by being in a prison. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 47. 1962 All L J 269.

"Poorer and working classes."

●—Expression "poorer and working classes" contemplated by sub-cl. (c) of Cl. (a) of sub-s. (1) of S. 277, City of Jabalpore Corporation Act, refers to such indigent and working people who need accommodation and cannot on their own make arrangements for reasonable accommodation. The middle classes and the public capable of purchasing houses costing about Rs. 7,500.00 could not come under the expression. See Municipalities — City of Jabalpore Corporation Act (C. P. And Berar Act 3 of 1950), S. 277 (1). AIR 1966 S C 207.

"Possessed."

"Possession."

See also (1) Arms Act (1878), S. 19 (f).
(2) Limitation Act (1908), Arts. 142 and 144.

●—"Possession" is quite distinct from title and can be independent of it. Adverse possession which is possession without title, is "possession." All that is required is an intention to use physical power and not a lawful right to use it. 1961 All L J 301, Overruled. See Tenancy Laws — U. P. Land Reforms (Supplementary) Act (31 of 1952), S. 3. AIR 1964 All 213 (FB).

—The word "possession" in S. 10, Evacuee Interest (Separation) Act is not so comprehensive as to include the power of evicting a person already in "possession" and asserting his right. See Evacuee Interest (Separation) Act (1951), S. 10 (iv). (1964) All L J 871.

—"Possession" of incriminating article — Whether it is in "possession" of all members residing in house is a question of fact. See U. P. Excise Act (4 of 1910), S. 60 (a). 1964 All L J 562.

—A person who through force inducts himself over and into some land and also succeeds in continuing his occupation over it cannot be said to be in possession of that land though he has occupation over it. Possession means occupation with the intention of exercising some claim or right in respect of the property occupied. Person having no such claim, but succeeds by show of force in acquiring physical control over the property cannot be treated to be in possession even though he may have physical control over it. See Tenancy Laws — U. P. Land Reforms (Supplementary) Act (XXX of 1952), S. 3. 1961 All L J 301.

[Overruled in AIR 1964 All 213 (FB)].

—Word "possession" in S. 45 (1), M. P. Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates, Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act includes within its ambit every person who, on the date of vesting, held or was entitled to hold any land as an absolute occupancy or occupancy tenant, even though, on that date, he was not in actual "possession" of such land. See Tenancy Laws — M. P. Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act (1 of 1951), S. 45 (1). 1961 M P L J 493.

—Word "possession" used in English statute and word "keeping" in S. 361, Penal Code — There is no material difference in the two words — "Possession" has some meaning as "keeping" which only means either care, charge or control. See Penal Code (1860), S. 361. ILR (1964) Mys 436.

—Word "possession" implies physical capacity to deal with the thing as one likes to the exclusion of every one and determination to exercise that physical power on one's own behalf. It implies dominion and consciousness in mind. See Madras Prohibition Act (X of 1937), S. 4 (1) (a). 1953 Cri L J 1048 : AIR 1953 Mad 534.

"Possession and occupation"—Meaning.

—The word 'possession' connotes not only physical occupation of a property or a piece of land, but also dominion or control over it. 'Occupation' on the other hand, means the right to occupy or to cultivate or to use the land. The landlord can be in possession of a plot of land even though the same is in the occupation of a tenant. The mere right to cultivate does not and cannot amount to possession. 1965 All W R (H C) 461 : 1965 All L J 777.

"Possession in accordance with law."

—'Possession' cannot be in accordance with law unless it is in conformity with ultimate legal right. See Tenancy Laws — U. P. Zamindary Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 14. 1964 All W R (H C) 224.

"Possession of wife, clerk or servant."

See Penal Code (1860), S. 27.

"Pot pattedar" and "joint pattedar."

—'Joint pattedar' and "pot pattedar" convey different meanings and are not exchangeable — Meaning explained — 31 Deccan L R 453, Dissented from. AIR 1956 Hyd 50 (51) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

"Power."

See also Words and Phrases – "Jurisdiction."

—There is fundamental distinction between trusts and power. In case of "power" position is quite different from trust—Distinction explained. AIR 1957 Bom 218 (221) (Pr 8) (Pt A) (DB).

—"Power" and "jurisdiction" — Distinction between, pointed out. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. 52 Cri L J 1305 : AIR 1951 Madh Bha 121 (Pt A) (Prs 48, 49, 77) (FB).

"Power of Attorney."

—Words "power of attorney" and "general power of attorney" and "special power of attorney" explained. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 3, R. 2. AIR 1959 Bom 386 (DB).

"Powers."

—The word "powers" used in Sch. 7, List II, Entry 5, Constitution of India, which is unqualified includes "powers" of making laws and imposing taxes. See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List II, Entry 5. AIR 1963 Madh Pra 74 (FB).

"Practicable."

—Word "practicable" in Proviso (g) to S. 126, Constitution of Jammu and Kashmir explained. See Constitution of Jammu and Kashmir, S. 126 (2). AIR 1965 J & K 53 (DB).

"Practice."

●—The word "practice" means "exercise of any profession or occupation." See Chartered Accountants Act (1949), S. 22. AIR 1958 S C 72.

"Practice and procedure."

●—"Practice" in its larger sense like procedure, denotes the mode of proceeding by which a legal right is enforced as distinguished from the law that gives and defines the right. "Procedure" means the mode in which successive steps in litigation are taken. 1951 S C J 425 : 1951 S C R 474 : AIR 1951 S C 253 (266) (Pt E) (Pr 38).

"Prajai satta."

—The expression "prajai satta" means the right of the tenant to continue in occupation after the expiry of the original lease. (1960) 64 Cal W N 448 : ILR (1960) 1 Cal 708.

"Preceding calendar month."

—Obiter — The words "preceding calendar month" in S. 25.A (1) (a), Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 can have reference only to a claim arising under S 25-C of the Act: a claim for compensation by a workman for having been laid off by his employer. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 25 A (1) (a). AIR 1957 Mad 410 (DB).

"Precincts."

See Factories Act (63 of 1948), S. 2.

"Prefer."

—"Preferred" in S. 77, Railways Act, 1890, means that a written claim has reached the railway administration. See Railways Act (1890), S. 77. 1961 All L J 983.

"Prejudicial."

●—Words and Phrases should ordinarily be given the same meaning throughout a statute. But this is not invariable rule. The word "prejudicial" in S. 29 (2), Orissa Agricultural Income-tax Act, 1947, should, taking into consideration the context in which it is used, be given a narrower interpretation than the same word used in the proviso to S. 28 (2). See Orissa Agricultural Income-tax Act (24 of 1947), S. 29 (2). AIR 1953 Orissa 117 (SB).

"Preliminary objection."

—A "preliminary objection" is one that is raised to the sustainability of an application or action on the basis of the assumption of the truth of all the averments of fact made by the suitor in the application or plaint and is therefore one that can be taken in argument though not raised in the written defence. ILR (1953) Trav-Co 118 : AIR 1953 Trav-Co 286 (291, 292) (Pt B) (Pr 10).

"Preliminary point."

See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 41, R. 23.

"Premises."

■—Word 'premises' is a generic term meaning open land or land with building or buildings alone. Expression "premises including precincts" does not necessarily mean that the premises must always have precincts. Even buildings need not have any precincts. Expression "premises" is not restricted to mean building but may cover open land as well. See Factories Act (1948), S. 2 (m). 1962 (1) Cri L J 99 : AIR 1962 S C 29.

●—"Premises" as defined in West Begal Premises Tenancy Act, 1959, includes market consisting of buildings, sheds, stalls, etc. See Houses and Rents—West Bengal Premises Tenancy Act (12 of 1956), S. 2 (f). AIR 1961 Cal 398 (SB).

—Held on facts that the open space of land measuring more than 500 sq. feet between the main building and the outhouses was not "premises" within meaning of S. 2 (b) of the Delhi and Ajmer Merwara Rent Control Act, 1947. See Houses and Rents—Delhi and Ajmer Merwara Rent Control Act (11 of 1947), S. 2 (b). AIR 1955 N U C (Ajmer) 335.

—In the context in which the word "premises" is used in the bye-law 6 for installation of oil crusher under S. 298 (1), U. P. Municipalities Act, 1916, the word obviously suggests something wider and more comprehensive than a mere single room or enclosure and would normally be interpreted as referring to the entire building occupied. See Municipalities—U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 298 (1). 1961 All L J 563.

—Word "premises" in cl. (m) of S. 2, Factories Act means not only buildings but includes lands as well. See Factories Act (1948), S. 2 (m). 1956 Cri L J 488 : AIR 1956 Bom 219 (DB).

—Lease of a furnished and well-equipped cinema house, is a lease of "premises". The mere fact that different components belong to different persons who granted the lease as joint lessors, would not affect the position. See Houses and Rents—West Bengal Premises Tenancy Act (12 of 1956), S. 2 (f). (1964) 68 Cal W N 1136.

—Word "premises" is wide enough to include any building including any furniture and fittings therein. See Houses and Rents — West Bengal Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Act (17 of 1950), S. 2 (8). AIR 1953 Cal 149 (DB).

—Though there may be many things to be done to a building yet if it is a structure it comes within the definition of "premises" in West Bengal Premises Requisition and Control (Temporary Provisions) Act, 1947. See Houses and Rents — West Bengal Premises Requisition and Control (Temporary Provisions) Act (5 of 1947), S. 2. AIR 1951 Cal 294 (DB).

—Word "premises" is defined in S 4 (3) of the Bombay Land Requisition Act, 1948—Word "premises" in S. 6 (a) (i) of the Act — Meaning explained. See Bombay Land Requisition Act (33 of 1948), S. 6 (4) (a). ILR (1964) Guj 227.

—The Courts have to give to the word "premises" the ordinary interpretation and connotation given to it in the English language and when the dictionaries refer to the word "premises" as building and its adjuncts, there is no reason why the Court should import a different meaning when such a word is used in a statute simply because under certain conditions and circumstances the word 'premises' includes land and everything appurtenant thereto. The word 'premises' in Madras District Municipalities Act and Local Boards Act should be understood as meaning a building with land adjacent to it. Hence installation in an open field will not be installation in the premises, for building is a necessary criterion. See Municipalities - Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920), S. 250 (1). 1954 Cri L J 329 : AIR 1954 Mad 285 (DB).

—In the absence of any qualifying words restricting the meaning of 'land' in the definition of "premises" in the Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorised Occupants) Act, 1958, the word should be given its natural meaning as land used for any purpose including agricultural land. See Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorised Occupants) Act (1958), S. 2 (c). (1963) 65 Pun L R 615 : AIR 1964 Punj 304.

—Word "premises" in the context of S. 15 (3), Delhi and Ajmer Rent Control Act, 1952 means the "premises" in dispute, that is those premises, which had been given to the tenant on rent. See Houses and Rents—Delhi and Ajmer Rent Control Act (38 of 1952), S. 15 (3). (1961) 63 Pun L R 852.

—Word "premises" in S. 3, Punjab Instruments (Control of Noises) Act, 1956, covers an open space of land. See Punjab Instruments (Control of Noises) Act (36 of 1956), S. 3. 1960 Cri L J 1371 : AIR 1960 Punj 538 (DB).

—A hotel does not fall within the definition of the word "premises" in Delhi and Ajmer Merwara Rent Control Act, 1947. See Delhi and Ajmer Merwara Rent Control Act (19 of 1947), S. 2 (b). (1951) 53 P L R 75.

"Premises including precincts."

See Factories Act (1948), S. 2 (m).

"Premium"

—The word "premium" used in connection with lease, means a cash payment made to the lessor and representing or supposed to represent the capital value of the difference between the actual rent and the lease rent that might otherwise be obtained. It is in fact the purchase money which the tenant pays for the benefit which he gets under the lease. See West Bengal Premises Rent Control Act, (1948) Ss. 4, 7 and 33. AIR 1952 Cal 56.

"Prescribed."

See also Limitation Act (1908), S. 29 (1).

—Word "prescribed" is defined in W. B. Private Forests Act, 1948 as "prescribed by the rules made by the Govt. Anything which is not "prescribed" by the rules, but "prescribed" by the Regional Forest Officer, does not fall within the definition. See W. B. Private Forests Act (14 of 1948), S. 2 (13). AIR 1954 Cal 580 (DB).

—Use of the word "prescribed" is the normal expression for conferring a power to make a rule. The reference to "prescription" in S. 19 (2) of the Madras General Sales Tax Act, 1939, if read in the eight of the definition of the word "prescribed" in S. 2 (f) of the Act can only mean "by rules made under the Act." See Sales Tax—Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 5 (vi). AIR 1958 Mad 249.

"Prevention."

See Prevention of Food Adulteration Act (1954), S. 16 (b).

"Previous operation of repealed law."

—Expression "previous operation of repealed law" in S. 58 (3) of Administration of Evacuee Property Act (31 of 1956) explained. See East Punjab Evacuees' Administration of Property Act (14 of 1947), S. 5B. AIR 1956 S C 77.

"Previous year."

See (1) Bhopal State Agricultural Income Tax Act (1953), S. 2 (11).
(2) Income-tax Act (1922), Ss. 2 (6A) (c), 2 (11) (a), 24 (2).

"Prima facie."

—When a superior Court held that an Act is "prima facie" prospective it is not open to subordinate Courts to canvass the import or implication of that dictum. The use of the word "prima facie" would indicate that there is no possibility of an alternative construction being put on the Act for it is on the face of it prospective. See Precedents. AIR 1953 Orissa 240 (DB).

"Private carrier."

See Motor Transport Workers Act (1961), S. 1 (4).

"Private land."

See (1) Tenancy Laws—Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act (1948), S. 12 (a).
(2) Tenancy Laws — Madras Estates Land Act (1908), S. 3 (10).

"Probationer."

See Constitution of India, Arts. 310-311.

"Procedure."

—Law of limitation is not covered by the expression "procedure to be followed" in S. 14 (2), Delhi Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act, 1947. A I R 1955 N U C (Ajmer) 1411.

—The word "procedure" in S. 14 (2), Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act, 1947 does not include 'limitation.' See Houses and Rents—Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act (19 of 1947), Section 14 (2). AIR 1955 N U C (Ajmer) 1331.

"Proceeding."

See also (1) Civil P. C. (1908), S. 24.
(2) Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 195 (1) (b).

—Word 'proceedings' in S. 48, U. P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1954—Meaning of, indicated. See Tenancy Laws—U. P. Consolidation of Holdings Act (5 of 1954), S. 48. AIR 1965 All 172.

—Word "proceedings" in S. 134 (2), Motor Vehicles Act, means procedure only and does not cover the actual decision of the R. T. A. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 64. AIR 1961 All 511 (DB).

—Word "proceeding" in S. 171, Companies Act, 1913 includes execution proceedings also. See Companies Act, 1913, S 171. AIR 1956 All 586 (DB).

—The word "proceeding" with reference to a case would imply taking of steps in connection with the further progress of the case, when a case is listed for hearing and the case is taken up by the Court and an order is made in the case, it would be proceedings in the case. It is not possible to confine the word "proceeding" to the recording of evidence only. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 350A. AIR 1953 All 137.

—Held that "proceedings" under S. 23, Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, could be said to have commenced on the issue of show cause notice under S. 23-D read with R. 3 of the Adjudication "Proceedings" and Appeal Rules, 1957. See Foreign Exchange Regulation Act (1947), S. 19. 1964 (1) Cr L J 643 : AIR 1964 Bom 127.

—Word "proceeding" in S. 89(2)(b)(ii) Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act must in its context mean a suit or a "proceeding" in the nature of a suit and an appeal or appeals which lie under the provisions relating to appeals and execution :proceedings for enforcement of rights declared by the decree or order passed in the suit or appeal must be regarded merely as continuation of a suit. See Tenancy Laws —Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), S. 29 (2) and (4). (1954) 56 Bom L R 638 : AIR 1955 N U C (Bom) 186.

—The expression "proceeding" in S. 89 (2) (b), Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act, 1948, in the context means a suit or proceeding in nature of suit and appeals which lie under the provisions relating to appeals, and execution proceedings for enforcement of rights declared by the decree or order passed in the suit or appeal must be regarded merely as continuation of the suit. See Tenancy Laws—Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), S. 29. (1963) 4 Guj L R 400.

—The "proceeding" in S. 87 (2), Kerala Court-fees and Suits Valuation Act, that may 'otherwise' arise from a suit and "proceeding" need not be in the nature of an appeal or revision—Ejusdem generis doctrine has to be kept out in construing S. 87 (2). See Kerala Court-Fees and Suits Valuation Act (10 of 1960), S. 87 (2). (1962) 1 Ker L R 460.

—When the question is of the applicability of an amendment made by the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1955 and the competency of the proceedings thereunder, the words "proceedings" which first occur in the last para. of S. 116, Cr. P. C. (Amendment) Act, must necessarily refer to proceedings other than those purported to have been taken under the amendment. See Cr. P. Code (1898), S. 417 (3). 1958 Cri L J 383 : A I R 1958 Madh Pra 66.

—The word "proceedings" has two different meanings. In one sense it means the steps taken by a party. In another sense it means the acts of a person in authority. AIR 1958 Mad 69 (71) (Pt C) (Pr 8).

—Word "proceeding" can be given a narrow or a wide meaning depending upon the nature and scope of an enactment in which it is used and in the particular context of the language of the enactment in which it appears. It may mean an action or that which initiates an action. It may also mean a step in an action. A copy application is not a "proceeding" by way of appeal or revision. But in the context of S. 87 (2), Madras Court-fees and Suits Valuation Act, 1955, a copy application arises from a suit or "proceeding" in the sense of its coming out from a suit being in relation to the suit and therefore it can come within the meaning of the word "proceeding"

—See Madras Court Fees and Suits Valuation Act (14 of 1955), S. 87 (2). AIR 1956 Mad 597.

—The word "proceedings" in S. 37 of the Gharkhed Ordinance has to be construed to include appeal, there is no such exclusion of the right of appeal by necessary intendment, if not by express words of the section, which affects the appeals pending at the time of issuing notification under S. 35 of the Ordinance, taking over the management of the estate concerned. Such an appeal has therefore either to be stayed or dismissed under S. 37 — See Tenancy Laws—Saurashtra Gharked Tenancy Settlement and Agricultural Lands Ordinance (41 of 1949), S. 37. AIR 1953 Sau 77 (DB).

"Proceeding recorded," meaning of.

—Recording of proceedings is something different from an order. See Sales Tax—Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 11. AIR 1957 Andh-Pra 462 (DB).

"Proceedings before Court."

In S. 496, Criminal P. C. the words "proceedings before a court" are used in wider sense and not in a restricted sense of judicial proceeding. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 496. 1953 Cri L J 1540 : A I R 1953 Cal 661 (DB).

"Proceedings in the nature of suit".

—Writ proceedings are "proceedings in the nature of a suit" within meaning of the expression as used in R. 6, Chap. VII, Allahabad High Court Rules and Orders and therefore a decree can be prepared in writ matter. See High Court Rules and Orders — Allahabad High Court Rules, Chap. VII, R. 6. AIR 1956 All 585 (DB).

"Proceedings pending before a Court".

—Words "proceedings pending before a Court" in S. 12, West Bengal Criminal Law Amendment (Special Courts) Act, 1949, mean judicial proceedings which started with the submission of a charge-sheet or a complaint or taking cognizance thereon. It cannot be argued that since accused is produced before the ordinary magistrate and the question of bail is considered, there is a proceeding before the Court. See West Bengal Criminal Law Amendment (Special Courts) Act (21 of 1949) (as amended in 1952), S. 12. 1953 Cri L J 1540 : AIR 1953 Cal 661 (DB).

"Proceedings pending before Appellate Tribunal".

—Expression "proceedings pending before Appellate Tribunal" in S. 38, Industrial Disputes (Amendment and Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1956, does not mean a proceeding not lawfully disposed of by the Appellate Tribunal. See Industrial Disputes (Amendment and Miscellaneous Provisions) Act (1956), S. 33. AIR 1957 Bom 142 (DB).

"Proceed to assess".

—No distinction can be drawn between 'assess' and "proceed to assess." The use of the expression "proceed to assess" does not connote anything different from the word 'assess'. See East Punjab General Sales Tax Act (46 of 1948) (as amended in 1955) S. 11(3). AIR 1964 Punj 1 (FB).

"Process".

—Activity contemplated by word "process" is general, requiring only continuous and regular action or succession of action leading to the accomplishment of some result, but it is not one of the requsities that the activity should involve some operation on some material in order to its conversion to some other staff —By converting camphor powder into camphor cubes is processing camphor powder into camphor cubes. See Sales Tax—West Bengal Sales Tax Act (4 of 1954), S. 2(b). (1965) 16 S T C 935 (Cal).

—'Processing of goods' — Purchasing old motor cars, and dismantling same and deriving spare parts from them and parts which could not be used as spare parts and selling the spare parts without moulding, repairing or changing them in any way — It is not "processing" any goods or 'producing' or 'manufacturing' any goods. See Sales Tax—Bombay Sales Tax Act (3 of 1953), S. 5(1)(b), Cl. (ii). AIR 1964 Guj 27 (DB).

—"Process" means any judicial writ or order issued at the commencement or during the "progress" of an action, as summons, citation, subpoena. This is its restricted sense. In its larger sense, it also means the whole course of proceeding in a cause, civil or criminal from beginning to end. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 128. AIR 1955 N U C (Mys) 219.

"Procession".

—Some element of an organised march according to a system is necessary to constitute a procession. See Public Safety — Bihar Maintenance of Public Order Act, 1949 (3 of 1950), S. 9. 1953 Cri L J 1204 : AIR 1953 Pat 195 (DB).

"Process of election".

—In view of Rules 20 and 23 of the Rules framed under M. P. Municipalities Act, providing for election of a President, the "process of election" of the President ends with the declaration of the result by the supervising officer. See Municipalities—M P. Municipalities (Amendment) Act (14 of 1958), S. 7. 1959 M P L J 1035.

"Produced".

—Goods "produced in India" — Word "produced" appearing in Entry 84, List I, Sch. VII, Constitution of India in juxtaposition with the word "manufactured" and used in connection with a duty of excise contemplates some expenditure of human skill and labour in bringing the goods concerned into the condition which would attract the duty. See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 84. AIR 1959 Cal 222 (DB).

—Producing witnesses in evidence in support of prosecution case—Such persons are brought forward by prosecution before the magistrate for expedious disposal of inquiry. It is in this sense that the word "produced" in sub-s. (4) of S. 207-A, should be interpreted. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 207-A (4). 1959 Cri L J 1476 : AIR 1959 Raj 294 (DB).

"Produced and examined".

—Neither the "profit" nor the word "profession" has any fixed meaning and it has to be interpreted in the context in which it is used. These words can be given a wide or a narrow meaning consistent with the context in which they are used. See Punjab Shops and Establishments Act (15 of 1958), S. 2 (i) (iv). AIR 1962 Punj 280.

"Profit".

—Neither the "profit" nor the word 'profession' has any fixed meaning and it has to be interpreted in the context in which it is used. These words can be given a wide or a narrow meaning consistent with the context in which they are used. See Punjab Shops and Commercial Establishments Act (15 of 1958), S. 2 (1) (iv). AIR 1962 Punj 280 (DB).

"Profit and loss account".

—"Profit and loss account" is an account designed to show the amount of net profit earned or net loss incurred during the financial period covered by the account, also the various headings under which the profits had been earned and expenses incurred. AIR 1962 Cal 375 (378) (Pt D) (Prs 19, 20).

"Profits".

See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 2 (6-C) (vii), 10 (1), Sch. R. 6.

"Pro interesse suo."—Meaning.

—The Latin expression "pro interesse suo" means in the English language—for his own interest; these words are used, especially of a party allowed to intervene for his own interest in a proceeding instituted between other parties. The nearest Indian equivalent of a "pro interesse suo" application is the procedure prescribed in Rr. 58 to 63 of Order 21 of the Code of Civil Procedure, dealing with investigation of claims and objections to attachment. (1961) 65 Cal W N 848 : AIR 1962 Cal 169 (170, 171) (Pt A) (Prs 18, 20) (DB).

"Projabili Lease."

—'Projabili and Nayakarkite' Lease—Settlement with cultivating rights only. AIR 1954 Cal 412 (DB).

"Promiscuous."

—Promiscuous sexual intercourse—The word "promiscuous" has not been defined in the Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act. According to dictionary meaning it means "without distinction" "indiscriminate." See Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act (1956), S. 7. 1962 Raj L W 598.

(2) Penal Code (1860), S. 188.

"Promulgation and publication."

See Tenancy Laws — Rajasthan (Protection of Tenants) Ordinance (9 of 1949), S. 1 (3).

"Pronounce."

—Pronouncing judgment within meaning of S. 12 (2), Limitation Act — Judgment must be pronounced to the parties — Order made behind back of parties is not "pronounced" within meaning of S. 12 (2). Limitation therefore start from the date, the order is communicated to the parties, or when it becomes known to them. See Tenancy Laws — Punjab Occupancy Tenants (Vesting of Proprietary Rights) Act (8 of 1953), S. 7 (4). (1961) 63 Pun L R 225.

—Lands which form the emoluments of the office are "property". See Madras Hereditary Village Offices Act (3 of 1895), Ss. 5 and 12. (1964) 1 Andh W R 367 : (1964) 2 Andh L T 321.

—Electricity is property. See Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (2 of 1922), S. 44. AIR 1964 Madh Pra 101 (DB).

—The word "property" is large enough to include money. The expression deliver up possession of "property" in S 33 (4), Presidency Towns Insolvency Act does not exclude money. See Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (1909), S. 33 (4). AIR 1959 Mad 484.

—The true test in deciding whether the hereditary right to a religious office in a Temple is "property" or not seems to be whether the holder of that office has any personal interest of a beneficial character in the properties of the Temple. If he has no such interest, it is not "property" at all. See Sri Jagannath Temple Act (XI of 1955), S. 1. AIR 1959 Orissa 5 (DB).

—Word "property" has very wide significance. Ordinarily it includes both movable and immovable "property". But where a word, capable of being interpreted in a number of different ways, is used in a context which clearly indicates that its use is confined to one particular sense, the statutory provision must be interpreted accordingly. In S. 28, Punjab Co-operative Societies Act, the word 'property' is confined to movable "property". See Punjab Co operative Societies Act (25 of 1961), S. 28. (1965) 1 Cur L J 584 : ILR (1965) 2 Punj 672.

—Both according to law in India and Pakistan a 'judgment-debt' is to be treated as "property." See Indian Independence (Legal) Proceedings Order (1947), S. 4 (3). AIR 1957 Punj 201 (DB).

—The word "property" in S. 52, C. P. C should be interpreted as meaning property capable of attachment and sale. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 52 (1) and (2). (1957) 59 Punj L R 47.

—Word "property" in Paras 2 and 4 of Cl. 6, of the Order No. 179 of the Governor-General in-Council (1836), is not used in the sense of an article which is the subject-matter of ownership but in the sense of superstructure or in the sense analogous to "houses" or "buildings". AIR 1956 Punj 116 (117, 118) (Pt A) (Pr 4).

"Property including any interest in"

See Constitution of India, Art. 31.

"Proprietor"

See Tenancy Laws—M. P Abolition of Proprietary Rights etc. Act (1 of 1951), Ss. 2 (m) and 38 (1).

"Propriety."

—The word "propriety" is of wide import. There might be honest differences of opinion about the "propriety of an order, even though it is in conformity with law and within the powers of the authority making the order. It differs from 'legality' and "regularity". See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 55 (DB).

"Prosecution."

—Word "prosecution" in S. 161 (1), Bombay Police Act, 1951—Necessary implication of, explained. See Bombay Police Act (22 of 1951), S. 161 (1). 1965 (1) Cri L J 18 : AIR 1965 Bom 9 (DB).

"Prosecution and punishment."

—Words "prosecution and punishment" in Art 20 (2) of the Constitution have reference to criminal offences and have the effect of limiting the scope of the article to criminal proceedings before a court of law or judicial tribunal competent to deal with criminal cases. See Constitution of India, Art. 20 (2). 1954 Cri L J 691 : AIR 1954 All 319 (DB).

"Prostitute."

—A "prostitute" would answer the description of a public prostitute unless she be kept by some person exclusively in which case she can be said to be kept by that person and to be not available for the purposes of prostitution to others. The expression "prostitute" itself means a woman who offers her body to indiscriminate sexual intercourse, especially for hire. Such a person would answer the description of a public "prostitute" also. 1957 All L J 343 : 1957 All W R (HC) 321 : 1957 Cri L J 612 : AIR 1957 All 340 (341, 342) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

—In common 'parlance' the word "prostitute" connotes a woman who habitually offers her person for sexual intercourse on hire or for monetary consideration or other gain. "Prostitute" might be a public "prostitute" in case she offers herself indiscriminately in such fashion or is open to promiscuous intercourse by members of the public. "Prostitute" may also be in exclusive keeping of some particular individual in which case she might not be a public "prostitute". See Municipalities—U P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916) S. 298 (1), List 1 (H)(c). A I R 1955 N U C (All) 2749.

—'Prostitute" is one who is a harlot or who is having sexual intercoruse indiscriminately with different persons ordinarily for hire. A public "prostitute" is one who comes on the profession of a "prostitute" by letting out her body for hire to all visitors — Connotation of the word as used in Section 5 (1) (b), Madras Hindu Bigamy Prevention and Divorce Act 1949, explained. See Madras Hindu Bigamy Prevention and Divorce Act (6 of 1949), S. 5 (1) (b). A I R 1955 N U C (Andh) 4456.

"Protection"

—Word "protection" in Art. 14 of the Constitution cannot be invoked by a person whose claim is not that his rights or liberties be preserved from violation or abridgment but that his obligations be curtailed by abridging another person's rights. See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 183. AIR 1958 Mad 279.

"Protocols"

—The expression full "protocols" of tests applied in R. 5 Bengal Drugs Rules, 1946, means an official statement of account of a proceeding as a description of an experiment or a clinical report. When various tests employed by the analyst to test the purity of the drug are in fact embodied in the report itself the report is conclusive evidence of the results stated. See Bengal Drugs Rules (1946), R. 5. 1959 Cri L J 829 : AIR 1959 Cal 427 (DB).

"Proved"

See Evidence Act (1872), S. 3.

"Proved respectability"

—Words "proved respectability" in Rule 5.17 of the Delhi Excise Rules, do not contemplate any enquiry. Word 'proved' is not used to show that it raises a justiciable issue but in the sense that the licensing authority is satisfied of the applicants' respectability and that satisfaction need not necessarily be the result of any enquiry or evidence produced by parties. See Punjab Excise Act (1 of 1914), S. 26. A I R 1956 Punj 97 (DB).

[Reversed on facts in AIR 1959 S C 65.]

"Provide"

—There is nothing in the word "provide" which necessarily suggests futurity. See Constitution of India, Art. 286. AIR 1957 Bom 71 (DB).

"Provident Fund"

—Pension, gratuity and "provident fund" are three different and distinct types of retirement benefits although basis for their calculation is furnished by the salary or emoluments drawn by the person. See Constitution of India, Art. 14. AIR 1963 Mys 247 (DB).

"Public"

—The Arya Vysyas of the region would constitute the "public" within the scope of the term in S. 6 (13) Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act, 1951. See Madras :Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (29 of 1951), S. 6 (13). (1960) 1 Mad L J 494.

—'Public auction.' See also Bengal Ferries Act (I of 1885), S. 9. (1959) 63 Cal W N 158.

"Public auction"

—Calling sealed tenders is not equivalent to "public auction" within meaning of S. 9 of the Bengal Ferries Act (1885). See Bengal Ferries Act (1 of 1885), S. 9. AIR 1957 Cal 98.

—Where there is publicity and bids are invited from all the members of the public and not from any particular persons then the auction is clearly public and not private. The essential and necessary element of auction is :competition. See Gwalior State Preemption Act. AIR 1955 N U C (Madh B) 2103.

"Public authority"

See also Special Relief Act (1877), S. 45.

—State Bank of India is a "public authority", a corporation within meaning of S. 45, Specific Relief Act and an 'authority' within meaning of Art. 226 of the Constitution. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1964 Mad 335.

"Public carrier"

See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 2 (23).

"Publication"

—Word "publication" in S. 5, United Khasi-Jaintia Hills Autonomous District (Appointment and Succession of Chiefs :and Headmen) Act, 1959, necessarily implies some act on the part of the authorities to give publicity to the result of election. The mere knowledge of the petitioner about the result cannot be regarded as 'publication' by the authorities concerned. See United Khasi-Jaintia Hills Autonomous District (Appointment and Succession of Chiefs and Headmen) :Act (1959), S. 5. AIR 1965 Assam 83 (DB).

"Public drain"

—Where in a statute "public drain" has not been defined the words will have their ordinary meaning. A site through which water of the village had been passing is a "public drain". See Panchayats — Pepsu Panchayat Raj Act (8 of 2008), S. 23. (1962) 64 Pun L R 734.

"Public funds"

—Funds administered by an organisation like co-operative education society do not constitute "public funds" within cl. (b) of 1st proviso to S. 66 of the Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act. The term "public fund" is used in the accepted legal sense of funds belonging to or administered by public authority like Government Municipality or a Local Board or other public authority. See Municipalities—Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act (18 of 1925), S. 71 (qq-i). (1964) 1 Mys L J 147.

"Public institution"

—Held, that it was not impossible to hold that a public limited liability company was a 'public institution' within the meaning of by-law No. 5 of co-operative society formed under the Madras Co-operative Societies Act (6 of 1932). The word "institution" might not be very apt but it was general enough to include a public company." 1955 Mad W N 907 : (1956) 1 Mad L J 36.

"Public interest"

See also Penal Code (1860), S. 499 Excep. 1.

—Words "public interest" in S. 47, Motor Vehicles Act, 1939, mean interest of the public which uses the stage carriage and not the public in general. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1956 All 594.

"Public nuisance"

See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 133.

"Public office"

—Government pleader in Madras holds a "public office". See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1961 Mad 450 (DB).

—Professors and Readers in Mysore university are not holders of "public office". What is 'public office' indicated. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1964 Mys 159 (DB).

"Public officer"

—The Judge of the High Court who constitutes the Board and to whom appeals under S. 17, Bihar Land Reforms Act, 1950, lie is a "public officer". See Court Fees Act (1870), S. 6. AIR 1958 Pat 235.

— "Public place" what is stated — Open Chabutara abutting on public street having unrestricted access, is a public place. See Public Gambling Act (1867), S. 13. AIR 1955 N U C (All) 2288.

— "Public place" — Tests — Ladies' Second Class Waiting room on railway station is a public place — Bombay Prevention of Gambling Act (1887), S. 12.

The test of a place being a public place within the meaning of S. 12 is whether it is open to the members of the public or not, even though there may be certain conditions attached to the entry or the use thereof. What is required is that such a place must be open for entry by an indeterminate number of members of the public. AIR 1930 Bom 369, Rel. on. Thus Railway platforms are places to which any member of the public has and is permitted to have access. Waiting rooms at Railway stations are obviously for the facility of the members of the public who travel by Railway. Female passengers of all classes holding Railway tickets of certain classes are entitled to and are permitted to have access to the ladies' waiting rooms. Merely because one of the two rooms has been reserved for a section of the public, namely, females only, does not mean that it is a place to which the public have no access, or are not permitted to have access. "Purchaser's advance and deposit".

● — The mere use of the term "purchaser's advance" cannot alter the substance of the transaction any more than the mere use of the words "deposit". The fact that the parties choose to call it this or that is relevant but not conclusive and in order to determine the true nature of a transaction it is necessary to view it as a whole and to consider other factors. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 6, R. 2. AIR 1955 S C 590.

"Purport".

● — Word "purport" has many shades of meaning. It means fictitious, what appears on the face of the instrument; the apparent and not legal import and therefore any act which purports to be done in exercise of a power is deemed to be done within that power, notwithstanding that the power is not exercisable. See Administration of Evacuee Property Act (1950) (As Amended by Act 1 of 1960), S. 8 (2-A). AIR 1961 S C 365.

"Purporting or professing to be done".

— The expression "purporting or professing to be done" in S. 142, Calcutta Port Act, 1890, cannot be interpreted to exclude acts which are either improper or even mala fide. See Calcutta Port Act, S. 142. AIR 1951 Cal 460.

"Raw materials."
—The expression "raw materials" in R. 25 (b) of the Rules framed under S. 85, C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act, ought to be construed as used in the sense of those basic materials which are required for the production of the finished articles which the manufacturer, manufactures within municipal limits and not in the sense of the manufactured material in their raw state. See Municipalities—C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (2 of 1922), S. 85. 1957 M P L J 278 (Nag).

"Ready-made clothing."
—The expression "ready-made clothing" means clothing which is ready for immediate use and which is meant for such use. See Cotton Cloth and Yarn Control Order (1945), Cl. 3 (a). 1953 Cri L J 612 : AIR 1953 All 245 (DB).

"Realise."
—Word "realise" in S. 28, Industrial Finance Corporation Act, 1948, has been used to enable the corporation to recover possession of any portion of its debtor's property which may be in the custody of a third person. The word is not intended to grant the right of making a lease. See Industrial Finance Corporation Act (1948), S. 28. A I R 1956 All 14.

—Receipt may be actual or constructive. One of the forms of constructive receipt is adjustment of cross-claims. See Bengal Agricultural Income-tax Act (4 of 1944), S. 4. AIR 1958 Cal 579 (DB).

"Receipt of income."
—In S. 7, Bengal Agricultural Income-tax Act, the words "receipt of income" are not used in ordinary sense. See Bengal Agricultural Income-tax Act (4 of 1944), S. 7. A I R 1958 Cal 579 (DB).

"Received."
—Technically and from the point of view of construction the word "received" in O. 21, R. 89 (1) (b) Civil P. C., is not limited to any qualification such as "received through the Court". See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 21, R. 89. A I R 1956 Cal 462.

"Recitals."
—'Recitals' in a deed—The expression 'recitals' in a document means 'statements in a deed, agreement or other formal instrument, introduced to explain or lead upto the operative part of the instrument.' Generally recitals are divided into (1) narrative recitals which set forth the facts on which the instrument is based, and (2) introductory recitals which explain the motive for the operative part. Where the recitals are clear but the operative part is ambiguous, the recitals govern the construction. Normally a recital is evidence as against the parties to the instrument and those claiming under them. In an action on the instrument itself the recitals operate as an estoppel, though that would not be so on a collateral matter. Ram Charan Das v. Girja Nandini Devi, (1965) 3 S C R 841 : (1965) 2 S C W R 837 : (1966) 1 S C J 61 : AIR S C 323 (327, 328) (Pt C) (Pr 9).

"Reconstituted."
—The words "the Gram Panchayat stands reconstituted" in S. 10 (8) of Orissa Gram Panchayats Act, 1948, explained. See Panchayats — Orissa Gram Panchayats Act (15 of 1948), S. 10 (8). I L R (1964) Cut 417.

"Reconstruction."
—Every "reconstruction" is construction. Reconstructed building will fall within ambit of the notification dealing with building constructed during specified years and will give exemption from operation of East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act, 1949. See Houses and Rents — East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act (3 of 1949), S. 3. AIR 1962 Punj 204 (DB).

"Record."

—In S. 40 (4) of the U. P. Municipalities Act, the words "and when such action is taken the reasons therefor shall be placed on record" contemplate the existence of a written order and that too a self contained one giving reasons in support of the order. The word 'record' is also used in the sense of order or judgment. See Municipalities — U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 40 (4). 1961 All L J 467.

—Calling for record — "Record" means not only the impugned orders and judgments but also all other documents which are relevant for purposes of doing jusiice. See Houses and Rents — U. P Control of Rent and Eviction Act (3 of 1947), S. 7-F. 1959 All L J 263.

—All proceedings which constitute evidence on which the assessment order is passed must be regarded as 'record' for purposes of S. 35, Income-tax Act, 1922. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 35. AIR 1957 Bom 134 (DB).

"Record of any proceeding."

See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 435.

"Record of suit."

—Words "record of the suit" in R. 10 of Patna High Court General Rules and Circular Orders (Civil) (1954) contemplate and include three classes of documents namely (i) which have been exhibited as evidence in the case, (ii) which have been filed along with the plaint and (iii) which have been produced under O. 13 of the Civil P. C. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 13, R. 1. AIR 1961 Pat 242.

"Recover."

—Word "recover" in S. 54 (2) does not include equitable set off. See Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 54 (2). 1964 All W R (HC) 539.

"Recur" "stay."

—'To recur' simply means 'to occur again' or to repeat; the word connotes distinct and different repetitions of the same act. It is impossible to understand how a man who has overstayed repeats himself every day or every moment in that act of overstay. Overstaying is a continuous idea because stay itself is a continuous idea. In the context 'stay' means 'dwell' which again is a continuous act and not a repetition of several acts. 36 Mys L J 936 : 1959 Cri L J 622 : AIR 1959 Mys 136 (138) (Pt B) (Pr 8).

"Redelimit."

See under Words and Phrases — "Delimit."

"Redemption."

—"Redemption" is an act of redeeming which in its ordinary meaning is equal to bringing off a charge or obligation by payment. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 2 (1) (a). AIR 1961 SC 487.

"Reduction."

See C. P. and Berar Industrial Disputes Settlement Act (23 of 1947), S. 31 (1). AIR 1964 S C 1690.

"Reduction in rank."

See (1) Central Civil Services (Temporary Service) Rules (1949), R. 6 (ii).

(2) Constitution of India, Art. 311 (2).

"Re-erection."

—The word "re-erection" in S. 13, East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act, 1949, was not intended to apply to such a contingency as opening of three doors in a wall, within the meaning of S. 13. See Houses and Rents — East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act (3 of 1949), S. 13. AIR 1955 NUC (Punj) 4015.

'Refreshment."

—Word "refreshment" in S. 35 of the Calcutta Police Act does not have the limitation that the refreshment is only spirituous refreshments which only cheer but do not invigorate. The word would include ordinary refreshment which has nothing to do with alcohol or liquor spirit or any drug which intoxicates. See Calcutta Police Act (4 of 1866), S. 35. 1965 (1) Cri L J 679 : AIR 1965 Cal 312 (DB).

"Registered dealer."

—Expression "registered deeler" in the Orissa Sales Tax Act, 1947, is defined in S. (f) of the Act, and means a dealer registered under this Act. The word ordinarily means a dealer validly registered under the Act. See Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947), S. 2 (f). AIR 1965 Orissa 44 (DB).

"Registered document."

—"Registered document" means document registered under the law prevailing in India. See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 116. AIR 1964 Mad 527 (DB).

"Regularity."

—'Legality' and "regularity" are well understood terms and well recognised grounds of judicial interference on an appeal or revision. An order is 'irregular' if the procedure followed is in violation of the principles of natural justice and fair play. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 55 (DB).

"Regulate."

—The expression "regulate" means, according to dictionary "to control by rule,' 'subject to restriction,' 'moderate,' "adapt to requirement." The word 'regulating' occurring in S. 68 (2) (o), Motor Vehicles Act, confers power on State to frame a rule directing the painting of transport vehicles with a particular colour. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 68 (2) (o). ILR (1962) 2 Ker 540.

—It is not correct to contend that S. 48 (c), Motor Vehicles Act relates only to original timings and not to any revision or alteration thereof. The use of the word "regulate" in S. 48 (c) negatives such a contention. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 48 (c). AIR 1955 NUC (Trav-Co) 2566.

"Regularly performed".

—In illustration (e) appended to S. 114, Evidence Act, the words "regularly performed" mean done with due regard to form and procedure. See Prevention of Corruption Act (1947), S. 3. 1955 Cri L J 609 : AIR 1955 Punj 65 (DB).

"Regulating slaughter house".

—Words "regulating slaughter house" in Cl. (k) of S. 174 (2), U. P. District Boards Act do not mean to include prohibition of slaughter — See U. P. District Boards Act (10 of 1922), S. 174 (2) (k). 1956 Cri L J 661 : AIR 1956 All 335.

"Regulation".

—Whether or not "regulation" of an activity includes its total prohibition depends upon the nature of the activity and the facts of the case. In the context of S. 5, Opium Act, 1878, the word includes restriction and also prohibition of the opium trade. See Punjab Opium (Restriction on Oral Comsumption) Rules (1957). AIR 1958 Punj 400.

"Rehearing".

—It is new consideration of case on pleadings and depositions already in case. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 3323.

"Re-instatement".

See Constitution of India, Art. 311.

"Relating to".

—The phrases "relating to" or "arising out of" are phrases of comprehensiveness — Suits which either directly or indirectly relate to or arise out of mortgages would come within mischief of Item 7 of First Schedule of the City Civil Courts Act (West Bengal Act 21 of 1953). See W. B City Civil Courts Act (21 of 1953), S. 5 (4). (1962) 66 Cal W N 767.

—Expression "suits or proceedings relating to or arising out of mortgages of . . . , . , immovable property" in Item 7 of 1st Schedule of W. B. City Civil Courts Act—Words "relating to" and "arising out of" are phrases of comprehensiveness and suits which directly or indirectly relate to or arise out of mortgages fall within the mischief of Item 7—Similar phrases from different enactments considered. See West Bengal City Civil Courts Act (21 of 1953), S. 5 34). (1962) 66 Cal W N 767.

"Relating to or connected with election".

—Words "relating to or connected with the election" in S. 5, United Khasi-Jaintia Hills Autonomous District (Appointment and Succession of Chiefs and Headmen) Act are of wider import and the word 'election' covers the entire process. See United Khasi-Jaintia Hills Autonomous District (Appointment and Succession of Chiefs and Headmen) Act (1959), S. 5. AIR 1965 Assam 83 (DB).

"Relating to winding up".

See Banking Companies Act (1949, as amended in 1953), S. 45A.

"Release".

See T. P. Act (1882), S. 5.

"Religion".

See Constitution of India, Arts. 25, 26 (b).

—The term "religion" whatever its best definition, clearly refers to certain characteristic types of data (beliefs, practices, feelings, moods, attitudes, etc). It primarily involves some immediate consciousness of transcendent realities of supreme personal worth vitally influencing life and thought, exressing themselves in forms which are conditioned by the entire stage of development reached by an individval and his environments and tending to become more explicit and static in mythologies, theologies, philosopies and scientific doctrines. See Hindu Law—Religious Endowments—Temple. AIR 1961 Mad 265 (DB).

"Religious charity".

—Feeding charity conducted during ten days of Rathothsava in a temple during particular month—Only Brahmins fed-charity having no connection with temple management nor with deity established therein —:Feeding done in separate premises — Held that charity was public charity that it was solely a charitable endowment, that there was no association between the charity and the festival and that therefore the charity was not religious charity. See Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951), S. 6 (13). AIR 1961 Mad 258 (DB).

"Religious feeling".

—Feeling of Hindus against cow-slaughter is "Religious feeling" and not feeling of superstition. See Penal Code (1860), S. 298. 1965 (2) Cri L J 134 : AIR 1965 Tripura 22.

"Remaining witnesses".

See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 256.

"Remand".

——"Remand" and "dismissed"—Meaning.

—'Remand' implies a termination of the proceedings, so far as the appellate authority is concerned. The term 'dismissed' implies a final disposal by the tribunal, rejecting the case of the suitor. (1960) 39 ITR 159 : AIR 1960 Mad 406 (409, 410) (Pt D) (Pr 13) (DB).

"Remitted".

—When the sentence is remitted, the order assumes correctness of the conviction and only reduces the punishment in part or whole. See Municipalies — U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 13D (j). ILR (1957) 2 All 235.

"Removal".

See also (1) Constitution of India, Art. 311.
(2) Penal Code (1860), S. 424.

"Removal and dismissal from service".

—"Dismissal" includes removal. Dismissal proper ordinarily disqualifies the servant from future employment but dismissal in shape of removal does not do so. See C P. and Berar Home Guards Act (15 of 1947), AIR 1961 Madh Pra 261 (DB).

"Removal from service".

See Constitution of India, Arts. 226 and 311.

"Remove".

See (1) Public Servants (Inquiries) Act (1850), S. 2.
(2) Railway Establishment Code, Vol. 1, para. 1708, Proviso.

——"Remove" and 'vacate his office'.

In the absence of any definition of the word "remove", the ordinary meaning of that word has to be taken in interpreting S. 197, Criminal P. C. To "remove" means "to take off or away from the place occupied." Taking away from the office of the President or Vice-President may happen by act of removal by the Government or by the act of the President or the Vice-President vacating the office on an appropriate resolution being passed by the Municipal Council. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 197. 1965 (2) Cri L J 379 : AIR 1965 Mys 253.

"Remuneration".

●—Word "renumeration" in Art. 314 of the Constitution is not used in any limited sense as mere salary. If a person was in receipt of a payment, or in receipt of a percentage, or any kind of payment, the amount he would receive annually, in respect of this, would be remuneration. Statutory right of passage benefit is in the nature of allowance. Under Indian Independence Act, it is made a part of remuneration earned by members of the Indian Civil Service. See Constitution of India, Art. 314. AIR 1962 S C 505.

●——Bonus in industrial sense is an addition to the wage and is a remuneration. See Banking Companies Act (1949), S. 10 (1) (b) (ii), (Prior to its Amendment in 1956). AIR 1960 S C 12.

"Rendered continuous good service for not less than fifteen years".

—Expression "rendered continuous good service for not less than 15 years"—Meaning of, explained. See Municipalities—Calcutta Municipal Act (1923), S. 56 (d). ILR (1960) 1 Cal 833.

"Rendered illegal".

●—Words "rendered illegal" do not mean "held illegal —Employee participating in illegal strike—Employer is not prohibited from taking action against him before it is declared illegal. See C. P. and Berar Industrial Disputes Settlement Act (23 of 1947), S. 42 (1) (g). AIR 1964 S C 1687.

"Renewal".

—Despite the use of the expression "renewal" in the Rules e. g. R. 7:(1) and R. 11, Madras Cinematograph Rules, 1933, the issue of a certificate in form D would really be a fresh grant each time it is made. See Cinematograph Act (1918), S. 5 (3). 1957 Cri L J 737 : A I R 1957 Mad 684.

"Renewal of permit".

See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 58 (2).

—Inclusion of sweeper's charge. See Houses and Rents—West Bengal Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Act (17 of 1950) s. 2 (8). 58 Cal W N 607 : AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 2339 (DB).

"Rent due".

—Words "rent due" mean rent that shall remain unpaid. See Debt Laws — Madras Agriculturists Relief Act, (4 of 1938), S. 9-A (a) (i) A I R 1963 Mad 249 (FB).

"Rent then due".

—Word "due" is used in two different senses. In some statutes it has been held so mean all moneys owed or payable even though their recovery may be barred by law of limitation. In other statutes, a more restricted meaning has been given to this word and that is money legally recoverable or those that can be recovered by legal action. The words "rent then due" in S. 12 (3) (b), Bombay R. H. L. and H. R. C Act, 1947 should be construed to mean all rents in arrears or outstanding, including rent which cannot be recovered through process of the Court owing to the bar of limitation. See Houses and Rents — Bombay Rents Hotel and Lodging House Rates Control Act (57 of 1947), S. 12 (3) (b). ILR 1956 Bom 365.

"Repairs".

See also (1) Income-tax Act (1922), S. 10 (2) (v).
(2) T. P. Act (1882), Ss. 72 (b), 108 (l).

—Distinction between "repair' and "reconstruction" pointed out. See Houses and Rents—Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act (25 of 1949), S. 11 (2). AIR 1958 Mys 77.

"Repair and and re-erection".

—The expression 'repair' signifies restoration to the original condition. Anything which substantially improves or materially alters a thing from its original condition cannot be said to be merely a repair of that thing; it will be bringing into existence an improved thing, an altered thing, a new thing for all intents and purposes. But it cannot be forgotten that 'repair' involves an element of renewal; yet renewal of the whole or substantially the whole and not a lesser part of the whole cannot be said to be 'repair'.

Where the entire shop building except the verandah in question was materially altered and improved in structure and quality and the verandah was only a subsidiary part of the building, when the rest of the building has been re-erected in the sense of its having been substantially improved and materially altered from its original condition, it cannot be said that the verandah alone was merely repaired. The building as a whole has to be looked at as a single entity and not cut it up into minor parts and each little subsidiary part regarded as an integral whole by itself. (1911) 1 K. B. 905, Foll.; A I R 1933 P C 222, Relied on. 1962 Kash L J 198 : AIR 1963 J & K 18 (18, 19) (Prs 2, 3, 4).

"Representative".

See Civil P. C. 1908), Ss. 11, 47.

"Repugnant".

See Constitution of India, Art. 254.

—"Repugnant to" really means "inconsistent with" and when two enactments cannot stand together at the same time and one law is inconsistent with another law when the command or power or provision in the one law conflicted directly with the command, or power or provision in the other. See Debt Laws—(Travancore-Cochin) Holding (Stay of Execution Proceedings) Act (8 of 1950), S. 1. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 327 (DB).

"Reputed thief".

"Required to be done".

—Word "required" in expression "required to be done" in S. 80, Trade Marks Act, means needed or found needful. See Trade Marks Act (1940, S. 80. AIR 1959 Bom 21.

"Requirements of discipline".

—"Reqirements of discipline" means maintenance of discipline. See Punjab Agricultural University Act (32 of 1961), S. 6 (13). (1965) 67 Punj L R 830.

"Requisite."

See Limitation Act (1963), S. 12, Explanation.

"Requisition"

See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 3.

—Per Desai J. — Word "requisition" in S. 54 (9), Cr. P. C. is of wide import, but it is doubtful if it includes a verbal order. See Cr. P. Code (1898), S. 54 (9). 1955 Cri L J 1120 : AIR 1955 All 438 (DB).

—The term "requisition" is used in the sense of taking possession of property for the purpose of the State or for such purposes as may be specified in the statute authorizing a public servant to take possession of private property for a specified purpose for a limited period in contradistinction to acquisition of property by which title to the property gets transferred from the individual to the State or to public body for whose benefit the property is acquired. In 'requisition' the property dealt with is not acquired by the State but is taken out of the control of the owner for the time being for certain specified purposes. Even for this limited purpose, however the owner becomes entitled to compensation because 'requisition' of the property amounts at least to a temporary deprivation of the property. ILR (1955) Nag 364: AIR 1955 Nag 153 (157) (Pt B) (Pr 9) (DB).

"Requisitioning" and "Acquisition."

—"Requisitioning and Acquisition" are different concepts in law, requisitioning implying only a temporary deprivation of the owner, of the use and possession of a property, acquisition implying a transference of the property, or all the rights thereto. In requisitioning the title remains with the owner, but he is excluded by State from the right to possession or enjoyment of the property, but the acquisition is the acquiring of the entire title of the expropriated owner whatever the nature or extent of that title may be. 1960 Ker L J 224 : (1960) 1 Ker L R 364 : ILR (1960) Ker 464 : 1960 Ker L T 181.

"Re-sale."
See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 21, R. 71.

"Rescue."
—"Rescue" within meaning of S. 225, I. P. C. means forcibly liberating or recovering prisoner from custody. There must be intention and use of violence. See Penal Code (1860), S. 225. AIR 1955 N U C (Pepsu) 2508.

"Reservation."
—"Reservation" can be small portion of the main — Seven out of ten appointments going to candidates belonging to different communities coming under the heading 'backward classes' — Appointments are not invalid. See Constitution of India, Art. 16 (4). AIR 1956 Mys 20 (DB).

"Residential."
The word "residential" and other cognate expressions such as, 'reside', 'residing', 'resident', 'residence', 'residences' and 'occupy' occurring in several statutes have variously, shaded but elastic meaning. A person is ordinarily said to "reside" where he lives with his family. The word "residence" connotes two elements (1) actual or physical habitation and (2) the intention to remain there permanently, that is, for an unlimited time. In its ordinary sense the word "reside" carries with it the idea of permanence, that is for any length of time, as well as continuity. The word 'residence' denotes a dwelling house where a person lives in a settled abode. In other sense, residential house is a dwelling house as distinct from a house of business, warehouse, office, shop etc. Residential house is a building used as a place of abode, in which, people reside or dwell in contradistinction to one which is used for commercial or business purposes. ILR (1957) Punj 1558 : 59 Punj L R 325 : A I R 1957 Punj 293 (296, 297) (Pt B) (Prs 17, 18).

"Residing."
—Per Chakravarti J. — Word "residing" in cl. 10 (2), Calcutta Industrial Area Rationing Regulations (1943) cannot possibly mean mere residence but means residence together with taking of meals. See Calcutta Industrial Area Rationing Regulations (1943), S. 10 (2). 1952 Cri L J 1257 : AIR 1952 Cal 565 (DB).

"Residing in commensality."
—For the purposes of sub-s. (3) of S. 13, Delhi and Ajmer Rent Control Act, 1952, a person is said to be "residing in commensality" with the tenant if he is living jointly with him having a common mess without paying for his food, and without paying any rent to him See Houses and Rents — Delhi and Ajmer Rent Control Act, 1952, S. 13 (3). "Resumption."
●—Word connotes taking back what is given—What is resumed is not the property of persons from whom it is taken back by the rightful owner. Raj Rajendra Malojirao Shitole v. State of M. P. A I R 1953 Madh Bha 97 (103, 104, 121) (Pt E) (Prs 16, 75) (FB).

●—Resumption and acquisition — "Resumption" implies taking back of the land by grantor when such taking back is due to breach of some condition of the grant—There is no question of payment of compensation — But when resumption is not due to breach of any condition, it is acquisition within meaning of Art. 31-A of the Constitution. See Constitution of India, Arts. 31, 31-A and 31-B. A I R 1954 Raj 291 (FB).

"Retain."
●—One "retains" only what one already possesses and the word "retain" is wholly inappropriate for the purpose of conferring a fresh right. See Police Act (1861), S. 2. A I R 1965 All 142 (FB).

[Overruled on another point in A I R 1967 S C 1260.]

—Word "retain" in S. 183 (1) (b), U. P. Tenancy Act, carries with it the connotation that the landholder wrongfully supports the right of the person who is in wrongful possession and denies the right of the person who is rightfully entitled to possession and allows the person wrongfully in possession to continue in possession on the basis that he has an established right to continue in possession as against the claimant who has not. See Tenancy Laws—U. P. Tenancy Act (17 of 1939), S. 183 (1) (b). A I R 1958 All 500.

—Dictionary meaning of the word "retain" is to keep possession of or to keep in possession. See Tenancy Laws — West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act (1954), S. 6. (1956) 60 Cal W N 979.

"Retained."

—Government order stating that "following minimum staff is retained for purposes of civil supplies work . . ." Use of the word "retained" shows that the staff was retained as permanent if it was permanent, and it was retained temporarily, if it was temporary. See Constitution of India, Art. 311. (1964) Raj L W 353.

"Retention."

—"Retention" — "Re-employment" — Retention in service, which means continued employment in the service in which an employee has been serving, is quite a different thing from re-employment of an employee after he has retired. Consequently, a decision not to re-employ is very different from a decision not to retain. 62 Cal W N 765 : A I R 1958 Cal 657 (658) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

—The word "retention" in S. 6, Bihar Land Reforms Act has been used with a purpose. It contemplates a continuity of the right in the outgoing proprietor or in other words, the right of possession over the lands specified in the section which were in the proprietor from before are allowed to continue as such even after the change was provided therein, namely, the vesting of the estate. See Tenancy Laws—Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 6. A I R 1958 Pat 589 (DB).

"Revenue Officer."

See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 123 (7) (f).

—The Chief Commissioner or the Administrator as he is called in the Manipur Land Revenue and Land Reforms Act, 1960, has the right of review under S. 96 of the Act. Under the Act he is the highest Revenue Authority. See Manipur Land Revenue and Land Reforms Act (33 of 1960), S. 96. A I R 1965 Manipur 3.

"Review."

—The term review means a judicial re-examination of the case in certain specified and prescribed circumstances. This is the ordinary legal significance of the term. I L R (1957) Punj 1629 : A I R 1958 Punj 63 (67, 68) (Pt C) (Pr 14) (DB).

(2) Industrial Disputes Act (14 of 1947), S. 15.
(3) Criminal P. C. (1898), Ss. 435, 439.

"Right."

—A right is an interest which is recognised and protected by law. Immunity is one aspect of right and entitles the possessor to see that none interferes with it. It also furnishes him with a complete answer to any action intended to interfere, with that right. See Civil P. C. (Amendment) Act (1951), S. 20. A I R 1958 All 775 (DB).

"Rightfully paid."

—According to dictionary meaning of the word "rightful", a payment in order to be rightful payment must be one in conformity with what is right or just or fair or equitable. See Contract Act (1872), S. 145. A I R 1959 Madh Pra 297.

"Right to future maintenance."

"Riot."

—Meaning of, and distinction between "riot" and a "civil commotion" indicated. A I R 1965 Madh Pra 32 (33, 34) (Prs 7, 8) (DB).

"Rioting."

See Penal Code (1860), S. 146.

"Riparian."

—Word "riparian" is relative to the bank of a natural stream. It means "of, on, river bank". To be a riparian owner, one has to own some land abutting on the natural stream concerned. See Riprian rights. 1962 Ker L J 45.

"Riparian rights" and "Riparian land."

—Riparian land may be described as land which is on the bank of a stream and which extends from that bank to a reasonable depth in land. A I R 1919 Mad 1152 : 34 Mad L J 223, Foll. 1953 B L J R 613: I L R 32 Pat 937 : A I R 1954 Pat 320 (324) (Pt D) (Pr 26) (DB).

"Room in a hotel."

—Room in a hotel must be a part of the hotel and its user must be connected with the general purpose of the hotel of which it is a part — Space in a hotel let out for carrying on business as hairdresser—Barber's shop, one of the amenities provided to lodgers—Room is "a room in hotel." See Houses and Rents — Delhi, Ajmer, Merwara Rent Control Act (9 of 1947), S. 2(b). AIR 1959 S C 1262.

'Royalty.'

—Important features of royalty indicated — Payment is in proportion to quantity of mineral removed—Basis for payment is agreement—Levy, of surcharge from outstill contractors held not to be 'royalty' but tax or cess requiring legislative sanction. See Madhya Pradesh Land Revenue Code, 1954 (2 of 1955), S 143. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 129 (DB).

—"Royalty" on minerals under Bihar Minor Mineral Concession Rules. 1964, is used in secondary sense to signify that part of the reddendum which is variable and depends upon the quantity of minerals taken out. Royalty is a payment made to the landowner by the lessee of the mine in return of the privilege of working it. It differs from rent. It is a kind of levy in proportion to the minerals, worked. It is an impost by the Government though its origin was riveted in the concept of royal prerogative. Royalty under the rules is a compulsory exaction and recoverable in the event of non-payment as arrear of land revenue. See Constitution of India, Art. 366 (29). AIR 1965 Pat 491 (DB).

—"Royalty" is a payment made to an owner for the rights to exploit his property. It is, therefore, indisputable that it would be open to the State as being the owner of the minerals to charge a royalty whether directly by itself or through a contractor. Further, a royalty may be charged as so much per weight or on the value of the produce. See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List 2, Item 23. AIR 1958 Raj 140 (DB).

—"Royalty" is, inter alia, a charge by the owner of minerals from those to whom he gives the concession to remove them and the charge is on production, the rate being fixed according to weight. Fixation of different rates of royalty depending upon where the mineral extracted is going to be consumed is against the very principle of royalty. See Constitution of India, Art. 14. AIR 1956 Raj 161 (DB).

"Ruinous."

—"Ruinous" or 'dangerous' means that the house may come down any time. It does not mean it must come down or that the fact that it has not come down for some years makes it less dangerous. See Municipalities — Indore Municipal Act, S. 71. 1960 M P L J 697.

"Rule."

—A "rule" after all, is that which prescribes or lays down a general standard or guide to conduct, and when such a general established standard or guide to conduct is made effective from a certain date and has behind it the sanction of a statutory provision, then the general principle of conduct so laid down is a statutory rule, having the force of law from the date fixed for the commencement of its operation. See Constitution of India, Art. 309. AIR 1964 Madh Pra 248 (DB).

[Reversed on facts in AIR 1987 S C 1234].

"Rule of law."

—The term Rule of law in brief connotes the undisputed supremacy of law and envisages a state of things in which every one respects the law and where law has to be followed by every one collectively and individually, by the citizens as well as the State. 1956 Madh B L J 642 : Madh B L R 1956 Civ 413 : ILR (1956) M B 330 : AIR 1956 Madh B 163 (166) (Pt B) (Prs 10, 11) (DB).

"Rules of procedure."

—The expression "rules of procedure" occurring in Art. 208 (2) should be given same meaning given to that expression in the marginal note to cl. (1). The expression means rules relating to procedure and conduct of business of legislature. See Constitution of India, Art. 208 (2). AIR 1953 Orissa 111 (DB).

"Ryot."

See Tenancy Laws — Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act (27 of 1948), S. 56.

"Sacking."

—Word "sacking" in Sch. 2, Clauses 1 and 11, Sea Customs Act does not ordinarily mean twist, yarn, rope and twine. None the less the word 'sacking' has been given a more extensive meaning by adding the words cloth, bags, twist, yarn, rope and twine in the bracket. See Sea Customs Act (1878), Sch. II, Cls. 1 and 11. (1961) 65 Cal W N 1206.

"Sadachar."

—"Sadachar" according to the cult of Shrimat Chaitanya Mahapravu is not an ordinary sadachar, means good conduct or morals, but it means performing of all rites that are considered proper according to the cult of Srimat Chaitanya Mahapravu. ILR (1954) 1 Cal 207 (DB).

"Sadhu."

—A mahant and a Brahmachari who are persons leading a pious and religious life can very well come within the meaning of the term, "sadhu" in the proviso to S. 8 (1)(a) (ii), Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act, 1951. See Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act (I of 1951), S. 8 (1) (a) (ii), Proviso. 1959 B L J R 338.

"Sahan Sarak."

—Survey map — Entries in Municipal Khasra prepared under Calcutta Survey Act — Entry 'sahan sarak' — Unless rebutted, the entry would mean that the disputed land is a part of the road since the commencement of the Bihar and Orissa Municipal Act 7 of 1922, and therefore the Municipality has got title to the disputed land. ILR 44 Pat 416.

'Sajhidar.'

—A "Sajhidar" is a partner in cultivation. He is neither a servant nor an employee on wages of the person whose sajhidar he is. The yeild which results from his cultivation is the earning jointly of the two persons. The share that the sajhidar gets is thus his share of the produce and not a substitute for any wage payable to him See U P. Agricultural Income-tax Act (3 of 1949), S. 16 (3). 1961 All L J 149.

"Salami."

—"Salami" is a payment by the tenant as a present or as price for parting by the landlord with his rights under the lease of a holding. It is a lump sum payment as consideration for what the landlord transfers to the tenant. When a tenant pays 'salami' he does so in order to get in return an estate in the land owned by the zamindar. 'Salami' is therefore not rent. It cannot be called 'revenue.' within the meaning of the word used in the definition of agricultural income under S. 2 (1) (a) of the Assam Agricultural Income-tax Act, 1939—AIR 1953 Assam 47, Reversed. AIR 1954 Cal 555, Affirmed. See Assam Agricultural Income-tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 2 (a) (i). AIR 1957 S C 729.

—'Salami' is quite different from rent, whatever may be the figure of standard rent it can always be proved that salami was the amount paid in addition to that rent. See Houses and Rents — West Bengal Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Act (3 of 1948), S. 9. ILR (1951) 1 Cal 547; AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 1147.

—Amount paid by lessee towards costs of repairs of premises for purposes of development is not premium or salami. See West Bengal Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Act, 1948, S. 7. AIR 1952 Cal 56.

"Salary"

(7) Sales Tax — Madya Pradesh Sales Tax Act (30 of 1950), S. 5.
(8) Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 54.

—"Sale"—Transfer of property for valuable consideration, held, was "sale." See Sales tax — Bihar Sales-tax Act (VI of 1944), S. 2 (g). AIR 1951 Pat 197 (DB).

"Sale and transfer."

—The word "transfer" is a larger word and the word "sale" is a specific word. A transfer may be by means of lease, by means of a mortgage or by means of sale or in any other mode. Where it is clear from the document transferring a business that the transferor has not retained any control over the affairs of the business after the transfer, the transfer amounts to a sale. AIR 1966 Bom 110 (114) (Pt C) (Pr 10).

"Sale of goods."

See Government of India Act (1935), Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 48.

"Sale or transfer."

—In construing S. 12-B, Income-tax Act, 1922 Court should not give the expression "sale or transfer" its technical meaning, nor must they attribute, to the expression, a transaction clothed with all the legal formalities. A sale or transfer presupposes the existence of property which is sold or transferred. It presupposes transfer from one person to another of the right in the property. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 12-B. AIR 1954 Bom 95 (DB).

"Salisnama."

—Means an agreement to refer— Word is erroneously used for an award. 1950 All L J 277 : 1950 All W R 323 : 1950 All Cri Cas 94 : 51 Cri L J 1346 : AIR 1950 All 501 (501, 502) (Pt. B) (Pr 5).

"Samaradhanai."

—Though usually equation has been sought to be made of Samaradhanai with Brahmana Bhojana, in the South India, and particularly in the charities established by the Chettiars and Mudaliars, the feeding is not confined only to the Brahmines. It is generally understood as a poor-feeding. See Hindu Law — Religious Endowment — Construction. AIR 1960 Mad 467 (DB).

"Same and similar."

—Although the word 'same' is frequently, loosely used in the sense of 'similar,' the word 'similar' never means 'same,' since similarity implies existence of two or more objects for comparison. The word 'similar' in S. 54, Partnership Act does not mean or include 'same.' See Partnership Act (1932), S. 54. AIR 1956 Punj 49 (DB).

"Same parties."

See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 10.

"Same transaction,"

See also Criminal P. C. (1898), Ss. 235, 239 (d).

"Santan."

—Ordinarily the word "santanera" means both sons and daughters. But considering circumstances restricted meaning of male issue should be given to the word. AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 570.

"Santan' and 'Nissantan.':

—Though the expression 'santan' connotes all classes of issues or heirs, whether male or female, yet in a particular context it may be restricted to male heirs only.

Held, that the word 'nissantan' used in a village note, a person having no male or famale issue and there was nothing in the context to justify the giving of a narrow meaning to it. AIR 1961 Orissa 9 (12) (Pt C) (Pr 14) (DB).

"Santhathi"

—The etymological meaning of "Santhathi" is 'issue of the body.' The expression 'Santhathis Paramparai' used as a word of limitation to define the estate taken by a person has, however, come to acquire the larger significance of 'heirs.' (1954) 2 MLJ (Andhra) 30 : 1954 Mad W N 713 :67 Mad L W 1205 : 1954 Andh L T (Civil) 27 : AIR 1954 Andhra 2 (4) (Pt C) (Prs 11, 12).

—The word 'santhathi" in a deed of settlement construed. AIR 1962 Mad 369 (372) (Pr 9) (DB).

'Saranjam.'

—Nature of saranjam estate indicated. See Bombay Rent-Free Estates Act (XI of 1852), Sch. B, R. 10. AIR 1960 S C 1272.

—By 'saranjam' is meant a political grant made in consideration of political or military service. AIR 1961 Bom 11 (14) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

'Sarvaswathanthiramai.'

—Word "sarvaswathanthiramai" occurring in a settlement or gift deed indicates an absolute estate. (1958) 1 M L J 335.

"Satisfied."

See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 145.

—Word 'satisfied' in S 4 (h), Bihar Land Reforms Act, 1950, must be construed to mean "reasonably" satisfied. It must be on adequate material. It is not capricious satisfaction but must be capable of being tested in an objective manner. See Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 4 (h). AIR 1956 Pat 104 (DB).

"Satisfied on evidence."

See Divorce Act (1869), S. 14.

'Saunjidari right.'

—Meaning of, stated. AIR 1955 N U C (Punj) 4601.

"Sayers."

—'Sayers' would mean large tracts of water which are enclosed by land. 62 Cal W N 49 : AIR 1958 Cal 114 (117, 118) (Pt C) (Pr 14).

'Scheme of consolidation.'

See Tenancy Laws — U. P. Consolidation of Holdings Act (V of 1954), S. 16-A (2). AIR 1965 S C 484.

'Scire facias."

—Writ of 'scire facias' is a Latin phrase meaning that you cause to know— Various meanings indicated. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 123 (DB).

"Sealed."

—The word 'sealed' in Election Rules in Statute 18, R. 4 (iv) of Nagpur University means "stamped with a seal" and not "closed by gum." See Nagpur University Act (5 of 1923), Statute 18, R. 4 (iv). AIR 1957 Bom 215 (DB).

"Seasonal."

See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 25-A (2).

'Second offence.'

See Prevention of Food Adulteration Act (1954), S. 16 (1).

"Secrets."

See Post Office Act (1898), S. 52.

"Secure."

—The verb "to secure" has a wide meaning and the definition most appropriate in the context of S. 7 (iv) (c), Court-fees Act is to make secure or certain or to make safe. See Court-fees Act (1870), S. 7 (iva) (UP). A I R 1956 All 492 (DB).

"Securing"

—Word "Securing" in S. 3, U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, can only be interpreted to mean "to make secure or safe" and not "to get-hold or possession of (something desirable) as the result of effort or contrivance". See U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (23 of 1947), S. 3. A I R 1955 N U C (All) 1732 (DB).

—The word "security" in O. 21, R. 90 (Andhra Amendment) should be taken to be comprehensive enough to include a 'surety'. It is not possible having regard to the etymological sense of the word 'security' employed in the Civil Procedure Code that any other particular meaning, as if 'security' is a term of art could be implied. It does not therefore, exclude the guarantee which can be provided by any surety. (1944) 2 Mad L J 205 : A I R 1945 Mad 13, Rel on. Meaning given in Stroud's Judicial Dictionary quoted. AIR 1962 Andh Pra 175 (176) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

"Security."

—Word "security" is a word of general import meaning nothing more than an assurance. Anything that makes the money more assured in its payment or more readily recoverable, is a security and may range from a personal bond or promissory note or guarantee or even a mere pledge of something of no intrinsic value, to a mortgage of property from out of which money can be realised See Companies Act (1956), S. 528. A I R 1963 Ker 128.

"Separate property."

See Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act (1937), S. 3 (1)

"Servant."

●—Master, servant and independent contractor, who are, explained — Master employing servant — Later authorised to employ persons — Such persons, if servants of master, has to be determined on facts of the case. A I R 1955 S C 404 (407, 412).

—Word "servant" in S. 25, Merchant Shipping Act, means a servant in the constant employ of the owner. A mere engagement of a person to supply seamen does not make that person a servant within meaning of S. 25. See Merchant Shipping Act (21 of 1923), S. 25. A I R 1952 Cal 339.

"Served."

—Word "serve" in S. 34 (1), Income-tax Act, is not to be construed as 'issue'. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (1). A I R 1956 All 657 (DB).

"Service."

See Constitution of India, Art. 311 (2).

—Meaning of the word "services" generally is occupation or status of a servant—The word as used in sub-cl. (iii) of S. 3 (a), Preventive Detention Act (1950), merely means "the means and methods necessary for regulating and maintaining supplies" of some general demand. See Public Safety — Preventive Detention Act (1950), S. 3 (a) (iii). 52 Cri L J 1438 : A I R 1951 Pepsu 164 (DB).

"Service of notice."

●—There is no ground to construe the words "the date of service of notice" in Art. 158, Limitation Act, to mean only a notice in writing served in a formal manner. It means formal as well as informal intimation. See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 14 (2). A I R 1962 S C 666.

"Settled accounts"

See also Limitation Act (1908), Art. 85.

—Settled accounts are those which have been agreed between the parties, acceptance of the account by the party to whom they were sent can also be inferred by his conduct. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 20, R. 16. 1959 M P C 222.

"Settled jagir lands."

—When the term settled jagir lands is used in the notification, it refers to those jagirs where cash rents have been enforced. See Tenancy Laws — Rajasthan Land Reforms and Resumption of Jagirs Act (6 of 1952), S. 21. 1959 Raj L W 408.

"Settlement."

—The word "settlement" in S. 6, Bihar Land Reforms Act, 1950, does by implication suggests that in the process of vesting the right to porsession in such lands is also vested in the state. See Tenancy Laws—Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 6. A I R 1958 Pat 589 (DB).

"Shafi khaleet."

—"Khaleet" literally means "mixed up". Shafi Khaleet is a "participator in appendages". See Mahomedan Law—Pre-emption. A I R 1963 Raj 195.

"Shall."

—Meaning of.

See (1) Interpretation of Statutes.
(2) Words and Phrases—"May".

●—The use of the word "shall" in S. 56, U. P. Court of Wards Act is not conclusive of the question whether the provision is mandatory, intention has to be gathered from the whole of the statute — Tests to see whether provision is directory or mandatory indicated. See U. P. Court of Wards Act (4 of 1912), S 58. AIR 1960 S C 444 (a).

—The word "shall" in S. 183, Sea Customs Act, is to be read as "may". See Sea Customs Act (1878), S. 163. A I R 1964 Cal 225 (DB).

—Mere use of the word "shall" does not make a provision imperetive. The nature of the provision must depend upon the context and collocation in which the word is used and must be gathered from the intention of the legislature from the four corners of the Act itself. S. 82, Representation of the People Act, 1951 is merely directory. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 82. A I R 1954 Pat 225 (DB).

—Word 'shall' in S. 82, Representation of the People Act, 1951, casts on the petitioners a duty to implead all the duly nominated candidates as respondents. However, the prescription provided by the word 'shall' has to be considered as merely directory, the neglect of which does not affect the validity of the petition or involve any other consequence than a liability to a penalty if any were to be imposed by the Tribunal for breach of the prescription. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 82. A I R 1953 Pepsu 133 (DB).

—Where word 'shall' is used, presumption is that its use is imperative and not merely directory, particularly where it is addressed to a Court or public servant and when a right or benefit depends on its imperative use. There is nothing in the context or manifest purpose of the rule to indicate that the legislature did not intend to use the word 'shall' appearing in R. 2 of O 14 of Civil P. C, as a word of command. A I R 1936 Pat 250, A I R 1934 All 986, Dissented from. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 14, R. 2. AIR 1958 Punj 409 (DB).

—Word 'shall' in contexts similar to the provisions of R. 2, Sch. I, Arbitration Act, has often been interpreted as merely being directory and the criterion for deciding whether failure to comply with such a provision is a mere irregularity or invalidates the whole proceedings, is whether the statute itself provides any penalty or other consequences for the failure to comply. See Arbitration Act (1940), Sch. 1, R. 2. A I R 1956 Punj 7.

"Shall apply accordingly".

—Sales Tax—Central Sales Tax Act (1956), S. 9 (3) — Expression "shall apply accordingly" — Expression means 'shall apply as the stated circumstances suggest' (conceded point). See Sales Tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), S. 9 (3). (1963) 14 STC 587 (Mys).

"Shall be compelled to be a witness".

See Constitution of India, Art. 20 (3).

"Shall be deemed".

—In S. 441, Companies Act has introduced a statutory fiction. In the section, the legislature has used the words "shall be deemed to commence" instead of "shall commence" and what is signified is that although the winding up of a company does not in fact commence at the time of the presentation of the petition it nevertheless shall be taken to commence from that stage. In this context 'deemed' means 'supposed', 'considered', "construed" 'thought, taken to be' or 'presumed'. See Debt Laws — Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act (1951), S. 19 (2). A I R 1960 Punj 476.

"Shall be deemed to have been done".

—When a statute enacts that something shall be deemed to have been done which in fact and truth was not done the Court is entitled and bound to ascertain for what purposes and between what persons the statutory fiction is to be resorted to and full effect must be given to the statutory fiction and it should be carried to its logical conclusion. "Shall be final".

—Use of the words decision "shall be final", when precludes, questioning of the decision, indicated. See Travancore-Cochin Shops and Establishments Act (9 of 1125), S. 41 (3). 1957 Cri L J 637: AIR 1957 Ker 55 (DB).

"Shall be held".

—Just becuase the words used in S. 14 (1), Hindu Succession Act, are 'shall be held', it does not necessarily follow that merely on that account these words have no reference back to the past. It is well established that when the word 'shall' occurs in a statute, the intention is directed more towards its imperative character, to show command, more than points towards its futility. It is obvious, that although the words are "shall be held" which prima facie may be of a prospective character, yet there are good reasons to give these words also a larger operation. See Hindu Succession Act (1956), S. 14 (1). AIR 1959 Pat 75.

[Reversed on facts in AIR 1963 Pat 330.]

"Shall be kept ready for instant use".

—The use of the word "shall" in the expression "shall be kept ready for instant use" in S. 36 (4), Factories Act, casts an obligation upon the manager or occupier of a factory to keep ready at all times besides a confined space the suitable breathing apparatues, reviving apparatus, belts and ropes for instant use whether any person entered the said space or not, whether the entry has been made with permission or not and whether any need for the use of these appliances arises in fact or not. See Factories Act (1948), S. 36 (4). 1958 Cri L J 858; AIR 1958 Bom 257 (DB).

"Shall be laid before the Parliament".

In the case of a statute directing rules to be laid before the Parliament or the legislature, without any condition attached, the rule is only directory. See Madras Motor Vehicles Rules (1940), R. 134A. A I R 1956 Andhra 129 (DB).

"Shall be transferred".

—Words "shall be transferred" in S. 29 (1), Patents and Designs Act, 1911 means "shall stand transferred". See Patents and Designs Act (1911), S. 29 (1). AIR 1961 All 101 (DB).

"Shall be written by presiding officer".

See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 265(1).

"Shall employ".

—'Shall employ' means and includes 'shall continue the employment' of. See Banking Companies Act (1949), S. 10(1) (prior to its amendment in 1956). AIR 1960 S C 12.

"Shall have force of law".

—Words "shall have force of law" in S. 31 (3), J. & K. Constitution Act, mean nothing more than "shall become law" or "shall acquire the character and quality or status of law". See Jammu and Kashmir Constitution Act (XIV of 1996 Smt.), S. 31 (3). 1960 Cr L J 62: AIR 1960 J & K 1 (DB).

"Shall pay on turnover".

—Words "shall pay on turnover" in S. 3, U. P. Sales Tax Act, 1948 must be interpreted as indicating that an assessee is liable to pay the tax on turnover in each assessment year. It is not to be interpreted to mean that actual payment of the tax to the Government has to be made before the expiry of the assessment year. The liability arises on the first day of an assessment year and is not a liability in respect of each day of that year. See Sales Tax—U. P. Sales Tax Act (15 of 1948), S. 3. AIR 1956 All 35 (DB).

"Shall presume".

See (1) Prevention of Corruption Act (1947), S. 4.
(2) Evidence Act (1872), S. 4.

"Shamilat deh".

—The "shamilat deh" is a plot of uncultivated waste land in every village reserved for the purposes of common pasture, for assemblies of the people, for tethering of village cattle and for possible extension of village dwellings. As a rule it is regarded as common property of original settlers and their descendants. See Custom (Punjab). AIR 1955 NUC (Punj) 1034 (DB).

'Share'.

—A share is movable property but not in the same sense in which a bolt of cloth or bag of wheet is. A share in a company belongs to a totally different category of property, it is incorporeal in its nature and consists merely of a bundle of rights and obligations. See Constitution of India, Art. 19 (1) (f). (S) AIR 1957 Mad 341.

'Sharer'.

—Where the word 'sharer' is not defined in a wajib ul arz, it should be given its ordinary meaning. The word connotes a person who shared the land or the profits with another. This has relationship with his own and not derivative interest in the holding. See Wajib-Ul-Arz (Sarangarh State), Cl. 18. 1957 M P L J 195.

'Shares" and "share scrips".

—Shares are not same thing as share scrips. See Court Fees Act (1870), S. 7 (iv) (a). AIR 1965 Punj 314.

"Sharkayan Shikmi".

—The Sharkayan Shikmi means only co-sharers in the property and not relations by blood. See Wajib-Ul-Arz. A I R 1955 NUC (Raj) 298 (DB).

"Shawls".

—Word 'shawl' as used in cl. (m) of Second Schedule of the Railways Act means the Kashmere shawl of special value and not things of inferior quality as that of Alwan, Tushi, or ordinary chadar. See Railways Act (1890), S. 75. AIR 1957 Pat 328 (DB).

"Shop."

See also (1) Bombay Shops and Establishments Act (LXXIX of 1948), S. 2 (27)

"Showing cause."

See Constitution of India, Art. 331.

"Slum dwellers."

—Though in popular parlance the expression "slum dwellers" has acquired some special meaning, namely those who are economically and socially backward and who huddle themselves together in dwellings in unhealthy surroundings, the term as such has no such technical meaning, the expression in its import is wide enough to include within it a crowded place in a city inhabited by the poor and there is nothing wrong in regarding persons belonging to the low and middle income groups who live in crowded place in a city in abodes which are far from healtheir as being slum dwellers in a sense. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 4. AIR 1964 Mad 115 (DB).

"Sampark."

—The word "Sampark" in Hindi means "contact—When it is said that a certain person came in "Sampark" with another, all that is connoted is that he met the person and came in contact with him. The meaning of the word is not altered to the sense of "Sambandha" in Hindi if it is used in relation to a meeting between a man and a woman. The word "Sampark" is so simple and well known that nobody who knows the Hindi language can have the smallest difficulty in understanding it. This word is not suggestive of illicit intimacy. 1963 M P L J 489 : 1963 Jab L J 499 : 1963 (2) Cri L J 521 : ILR (1964) Madh-Pra 694 : A I R 1963 M P 301 (305) (Pt B) (Pr 14) (DB).

"Sign."

"Signature."

●—It is quite true that when signature by an agent is permissible, the writing of the name of the principal by the agent is regarded as the signature of the principal himself. But this result only follows when it is permissible for the agent to sign the name of the principal. If on a construction of a statute signature by an agent is not found permissible then the writing of the name of the principal by the agent however clearly he may have been authorised by the principal cannot possibly be regarded as the signature of the principal for the purposes of that statute. If a statute requires personal signature of a person, which includes a mark, the signature or the mark must be that of the man himself. There must be physical contract between that person and the signature or the mark put on the document. 1950 S C J 364 : 1950 S C R 435 : (1950) 18 ITR 569 : ILR (1951) 2 Cal 7 : AIR 1950 S C 265 (271) (Pt C) (Pr 22).

●"Silk."

—In the ordinary sense, "silk" means natural or real silk, or something of which natural or real silk is a component. Without the qualification "artificial" it would not include rayon, and, therefore, a company making rayon yarn cannot be said to manufacture "silk" in its ordinary sense. Travancore Rayons, Ltd. v. "Sir."

●—Word "Sir" is synonymous with "kamat" and "zirat" and means private lands of the proprietor. See Tenancy Laws — Bihar Tenancy Act (8 of 1885), S. 116. AIR 1956 S C 305 (b).

"Sisyaganakramey."

—"Sisyaganakramey" does not mean from among the disciples. Word "kramey" indicates order. ILR (1954) 1 Cal 207 (DB).

"Site."

—Word "site" can properly be used to describe either the exact extent of land occupied by a building such as a shop in a bazgar or the larger area of which such extent forms part, e.g., a factory, site of a college or site of a hostel. In the latter case the word "site" can properly include not merely the actual extent of land on which the building stands but also the ground surrounding it. In what sense the word is used would depend upon the context. See Madras Cinema (Regulation) Rules (1957), R. 109 (1). 1958 Mad L J (Cri) 460 : (1958) 1 Mad L J 410.

"Six months."

—Under S. 77, Railways Act, the period of six months is to be counted from "the date of delivery of animals or goods for carriage by the railway." The natural meaning of these words can only be that the relevant date is the date on which goods are handed over to the railway for carriage. AIR 1955 Assam 221 Dissented from. See Railways Act (1890), S. 77. AIR 1959 Mys 13.

"Sketchy" and "vague."

—"Sketchy" means incomplete and lacking detail — Vague means not clear, involving element of ambiguity—Distinction however not very real. AIR 1951 Punj 157 (159, 160, 161) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

"Smuggling"

See Sea Customs Act (1878), S. 167 (81).

"So far as may be."

—Expression "so far as may be" means to the extent it is possible. See Municipalities — Rajasthan Municipalities Act (38 of of 1959), S. 2, Proviso (b). 1962 Raj L W 360.

"Some interest."

—The words "some interest" in O. 21, R. 59 have been interpreted as meaning such interest as would make the possession of the judgment-debtor not on his own account but on account of or in trust for the claimant or the claimant may prove his own possession. See Civil P. C (1908), O. 21, R. 58. AIR 1959 Bom 87.

"Some person executing."

See Registration Act (1908), S. 32.

"Son."

—Does not include step-son. See Hindu Succession Act (1956), S. 15 (1) (a). AIR 1962 Mys 140 (DB).

"Son and daughter."

"Son and daughter" mean ligitimate son and daughter. See Hindu Law — Texts. AIR 1955 Nag 84 (DB).

"Son or daughter of such female."

—Words "son or daughter of such female" in S. 15 (2) (h), Punjab Pre-emption Act, 1913 as amended by Act 10 of 1960, mean only legitimate son or legitimate daughter of the female vendor and will not include illegitimate son or daughter. See Punjab Pre-emption Act (1913) As Amended by Act (X of 1960), S. 15 (2) (b). AIR 1965 S C 698.

"Sound mind."

See Succession Act (1925), S. 59.

"Space."

—Word "space" does not necessarily mean an enclosed area. The phrase "the space opposite the name of the candidate" used in R. 24 (2), U. P. Municipalities (Conduct of Election of Presidents and Election Petitions) Order, 1955, does not necessarily mean more than that part of the ballot paper which is opposite the name of the candidate. See Municipalities — U. P. Municipalities (Conduct of Election of Presidents and Election Petition) Order (1955), R. 24. 1959 All L J 4.

"Speaking order."

"Special appeal."

—"Special appeal" is the name given by the Rules of the Allahabad High Court to an appeal which lies from the judgment of one judge of that High Court in the circumstances mentioned in Cl. 10 of the Allahabad Letters Patent read with Cl. 7 of the U. P. High Courts (Amalgamation) Order, 1948. AIR 1961 All 381 (382, 384) (Pt B) (Prs 2, 18) (FB).

"Special damage."

Special damage need not be of serious kind and need not result in irreparable loss. It is sufficient if the damage is peculiar to the person and is much more than that shared by other people. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 91. AIR 1957 Andh-Pra 44.

"Specially appointed".

—Correct interpretation of words "specially appointed" in R. 2 (g), Bihar Panchayat Election Rules, 1959, would be taken to refer to appointment for specific purpose and nothing more. See Panchayats — Bihar Panchayat Election Rules (1959), R. 2 (g). AIR 1965 Pat 446 (DB).

"Special leave".

See (1) Constitution of India, Art. 136.
(2) Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 426 (2-B).

"Specified".

—Meaning and connotation of the term "specified" in S. 46 (2), Income-tax Act, 1922 indicated. See Income tax Act (1922), S. 46 (2). (1962) 1 Mad L J 201.

"Specified place".

—Words "specified place" in S. 69, Negotiable Instruments Act, cannot be used to cover a town or a city. It is a phrase intended to mean a place so described as would enable the holder of a note to go to it with a reasonable certainty or being able in find the drawer of the note to present the note to him. See Negotiable Instruments Act, S. 69. AIR 1951 Cal 55 (DB).

"Specify".

—The word "specify" used in S. 36 (3) (iv), A. P. Panchayat Samithis and Zilla Parishad Act, 1959, means "name expressly; mention definitely." See Panchayats — Andhra Pradesh Panchayat Samithis and Zilla Parishad Act (XXXV of 1959), S. 36 (3) (iv). (Before Amendment of 1963). (1964) 1 Andh W R 118.

"Spirits".

—Word "spirits" covers only alcoholic liquids which are generally used for beverage purposes and produces intoxication. Absolute alcohol is excluded from the scope of that expression. See Municipalities — Hyderabad Municipal Corporations Act (II of 1956), Sch. 1. (1960) 1 Andh W R 72.

"State"

See Constitution of India, Arts. 12 and 13.

—"State" includes Income-tax department. See Constitution of India, Art. 12. AIR 1956 S C 479.

—"Affairs of State" in S. 197 (1) (b) — The expression is elastic—Word 'State' itself does not always carry a fixed meaning. For certain purposes "State' means Government—But at times the word 'State' is used in wider sense. In Art. 12 of the Constitution it has been stated that for purposes of Part III of the Constitution, the word 'State' included local authorities also. The expression 'affairs of state' in S. 197 (1) (b), Criminal P. C., has been used in wider sense. In a sense a person engaged in the affairs of a local authority is a person employed in connection with affairs of a State. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 197 (1) (b). 1958 All W R (HC) 1.

"Statement made to Police Officer".

See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 162.

"Staff".

—An employee who is a pharmacist and designated as dresser in a Tea Garden will not come under the definition of "artisan" but having been engaged on a monthly salary basis discharging the duties of a dresser he comes within the category of "staff". See Minimum Wages Act (1948), S. 3. AIR 1960 Assam 123 (DB).

"Stock witness".

—It is difficult to define what is a "stock witness". But if it appears to the Court that a particular person is always at the beck and call of the police and is too willing to state according to their wishes, or that a particular person has appeared in some Court and disbehaved or some stricturers were passed against him, or his presentation was ordered for perjury, such person could be said to be a stock witness of the police and his evidence is not entitled to any weight. (1965) 67 Punj L R 260 : 1965 All Cr R 179 : 1965 All W R (Sup) 6 : 1965 Cur L J 189.

"Stone".—Meaning of.

—The word "stone" in Entry 8, Part 1, Sch. A, Minimum Wages Act should be construed in general sense. A small piece of stone, containing some quantity of metal or mineral would not, for that reason, cease to be a stone. The word 'stone' includes pieces of manganese ore. The Act applies to persons employed in stone breaking and stone crushing operations carried on in manganese mines. See Minimum Wages Act (1948), Sch. A, Part I, Entry No. 8. AIR 1958 Bom 332 (DB).

[Reversed in AIR 1960 S C 1068]

"Stoneware"

—The expression 'china ware' occurring in item 23-B of Finance Bill, 10 of 1981 must be understood to have been used in its technical sense in which it is understood in ceramic science. It does not include stoneware articles. See Provisional Collection of Taxes Act (1931), S. 4. AIR 1964 Ker 18.

'Store".

—In Ss. 7 and 16, Prevention of Food Adulteration Act 1954, the word 'store' is not qualified and if ghee is stored, the offence is complete. It is not necessary for prosecution to prove that it is stored with a view to sell in future. See Prevention of Food Adulteration Act (1954), S. 7. 1963 (1) Cri L J 349 : AIR 1963 Assam 28.

"Street".

—Distinction between 'street' and 'private passage' pointed out. See Municipalities — Punjab Municipal Act (III of 1911), S. 3 (13) (a). 68 Pun L R 65 (D) : ILR (1965) 2 Punj 632.

"Strike".

See also C. P. and Berar Industrial Disputes Settlement Act (23 of 1947), Ss. 2 (13), 2 (27).

—The contention that unless a person stops working as a protest it cannot be regarded as a strike has no force. Even if an employee resorts to a strike in sympathy with a particular employee that is nothing but a formal protest lodged against the conduct of an officer. The protest itself may take various forms and although the protest is in sympathy with a particular employee none the less when a concerted action is taken as a resentment against the conduct of an officer it will be covered by the meaning of the word 'strike'. 1957 All L J 480 : 1957 All W R (HC) 445 : (1957) 2 Lab L J 231 : AIR 1959 All 614 (617) (Pt C) (Pr 6).

"Sub-Divisional Officer".

—"Sub-Divisional Officer" is an expresion commonly in use to describe an Assistant Collector of the first class in charge of a sub-division and that is the meaning that should be given to the expression when used in the U. P. Panchayat Raj Act or in the rules made thereunder. See Panchayats — U. P. Panchayat Raj Act (26 of 1947), S. 110. AIR 1957 All 484 (FB).

"Subject."

In some cases subject may be equivalent to cause of action but in others it may not be so. Distinct causes of action cannot form one subject. But the converse is not necessarily true. See Court-fees Act, S. 17. 28 Pat 299 : AIR 1949 Pat 425 (DB).

"Subject-matter of suit."

"Subject matter of suit" is not defined in the Court-fees Act or in the Suits Valuation Act or in the Civil P. C. or in the H. P. (Courts) order — The expression sometimes refers to the concrete property to which the suit relates and sometimes to the title which is asserted and to others to the reliefs claimed — In H. P. Courts order, the expression appears to refer (a) in a money suit to the amount claimed and (b) in a suit relating to property to the right and title of the plaintiff alleged to have been infringed. See Himachal Pradesh (Courts) Order (1948), Para. 32 (1) (b) (2-i). AIR 1963 Him Pra 9.

"Subject to."

—Words 'subject to' in S. 5, Madras General Sales Tax Act, 1939 only means that the exemption under the license is conditional upon the observance of the conditions prescribed and upon the restrictions which are imposed by and under the Act whether in the rules or in the licence itself. See Sales Tax—Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 5. AIR 1961 S C 1152.

—Nothing can be made 'subject to' what is discretionary. See Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act (1956), S. 17 (2). 1963 All L J 894.

—The correct judicial interpretation of the words "subject to" is conditional upon and the introduction of these words in a document or in a statutory provision amounts to a condition or a proviso. See Sales Tax—Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 5. AIR 1950 Mad 377 (DB).

"Subject to these bye-laws."

—Expression "subject to these bye-law" in Bye-law 80 (4) of the East India Cotton Association Bye-laws, is merely discriptive. The proper interpretation of the expression is that the non-member agrees to be bound down by the bye-laws from time to time. See East India Cotton Association Bye-laws, Bye-law 80 (4). "Subscribed"

—Use of the word 'subscribed' in Art 219 of the Constitution would show that the oath repeated orally should be reduced to writing and be signed by the person taking it in token of his adhesion to what is written. The word 'subscribed' is not co-related with the particular form but with what is said in the oath and what is reproduced in writing. Even if a wrong oath is taken and its reproduction is signed by the person making it, it would still be an act of subscribing though not a correct oath. AIR 1965 All 97 (104) (Pt B) (Pr 24) (DB).

"Subsisting contract."

—"Subsisting contract" ordinarily connotes an existing contract. See Panchayats—Madras Village Panchayats Act (10 of 1950), S. 16 (2) (c). (1962) 2 Andh WR 146.

"Substantive capacity."

—"Substantive capacity" means a capacity other than an officiating or temporary capacity and would imply that the holder thereof had a lien on his post. See Lucknow University Act (1920), S. 23. AIR 1959 All 618 (DB).

"Substitute."

The word 'substitute' is not equivalent to the word 'cancel'. In some cases, the word 'substitute' may be employed to mean replacement by cancellation of the previous one. It might also mean the replacement of one by another, which might be equal to it, but differently expressed. AIR 1960 Assam 11 (15) (Pt D) (Pr 13) (DB).

"Substituted agent."

See Contract Act (1872), S. 194.

"Succession."

See also Madras Hereditary Village Offices Act (3 of 1895), S. 10 (5).

—Expressions "devolution" "succession" or "transfer" in Provincial and Concurrent Lists include partition of joint family property. See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 18. AIR 1956 Mad 642 (DB).

"Successor."

—Successor includes successive successors. See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 2 (a). AIR 1964 Punj 230.

'Successor-in-interest."

—Words "successor in interest" are wide enough to include all transfers and of course also transfers inter vivos. See Debt Laws — Madras Agriculturists Relief Act (4 of 1938), S. 9-A (10) (6). (1958) 2 Mad L J 557.

"Such."

—When the word "such" is used before a noun in the later part of a sentence the proper construction is to hold that the same noun is being used after the word 'such' with all its characteristics which might have been indicated earlier in the same sentence. See Sugar (Futures and Options Prohibition) Order (1949), S. 3 (a). AIR 1959 All 276 (DB).

—Word 'such' in sub-s. (2) to S. 6, of Bengal Suppression of Immoral Traffic Act, 1933, is only used to indicate that those "owners, lessors, etc." are meant who have been previously mentioned. See Bengal Suppression of Immoral Traffic Act (6 of 1933), S. 6 (1). AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 1100.

"Such taxes".

—Word "such taxes" used in S. 2 (2), Rajasthan Municipal Boards Validating Act, 1956, indicates what taxes, rules and bye-laws were being validated for the future. See Municipalities — Rajasthan Municipal Boards Validating Act (37 of 1956), S. 2 (2). AIR 1959 Raj 86 (DB).

"Sue".

—The words "to sue" signify not only "to prosecute" but also "to defend" or "to do something which the law requires for the better prosecution or defence of the cause". 96 Cal L J 168 : ILR (1957) 1 Cal 316 : AIR 1955 Cal 292 (294) (Pt D) (Pr 11).

—In the context in which word "sue" has been used in S. 86 (1), Civil P C., it means taking any legal proceeding in accordance with the provisions of the Civil P. C See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 86. AIR 1963 Raj 22 (DB).

"Sues for partition".

See Partition Act (1393), S. 4.

"Sufficient cause".

See also (1) Companies Act (1956), S. 155.
(2) Limitation Act (1908), S. 5.

"Sufficient or reasonable grounds".

—The expression "sufficient or reasonable grounds" in S. 8 (2) (1) of Hyderabad House Rent Control Order (1953F) should not be given a restricted meaning as grounds analogous to those stated previously, as the grounds mentioned in S. 8 are enumerative and not exhaustive. AIR 1953 Hyd 209 (210) (Pt A) (Pr 4).

"Sufficient reasons".

See also (1) Civil P. C. (1908), O. 47, R. 1 (1) (c).
(2) Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 25.

"Sufficient reason".

—"Sufficient reason" means reasonable ground. See Bengal Ferries Act (1 of 1885), S. 9. 1956 B L J R 592.

"Suit".

See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 21.

—"Suit" denotes whole of suit and not part of it. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 11. AIR 1962 S C 214.

—Word "suit" includes appeal. See Tenancy Laws—U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 (1 of 1951), S. 6 (1). AIR 1954 All 639.

—Although under S. 2 (10), Limitation Act, 'suit' has been defined not to include an appeal or an application yet for the purposes of Art. 163 of the Act, the application for restoration of an application for revocation of a probate dismissed for default, must be deemed to be an application by a plaintiff. See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 163. AIR 1958 All 149.

—Word 'suit' in S. 22, Payment of Wages Act does not include any legal proceeding. 'Suit' is a term of art and ordinarily means proceedings instituted in Civil Court by plaint. A proceeding under S. 54, Co-operative Societies Act is not a suit within meaning of S. 22 and S. 22 does not operate as a bar to such a proceeding being taken. See Payment of Wages Act (1936), S. 22. AIR 1962 Bom 162 (FB).

—Word 'suit' in S. 2 (3), Usurious Loans Act, is not confined to proceedings commenced with a plaint. See Debt Laws—Usurious Loans Act (1918), S. 2 (3). (1965) 2 Mad L J 526 : AIR 1966 Mad 322 (DB).

—'Suit' in S. 2 (5), Orissa House Rent Control Act includes 'appeal'. See Houses and Rents — Orissa House Rent Control Act (31 of 1953), S. 2 (5). AIR 1962 Orissa 149 (DB).

—A suit framed under O. 21, R. 63 is not a 'suit' within meaning of that word in S. 80, Civil P. C. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 21, R. 63. ILR (1965) Cut 457.

—Suit ends with a decree and different process starts when execution application is instituted. See Pepsu (General Provisions) Administration Ordinance (16 of 2005 Smt.), S. 3. AIR 1951 Pepsu 86 (2).

—Word 'suit' in Cl. 9, Letters Patent (Punjab) has wider significance and includes proceedings of civil nature whether commencing with plaint or not. Proceedings under Companies Act, in the matter of liquidation is "suit" within meaning of Cl. 9. See Letters Patent (Lah), Cl. (9). AIR 1961 Punj 87.

"Suit case".

—"Suit cases" — Material used or shape is not determining factor but easy portability — Steel trunks twenty-one or twenty-seven inches long and not more than eight inches in depth held to be covered by entry 12 and not by 22 of Schedule E. See Sales Tax — Bombay Sales Tax Act (52 of 1959), Schedule E, Entry 12. (1966) 17 STC 133 (Guj).

"Suits and proceedings".

—Appeals and revisions are excluded from the expression "suits and proceedings" used in Rajasthan Revenue Courts (Procedure and Jurisdiction) Act, S 6 (4). See Rajasthan Revenue Courts (Procedure and Jurisdiction) Act (1 of 1951), S. 6 (4). AIR 1955 NUC (Raj) 1364.

"Suit for land".

See Letters Patent (Cal), Cl. 12.

"Suit for recovery of money".

See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 8, R. 6.

"Suit is decreed ex parte".

The expression 'the suit is decreed ex parte" is ambiguous. When a party or his counsel does not take part in the proceedings but the party is deemed to be present the Court very often uses the expression 'ex parte' in its order decreeing the suit on merits. In a case where the defendant is present or deemed to be present and the suit is to be decreed on merits, then, although the defendant does not take part in the proceedings an order decreeing the suit ex parte will have to be treated as an order decreeing the suit on merits. The expression 'suit is decreed ex parte' will in such a case be treated as decreeing the suit on merits. 1956 All W R (HC) 824 : 1956 All L J 827 : AIR 1957 All 107 (110) (Pt D) (Pr 15) (DB).

"Summarily sold".

See Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 76 (c).

"Summon".

—The ordinary meaning of the word 'summon' is to be demand presence of; call upon a person to appear. 'Power to summon' does not mean power to issue summon. See Sea Customs Act (1878), S. 171-A. 1965 (2) Cri L J 616 : AIR 1965 Bom 195 (DB).

"Sunwai karna chahiye".

—Correct translation of Hindi words "sunwai karna chahiye" is "should be tried". See Panchayats—Madhya Bharat Panchayat Act (53 of 1949), S. 77. 1960 Jab L J 246.

"Superintendence".

See Constitution of India, Art. 227.

"Supervise".

—The word 'supervise' and its derivatives are not of precise import. The words must often be construed in the light of the context, for unless controlled, they cover an easily simple oversight and direction as manual work coupled with power of inspection and superintendence of the manual work of others. The work done in audit department of a bank is not 'supervison' See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2. (1965) 2 S C A 733 : AIR 1966 SC 305.

"Supervisors".

—Bank (Sastri) Award—Construction — Special allowance to supervisor—Workman whether superisor is mixed question of law and fact — Clerks doing work of checking in audit department held not supervisors. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 15. (1961) 1 Lab L J 18 (SC) : AIR 1967 SC 428.

"Supply".

See (1) Sales Tax—Bihar Sales Tax Act (6 of 1944), S. 2 (c).
(2) Sales Tax—Rajasthan Sales Tax Act (25 of 1954), S. 2 (f).

"Surrender".

See (1) Administration of Evacuee Property Act (1950), S. 40.
(2) Hindu Law—Widow.

"Survey and settlement operations".

—It would not be fair to give wide meaning to the words "survey and settlement operations" in S. 49 (1) (i) of Orissa Estates Abolition Act, 1952, so as to include within it the proceedings relating to apportionment of costs under S. 180 (1), Madras Estates Land Act. See Tenancy Laws—Orissa Estates Abolition Act (1 of 1952), S. 49 (1) (i). AIR 1957 Orissa 263 (DB).

"Survives".

See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 22, R. 2.

"Suspend".

—Bombay Local Boards Act (6 of 1923), S. 125 — Scope of—Collectors's power to suspend execution of resolution — Expression 'suspend' used as meaning 'annul'. See Bombay Local Boards Act (6 of 1923), S. 125, (1961) 2 Guj L R 82.

"Suspension".

See (1) Constitution of India, Art. 311.
(2) Hyderabad Civil Services (Classification Control and Appeal) Rules, R. 17 (d).
(3) Tort—Master and Servant.

"Suspensory award".

—It is essential, when an accident has caused an injury to a workman and the injury, although it does not affect the capacity in future, to make a declaration of the employer's liability when the evidence is fresh and then adjourn the matter, reserving to each of the parties thereto liberty to make such further application as they might be advised to make in future. Such an order, if made (and there is nothing in the Workmen's Compensation Act to bar it) will be called a "suspensory award". See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), Sch. 1. AIR 1957 Cal 601 (DB).

"Systematic".

—Word 'systematic' would involve element of planning, of method, of same continuity or persistence. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 123 (3). AIR 1960 Bom 249 (DB).

"Tabedari sthitiban".

—A 'tabedar' is the lowest grade of ghatwal and consequently a tabedar tenure is a form of inferior ghatwali tenure. The status of entry of a tabedar as as 'sthitiban' connotes that such a tabedar is a settled raiyat and accordingly "Tabedari sthitiban" means a tabedar who has the status of a settled raiyat. See Government Grants Act (1895), S. 3. AIR 1958 Pat 243 (DB).

"Tackle".

—Confession made by accused after being 'tackled' by investigating police officer—It could not be said that any undue influence was exerted so as to render the confession involuntary. See Evidence Act (1872), S. 24. ILR (1963) Cut 567.

"Tafawat".

—Tafawat in the case of Meenas Bara Gaon meant a fixed sum which was payable by them in cash in lieu of land revenue if they did not exercise their option which was given to them to pay the land revenue by rendering personal services. This was not a penalty imposed by the Government but a concession given to the tenure holders. I L R (1959) 9 Raj 348 : 1959 Raj L W 362 : AIR 1959 Raj 250 (252, 253) (Pt B) (Pr 10) (DB).

"Tah-bazari".

—'Tah-bazari' is really not a tax but is a ground rent of a stall or a site in the market. AIR 1955 NUC (Raj) 4637.

"Tahqiquat".

—The word "tahqiquat" as used in S. 240, Hyderabad Criminal P. C. means 'trial' as is meant in S. 233, Cr. P. C. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 233. 52 Cri L J 1376 : AIR 1951 Hyd 113 (DB).

"Take ....out of the keeping of the lawful guardian of such minor".

See Penal Code (1860), S. 361.

"Take or withdraw proceedings".

—Words 'take proceedings" may mean to lodge the complaint oneself. But it also means to do an act by which a prosecution would be lodged similary, in the case of withdrawal, the words "withdraw from proceedings" can also be interpreted to mean to do an act by which withdrawal be lodged. See Municipalities — Bombay Provincial Municipal Corporations Act (59 of 1949), S. 481. 1953 Cri L J 1454 : AIR 1953 Bom 365 (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1968 SC 822].

"Takes".

—Word "takes" in S. 361, Penal Code means "causes to go" to escort, "to get into possession"—Prosecution must show that the accused took some active part in the girl leaving her lawful guardians' custody and taking shelter with him. See Penal Code (1860), S. 361. (1963) 29 Cut L T 602.

"Taking and retaining possession".

—The dichotomy between taking and retaining in S. 180, U. P. Tenancy Act indicates that they are mutually exclusive and apply to different situations. Word 'taking' applies to a person taking possession of land otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of law, while the word 'retaining' applies to a person taking possession in accordance with the provisions of law but subsequently retaining the same illegally. See Tenancy Laws—U. P. Tenancy Act (17 of 1939), S. 180. 1959 Cri L J 1223 : AIR 1959 SC 960.

"Taking of possession or acquisition".

See Constitution of India, Art. 31.

"Taking out".

—'Taking out' does not mean 'in the process of taking out.' See Imorts and Exports (Control) Act (18 of 1947), S. 2 (b). AIR 1951 Assam 17 (DB).

"Taking to market".

—'Taking to market' must mean taking to a market with the idea of a sale therein. See Madras Plantation Agricultural Income-tax Act (5 of 1955), S. 2 (d). ILR (1961) 2 Ker 769.

"Taluqdari and Zamindari settlements".

—A taluqdari settlement differed from a Zamindari Settlement only in this that in the former one qabuliat was taken from the taluqdar for the payment of the entire land revenue of the ilaqa.

A zamindari settlement could be converted into a taluqdari settlement by taking one qabiliat from the settlee in respect of the vlllages comprised in the estate. See Tenancy Laws — Oudh Estate Act (1 of 1869). AIR 1952 All 6 (FB).

"Talwarbandi".

—Talwarbandi is a sort of a due which is connected with the recognition of the succession of a Jagirdar to a jagir by the ruler in the former State of Mewar. Ked Nazarana or talwarbandi has its source in history, though there is no statutory sanction as such for leavyng it. See Constitution of India, Art. 265. AIR 1957 Raj 151 (DB).

"Tamashuk sarti kebala".

—Translation of the words 'tamashuk sarti kebala" as mortgage by conditional sale does not appear to be correct. In Law Lexicon, P. Ramanatha Iyer gives the following meaning to the word "kebala". "Any deed of conveyance or transfer of right or property, any contract of bargain, or sale, a bond, a bill sale, title deeds and the like". Even accepting the widest meaning given to that term, the expression can only mean a bond or a contract by way of conditional sale. So translated the expression is consistent with a mortgage as well as with a sale and therefore that is a neutral circumstance. See T. P. Act (1882), S. 58. AIR 1963 S C 1906.

"Tamliknama".

—"Tamliknama" means document transferring 'Maliki' or ownership rights. Ram Gopal v. Nand Lal. 64 Mad L W 547 : 88 Cal L J 1 : 1951 All L J 24 : 1950 S C J 575 : 1950 S C R 766 : AIR 1951 S C 139 (141) (Pt D) (Pr 8).

"Tampering".

—Every alteration is not 'tampering'. The interference with document, to amount to tampering, should be one which has been done improperly. Interference with a thing to misuse it or to pervert it or alter it with some design clandestinely is tampering. It is the circumstances and the purpose or rather the manner in which the alteration is effected which will make the alteration tampering with the real thing. See Elections — U P. Panchayat Raj Rules (1947), R 19-F. 1958 All L J 491.

"Tank".

—A 'tank, or talao, strictly speaking is a piece of land having embankments and used for storage of water. The embankment which keeps the water confined is called bandh or pind, the ditch from which earth is taken for repair of that embankment or bandh or pind is called pet or bed of the tank. All these three together, namely, (i) the underground or the land underneath, on which water is stored, (ii) the embankment or the bandh, which serves the purpose of keeping the water confined within its boundary, and (iii) the bed or pet of the tank, is known as tank. 1937 Pat W N 158, Rel. on. 1957 Pat L R 51 : I L R 36 Pat 471 : AIR 1957 Pat 278 (283) (Pt C) (Pr 45) (DB).

"Tape",

—In contradistinction with the word 'cloth', the word 'tape' has been defined in Madras General Sales Tax Act, 1939, as material woven in narrow bands. The word 'cloth' cannot take in 'nawar tape'. See Sales Tax—Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 5 (iii). AIR 1957 Andh Pra 890 (DB).

"Taqabzul-badlain".

—The expression taqabzul-badlain or "exchange of equivalents" means that the registration receipt will be handed over to the vendee after he has paid the consideration money. 1953 B L J R 147 : A I R 1953 Pat 330 (333) (Pt B) (Pr 8).

"Tasfia".

—In certain parts of the country "Tasfia" is used in the sense of private settlement, in certain part it is used in this sense that a Court decides a dispute. The nearest English word would be 'settlement' or 'clear up'. AIR 1952 Vin Pra 25 (28, 29) (Pt H) (Pr 15).

"Tavazhi".

See Marumakattayam Law—Tavazhi.

"Tawaif".

—Tawaif' when used with reference to woman does not necessarily mean 'prostitute' or a public prostitute. In case of 'tawaif' emphasis appears to be on the artistic side i, e , on the fact that the woman engages in singing and dancing and gives public exhibitions. See Municipalities—U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 298(1), List 1(h)(e). A I R 1955 N U C (All) 2749.

"Tax".

—Word 'tax' used in S. 21, Rajasthan Motor Vehicles Taxation Act, 1951, has to be read in a wider sense and not in a narrow sense in which it has been defined in S. 2 of the Act. See Rajasthan Motor Vehicles Taxation Act (11 of 1951), S. 21. 1958 Cri L J 219 : AIR 1958 Raj 48.

"Tax and Fee".

See (1) Constitution of India, Art. 265.
(2) Municipalities—Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920), S. 321 (2).

—Though in a broad sense a fee may also be an impost when it is in the nature of a compulsory levy on certain classes of people, the Parliament has maintained a sharp distinction between 'fees' and 'taxes' in its legislative procedure. Where the imposition is in respect of the benefit taken by the person who is required to make the contribution or else where the imposition is for the service rendered by the authorities under an Act and for the purpose of execution of that Act and such contributions are not credited into the general revenues, they are not classified as taxes. The actual names given to the levy in a statute is immaterial. The purpose for which the levy is collected, the amount so collected (whether unduly high or otherwise) and the fund to which the levy is credited (whether to the general revenue or in a separate fund) —these are material factors in determining whether the levy is a 'tax' or a 'fee'. Compulsion is not the distinguishing factor. I L R (1949) 1 Cut 656 : A I R 1950 Orissa 47 (52, 55) (Pt D) (Prs 20, 22, 37) (DB).

"Tax" and "licence fee".

—Meaning of and distinction between a 'tax" and "license fee", pointed out. See Municipalities—U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 298. A I R 1956 All 185.

"Tax and Rent".

—Tax is a compulsory exaction by the State for purposes of raising revenue. It is distinguished from fee which is levied for some service and is not meant to augment the general revenue. Rent is a periodical payment by tenant to the owner or the landlord for use of his land or building. It is essentially a payment made by a person who uses the land, to the landlord for the use of that land, and is usually the result of a common agreement between the parties. It is not at all compulsory payment rightly understood. See Municipalities — Bikaner Municipal Act (4 of 1923), S. 55-A. AIR 1955 N U C (Raj) 4637.

"Tax has been paid".

—"Tax has been paid" in 1st proviso to S. 30 (1), Income-tax Act—Meaning explained. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 30(1). AIR 1957 Andh Pra 276 (DB).

"Tax on expenditure".

See Constitution of India, Art. 291.

"Tax on income".

See Constitution of India, Art. 291.

"Tax payable" and "tax due".

—There is a distinction between the expressions "tax payable" and "tax due". Tax is "due" when it becomes a debt owed to the taxing State; it becomes a debt when it has been determined by assessment and qualified and a notice of demand has been issued intimating the amount of tax and demanding payment. See Sales Tax — U. P. Sales Tax Act (15 of 1948), S. 7-E. (1964) 15 S T C 487 (All).

"Taxes on sale of goods".

See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 84.

"Tax under this Act".

—Mysore Sales-tax Act (25 of 1957), S. 13—Tax payable under S. 13 (1) includes tax on dealer's admitted turnover—Words "Tax under this Act" in S. 13 (1) — Meaning explained. See Sales Tax—Mysore Sales-tax Act (25 of 1957), S. 5. (1962) 40 Mys L J 428 (DB).

"Tax with previous sanction" and tax with "sanction".

—There is a well understood distinction in law between cases where a tax is imposed with the "sanction" of Government and cases where the tax has to be imposed with "previous sanction", distinction pointed out. See Panchayats — Rajasthan Panchayat Act (21 of 1953), S. 64 (j). AIR 1959 Raj 75 (DB).

"Tea",

—Word "tea" is not used in the Travancore General Sales Tax Act, in the sense it is used in commerce, in Mining lease or a grocer's shop, but in the sense of a product of plant life the resulant crop of man's labour in the culture of land. See Sales Tax—Travancore General Sales-tax Act (18 of 1124), S. 2 (1) (j) (a) and (j). AIR 1955 N U C (Trav-Co) 2563.

"Technical defect."

—It is not always easy to define what the expression "technical defect" means. However, a technical defect in law is one which may come within the four corners of it but in fact it does not affect the merits of the case. It is a mistake which does not go to the core of the matter. See Municipalities — Madhya Bharat Nagar Palika Nigam Parshad Nirwachan Niyam, R. 23 (1). AIR 1958 Madh Pra 182.

"Teera."

—Use of the Malayalam word 'Teera' in a promissory note, held did not indicate that it was necessarily a conveyance of the rights under the document under S. 2 (10) of the Stamp Act. See Negotiable Instruments Act (1881), S. 16. AIR 1955 Mad 53 (DB).

"Telegraph line."

● —Electric lines used for purposes of wireless telegraph are telegraph lines. They mean wires used for the purpose of an appliance or apparatus for receiving telegraphic or other communications by means of electricity. See Electricity Act (1910), S. 34 (2). AIR 1962 S C 159.

"Temple."

● —A religious institution will be a temple if two conditions are satisfied. One is that it is a place of public religious worship and the other is that it is dedicated to or is for the benefit of or is used as of right by, the Hindu community or any section thereof, as a place of religious worship. See Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act (2 of 1927), S. 9 (12). AIR 1963 S C 510.

"Temporary need."

See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 62 (c).

"Temporary Post" and "Permanent Post."

—Expressions "temporary post" and 'permanent post' are defined in Fundamental Rules, Rr. 9 (22), (30), Financial Hand Book, Vol. II, which are applicable to servants under the State. Distinction between the expressions, pointed out. AIR 1961 All 401 (406, 407) (Pt A) (Prs 15, 16, 17).

"Temporary statute."

—Meaning. See General Clauses Act (1897), S. 6.

"Tenancy-in-common" and 'Joint tenancy.'

—What is tenancy-in-common and joint tenancy, explained—Distinction pointed out. See Administation of Evacuee Property Act (1950), S. 2 (1). AIR 1957 All 561 (DB).

[H-11 overruled by AIR 1991 S C 365 in AIR 1968 All 499.]

"Tenant."

—A person can be said to be a 'tenant' if he holds land for agricultural purposes and if he is liable to pay rent or if he would, but for a contract, be liable to pay rent for his holding. 'Bataidar' is clearly not a person under any obligation to pay rent. The words 'Batai' and 'Bataidar' have been derived from the word 'Bat.' Now 'Bat' means a partition, a division or a share. 'Batai' denotes a devision of the crop between the cultivator and the landlord or the Government. 'Bataidar' is thus a cultivator who shares the crop or the produce with the proprietor, there is thus no question of payment of any rent by a 'Bataidar' to a proprietor, Likewise the word 'tenant' has no reference whatsoever to the sharing of produce. Tenancy implies the creation of a subordinate interest while a 'Bataidar' cultivates the land for the benefit of the proprietor on certain considerations. Hence the Bataidars cannot become Pakka Krishaks : 1961 Revenue Nirnaya 313, Rel. on. 1962 Jab L J 591 : 1962 M P L J (Notes) 324.

—Term "tenant" in S. 2 (4), Madras City Tenants Protection Act, 1921 (3 of 1922 as amended by Act 19 of 1955) would include person who continues to be in possession in land after determination of tenancy agreement. See Tenancy Laws — Madras City Tenants Protection Act (1921) (3 of 1922), S. 2 (4). AIR 1965 Mad 484 (DB).

—Expression 'tenant' has been defined in S. 2 (5) of the Orissa House and Rent Control Act, 1958. See Houses and Rents — Orissa Houses and Rent Control Act (31 of 1958), S. 2 (5). ILR (1964) Cut 220.

"Tender."

See Contract Act (1872), S. 38.

"Tenement."

—Word "tenement" used in Proviso 4 to S. 22, Bombay Finance Act, 1932, means a house or a part of a house which is separately owned or which is occupied separately. It does not mean a house or a part of it which is let. See Bombay Finance Act (2 of 1932), S. 22. AIR 1956 Bom 89 (DB).

"Tenure."

—Word "tenure" means only the period of service and it has no reference to the post held by the employee. See Life Insurance Corporation Act (1956), S. 11. AIR 1964 Mad 24 (DB).

—Definition of a "tenure" in S. 2 (q), Bihar Land Reforms Act, 1950, includes a Ghatwalli tenure of every description, namely both the Zamindari and Government Ghatwalli. See Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 2. AIR 1937 Pat 270 (DB).

"Terminal."

●—"Terminal" means the point to which motion or action ends, goal, end, finishing point; sometimes that from which it starts; starting point; an end; extremity; the point at which something comes to an end. If 'terminal' besides the above meaning has an additional meaning also and that meaning signifies the termini or the jurisdictional limits of the municipal area even then the construction to be placed on the term should be the one that favours the tax payer. See Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (2 of 1922), S. 66 (1) (o). AIR 1958 S C 341.

"Terminated under S. 12" in S. 46 (c), Saurashtra Land Reforms Act.

—Words "terminated under S. 12" in S. 46 (e), Saurashtra Land Reforms Act, simply mean that the tenancy may be terminated on grounds stated in S. 12 and not termination is to take place under the said section. See Tenancy Laws — Saurashtra Land Reforms Act (25 of 1951), S. 12. AIR 1956 Sau 44 (DB).

Term "maiming."

See Penal Code (1860), S. 429.

"Terms" and "advantages."

—The words 'terms' and 'advantages' are not synonymous. The "terms" of an agreement are not equivalent to the "advantage" which a party might receive under it. In fact that advantage follows from the terms of the agreement. AIR 1953 Sau 122 (125, 126) (Pt C) (Pr 11) (DB).

"Terms and conditions."

—The word "term," when used in the habendum clause of a lease means the period of the lease or the term granted to the lessee. The word "condition" used in a lease means a bridle or a restraint on the estate and may be contrasted with the word 'covenant' which imports an agreement. Thus a deed of lease which stipulates that the lessee would not assign the lease to anybody except his wife and children indicates that the lease may be determined for breach thereof and is a condition of this lease. But if a lessee undertakes not to underlet the leasehold premises, without the consent in writing of the landlord, the words of restraint indicate a covenant and the breach of the covenant entitles the landlord to sue for recovering damages or obtaining injunctions. Technical rules of construction of documents are not, however, always the safest guide for construction of statutes. The expression "term and condition," apart from its restricted meaning indicated above, may also have a wider import and may, in a particular context. mean incidents of a tenancy. 68 Cal W N 574 ; AIR 1964 Cal 460 (464) (Pt B) (Pr 18) (DB).

"Testimonial compulsion."

See Constitution of India, Art. 20 (3).

"Text"

●—Word "Text" in its dictionary meaning means 'subject' or 'theme.' When an enactment amends the text of another, it amends the subject or theme of it, though sometime it may expunge unnecessary words without altering the subject. It must, therefore be held that the word 'text' is comprehensive :enough to take in the subject as well as the terminology used in a statute. See Wireless Telegraphy Act (1933), S. 6 (1-A). 1960 Cri L J 160 : AIR 1960 SC 89.

"Text book"

—The word "Text book" would involve either some original matter contributed and published by the author or it may even include an intelligent selection of the work of another author or authors for use in schools. It may also include some book which have been copyrighted and if the scheme of the book or books involves a graduated or considered study or training the particular subject like say books of drawing it might be said to be text-book. A copy book cannot however be strictly a text-book in that sense. ILR (1955) Mys 203 : AIR 1955 Mys 81 (87) (Pt D) (Pr 17) (DB).

"Textile"

—Textile includes bleaching and dyeing processes — See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 22. AIR 1960 Mad 131.

—Word ' textile" will include anything from yarn to woven material which :may be coarse or which may be fine, which may be made of cotton or wool or jute or silk, which may be bleached or unbleached, which may be printed or plain. See Employees' Provident Funds Act (1952), S. 2 (1) and Schedule I. AIR 1955 Punj 130 (DB).

"The date of the said order"

—"The date of the said order" within the meaning of Rule 8 of the Payment of Wages (Procedure) Rules (1937), is the date on which :the order is actually made, if it is made in the presence of parties or after previous notice to them of the date on which the order will be made or if it is made in the absence of the parties the date on which it is communicated to them or on which they acquire actual or constructive knowledge of the order. Civil Appl. No. 2988 of 1956 D/- 3-7-1957 :(Bom.) Dissented from. See Payment of Wages (Procedure) Rules (1957), R. 8. A I R 1961 Bom 73 (DB).

"Then due".

—Expression "then due" in S. 12 (3), Bombay Hotel and Lodging Houses Rates Control Order, 1947, means due on the date of the payment. See Houses and Rents — Bombay Hotel and Lodging Houses Rates Control Act :(LVII of 1947), As Applied to Saurashtra, S. 12 (3). AIR 1955 N U C (Sau) 5045.

"The first day of hearing"

—"The first day of hearing" in S. 12 (3) (b), Bombay Rents, Hotel and Loding House Rates Control Act, means not the day fixed for return of the summons or what is sometimes called the returnable day but the day on which the judge applies his mind to the case which ordinarily he would do at the time when the issues are determined is the day mentioned and that is the day before which the rent should be paid. AIR 1951 Punj 441 Dissented from. See Houses and Rents—Bombay Rents, Hotel and Lodging House Rates Control Act (57 of 1947., S. 12 (3) (b). A I R 1959 Bom 471.

"The liability of such person"

●—The proper meaning of the words "the liability of such person" in O. 21 R. 50 (2) is that primarily the question to try would be whether the person against whom the decree is sought to be executed was a partner of the firm when the cause of action accrued, but he may question the decree on the ground of collusion, fraud or the like but so as not to have the suit tried over again or to raise issues between himself and other partners. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 30, R. 1. AIR 1963 S C 243.

"The said business"

—Words "the said business" occurring in S. 8 (3) (a) (ii), Mysore House Rent and Accommodation Control Act, construed. See Houses and Rents — Mysore House Rent and Accommodation Control Act (30 of 1951), S. 8 (3) (a) (ii). (1962) 40 Mys L J 871.

'Thettom'—(Kerala)

—In the case of non-jenmies the meaning of the word 'Thettom' is acquisition. 1957 Ker L T 315 : 1957 Ker L J 32.

"Think"

—Sapru J. — The word "think" has been used somewhat delibarately in S. 7, Police Act. One of its dictionary meaning is "to judge, to form or hold as an opinion, to consider". The word is milder than the word "found or established" "for it requires a less degree of positive certainly than those words as regards the fact in controversy or dispute. The process however by which the Police officers must 'think' have been indicated by the Police Regulations. See Police Act (1861), S. 7. 1954 Cri L J 874 : AIR 1954 All 438 (DB).

"To be concerned in"

—"To be concerned in" in S. 167 (8), Cl. 3, Sea Customs Act, mean to take part in or to be related to. See Sea Customs Act (1878), S. 167 (8). 1960 Cri L J 1441 : AIR 1960 Cal 676.

"To be paid"

—The expression "to be paid" need not necessarily mean that the amount is to be paid in the future. It may as well mean the compensation 'payable' under S. 10 (h) Telegraph Act. See :Telegraph Act (1885), S. 10. 1963 Ker L T 330.

"To show cause."

See Constitution of India, Art. 226.

"Total sum directed to be paid."

—Words "total sum directed to be paid by way of wages and compensation" in S. 17, Payment of Wages Act are entirely free from ambiguity. They mean on ordinary grammatical construction, the total of all the sums directed to be paid by one single direction, whether the payment is to be to one or more persons. See Payment of Wages Act (1936), S. 17 (1) (d). AIR 1959 Cal 318 (DB).

"To withhold service."

See Police (Incitement to Disaffection) Act (1922), S. 3.

"Town."

—In the absence of any definition in the Act the word 'town' has to be understood in the sense in which ordinary people understand it, namely, that it is a place having the main attributes of the existence of houses in clear proximity, concentration of large number of people in a comparatively small area and engagement of the bulk of the population in a non-agricultural pursuits. See Municipalities — Bengal Municipal Act (15 of 1932), S. 6. AIR 1952 Cal 753 (DB).

"Trade."

(3) Penal Code (1860), S. 168.

"Trade allowance."

●—"Trade" involves exchange of commodities for money, the business of buying and selling and the transaction involves the seller, the buyer, the commodity sold and the price paid for the sale. 'Allowance' means something given as compensation, rebate or deduction. The question whether a particular payment is a trade allowance within meaning of S. 14, Madras Commercial Crop Markets Act, 1933, or not depends upon the facts of each case. It must be a deduction in any transaction in respect of commercial crops. If it is a deduction out of the price of commodity agreed to be paid or transferred, it would be a trade allowance. On the other hand, if the payment is de hors the terms of the transaction but made towards consideration for the use of the premises or services rendered, it would not be a deduction from the price or in any transaction. See Madras Commercial Crop Markets Act (20 of 1933), S 14. AIR 1959 S C 300.

—The term "trade allowance" in S. 17, Bombay Agricultural Produce Markets Act, 1939, means deductions allowed by custom either in the weight of goods sold or in the purchase price. See Bombay Agricultural Produce Markets Act (22 of 1939), S. 17. (1959) 61 Bom L R 1478.

"Trade, business or commerce."

—"Transfer" — Expressions "devolution", "succession" or "transfer" in provincial and Concurrent Lists include partition of joint family property. See Constitution of India, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 18. AIR 1956 Mad 642 (DB).

"Transfer" and "Sale."

See (1) Administration of Evacuee Property Act (1950), S. 10 (2), Cl. (o).
(2) T. P. Act (1882), S. 54.

—The word "transfer" is a larger word and the word "sale" is a specific word. A transfer may be by means of lease, by means of a mortgage or by means of a sale or in any other mode. Where it is clear from the document transferring a business that the transferor has not retained any control over the affairs of the business after the transfer, the transfer amounts to a sale. A I R 1963 Bom 110 (114) (Pt C) (Pr 10).

"Transfer of property."

See also (1) Gift-tax Act (1958) S. 2 (xii).

"Transmission by operation of law."

—The phrase "transmission by operation of law' covers those cases where a person or authority acquires an interest in the property by operation of law, without any voluntary act on his part. See Companies Act (1956) S. 108 (1), Proviso 2. AIR 1965 All 135 (DB).

"Transport."

—"Transport" has three conceptions : the conception of two terminii and locomotion. When a person is said to transport goods from one place to another, what is intended to convey is that he moves the goods from the terminus of origin to the terminus of destination. Thus the whole process of moving the goods from the place of origin to the place of destination is included in the concept of transport. Locomotion is asmuch an essential ingredient of the concept of transport as the two terminii. The expression "caused to be transported" is a general expression which would take in its purview not only the causing of transport at the first stage when it leaves the place of origin but at all places intermediate between the place of origin of transport and the terminus of destination. See Gujarat Groundnut (Transport Control) Order (1964), Cl. (2). (1965) 6 Guj L R 282 : ILR (1965) Guj 501.

—Transport is the taking away from place to place by the owner of the property. It may be that the person transporting is a dealer and really transports the article with a view to distributing it. The two acts are different. See V. P. Sugar (Control) Order, 1950—Validity. 1953 Cri L J 70 : AIR 1952 V P 86.

"Traveller."

—The expression "traveller" is applicable to a person while he is travelling from one place to another. The moment he reaches his destination, he ceases to be a traveller. People from various places go to a hill station for a change and they stay there for a shorter or a longer period. Once they reach the hill station and stay there they cease to be travellers. See Municipalities — Bombay District Municipal Act (1901), S. 59 (1) (xi). 61 Bom L R 52 : ILR (1959) Bom 829.

"Trial"

See also Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 90.

●—Word "trial" may be understood in a limited sense as meaning the trial hearing of the petition, consisting of examination of witnesses, filing documents and addressing arguments. It may also connote entire proceeding before the Tribunal from the time that the petition is transferred to it under S. 86, Representation of the People Act, 1951, until the pronouncement of the award. Standing by itself the word 'trial' is susceptible of both the narrow and the wider senses indicated above. But the meaning to be attached to the word in S. 90 (2) of the Act, is the entire proceedings before the Tribunal from the time when the petition is transferred to it under S. 86, until the pronoucement of the award. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 90. AIR 1957 S C 444.

●—The words "trial" and 'tried' appear to have no fixed and universal meaning. The meaning to be attached to these words have to be ascertained from the context. The definition of the word 'inquiry' in Criminal P. C. confirms the view that S. 494 of the Code is wide enough to cover every kind of inquiry and trial and that the word 'trial' in the section has not been used in any limited sense. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 494. 1937 Cri L J 567 : AIR 1957 S C 389 (a).

—"Trial" — Meaning of — In the Criminal P. C. the word 'trial' has been used not in one sense. Meaning has to be given to the word according to the context in which it is used. For purposes of S. 540 of the Code, a 'trial' terminates with the pronouncement of the judgment or the charge to the jury and so long as the judgment has not been pronounced or the jury charged, the trial is not terminated See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 540. 1958 Cri L J 716 : AIR 1958 All 439 (DB).

[Implidly Overruled on another point in AIR 1968 S C 178.]

—The word "try" or "trial" is not restricted to trial of offence but covers a larger area and is used in regard to any legal proceedings and in regard to any issue whether it be civil or criminal. Trial of a petition under S. 528, Criminal P. C. is included within its fold. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S 193 (2). 1964 (1) Cri L J 176 : AIR 1964 Andh Pra 59.

—The definition in S. 4 (l) (k), Criminal P. C. puts it beyond doubt that an 'inquiry' is something different from a 'trial' and that 'inquiry' stops when 'trial' begins. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 4 (l) (k). AIR 1957 Andh Pra 472.

—The word "trial" in S. 6 (4) of Bengal Suppression of Immoral Traffic Act, does not mean a criminal trial. There can be civil trial as also a criminal trial. See Bengal Suppression of Immoral Traffic Act (VI of 1933), S. 6 (4). ILR (1951) 1 Cal 404 : AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 1100.

—Words "for enquiry or trial" in S. 528 (1), Criminal P. C. mean full trial and not a partial trial based on evidence partly recorded by the Magistrate and the evidence recorded by the other Magistrate from whose file the case is transferred. See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 350. 1961 (2) Cri L J 244 : AIR 1961 Mad 342.

"Tribe."

—Tribe is a group of a simple kind, the members of which speak a common dialect, have a single Government, and act together for such common purposes as warfare. Other typical characteristics include a common name, a continguous territory, a relatively uniform culture or way of life and a tradition of common descent. Tribes are usually composed of a number of local communities, e.g, bands, villages or neighbourhoods, and are often aggregated in clusters of a higher order called nations. The term is seldom applied to societies that have achieved a strictly territorial organization in large states but is usually confined to groups whose unity is based primarily upon a sense of extended kinship ties. It is no longer used for kin groups in the strict sense, such as clans. AIR 1964 Pat 201 (203) (Pt B) (Pr 14) (DB).

"Tribunal."

"Tributary."

—Expression 'tributary' used in Bombay Government Notification D/- 17-2-1913, under S. 5, Bombay Irrigation Act, 1879, even if read in the sense of wide amplitude cannot embrace any small nullah or stream in the very high reaches of Godavari river. See Bombay Irrigation Act (1879), S. 5. AIR 1960 Bom 490 (DB).

"Tribute."

●—Hukumnama and Patta fees are not tributes. See Tenancy Laws—Rajasthan Land Reforms and Resumption of Jagirs Act (VI of 1952), S. 4 (a). AIR 1961 S C 1338.

"Trippatidanam."

—Where in a document called "Bharamelpupathrow" the word "Trippatidanam" was used, it was held that it was meant to evidence the gift to temple. AIR 1956 Trav-Co 196 (DB)

'Trust"

See Trusts Act (1882), S. 3.

—There is a fundamental distinction between trusts and powers. A trust is an obligation annexed to ownership. Trustee holds the property subject to an obligation which the testator has imposed upon him. Trustee must act within the sphere of the testator's direction and must not deviate from it or modify it. In the case of power, the position is quite different. There is only his wish or recommendation and the wish is that the donee of the power would have absolute discretion and free unfettered choice as to the objects, institutions or persons amongst whom the estate of the testator might be distributed. Powers are never imperative. There is no direction by the testator. AIR 1957 Bom 218 (220, 221) (Pt A) (Pr 8) (DB).

—The word 'trust' in the context of S. 2 (b) (iii) of T. C. Indebted Agriculturists Relief Act, 1958, does not mean strict liability of a trustee. It is used only in the popular sense. See Debt Laws — Travancore-Cochin Indebted Agriculturists Relief Act (III of 1958), S. 2 (b) (iii). 1958 K er L T 436.

"Under colour of duty".

●—When the colour is assumed as a cover or a cloak for something which cannot properly be done in performance of the duty or in exercise of the right of office, the act is said to be done under colour of the office or duty or right. It is reasonable to think that the legislature used the words "under colour" in S. 161 (1), Bombay Police Act, to include this sense. "Undertaking or calling".
See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (j).

"Under the Act"

●—The words "under the Act" in S. 2, West Bengal Bargadars Act, 1956, refer only to those proceedings which are authorised by this Act only. See West Bengal Bargadars Act (19 of 1956), S. 2. AIR 1957 Cal 274 (FB).

"Under the Code of Civil Procedure".
See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 156.

"Undivided share".

—"Undivided" means "not divided and indivisible". If a share of a co-sharer cannot be ascertained and therefore has not been ascertained, it would be a case of undivided share. In tenancy in common the share of a co-sharer though not separated by metes and bounds, is divided, because it has been ascertained. Accordingly composite property does not include a property owned by tenants in common, some of whom are evacuees, though it would include property held by joint tenants some of whom are evacuees. See Evacuee Interest (Separation) Act (64 of 1051), S. 2 (d) (j). AIR 1957 All 561 (DB).

"Unfair".
See U. P. Temporary Control of Rent and Eviction Act (3 of 1947), S. 5 (4)

"Unless contrary intention appears".

The only possible construction of the words "unless a contrary intention appears by the will" in S. 109, Succession Act, would be that there must be clear unambigous and unequivocal intention by the testator in the will itself before a bequest in favour of a lineal descendant, should he unfortunately die before the testator, can be defeated. See Succession Act (1925), S. 109. AIR 1955 N U C Bom 22.

"Unmarried".
See Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 25.

"Until".

Word 'until' has both an inclusive and exclusive meaning according to the context. In the light of S. 29, City of Nagpur Corporation Act (M. P. Act 2 of 1950), the word shoul be deemed to have an inclusive meaning. See Municipalities — City of Nagpur Corporation Act (M. P. Act (3 of 1950), S. 20 (1). A I R 1956 Nag 278 (DB).

"Untouchability',
See Untouchability Offences Act (1955), S. 3.

"Upto not more than".

●—Promotion from cadre of head constables "up to not more than 30 per cent of cadre"—30 per cent is maximum limit — Words "up to not more than" merely fixes the maximum percentage of promotees from cadre of head constables. See Madras Police Subordinate Service Rules, R. 3. AIR 1961 S C 779.

"Urgency".

Urgency and Emergency—'Urgency' relates to a situation requiring prompt action. 'Emergency' indicates situation suddenly arising and demanding prompt action and is a stronger word. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 4. AIR 1959 Punj 538.

"Urgent repairs".
See Factories Act (1948), S. 63.

"Urkadai".

"Urkadai signifies a subordinate hamlet in a village group. See Tenancy Laws—Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act, (26 of 1948) (1962) 1 Mad L J 170.

"Use".

●—Word "use" must take colour from its context in which it is used. The expression "use in accordance with conditions contained" suggests something done positively, for example, utilisation or disposal, The word 'use' does not include non-use. See under Iron and Steel (Control) Order (1956), Cl. 5. 1965 S C D 885: (1965) 3 Law Rep 766 : (1965) 2 S C W R 801 : (1965) 3 S C R 161 : 1966 Cri L J 79 : AIR 1966 S C 78.

—"Using any public road" in S. 4 (1), A. P. (Andhra Area) Motor Vehicles Taxation Act, 1931 — To constitute use of public road, it is sufficient, if there is plying of vehicles, even if such plying is casual and not usual. See Andhra Pradesh (Andhra Area) Motor Vehicles Taxation Act (3 of 1931), S. 4 (1). 1965 (2) Cri L J 608 : AIR 1965 Andh Pra 420 (DB).

"Using a vehicle"—Word 'using' does not mean the same thing as driving or being in charge of the motor vehicle. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 42 (1), 1960 Cri L J 923 : AIR 1960 Mad 265.

—Word 'use' is very comprehensive. It means "put to or employ for some purpose". Goods which are being imported within municipal limits must be put to or employed for some purpose and it is only then that it could be said that they are brought in for 'use'. Wool imported for purposes of dyeing, it is being brought in for 'use'. See Municipalities—Punjab Municipal Act (3 of 1911), Octroi Schedule. (1965) 67 Pun L R 217 : ILR (1965) 1 Punj 606.

"Used".

—To constitute food within meaning of Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1954, the article must be usable as food—Court is not concerned with its actual use—Used means capable of being used or usable as food. See Prevention of Food Adulteration Act (1954) S. 2 (v). 1964 (2) Cri L J 715 : 1964 Pat 565.

"Useful to the public"..

●—Per Sarkar J. — It would be unduly restricting the meaning of the word 'useful' in S. 40, Land Acquisition Act to say that a work is useful to the public only when it can directly be used by the public. The words are not "work which the public can use" The work contemplated is work from the construction of which the public can in any way derive benefit whether by direct use of the work or by enjoyment of the fruits of the activities carried on there or may be, otherwise. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 40 (1) (b). AIR 1962 S C 764.

"Use of abbreviations".

Lahiri J —Use of abbreviations in public documents deprecated. They have only the effect of making them utterly unintelligible. Departmental Code is not permissible in public documents. AIR 1957 Cal 466 (468) (Pt H) (Pr 5).

"Uses and allows to be used."

—The use of expression "allow" and "cause" in a Statute, import a requirement of knowledge and the knowledge contemplated thereat is personal knowledge and the knowledge of a servant imputed to the master. "Uses any deadly weapon."
See Penal Code (1860), S. 397.

"Using false trade mark."
See Penal Code (1860), S. 482.

"Vacancy."

—"Vacancy" means the state of being not filled or occupied which may arise by death, efflux of time, resignation or removal and office newly created is ipso facto vacant at creation. See Panchayats — Madras Village Panchayat Raj Act (10 of 1950), S. 25 (3). (1960) 2 Mad L J 75.

"Vacant."

—When the original tenant transfers his tenancy rights a vacancy arises under S. 7, U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act, 1947. See Houses and Rents—U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act (3 of 1947), S. 7. 1964 All W R (H C) 614.

"Validity, construction or execution" of agreement.

—Where according to an arbitration clause, "every litigation as to the validity or construction or execution of the present agreement shall be finally decided in Paris .....", the ambit of the clause was wide enough to include the question of limitation. It is included in the words "validity, construction or execution". See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 2 (a). A I R 1956 Cal 644.

"Validly instituted."

—Words "validly instituted" in S. 7, Bengal Land Revenue Sales West Bengal Amendment Act, 1950, do not mean instituted successfully, that is to say, with success in the end. The language used in that section has reference not to the result of the proceeding concerned but to its form and constitution at the date of the commencement. See Bengal Land Revenue Sales West Bengal Amendment Act (7 of 1950 , S. 7. A I R 1955 N U C (Cal) 5334 (DB).

"Valid vote."

—The word "valid" in R. 16 (a) of U. P. Kshettra Samiti (Settlement of Disputes Relating to Membership) Rules, 1962, is used in contra-distinction to the word "invalid" used in R. 17. Thus a ballot paper which does not suffer from any of the defects mentioned in R. 17 is a valid ballot paper and the Returning Officer is bound to treat it as a valid vote. See Panchayats—U. P. Kshettra Samitis and Zila Parishads Adhiniyam (33 of 1961), S. 14 (2). I L R (1965) 1 All 111.

"Vanaspati industry."

—The ordinary and natural meaning of the word "vanaspati" is vegetable and the words "vanaspati industry" as indicated by the words following them viz., 'vegetable oil' in Item 23 of Schedule to the Notification No. 75/7 S. R. 55 (51), Dated 24-11-1953 under Madhya Pradesh Sales Tax Act, 1950, connote 'vegetable oil industry', 'vanaspati industry' cannot be read as meaning an industry engaged only in production of vanaspati ghee or Hydrogenated oil. See Sales Tax—Madhya Bharat Sales Tax Act (30 of 1950), S. 4 (3). A I R 1961 Madh Pra 32 (DB).

"Varam."

—Word "varam" is loosly applied. All kinds of people are called "varamdars" in the country side, though many of them are certainly not cultivating tenants. The word varam is applied to regular varam tenants having normal possession and full custody of the land and a tenancy agreement, and paying varam or guttagai, and constitutes cultivating tenants. See Tenancy Laws—Madras Cultivating Tenants Protection Act (25 of 1950) (as amendnd by Madras Act 14 of 1956), S. 2 (a). (1958) 2 Mad L J 519.

"Varesh, varish."

—The word 'varesh' (or varish), which is a Persian term means an heir and is not restricted to male heirs only but would include female heirs as well. Even in Sanskrit the expression 'Aurasa' is not restricted to male descendants. It would include any issue born of a person, i. e., sprung from the loins of a person (literally 'produced from the breast') whether male or female. A I R 1961 Orissa 9 (11, 12) (Pt A) (Pr 10) (DB).

"Varnish."

—"Varnish" is a generic name given to a homogeneous solution of gums or resins in alcohol, linseed oil or the like which is coated on various articles for protective or decorative purposes, French polish is only a species, being a homogeneous solution in alcohol with the result that the volatile solvent evaporates quickly. See Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), Sch. 1, Item 22. A I R 1961 Madh Pra 353 (DB).

"Vatsaravakasom."

—"Vatsaravakasom" means the right of the wife and children to be in possession and enjoyment of properties of deceased for one year from the date of death without being accountable for the income to the seshakars. "Cheruthettam" means the right to a share in the properties of the deceased towards the performance of the marriage and other ceremonies of minor children. See Malabar Law — Ezhava. A I R 1951 Trav-Co 135 (DB).

"Vegetables."

●—In Item 2 of Sch. 2, Rajasthan Sales Tax Act 1954, the word "vegetable" is used in its popular sense of vegetables grown in kitchen garden for use for the table. It does not include pan (betel leaves). See Sales Tax—Rajasthan Sales Tax Act (29 of 1954), S. 4 (2). A I R 1963 S C 351.

●—Word "vegetable" in C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act, 1947, Sch. 2, Item 6, must be construed in popular sense, denoting class of vegetables which are grown in kitchen garden or in a farm and are used for the table. The term does not include betel leaves (pan). See Sales Tax—C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (21 of 1947) (as amended by C. P. and Berar Act 16 of 1948), S. 6. A I R 1961 S C 1325.

—Pan and betel leaf is not vegetable within meaning of Item 6 of Schedule to Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act, 1947. 'Vegetable' in Item 6 should be given a narrow and restricted interpretation. See Sales Tax—Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941), Schedule, Item 6. A I R 1958 Cal 302.

—Word "vegetable" cannot be given the comprehensive meaning which it bears in natural history, and has not been given that meaning in taxing statutes, (e. g. Rajasthan Sales Tax Act, 1954). The term is to be understood as commonly understood denoting those classes of vegetable matter which are grown in kitchen gardens and are used for table. Betel leaves are neither vegetable nor plant. See Sales Tax—Rajasthan Sales Tax Act (19 of 1954), Schedule, Serial 2. 1957 Raj L W 518.

"Vehicle."

—Dictionary meaning of word "vehicle" is a conveyance or a carriage. Agricultural tractor is not a vehicle. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 3 (1) (b). A I R 1954 Mad 884 (DB).

"Vest."

See (1) Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (2 of 1922), S. 38.
(2) Provincial Insolvency Act (1920), S. 28 (2).
(3) Tenancy Laws—Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 3.

● — The word 'vest' has not got a fixed connotation, meaning in all cases that the property is owned by the person or the authority in whom it vests. It may vest in title, or it may vest in possession, or it may vest in a limited sense, as indicated in the context in which it may have been used in a particular piece of legislation. The provisions of the U, P. Town Improvement Act, particularly Ss. 45 to 49 and 54 and 54-A when they speak of a certain building or street or square or other land vesting in a municipality or other local body or in a trust, do not necessarily mean that ownership has passed to any of them. The vesting of property in the Trust is only for the purpose of executing any improvement scheme which it has undertaken and not with a view to clothing it with complete title.

That the word 'vest' is a word of variable import is shown by provisions of Indian statutes. For example, under S. 56 of the Provincial Insolvency Act (5 of 1920), the property vests in the receiver for the purpose of administering the estate of the insolvent for the payment of his debts after realising his assets. The property of the insolvent vests in the receiver not for all purposes but for the purposes of the Insolvency Act and the receiver has no interest of his own in the property. On the other hand, Ss. 16 and 17 of the Land Acquisition Act (Act 1 of 1894), provide that the property so acquired upon the happening of certain events, shall 'vest absolutely in the Government free from all encumbrances'. In the cases contemplated by Ss. 16 and 17 the property acquired becomes the property of Government without any conditions or limitations either as to title or possession. The legislature has made it clear that the vesting of the property is not for any limited purpose or limited duration. The Fruit & Vegetable Merchants Union v. The Delhi Improvement Trust. 1957 S C J 167 : 1957 S C A 373 : 1957 S C R 1 : ILR (1957) Punj 850 : AIR 1957 S C 344 (350, 353) (Pt B) (Prs 11, 19).

The word "vest" has not a fixed connotation. It does not mean in all cases that the property is owned by the person or authority in whom it vests. Such property may vest in title, or it may vest in possession or it may vest in a limited sense, depending upon the context in which such vesting is enacted. The word "vest", therefore is a word of variable import. AIR 1957 S C 344 : 1957 S C J 167, Rel. on. (1959) 61 Bom L R 660 : ILR (1959) Bom 1308.

"Vested in court".

●—Words "vested in court" in S. 108 (1), Government of India Act, 1915, cannot be read as meaning "now vested in court". See Letters Patent (Bom), Cl. 15. AIR 1953 S C 357.

"Vested right".

— A right is said to be vested when the right to enjoyment, present or prospective, has become the property of some particular person or persons as a present interest independent of a contingency. It is a right that cannot be taken away without the consent of the owner. Such rights may arise from contracts, or statutes or the operation of law. No person has vested right in the course of procedure. See Civil P. C. of Bhopal State, S. 49. 1963 M P L J 157.

— "Vested right" is power to do certain actions or possess certain things lawfully and is substantially a property right which may be erected by common law, by statute or by contract. There is a vested right in accrued cause of action or in a deference to a cause of action. See Houses and Rents — East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act (3 of 1949), S. 13 (3) (a) (iii). ILR (1958) Punj 1553.

"Vice-versa".

— Words "vice-versa" means "the order or relation being inverted, the other way round". See Municipalities — J. K. Town Area Act (17 of 2011 as Amended by Act 10 of 1965), S. 14-A. 1965 Kash L J 324 : AIR 1966 J & K 9 (DB).

"Vicinity".

— The word "vicinity" is a term of relative import and in the absence of any special statutory significance attaching to it, it must be understood in its ordinary dictionary meaning of the neighbourhood of a place different from the place itself. 59 C W N 999 : 1955 Cri L J 1336 : ILR (1957) 2 Cal 351 : AIR 1955 Cal 513 (515) (Pt C) (Pr 17).

See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (k).

"Village".

— "Village" in Notification No. 168 D/. 20-4-1950 of the Director of Civil Supplies, Pepsu, should be understood to mean what in vernacular is known as Mauza, Gaon, or Pind and includes not only the residential portion but also the lands of the villegers residing in it. Besides abadi deb, a village also includes the Gora deh, Shamilat deb, and practically all area owned by the village community. See Patiala Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Ordinance (2003 B. "Viruthi and viruthi lands".

— "Viruthi" is a service inam. It is a grant of an office, the performance of the duties whereof is remunerated by the use of the land "viruthi lands" are lands the bare enjoyment of which is attached to the performance of future services as mere remuneration without any interest in the soil except that of enjoyment and which lands could be resumed on non-performance. "Visit".

— A halt of a few hours at a place which falls on the way and from which the foreigner must catch the bus or a train to arrive at place his destination cannot be deemed to be a stay at that place and a visit to that place within the meaning of para 7 (3) (i) of the Foreigners Order, 1948. See Foreigners Order (1948), Para 7, Sub-para. 3, Cl. (i). (1965) 67 Punj L R 427.

"Vis-major".

— "Vis major" means an act of God. It is a short way of expressing the proposition that a common carrier is not liable for any accident as to which he can show that it is due to natural causes directly and exclusively without human intervention and that it could not have been prevented by any amount of foresight and pains and care reasonably to be expected from him. See Contract Act (1872), S. 151. AIR 1959 Pat 442 (DB).

"Viswas Bai" — Meaning of.

— The term 'Viswas Bai' means a sale as a result of good feelings amongst the parties or because of the trust, reliance or confidence that one reposes in the other. In other words, it means a sale which has come about on account of the confidence reposed by the vendor in the purchaser. 1963 Mys L J (Supp) 201 : ILR (1961) Mys 873 : AIR 1962 Mys 246 (248) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB) — Person giving away that which is not his own, and which he has no power to give—Gift is void ab initio. AIR 1957 Bom 280 (DB).

●—"Void", "Jurisdiction" and "Ultra vires" — The words "Void", "Jurisdiction" and "Ultra vires" are used in different senses. A thing that is void in the strict sense of the word is a mere nullity and may be ignored even in collateral proceedings as if it never were. In its true sense the word, "jurisdiction" means inherent jurisdiction and yet it is often used, as in S. 115 of the Civil P. C. in a special sense as meaning competency, or, as connoting those quasi jurisdictional facts without allegation of which the court cannot be set in motion, and without proof of which a decree should not be pronounced. The expression, "ultra vires" likewise, which strictly speaking implies an absence of jurisdiction, is often used to imply an absence of competency. Hence the use of expressions such as "void", "nullity", "null and void", "without jurisdiction" and "ultra vires" in cases where the impugned order is under direct attack as in appeal or revision provides no safe guide for holding that the order is void in the strict sense of the word so that it is for all practical purposes non est and may be ignored in collateral proceedings. "Waiver."

See also (1) Evidence Act (1872), S. 115.
(2) Limitation Act (1908), Art. 75.

●—Waiver is contractual and may constitute cause of action—Waiver means agreement to release or not to assert right. A I R 1935 P. C. 79 (82), Rel. on. Mademsetty Satyanarayana v. Yelloji Rao, (1965) 2 S C W R 145 ; (1965) 2 S C J 678 ; (1965) 2 Andh W R (SC) 145 : (1965) 2 Mad L J (SC) 145 ; 1965 S C D 1146 : (1965) 2 S C R 221 ; AIR 1965 S C 1405 (1410) (Pt C) (Pr 11).

—"Waiver" belongs to the realm of contract and depends on the conduct of the parties. It may be express or implied. A party may expressly agree to forego its rights under a contract or under the provisions of a statute. It is also open to a party by his conduct to release his right by implication. See Indian Independence (Rights, Property and Liabilities) Order (1947), Art. 8. A I R 1957 Cal 156.

—"Waiver" — There must be a conscious and intentional relinquishment of an existing right known by the party relinquishing, to exist in his favour. See Income Tax Act (1922), S. 34. ILR (1961) 2 Ker 32.

"Wajib-uj-arz."

—"Wajib-ul-arz" is an official record of the local custom prevailing amongst the various tribes of the village or the estate to which it relates. It is prepared by public servants in discharge of their official duties and is prima facie evidence of the customs stated therein. The presumption raised by it is rebuttable. See Custom (Punjab). "Wakf-alul-Aulad."

—Under S. 10, Bihar Agricultural Income-tax Act, 1948, wakf-alal-Aulad means dedication by means of which the property is tied up, so that the usufruct might be utilised for the benefit of the family. See Mussalman Wakf Validating Act (1913), S. 3. 1956 B L J R 663.

"Waram"

See under Words and Phrases—'Varam'.

"Waris."

—The literal meaning of the terms Malik and Waris are quite different; the former means the owner and latter heir, and they are never regarded as synonymous with each other. When we say that A is the 'Waris' all that we mean is that he is the heir while when we describe him as 'Malik' the idea is to convey that he is the owner having heritable and alienable estate. A I R 1948 Bom 281, dissented. (1950) 2 Pepsu L R 584 (DB).

"Waste land."

— Unoccupied' and 'Waste' are not exactly synonymous neverthelass all 'waste' is unoccupied and though not all 'unoccupied area' can be considered as waste land. 'Fallow' is not regarded as 'waste'. Words "broken up from waste" suggest waste land that is prepared for first time for cultivation. Land once broken up and cultivated and allowed to lie fallow for a while can no longer be regarded as waste. See C. P. Tenancy Act (1 of 1920), S. 87 (1). 1952 Nag L J 168.

—"Waste land" means land which is neither developed nor used as arable land but land which is undeveloped and unproductive and which in any event could not be made productive unless it was developed. See West Rengal Rules of Business, R. 19. (1958) 62 Cal W N 640 : A I R 1960 Cal 113.

"Waste or arable land."
See (1) Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 17 (1).
(2) Rajasthan Land Acquisition Act (24 of 1953), S. 17 (1).

'Water course."
See Northern India Canal and Drainage Act (8 of 1873), S. 70 (1).

"Week."
See Factories Act (1948), S. 2.

"Welsh mortgage."
See T. P. Act (1882), S. 58, Cl. (d).

"When."
●—Per Narasimham J. — Word 'when' may sometimes be indicative of time factor—But in S. 3 (12), Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act, 1937, the word has been used as indicating a condition and not the time factor and has the same meaning as 'where' to convey the meaning "in cases in which." Per Ray C. J.—The word 'when' in the section cannot force the construction of future death. The word means "if or in the event of" and does not refer to the time when the Hindu dies. See Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act (1937), S. 3 (12). A I R 1951 Orissa 378 (SB).

[Overruled in A I R 1955 Orissa 73.]

"When the Court is closed."
—Whether a court is or is not 'closed' within the meaning of S. 4, Limitation Act (1908), is in each case a question of fact and must depend on the practice which prevails in the particular Court. ILR (1952) 1 Cal 88: 55 Cal W N 127 : A I R 1952 Cal 542 (543) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 7, 8) (DB).

"Where."
—Word "where" cannot be construed as "until". See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 25-A (3). A I R 1956 Mad 396 (DB).

"Where a debt is incurred".
—The clause "where a debt is incurred by a person" occurring in S. 13A, Madras Agriculturists Relief Act, can only refer to present or future liability. Section prima facie refers to monetary transaction coming into existence subsequent to the passing of the Act. See Debt Laws — Madras Agriculturists Relief Act (4 of 1958), S. 13A. (1956) 2 Mad L J 425.

[Overruled in AIR 1965 Mad 127 (FB)].

"Where for any reason it is not possible".
—Words "where for any reason it is not possible" in S. 9 (4), Delhi Rent Control Act, 1958, construed. See Houses and Rents—Delhi Rent Control Act (59 of 1958), S. 6 (B) (2) (b). ILR (1965) 2 Punj 169.

"Where the right to redeem accrues to the mortgagor".
See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 148.

"Where there has been an appeal".
See Limitation Act (1908), Art. 182 (2).

"Whether acquired before or after the commencement of the Act".
—Clause "whether acquired before or after the commencement of the Act" in S. 14, Hindu Succession Act, 1956, makes it clear that the section applies to property which a Hindu woman had inherited before the commencement of the Act, provided it was in her possession at the commencement of the Act. See Hindu Succession Act (1956), S. 14. AIR 1958 Mad 255 (DB).

"Whether in a police diary or otherwise".
—By addition of words "whether in a police diary or otherwise" in sub-s. (2) to S. 162, Criminal P. C., it is now clear that the statements of witnesses during investigation, even though taken down in the special diary, can be used by the accused for the purposes specified in the proviso. See Criminal P. C. (1898) (as amended by Act (18 of 1923). ILR (1955) Hyd 644.

"Which is entered into".
●—Words "which is entered into" in S. 15 (1), Forward Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1952—Contract entered into prior to notification issued under the section are also covered. See Forward Contracts (Regulation) Act (1952), S. 15 (1). AIR 1962 S C 263.

"While acting or purporting to act in discharging of his official duty".
See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 197.

"While purporting to act as public servant".
See West Bengal Criminal Law Amendment (Special Courts) Act (21 of 1949), S. 4 (2).

"Wholesale price".
See (1) Central Excise and Salt Act (1944), S. 4 (9).
(2) Sea Customs Act (1878), S. 30.

"Who is not in possession thereof at the commencement of this Act" —The expression "who is not in possession thereof at the commencement of this Act" in S. 4, Madras Cultivating Tenants Protection Act, 1955, means cultivating tenants who were in possession of their holdings on 1-12-1953 but who ceased to be in possession at the date of the commencement of the Act by reason of an eviction. Voluntary surrender is not eviction. See Tenancy Laws — Madras Cultivating Tenants Protection Act (25 of 1955), S. 4. AIR 1957 Mad 641 (DB).

"Whole State".
—"The whole State" — Meaning of — Cannot mean 'the whole State of India'. See Municipalities — Travancore District Municipalities Act (23 of 1116), Sch. II, R. 18 (2), Proviso. AIR 1956 Trav-Co 174 (DB).

"Wife".
See Madras Hindu Bigamy Prevention and Divorce Act (6 of 1949), S. 5 (7).

"Wilful".
—"Wilful" means deliberate or intentional and not accidental or by inadvertence. See Penal Code (1860), S. 405. 1965 (1) Cri L J 539 : AIR 1965 All 233.
—"Wilful" excludes cases of inadvertence or mistake and not cases of ignorance or wrong view of the law. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 15. (1957) 2 Mad L J 511.
—Word 'wilful' excludes bona fides. An honest and reasonable but mistaken belief in the existence of circumstances, which if time, would make the act lawful is a good defence, 'Wilful' is a word of description. See Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 15, (1951) 1 M L J 348.

"Wilful default".
See (1) Houses and Rents—Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act (25 of 1949), S. 7 (2), Proviso.
(2) Tenancy Laws — Hyderabad Houses (Rent, Eviction and Lease) Control Act (20 of 1956), S. 10.

"Wilfully".
—"Wilfully" means "purposely deliberately". See Houses and Rents—U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act (3 of 1947), S. 3 (b). 1951 Rev Dec 294 : 1951 All W R (HC) 294.

●—There is an essential difference between "allowing a person and "wilfully suffering" a person to do a certain thing. 'Wilfully' presupposes a conscious action, while even by negligence one can allow another to do a thing. See Prevention of Corruption Act (1947), S. 5. 1957 Cri L J 575 : AIR 1957 S C 458.

—"Wilfully" does not mean dishonestly or mala fide. It does not mean intentionally or by inadvertence but deliberate where the mind has been brought into play and the man has after taking the facts into consideration, refused to do the act. See Sales Tax — U. P. Sales Tax Act (15 of 1948), S. 14 (b). 1957 Cri L J 167 : AIR 1957 All 88 (DB).

"Wilfully failed".

—Words "wilfully failed" in S. 3 (a). U. P. (Temp.) Control of Rent and Eviction Act, 1947 must mean not an unintentional failure or failure by inadvertence but a deliberate failure, where the mind has been brought into play and a man has after taking the facts into consideration, refused to make the payment. See Houses and Rents — U. P. (Temporary). Control of Rent and Eviction Act (3 of 1947), S. 3 (a). AIR 1952 All 504 (DB).

"Wilfully suffered".

—Charge of embezzlement — Question whether the officer "wilfully suffered" other members of the staff to commit the offence — The expression "wilfully suffered", explained. See Orissa Treasury Code, Vol. 1, Chapter IX, Rules under Rr. 544 and 549. 1958 Cri L J 1071 : AIR 1958 Orissa 194.

"Within".

—Word "within" means on or before the date fixed. See T. P. Act (1882), S. 60. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 30.

—The word "within" in relation to time means "in the limits of" (a period of time), "before the end of" and "after not more than". In S. 428 (1), City of Nagpur Corporation Act, 1948 (2 of 1950), the expression "at any time within 15 days" does not fix both the inward and outward limits of the period during which the election petition can be made. See Municipalities — City of Nagpur Corporation Act (1948) (2 of 1950), S. 428. AIR 1953 Nag 81 (DB).

"Within a period of not less than one month".

—Expression 'within a period of not less than one month' — Meaning — Expressions "not less than one month" and "within one month" mean same thing. See Rajasthan Agricultural Produce Markets Act (38 of 1961), S. 3 (2). 1965 Raj L W 358 : ILR (1965) 15 Raj 897 : AIR 1966 Raj 142 (DB).

"Within a week"

—In computing the period of one week, the date of occurrence must be excluded. See Houses and Rents — Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act (25 of 1949), S 3. 1953 Cri L J 1184 : A I R 1953 Mad 602.

"Within fifteen days"

—Expression "within fifteen days" in S. 12A, Bihar & Orissa Motor Vehicles Taxation Act, 1930 means clear fifteen days which would necessarily exclude due date of payment. See Bihar and Orissa Motor Vehicles Taxation Act (2 of 1930), S. 12-A (1) (as amended by Orissa Act 23 of 1962). AIR 1965 Orissa 71 (DB).

"Within jurisdiction of different Courts"

See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 17.

"Within the meaning of"

●—Words "within the meaning of" in S. 2 (b), Orissa Estates Abolition Act, 1951 (1 of 1952), cannot mean that if A is mentioned in one of those documents (viz. wajib-ul-arz or any sanad, deed or other instrument) and is called or referred to as a zamindar that makes him an intermediary, for if that has been the intention, the definition would have said so. See Tenancy Laws — Orissa Estates Abolition Act, 1951 (1 of 1952), S. 2 (h). AIR 1954 S C 139.

"Within three days of sending of communication"

—"Within three days of sending of such communication"—Computation. Three days are to start from the receipt of the communication. See Municipalities —U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 47A (1) (a). 1957 All L J 205.

"With or without consent of landlord"

—W. B. Premises Tenancy Act (12 of 1956), S. 16 (2) —Lease—Prohibition of sub-letting with or without consent of landlord—Breach of—Sub-letting is without consent of landlord under S. 16 (2). See Tenancy Laws—W. B. Premises Tenancy Act (12 of 1956), S. 16 (2). (1961) 65 Cal W N 1050.

"Without an obligation to pay rent"

—The expression "without any obligation to pay rent" in the definition of "kudikidappukaram" in S. 2 (a), Cochin Verumpattamdars Act, 1113, can only apply to such cases where there is evidence to the effect that when the house site was allowed to be used there was definite agreement on part of the landlord that party so allowed need not pay any rent at all. Absence of agreement will not raise any presumption that the house site was given without any obligation to pay rent. See Tenancy Laws — Cochin Verumpattamdars' Act (8 of 1113), S. 2. 1956 Ker L T 920.

"Without any prejudice"

—The words "without prejudice" import into any transaction that the parties have agreed that as between themselves the receipt of money by one and its payment by the other shall not of themselves have any legal effect on the rights of the parties, but they shall be open to settlement by legal controversy as if the money had not been paid. Hence, where rent was accepted without prejudice by the State from a person who had taken a settlement from the landlord, the State would not be estopped from challenging the genuineness and validity of the settlement under S. 4 (h), Bihar Land Reforms Act. 1956 B L J R 229 : 1956 Pat L R 151 : ILR 35 Pat 385 : AIR 1956 Pat 425 (426, 427) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).
[Reversed on other grounds in A I R 1962 S C 50.]

"With regard to"

—Construction. See Bombay Industrial Relations Act (11 of 1947). AIR 1952 Bom 209.

"With respect to' and 'in relation to' 'Legislature'.

See Constitution of India, Art. 208 (2).

"Witness"

See Constitution of India, Art. 20 (3).

"Wood Naptha"

—Wood naptha is a distillation of wood and in its crude stage contains only small percentage of Methyl Alcohol. From this is prepared Methyle Alcohol of different degrees of purity. In other words, from Methyle Alcohol may be prepered from impure Methyle Alcohol containing acetone and other impurity. In any case, whether pure or impure, methyle alcohol is not drinkable or potable and is supposed to be poisonous. In fact it is used as a denaturing agent itself. See Customs Tariff Schedule, S. 4, Item 22 (4). AIR 1958 Cal 694.

"Work"

—The word 'work' has a very wide meaning. The word is really used in two senses of bestowing labour and that upon which labour has been bestowed. The word gets its colour and complexion from the nature of the work and when used in singular with reference to construction, it is not confined to only big industrial or scientific constructions. Taking the ordinary popular meaning, the construction of ordinary houses for purposes of residence comes within its meaning. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 40. AIR 1954 All 700.

—The word "work" in the expression "for the execution of any work" in S. 50 (1), Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act, 1925, is not used in the sense of the work that an officer of the Municipality has to do in the discharge of his duties. The section has no application to the appointment on a contract basis. See Municipalities—Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act (18 of 1925), S. 50 (1). ILR (1958) Bom 113.

"Worker"

See Factories Act (1948), S. 2 (k) (l) and (m).

—"Worker" — Includes both casual and permanent workers. See Plantations Labour Act (1951). S. 80 (as stood before amendment by Act (34 of 1960). I L R (1964) 16 Assam 550.

"Workman"

"Workman concerned in pending dispute"

See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 33A.

"Workmen concerned in such dispute"

See Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act (1950), S. 22.

"Works"

—Improvements are also "works" in the contemplation of Requisitioned Land (Continuance of Powers) Act, 1947. It is not essential that they should be original constructions. See Requisitioned Land (Continuance of Powers) Act (1947), S. 5 (3). A I R 1955 Cal 506 (DB).

"Works contract"

See also Madras General Sales-tax Act (1939), Ss. 2 and 3.

—When a person entrusts a press to print stationery like letter paper or visiting cards and the press itself supplies the material, the transaction is nothing but a works contract. See Sales-tax — Madras General Sales-tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 2 (i) (l). A I R 1956 Mad 191.

"Woman's estate"

See (1) Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act (1937), S. 3 (2) and (3).
(2) Hindu Law—Widow.

"Wrong"

—The term 'wrong' in S. 23 (a) Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 means an act causing some injury in the other side. A wife being separated from her husband cannot be considered to cause thereby an injury to her husband. See Hindu Marriage Act (1955), S. 23 (a). AIR 1958 Raj 71.

"Wrong done to person"

—"Wrong done to the person" in S. 19, Civil P. C. connotes the same thing which is termed in common law as trespass to the person. Wrong attachment of one's immovable property cannot amount to trespass to the person or wrong done to the person. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 16. AIR 1955 N U C (Madh B) 2402.

"Worship"

—The word 'worship" in English is almost untranslatable into other language. It implied acts prompted by veneration but with stress of time and weight of use it has come to be applied to the whole range of religious behaviour so that one might well say that 'worship' is the active side of religion. A I R 1961 Mad 265 (270) (Pr 16) (DB).

"Would be"

—Word "would be" as used in S. 4 (a), Merwar Limitation (Amendment Act, 1949, clearly mean 'is'. See Marwar Limitation (Amendment) Act (32 of 1949), S. 4 (a). AIR 1955 N U C (Raj) 680.

"Writing"

—"Writing" — Statement recorded on tape by tape recorder is not writing—It is inadmissible in evidence under S. 145, Evidence Act. AIR 1956 Punj 173.

"Wrongful gain"

See Penal Code (1860), S. 23.

"Wrongful loss"

See Penal Code (1860), S. 23.

"Wrongly taking"

—Expression "wrongly taking" in S. 86 (1) (iv) of C. P. & Berar Panchayats Act, 1947, is wide one and it comprises not only of an act which would amount to conversion but also an act which would amount to trespass to goods. It thus includes wrongful impounding of cattle. See C. P. and Berar Panchayats Act (1 of 1847), S. 86 (1) (iv). A I R 1953 Nag 213 (DB).

"Wrong person"

See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 1, R. 10 (1).

"Yakjaddis"

—Yakjaddis who have first preference in matters of sale, are relations of the vendor though males only descended from a common ancestor. See Wajib-ul-arz AIR 1955 N U C (Raj) 298 (DB).

"Years"

See (1) Assam State Acquisition of Zamindaris Act (18 of 1951), S. 11.
(2) Debt Laws—Bihar Money Lenders Act (3 of 1938), S. 4.
(3) General Clauses Act (1897), S. 3 (66).

(6) Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy Act (29 of 1939), S. 2 (12).
(7) Tenancy Laws — C. P. Tenancy Act (1 of 1920), S. 87 (3).

"Year of the tenancy."

—Expression "a year of the "tenancy" in S. 9 (1) (b) (iii) of the West Bengal Non-agricultural Tenancy Act, 1949, in relation to the tenancies from month to month means in the absence of a contract to the contrary, a year or a period of twelve months according to the calender of the particular tenancy, starting with its date of commencement or any ani-versary thereof. The term year in the provision does not necessarily mean the calender year in every case. See Tenancy Laws — West Bengal Non-agricultural Tenancy Act (20 of 1949), S. 9 (1) (b) (iii). AIR 1961 Cal 515 (SB).

"Zaili"

—The definition of the word "zaili" given in S. 90 of the Circular No. 3 (Sigha Mal) of the former Kotah State, and the subsequent sections does not include trespasser. See Tenancy Laws—(Former) Kotah State in Rajathan Circular No 3 (Sigha Mal) of the former Kotah State, S. 69. AIR 1955 NUC (Raj) 5006 (DB).

"Zamindar"

●—The word "Zamindar" used in a wajib-ul-arz prepared by revenue officers during the course of the settlement must be given the ordinary meaning given to it in revenue proceedings. The word 'zamindari" has a well established connotation. It means "a person" who is the owner or a co-sharer of a mohal and as such has an interest in the common land of the mohal and the management of the mohal, has the right to realise rent from tenants and in the absence of a contract to the contrary is liable to pay land revenue to Government. WORKING JOURNALISTS (CONDITIONS OF SERVICE AND MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS) ACT (45 of 1955)

●——S. 1—Constitutional validity—Whether violates Arts. 19 (1) (a), 19 (1) (g), 14 and 32 of the Constitution — (Constitution of India, Arts. 14, 19 (1) (a), 19 (1) (g) and 32).

None of the provisions of the Act is violative of the fundamental rights enshrined in Arts. 19 (1) (a), 19 (1) (g), 14 and/or 32 save the provision contained in S 5 (1) (a) (iii) of Act which is violative of the fundamental right guaranteed under Art. 19 (1) (g) of the Constitution and is therefore unconstitutional and should be struck down. S. 5 (1) (a) (iii) being clearly severable from the rest of the provisions can be struck down as unconstitutional without invalidating the other parts of the impugned Act.

The impugned Act does not say that the Wage Board shall not give any reason for its decision. It is left to the discretion of the Wage Board whether it should give the reasons for its decision or not. In the absence of any such prohibition it is impossible to hold that the fundamental right conferred upon the petitioners under Art. 32 was in any manner whatever sought to be infringed. ——S. 2 (g) and S. 18 (1) — Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (g)—'Employer' means newspaper establishment itself and not its manager.

The definition of the word 'employer' as given in S. 2 (g) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, does not furnish the key to the meaning of the word 'employer' used in S. 18 (1) of the Working Journalists (Conditions of Service) and Miscellaneous Provisions Act. In the case of a newspaper establishment the word 'employer', used in S. 18 (1) of the Working Journalists Act, means the newspaper establishment only and it does not include or mean also the manager of the said establishment. 1959 B L J R 569 : 1960 Cri L J 102 : (1959.60) 17 F J R 307 : (1960) 1 Lab L J 223 : AIR 1960 Pat 10 (13, 14) (Pt D) (Prs 26, 28).

——S. 2 (g) and S. 18 (1) — Definition of word 'manager' in Companies Act, S. 2 (24) is not useful in fixing meaning of word 'employer' in S. 18 (1).

In view of S. 2 (g) of the Working Journalists Act it is not permissible to look to the Companies Act for the definition of the word 'employer' in the Act. Further the definition of the word 'manager' in S. 2 (24) of the Companies Act, 1956, does not solve the question whether the word 'employer' in S. 18 (1) of the Working Journalists Act includes the manager of the newspaper establishment. 1959 B L J R 569 : 1960 Cri L J 102 : (1959-60) 17 FJR 307 : (1960) 1 Lab L J 223 : AIR 1960 Pat 10 (17) (Pt E) (Pr 55).

——S. 6 (1)—Working journalists working overtime — Rate of payment.

Section 6 (1) of the Act opens with the words 'subject to any rules that may be made under this Act.' No rules have so far been made under this Act. In the case of manual labour where an employee is required to work overtime the usual rule applied by employers is the payment of double usual wages for the overtime. That also is the basis upon which Industrial Tribunals award compensntion for overtime in cases of disputes, notwithstanding the absence of a specific provision on these lines in the Industrial Disputes Act. ——Ss. 8, 9 (1) and 29—Wage Board — Practice and procedure — Resignation of member—Reconstitution — Decision by majority — Validity — Rules under Act — Effect — Decision without giving reasons — Validity.

The decision of the Wage Board appointed under the Act, dated 30th April, 1957 was challenged by newspaper owners as illegal and void because: (1) Reconstitution of the Board was ultra vires and unauthorised by the Act as it stood at the time, the rules having been published only on 30th July, 1956; (2) The decision by a majority was unwarranted by the Act and since there was no provision in the Act, the Rules providing for the same went beyond the Act and were therefore ultra vires; (3) The procedure followed by the Board offended the principles of natural justice and was therefore invalid; (4) The decision was invalid, because (a) no reasons were given, (b) nor did it disclose what considerations prevailed with the Board in arriving at its decisions; (5) Classification on the basis of gross revenue was illegal and unathorised by the Act; (6) Grouping into chains or multiple units was unauthorised by the Act; (7) The Board was not authorised by the Act to fix the salaries of journalists except in relation to a particular industrial establishment and not on an All-India basis of all newspapers taken together; (8) The decision was bad as it did not disclose that the capacity to pay of any particular establishment was ever taken into consideration; (9) The Board had no authority to render a decision which was retrospective in operation; (10) The Board had no authority to fix scales of pay for a period of 3 years (subject to review by the Government by appointing another Wage Board at the end of these 3 years), and (11) The Board was handicapped for want of Cost of Living Index.

Held, that the decision of the Wage Board was ultra vires the Act itself as the Board contravened the mandatory requirement of S. 9 of the Act, and must be declared as illegal and void. WORKING JOURNALISTS (INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES) ACT (1 of 1955)

● ——S. 2 (b) — Working Journalists (Conditions of Service) and Miscellaneous Provisions Act (XLV of 1955), S. 2 (f) — Part time correspondent — When 'working journalist' within meaning of definition — 'Avocation' meaning of

The first part of definition of 'working journalist' in S. 2 (b) provides for two conditions which must be satisfied by a journalist before he can be held to be a working journalist. The first condition is that he must be a journalist whose principal avocation is that of a journalist and the second condition is that he must be employed as such in, or in relation to, any establishment as there specified. The two conditions thus prescribed by the first part of the definition govern the categories of newspaper employees included in the definition by the artificial extension made by the including clause. (1961) 2 An W R 133 : AIR 1961 Andh Pra 528, Reversed.

The word 'avocation' used in S. 2 (b) means one's vocation, calling or profession. The plain idea underlying S 2 (b) is that if a person is doing the work, say of a correspondent, and at the same time is pursuing some other calling or profession say that of a lawyer, it is only where his calling as a journalist can be said to be his principal calling that the status of a working journalist can be assigned to him.

As to the second requirement of employment which must govern the employee falling under the latter part of S. 2 (b) if they seek the status of working journalists, it is plain that an employment must be proved, because that alone will create a relationship of employer and employee between them and the newspaper establishment.

Normally, employment contemplated by S. 2 (b) would be full time employment, but part time employment is not excluded from S 2 (b) either. On a fair construction of S. 2 (b) it would not be possible to hold that a part time employee who satisfies the test prescribed by S. 2 (b) can be excluded from its purview merely because his employment is part time. If there is such incapacity that he cannot get employment for any work he can undertake it would be total permanent disability. ——S. 2 (1) (n) — Conditions necessary for being workman.

If one of the two conditions which must co-exist in order that a person may be taken out of the category of workman, namely, that the employment of the person was not of causual nature is absent, even if the other condition, namely, that the person had not been employed in the course of the employer's trade or business, is assumed to exist, still the person cannot be taken out of the category of workman. 1962 Jab L J 448 : 1962 M P L J (Notes) 1007 : A I R 1963 Madh Pra 24 (25) (Pt B) (Pr 7).

——S. 2 (1) (n) — Employer's trade or business — "Business" — Meaning of — Agriculturist employing casual labourers for digging well — Labourers are "workmen" within S. 2 (1) (n)—Words and phrases.

"Business" means anything which occupies the time and attention and labour of a man for the purpose of profit. It has a more extensive meaning than the word "trade" and includes farming. (1880) 15 Ch. D 247 and (1865) 1 C P 148, Rel. on. Casual labourers employed by agriculturists for digging a well in their lands intending to promote farming in those lands are employed for the purposes of the agriculturists' "trade or business" and are "Workmen" within the meaning of S. 2 (1) (n). ——S. 2 (1) (n)—"Workman"—Mason employed for constructing godown for storing grain—Employment for purposes of trade—Employment casual—Effect.

The word 'and' occurring in the definition of workman is used conjunctively and therefore both the limits of the conditions of exclusion have to be satisfied. Hence if a man be employed for the purposes of the trade or business the employer is liable, even though the employment is of a casual nature. 1920 A C 781 : 42 C W N 516, Rel on. ——S. 2 (1) (n) — "Workman" — Employer grain merchant—Mason employed to construct godown, if "workman".

The word "and" in 'whose employment is of a casual nature and who is employed otherwise than for the employer's trade or business' has to be read conjunctively. The mason employed in constructing it is a person employed for the purposes of the trade or business of the employer and therefore a 'workman' although his employment is casual. 1920 A C 781 and 42 C W N 516, Rel. on. ——S. 2 (1) (n)—Digging of well — Use of dynamite for digging — Injury caused by explosion to one of diggers — Held digger is workman within meaning of S. 2 (1) (n).

A person to be excluded from the definition of 'workman' as defined in S. 2 (1) (n) must not only be one 'whose employment is of a casual nature' but also one 'who is employed otherwise than for the purposes of the employer's trade or business.' Where a person invests capital in building a number of houses with a view to obtain profits by letting the houses on rent the employment of workmen directly by him in the construction of those houses is for the purpose of his business. He cannot avoid his liability to compensate a workman engaged in the construction merely because construction of houses is only his subsidiary business and his main business is something else. In order to exclude a person from the category of a workman, it must be shown that his employment was of a casual nature and further that he was employed otherwise than for the purpose of the employer's trade or business. A I R 1952 Sau 74 (74, 75) (Prs 2a, 3) (DB).

8 (C). "Workman"—Nature of employment.

——S. 2 (1) (n), Sch. II, Cl. (ii)—Scope.

It is not necessary for the purpose of satisfying the definition of "workman" that the deceased should be working in the manufacturing process itself. All that is necessary is that he should be working in the premises in which ten or more persons are employed in a manufacturing process and he must be employed in those premises otherwise than in a clerical capacity. 55 Bom L R 924 : I L R (1954) Bom 353 : A I R 1954 Bom 180 (180, 181) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

——S. 2 (1) (n) (ii) read with second Schedule — Workman—Ten or more persons.

Held that more than nine persons were employed in the workshop and the deceased was a workman within the meaning of the Act. 54 Bom L R 421 : (1952) 1 Lab L J 1 ; (1952-53) 4 F J R 190 : ILR (1952) Bom 1048 ; A I R 1952 Bom 382 (383) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

——S. 2 (1) (n) (ii) and Sch II, Cl. (ii) — Manufacturing process as defined in S. 2 (g), Factories Act, 1934—Worker employed in printing press—Sch. II, Cl. (ii) if applies.

The definition in the Act of 1948 contains a clause referring specifically to printing which is not found in the Act of 1934. Hence for the applicability of the Workmen's Compensation Act to a printing press, it is necessary to consider whether that fact is sufficient to exclude the case of a workman working in such press from Cl. (ii) of Sch. II of the Workmen's Compensation Act; or whether S. 8, General Clauses Act, made the definition of 1948 applicable. (1955-56) 8 F J R 424 ; A I R 1955 Cal 306 (307) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Ss. 2 (1) (n) (ii) and 4 (1), Proviso (a) — "Workman" in proviso—Meaning — Compensation payable to dependants—Deductions.

The word "workman" in proviso (a) to S. 4 (1) can be read as dependants of a workman. Therefore, a deduction in respect of payments of compensation made to the workman during his lifetime can be made and what should be deposited as compensation payable to dependants is an amount calculated in accordance with Sch. IV of the Act less these payments. 11 Rang 154, Not foll. ('52) 56 Cal W N 189 ; (1952-53) 4 F J R 111 : I L R (1952) 2 Cal 369 ; AIR 1952 Cal 877 (878, 879) (Pt A) (Prs 11, 21) (DB).

——S. 2 (1) (n)—Clause (ii)—"Monthly wages".

In order to answer the question whether the workman under question was employed on monthly wages not exceeding Rs. 400 what one has to see is whether the emoluments which are mentioned do not exceed Rs. 400 a month and not whether the employment was on a monthly basis. Schedule II, Cl. (ii) firstly deals with the manufacturing process as such: secondly, it deals with incidental or connected processes; but, be it the manufacturing process or any incidental or connected process, in any case the aid of one or the other kind, of power mentioned in that clause is necessary for the application of that provision. The contention that the expression "and steam, water or other mechanical power or electrical power is used" is only applicable to the later part of Cl. (ii) cannot be accepted. ——S. 2 (1) (n) and Sch. II, Cl. 12—Railway employed in clearing city's refuse—(Railways Act (1890), S. 3 (4)).

The workman who was employed only in loading the refuse into the railway wagons and who was only walking over the platform for that purpose but was doing nothing to it did not come within the definition of the Workmen's Compensation Act. —S. 2 (1) (n) and Sch. II—Person employed to cut sabai grass is not workman.

The definition of "Workman" in S. 2 (1) (a) is exhaustive. If so, in order that a person may claim to be workman within the meaning of the Act, he must, if he is not a railway servant and therefore does not come under Cl (i) of the definition section, prove that he comes under one or other of the clauses set out in Sch. II. On a reference to that Schedule, it is plain that the employee, engaged in cutting 'sabai' grass cannot be brought under any one of its clauses. 58 Cal W N 751 : 94 Cal L J 49 : AIR 1955 Cal 105 (106, 107) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

—S. 2 (1) (n)—Scope of.

The word 'and' occurring in the definition of 'workman' has been used conjunctively and, therefore, in order to take out a labourer from the category of a workman, both the conditions must be satisfied; (1) that the employment must be casual, (2) that the employment must be otherwise than in the employer's trade or business.

Absence of only one of these conditions will not result in taking out a labourer from the category of a workman. (1960) 1 Fac L R 590 : 1960 Raj L W 448 : I L R (1960) 10 Raj 993 : AIR 1961 Raj 45 (47, 48) (Pt D) (Pr 14).

The crucial test to determine a contract of service is control by the master over the work of the servant and an obligation on the part of the servant to obey the orders of the master. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 2 (s). AIR 1955 Sau 33 (DB).

8 (F). Daily wage earner.

—Ss. 2 (1) (n) and 10 — Employee engaged on regular basis—'If workman.'

An employee engaged on a regular or a permanent basis would be workman even though paid on daily wage system provided his wages in any single month did not exceed the limits provided by the section. 1957 M P L J 61, Foll. 1960 M P L J (Notes) 130.

—S. 2 (1) (n)—Daily wage earner, if workman.

A daily wage earner may be regarded as a workman provided he fulfils the other conditions of the definition. AIR 1951 Pat 260 (263, 264) (Pt D) (Pr 9) (DB)

—S. 2 (1) (n)—'Workman'—Daily wage earner.

Section 2 (1) (n) is not limited to workmen who are employed by the month. The expression 'monthly wages not exceeding four hundred rupees' means wages which do not exceed on an average Rs. 400 a month. Thus a daily wage earner may well be a workman under S. 2 (1) (n). 8(G). Other illustrative cases.

—S. 2 (1) (n) and Sch. II, Cl. (viii) (c)—Workman—Definition of — Employee taking traffic census before repairs or construction of road — Employee not a workman.

The deceased was not a 'workman' within the meaning of the Workmen's Compensation Act. Under the terms of the agreement owner was under no responsibility for the expenses of the trip and the salaries of the crew, etc. The terms of the agreement were wholly inconsistent with either the relationship of partners or the relationship of master and servant or that of agent and principal and that as the contract was a mere demise of the boat, owner could not be made liable for the payment of the compensation. ——S. 3 — Applicability — Wilful disobedience — Negligence if.

Mere negligence of the worker cannot be regarded as wilful disobedience by the workman to an order expressly given. Contributory negligence on the part of the employee does not exonerate the employer from liability to compensate the employee if the accident could not have been avoided by the exercise of ordinary care and diligence. ——S. 3—Principle of added peril—Applicability of.

The principle of added peril contemplates that if a workman while doing his master's work undertakes to do something which he is not ordinarily called upon to do and which involves extra danger, he cannot hold his master liable for the risks arising therefrom. This doctrine, therefore, comes into play only when the workman is at the time of meeting the accident performing his duty. ——Ss. 3, 15 — Travancore Workmen's Compensation Act (1114ME) — Scope — Injury to workman caused by accident due to negligent and wrongful act of another — Payment of compensation by master — Right to recover same from wrongful party responsible for accident—Common law — Right under.

Section 3 of the Workmen's Compensation Act imposes a liability on the employers to pay compensation to a workman who sustains personal injury by an accident during the course of his employment under him. When the employer pays such compensation, it cannot be said that it is a voluntary payment by him so as to disentitle him from recovering the same as damages from the party responsible for the accident whose wrongful act caused the accident involving injury to the workman. It is, on the other hand, a statutory obligation, and when he makes a payment in discharge of the statutary obligation under S. 15 of the Act, the employer who makes the payment of compensation is entitled to be indemnified by the person who has been responsible for the cause of the injuries sustained by the workman.

Even apart from the right under the Act, the general law also would enable the employer to claim the amount from the wrongful party, it being a principle of the common law that a master or employer can maintain an action for damages for the loss of service of his servant by the tortious act of another. Such a remedy is available to the Crown as an employer as well as to a subject. AIR 1951 Trav-Co 171 (2) (175) (Pt E) (Pr 9).

2. Accident — Death or injury from.

——S. 3 — Death of workman suffering from heart disease — Death by injury in accident.

Where a workman suffering from heart disease after working for eight hours on a hot day in a mill dies, then it is proper to hold that he died of injury by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment. ——S. 3 — Accident arising out of employment.

Where a watchman of a factory on duty who had to take a round of the factory compound, notices a G. I. Pipe in the compound, it would be his duty to lift it up and take it to a safe place. If, while doing so, he receives an injury as a result of an accident, the injury is received as a result of accident arising out of the employment. There is a casual connection between the accident and the employment: AIR 1955 Bom 105, Rel. on. AIR 1956 Bom 115 (117) (Pt B) (Prs 10, 11) (DB).

——S. 3 — "Accident".

The expression 'accident' in S. 3 must be construed in its popular sense. It has been defined as an unlooked for mishap; an untoward event which is not expected or designed. What the Workmen's Compensation Act intends to convey is what might be expressed as an accident injury. 55 Bom L R 924 : ILR (1954) Bom 353 : AIR 1954 Bom 180 (181) (Pt E) (Pr 4) (DB).

——S. 3 (1) — 'Accident' — Means mishap or untoward event not expected or designed — Common factor in accident is some concrete happening at a definite point of time and incapacity resulting from happening —AIR 1961 Guj 34, Foll. (1965) 2 Lab L J 636 : (1965) 7 Guj L R 76 : ILR (1965) Guj 1149.

——S. 3 — Accident, meaning of.

The word 'accident' in S. 3 generally means some unexpected event happening without design even though there may be negligence on the part of the workmen. What the Act really intends to convey is not only such occurrences such as collisions, tripping over floor obstacles, falls of roof, but also less obvious ones causing injury, e. g., strain which causes rupture, exposure to a draught causing chill, exertion in a stokehold causing apoplexy and shock causing neurasthenia. But the common factor in all these cases is some concrete happening at a definite point of time and incapacity resulting from the happening. ——S. 3 — Injury caused by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment—Determination of — Principles—Workman having had heart suffering from heart attack while in employment — After cure from such attack workman leaving employment — Subsequent death after 9 months — Liability to pay compensation.

The following principles laid down in decided cases serve as guidance to establish a claim for compensation :—

(1) There must be a causal connection between the injury and the accident and the accident and the work done in the course of employment. (2) The onus is upon the applicant to show that it was the work and the resulting strain which contributed to or aggravated the injury. (3) It is not necessary that the workman must be actually working at the time of his death or that death must occur while he is working or had just ceased to work. (4) Where the evidence is balanced, if the evidence shows a greater probability which satisfies a reasonable man that the work contributed to the causing of the personal injury, it would be enough for the workman to succeed.

Held, in the instant case, that it could not be said that the workman died as a result of injury caused by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment. The burden of proof lay on the petitioner to establish that the heart of the workman had, by the strain of the work he was doing, become weaker and which ultimately collapsed causing his death. ——S. 3 (1) — 'Accident' — Meaning of.

— It is well established that the word 'accident' in S. 3 (1) of the Workmen's Compensation Act, has been used in the popular and ordinary sense and means 'mishap' or 'untoward event not expected or designed'. If the injury or death from the point of view of the workman, who dies or suffers the injury is unexpected or without design on his part, then the death or injury would be by accident although it was brought about by a heart attack or some other cause to be found in the condition of the workman himself. 1959 M P C 231 : 1959 Jab L J 295 : 1959 M P L J 548 : (1959) 2 Lab L J 65 : AIR 1959 Madh Pra 281 (283) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

——S. 3 — "Injury by accident" — Ingredients of — Workman already suffering from heart disease — Attack when loading and unloading materials — Death after 2 days — Action for compensation upheld.

The basic and indispensable ingredient of "accident" is unexpectedness. The second ingredient is that injury must be traceable, within reasonable limits, to a definite time, place and occasion or cause. If death or disability is due to heart attack which resulted from the exertion of the employee in the performance of the duties of his employment, compensation should be awarded. The fact that the injury and the pre-existing disease combined to produce the disability does not prevent the injury being compensable in nature and it is not necessary to prove that the injury accelerated or aggravated the disease or that the accident complained of was a contributory cause to the injury. If the accidental injury suffered in the course of his employment is the proximate cause of the employee's death, the previous physical condition is unimportant. The Act should be broadly and liberally construed, in order to effectuate the evident intent and purpose of the Act.

The workman, who according to the Doctor's report was already suffering from heart disease, met with an attack when loading and unloading material at a dam construction and died in the hospital two days after.

Held, that the workman died of an injury arising out of and in the course of his employment, and the claim for compensation could be upheld. (1965-66) 28 F J R 286 : (1966) 2 Lab L J 12 (Mad).

——S. 3—Death or incapacity from accident.

When death or incapacity of a workman is caused by accleration of disease, already existing, due to an accident, the death or incapacity will be deemed to have resulted from accident. But when the incapacity or death results from the disease itself independent of the accident, the workman or his dependants as the case may be will not be allowed compensation under the Act. 3. "Arising out of and in the course of employment.

——S. 3 — 'During the course of employment' — Meaning of.

When a person is on leave, he is not at all in the course of his employment. He is not supposed to do any work for the employer and, therefore, by no stretch of the words 'in the course of employment' it could be said that such a case would be covered by S. 3 of the Act. ILR (1959) 2 All 363 : AIR 1960 All 283 (284, 285) (Pt B) (—Injury caused—)

——S. 3 (1)—'Out of and in the course of his employment'—Meaning —(Railways Act (1890), S. 122).

The word employment is of wider import than the word 'work' or 'duty'. The expression 'in the course of employment' means not only the actual work which the man is employed to do but what is incident to it, in the course of his service. The expression is not to be regarded as confined to the 'nature of the employment'. It applies to employment as such i. e., to its nature, its conditions, its obligations, and its incidents. It would thus include not only the period when he is doing the work actually allotted to him but also the time when he is at a place where he would not be but for his employment.

What may be called 'environmental accidents' i. e., accidents resulting from the surroundings in which the workman is employed or through which he has to reach his place of work in order to carry out his obligations to his employer also fall within the scope of the phrase 'arising out of or in the course of employment'.

This rule, of course, is subject to the exception that where the accident occurs in a public place, and the risk faced by the workman is not due to his employment but to his being on the spot as a member of the public. The employer will be liable only if the presence of the workman on the spot can be found traceable to an obligation imposed upon him by the employer. There is no difficulty, however, with cases where the accident takes place while the workman is on the spot in his capacity as an employee. 1953 All W R (H C) 548 : ILR (1953) 2 All 396 : AIR 1954 All 132 (133, 138, 139, 141) (Pt A) (Prs 3, 43, 45, 56, 58) (DB).

——S. 3 (1) — 'Accident arising out of and in the course of employment'—Test.

In determining whether an accident had arisen out of and in the course of a person's employment, it is enough if it is established that (1) at the time of the accident he was in fact employed on the duties of his employment; (2) that it occurred at the place where he was performing those duties; and (3) that the immediate act which led to the accident is not so remote from the sphere of his duties as to be regarded as something foreign to them. 1912 A C 44 and 1914 A C 62 and 1917 A C 127, Rel. on. ● ——S. 3 (1) — "Accident arising out of and in the course of his employment"—Meaning of—Tests laid down—Workman having a fall while proceeding to a place to perform his duty and dying of heart failure.

(Per Full Bench).

The word 'accident' has its popular meaning. It denotes or includes unexpected personal injury resulting to the workman in the course of his employment from any unlooked for mishap or occurrence. 1903 A C 443, Rel. on.

In order to determine whether an accident could be held to have arisen out of the employment of the workman with the employer the following test would require to be fulfilled, namely, (1) that the workman was in fact employed on, or performing the duties of, his employment at the time of the accident; (2) that the accident occurred at or about the place where he was performing these duties, or where the performance of these duties required him to be present; (3) that the immediate act which led to or resulted in the accident had some form of casual relation with the performance of these duties and such casual connection could be held to exist if the immediate act which led to the accident is not so remote, from the sphere of his duties or the performance thereof, as to be regarded as something foreign to them.

(Per Majority S. K. Dutta J., contra).

Held, on facts that the deceased was in fact in the employment of the Company and was performing the duties of such employment at the time of the accident. The accident occurred on the premises of the Company's establishment where the deceased had to perform his duties and the immediate act which constituted the accident was the fall of the deceased on the ground when he was proceeding to the fanhouse to perform the duty of starting the fan which had stopped. The fall was obviously an accident and it was the fall that had caused the physical effect on the deceased which made him cry out. "Mago" and complain of pain in the chest and hard breathing.

This was a case of res ipsa loquitur, the thing speaking for itself. The accident occurred not only in the course of his employment by the company but also on account of the employment. 1933 A C 501; AIR 1961 Andh Pra 15; AIR 1952 Andh Pra 42: 1917 A C 479: 1917 A C 127; AIR 1933 P C 225: AIR 1955 NUC (Assam) 379 and AIR 1959 Madh Pra 281, Rel. on.

Per S. K. Dutta J.—There was no absolute certainty whether the deceased had a fall and consequently had a heart attack, or the heart attack preceded the fall. In such a case it could not be said to have been proved that the accident arose out of the employment of the workman. The heart attack of the deceased could not be associated in any way with his employment. The deceased was not exposed to the risk of a heart attack by the nature of his work. In the result it could not be said that the accident arose out of the employment of the workman. Assam Railways and Trading Co. Ltd. v. ——S. 3 (1)—Merchant Shipping Act (1958), S. 101 —"Arising out of employment"—Meaning—Tests to determine whether accident arose out of employment.

It is open to a Court to find on an inference that the accident arose out of employment though no human being was present who could give direct evidence how and when the accident happened.

If the workman is properly in a place to which some risk attaches and an accident occurs which is capable of being attributed to a risk which is ordinarily inherent in the discharge of his duties, it is legitimate, notwithstanding the absence of evidence as regards the immediate circumstances of the accident, to attribute the accident to the risk and to hold that it arose out of employment.

As the employment of a seaman, by the very nature of it, exposes him to certain dangers, whether at work or not, as for example, the danger of falling overboard or being swept overboard, there is a prima facie presumption, if death by drowning be proved that the death was caused by an accident which arose out of employment.

The presumption thus arising can be rebutted by the employer by leading evidence of facts and circumstances showing that the workman had at or about the time of his death departed from the controlling incidents of his employment or that he had added to the peril by his own imprudent act. (1965) 67 Bom L R 735: (1965) 1 Lab L J 554: 1966 Mah L J 220: (1966) 12 Fac L R 345 (Bom).

——S. 3 — Whether accident arose out of and, in course of employment—Determination of—Test.

In order to find whether the accident had arisen out of and in the course of the workman's employment it is necessary to find what his employment was. Similarly, whether a person was a workman or not would depend upon what his work was and if his very employment was a disputed question and also the nature of the work he did during the time of his admitted employment, it is necessary to find what the post was in which the workman was actually employed at the time of the accident. Before arriving at a finding on that question, there can be no meaning in proceeding to decide whether or not he was a workman within the meaning of the Act. I L R (1958) 2 Cal 630: AIR 1957 Cal 660 (661, 662) (Pt B) (Prs 7, 8) (DB). [illegible] L J 65: AI[illegible] (6).

Whether the accident 'arises out of the employment or not' depends on the facts of each case; the accident must be connected with the employment and must arise out of it: there must be a casual connection or association between the employment and the accidental injury. Where the workman when he met with his death was doing the very thing which he was employed to do the mere fact that he had no right to be working in the place where he was when he met his death, does not mean that the accident did not arise out of and in the course of the employment and the employer would in such cases be liable to compensation under S. 3. ——S. 3 (1)—"Injury" and "out of and in the course of employment"—Meaning of.

Injury caused by accident should not be confined to physical injury. The phrase includes a strain which causes exposure to draught or causes a chill.

The accident, in order to give rise to a claim for compensation on the ground of "arising out of and in the course of employment", must have some relation to the workmen's employment and must be due to a risk incidental to that employment as distinguished from a risk to which all members of the public are alike exposed. 3 (A). Necessity of proof.

——S. 3 — Workman injured in course of employment — Workman treated in hospital — Workmen later developing Tetanus and dying—Death whether direct cause of injury—Proof.

A workman was injured while lifting weight for the employer. He was treated as out patient in the hospital for about 10 days. Next day he attended work and thereafter was absent. After 6 days he was again admitted in the hospital for tetanus and remained an inpatient for 5 days. He then left the hospital but died the next day. The question was whether the death was the direct cause of the injuries received in the course of the employment. Employer held liable to pay compensation. (1960) 1 Lab L J 598 (Andh Pra).

——S. 3 (1)—Scope—Injury caused by fellow workman.

A workman, while engaged in carrying out his day to day duties in a department of his employers Mill, was a helpless victim of an assault which was initiated by one of the employees of the Mill, who was assisted by three outsiders. In this assault the workman's hand was fractured.

Held, that the injuries suffered by the workman were incidental to his employment and that the accident must be taken to have arisen out of the employment of the workman. In order to bring accident within S. 3 it is not necessary that it should be established that the workman died as result of an exceptional strain or some exceptional work that he did on the day in question.

——S. 3—"Arising out of and in the course of his employment."

The accident arose in the course of the employment. It was not necessary for the respondent, the mother of the boy, to establish that the death resulted from some special risk to which the boy was exposed. His employment required him to pass a dangerous spot or place and in passing such a place he received injury. 3. (B) Compensation — Right to.

——S. 3 (1) — Nature of liability.

The Workmen's Compensation Act has created a new type of liability inasmuch as it makes an employer liable to pay compensation at a fixed rate to a servant incapacitated by an accident arising out of and in the course of his employment. This liability to pay compensation is independent of any neglect or wrongful act on the part of the master or his servant. 1953 All W R (H C) 546 ; I L R (1953) 2 All 396 : AIR 1954 All 132 (138, 139) (Pt B) (Pr 43) (DB).

——S. 3 (1) — Accident arising out of and in the course of employment—Workman in railway workshop — Knocked down by railway engine while crossing railway lines — Claim for compensation.

Held, that the action of the workman in reaching the factory gate by crossing the railway lines instead of using the level crossings took the case out of the main provision of sub. S. Hence the personal injury sustained by the workman by the accident could not be said to arise out of and in the course of employment so as to entitle the workman to claim compensation. ——S. 3 — Injury to workman — Prima facie case giving a right to compensation proved by workman—Shifting of onus.

Where the workman proves that he is a workman and that he has suffered an injury by accident in the course of his emyloyment under the employer company, the liability of the company to pay compensation is established particularly when the injury appears to be one of the scheduled injuries. And if the employer company wants, nevertheless, to prove that it is not bound to compensation, the onus lies on the company to establish affirmatively that circumstances are present in the case which confer on it an immunity against a liability to pay compensation. 61 C W N 352 : ILR (1958) 2 Cal 63 : AIR 1957 Cal 601 (605) (Pt D) (Pr 17) (DB).

——S. 3 — "Accident arising out of and in the course of employment."

The expression "employment" is wider than the actual work or duty which the workman has to do. It is enough if, at the time of the accident, the workman was in actual employment although he may not be actually turning out the work. Even when a workman is resting, or having food, or taking his tea, or coffee, or proceeding from the place of employment to his residence, and an accident occurs, the accident is regarded as arising out of and in the course of the employment. 1924 A C 59 and A I R 1954 Mad 113, Rel. on.

——S. 3—"Accident arising out of and in the course of his employment."

The expression "in the course of his employment" suggests the point of time; that is to say, the injury must be caused by accident taking place in the course of the employment, that is, during the currency of the employment. The expression "arising out of his employment" suggests both the time as well as the place of employment. The expression "out of" conveys the idea that there must be some sort of connection between the employment and the injury caused to a workman as a result of the accident.

——S. 3 — Accident arising out of and in course of employment — Accident while returning home after work.

The employment does not necessarily end when the 'down tools' signal is given, or when the workman leaves the actual workshop where he is working. There may be some reasonable extension both in time and space, as, for instance, where the workman travels to :and from his work by some form of transport provided by his employers, and which he is under a contractual duty to use, or where he is using the means of access to and egress from his place of employment. So the mere fact that the accident arose outside the premises where the workmen were actually employed is not the final word for deciding whether the accident arose out of and in the course of the employment. AIR 1955 Sau 20 (22, 23, 24, 25) (Prs 5, 8, 9) (DB).

——S. 3 (1) and Proviso (b) (ii) and S. 12 — Applicability and scope — 'Out of and in the course of his employment'

If the workman, even during the lunch interval sustains accidents in the course of the employment, or other work incidental or ancillary thereto, and not because of his own independent and unconnected private adventure or activity, he is usually entitled to compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act But he will not be entitled to recover compensation for accidents caused by his acting unreasonably or unlawfully or by incurring unnecessary risks.

The contractor's laches in not insuring against risks and relying on false positions in law would not alter the position or render him liable to indemnify the Government. The indemnity would extend only as far as legal liability extends and no futher. It cannot cover acts of charity, magnanimity, special grace, pity or liberality. Willis on Workmen's Compensation Act, 1942, edition page, 112, followed. (1960) 1 M L J 108 : 72 Mad L W 572 : (1959) 1 Lab L J 390.

——S. 3 (1)—Construction and scope — 'Accident'—'Arising out of and in the course of his employment' —Meaning of— Proviso to S. 3 (1) — Applicability — Injuries resulting in death.

Though the term 'accident' has nowhere been defined in the Workmen's Compensation Act, it is settled law that the term means some unexpected event happening without design i.e, an unlooked for mishap or untoward event. Under S. 3 (1) of the Act, the injury must not only arise 'in the course of' but also 'out of' the employment. The proviso to S. 3 (1) of the Act applies only to cases of injuries not resulting in death; where the injury has resulted in death, the proviso will not apply and the question about the disobedience of any rule or order is not material so long as it can reasonably be held that the accident arose out of and in the course of the employment. (1956-57) 10 F J R 282: (1956) 2 Lab L J 233 : (1956) 2 M L J 19.

The mere presence of a smell of country liquor on opening the stomach of the deceased, as found in the post-mortem report or detection of some alcohol by the Chemical Examiner, was not enough to outweigh the positive evidence of the eye-witnesses to the accident. AIR 1962 Orissa 7 (8, 9) (Pt B) (Pr 6)

——S. 3 (1), Proviso (b) (ii) — Death of workman — Disobedience of rule or order.

The applicability of cl. (b) of the Proviso to sub-s. (1) of S. 3 is limited to those cases where injury has not resulted in death. Where however, the injury has resulted in death, the question about disobedience of any rule or order is not material so long as it can be reasonably held that the accident arose out of and in the course of the employment. ('49 50) F J R 267 : ILR (1950) Cut 601 : AIR 1950 Orissa 207 (207) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

——S. 3 (1), Proviso (b) (ii)—Applicability.

In order to bring a case under Proviso (b) (ii) of S. 3 (1) of the Act, the employer has to establish firstly that an order or rule was in fact already in force at the time when the accident happened; secondly that the substantial purpose of the rule or order was that of securing the safety of workman as such; thirdly that the order or rule was couched in words which on their face fairly and clearly indicated that purpose; fourthly that its terms were brought to the notice of the particular workman who was the individual injured in a case; fifthly that the order or rule was disobeyed by that individual; sixthly that the disobedience of the rule or order by that individual was wilful and deliberate and not only the result of mere negligence or due to a mistaken mode of doing a particular task or due to a wrong decision in an emergency; seventhly that the accident was directly attributable to the aforesaid disobedience. (1956) 10 F J R 423 : 1956 B L J R 288 : (1957) 2 Lab L J 522 : AIR 1956 Pat 299 (303) (Pt E) (Pr 16) (DB).

——S. 3 (1), Proviso (b) (ii) — Applicability to cases of death.

Proviso (b) (ii) of S. 3 (1) applies to only those cases of injuries which do not result in death. Where therefore, the injury has resulted in death, the question as to the disobedience of any rule or order is not material at all so long as it can be reasonably held that the accident arose out of and in the couse of the employment. (1956) 10 F J R 423 : 1956 B L J R 288: (1957) 2 Lab L J 522 : AIR 1956 Pat 299 (304, 305) (Pt F) (Pr 17) (DB).

5. Negligence.

——S. 3 — Employee's negligence or rashness — Act within scope of employment — Excess of zeal in its performance or even some rashness or negligence would not put it outside scope of employment — Doctrine of added peril does not apply — Doctrine comes into play, when peril, risk or hazard is added to incidental risks of employment. AIR 1955 N U C (Assam) 379 (DB).

——S. 3 (1) — Negligence resulting in injury is distinct act and constitutes different cause of action than one referred to in S. 3 (5). See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 3 (5) (a). (1965) 2 Lab L J 630 : ILR (1965) Guj 1149.

——Ss. 3 and 10—Defect in a notice—Question is one of fact—Commissioner is the sole judge for it — Mere negligence of worker is no defence under S. 3 — Wilful disobedience to an express order has to be established. :AIR 1937 Nag 311, Foll. 1964 M P L J (Notes) 173.

——S. 3 and Sch. 1—Contributory negligence.

The Act does not make provision for the reduction of the scheduled compensation on the score of any contributory negligence on the part of a workman who dies in consequence of injuries he receives in the course of his employment, which ordinarily would not be fatal or which in fact are simple. 1953 Mad W N 393 : AIR 1953 Mad 837 (837, 838) (Pt B) (Pr 2).

——S. 3—Accident — Negligence—Effect.

Though the expression 'accident' in S. 3 has not anywhere been defined, it is well-settled that it generally means some unexpected event happening without design even though there may be negligence on the part of the workman who suffers from it.

It cannot be said that the dashing of the vehicle against a tree which caused the accident was brought about by any previous design or a wilful act on the part of the driver and hence once it is proved that the accident was caused in the course of his employment, the question of negligence, great or small is irrelevant. ('49.50) F J R 267 : ILR (1950) Cut 60 : AIR 1950 Orissa 207 (207) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

6. Sub-section (2).

——S. 3 (2), Sch. III, Part B — First entry in right hand column—'Any process involving the use of lead.'

Held, on facts of the case that in arranging the lead bars and fixing them up in a chest, an impositor does not merely handle lead, but carries not an intelligent operation in the performance of which lead or preparations of lead are used. Although the employment of the appellant consisted in part in handling, the handling was such that it involved use. The appellant had brought himself within S. 3 (2) read with Sch. III. ILR (1956) 2 Cal 700 : 93 C L J 197 : 58 C W N 560 : AIR 1954 Cal 484 (487, 488) (Pt B) (Prs 15, 16, 17, 18) (DB).

——Ss. 3 (2), 4 (1) B and Sch. IV — Workman employed in foundry developing nerosis and insanity—Compensation — Occupational disease — Burden of proof.

The burden of proof lay heavily on the appellant to establish affirmatively that he developed nerosis and insanity as a result of and during the course of his employment. AIR 1942 Bom 175 and AIR 1942 Pat 453 and AIR 1952 Nag 20 and AIR 1955 Bom 105 and AIR 1955 Cal 306, Rel. on. AIR 1957 Him Pra 33 (34) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

7. Sub-section (5)—Suit for damages bars remedy under the Act.

——Ss. 3 (5) (a) and 3 (1)—Bar of remedy of civil suit for damages where claim for compensation under Act is preferred — Useful test for determining bar is whether commissioner under Act had jurisdiction or not to entertain and grant relief claimed in suit—Commissioner can grant relief only in respect of injury caused by accident arising out of and in course of workman's employment — It cannot grant relief in respect of injury caused to workman by personal negligence or wilful act of employer or of some person for whose act or default employer is responsible—Bar is applicable only in respect of former category of cases and not in respect of latter—Negligence resulting in injury is distinct act and constitutes different cause of action than one referred to in S. 3 (5). (1965) 2 Lab L J 636 : (1966) 7 Guj L R 76 : ILR (1965) Guj 1149 (Guj).

——S. 3 (5) — Scope — Alternative remedies open to workman—Effect.

If a workman brings an unsuccessful action for damages against his employer, he would be debarred from claiming compensation under the Act. Conversely, if a workman institutes a claim for compensation under the Act and fails, he is then debarred from commencing an action for damages at common law or under the Employer's Liability Act. 69 Mad L W 896 : (1957) 1 Lab L J 517 : A I R 1957 Mad 216 (219) (Pt A) (Pr 11).

——S. 3 (5) — 'Instituted', meaning of — Proceeding under Act withdrawn — Suit for compensation — Maintainability.

Where the dependent does nothing more than file a claim under this Act and withdraws it before the proceedings are commenced and which commencement is effective with the taking of notice to the opposite side, there is no election as will debar the workmen's dependants from instituting a suit in the civil Court. 69 Mad L W 896 : (1957) 1 Lab L J 517 : A I R 1957 Mad 216 (220, 221) (Pt B) (Prs 14, 15).

——S. 3 (5)—Alternative but overlapping remedies.

The Workmen's Compensation Act will often overlap the remedy of compensation or damages for negligence under the Fatal Accidents Act in the civil Court. The obligation under the Workmen's Compensation Act which is more akin to that of an insurer, is independent of any negligence or breach of duty on the part of the master and is outside the law of torts. 69 Mad L W 896 : (1957) 1 Lab L J 517 : AIR 1957 Mad 216 (220, 221) (Pt C) (Pr 14).

——S. 3, Proviso 5—Institution of suit—Mere filing of application to sue in forma pauperis, does not amount to. 1950 Ker L T 205 : 1950 T C L R 203 : AIR 1950 Trav Co 106 (108, 109) (Pt A) (Pr 9) (D B).

8. Principle governing grant of compensation.

——S. 3 — Simultaneous hearing of petitions — Two petitions by workman on same date for compensation for two injuries out of two different accidents in course of employment—Commissioner passing single award fixing lumpsum compensation — Held, the award was unsustainable. See Workmen's Compensation Rules, (Andhra Pradesh), R. 40. (1965) 1 Andh L T 219 : (1965-66) 29 F J R 62 : A I R 1966 Andh Pra 99.

——S. 3—Civil P. C., O. 1, R. 10 and Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 96 (2) — Compensation claimed for death in accident involving truck which was insured — Proceedings between employer and employee's dependant — Insurance Company neither necessary nor proper party. 1965 Mah L J (Notes) 57 (Bom).

——S. 3 — Workmen's Compensation Rules (1924), R. 41 — Ex parte order for compensation — Application to set aside—Limitation not provided under Act or Rules — If Limitation Act is applied, Art. 181 and not Art. 164 of the old Act will govern application—Civil P. C. (1908), O. 9, R. 13—Limitation Act (1908), Arts. 164, 181—Limitation Act (1963), Arts. 123, 137. 1963 Cal L J 192.

——Ss. 3 and 2 (1) (g)—Workmen suffering as result of injury from physical defect — Effect on capacity of workman for work after injury and his eligibility as employee.

If a workman suffers as a result of an injury from a physical defect which does not in fact reduce his capacity to work, but at the same time makes his labour unsaleable in any market reasonably accessible to him, there will be either total incapacity for work when no work is available to him at all or there will be a partial incapacity when such defect makes his labour saleable for less than it would otherwise fetch. The capacity of a workman for work may remain quite unimpaired, but at the same time his eligibility as an employee may be diminished or lost. 25 B W C C 573; 26 B W C C 99, Rel. on. 61 Cal W N 352 : ILR (1958) 2 Cal 63 : A I R 1957 Cal 601 (603) (Pt A) (Prs 9, 10) (DB).

——Ss. 3 and 2 (1) (g) — "Permanent partial disablement"—Effect of.

Prima facie, and if the words of the Proviso to S. 2 (1) (g) read with Sch. I are to be taken in a literal sense, the conclusion seems to be inescapable that whenever an injury of the kind specifically mentioned in the Schedule has been suffered by a workman as a workman as a result of an accident, he becomes instantly entitled to compensation and compensation of the amount prescribed by the Schedule without any necessity for any investigation into further facts. 61 Cal W N 352 : ILR (1958) 2 Cal 63 : A I R 1957 Cal 601 (604) (Pt B) (Pr 13) (DB).

——S. 3—Payment of compensation — Principle and basis of.

When the compensation Court awards compensation to a workman on the ground of partial or complete disability, it does so on the basis that, in future, the workman would not be in a position to earn at the old rate or earn anything at all. A period during which a loss of earning was not actually suffered does not come into the picture at all. (1956) 1 Lab L J 26 : AIR 1956 Cal 604 (606) (Pt B) (Pr 7) (DB).

——S. 3—Essential requisites for claiming compensation under the Act — 'Accident' used in popular sense—Claim permissible only when accident arises in the course of and out of employment.

An applicant claiming compensation under the Act must prove (i) that there was an accident, (ii) that the accident arose in the course of employment and (iii) that it arose out of the employment. The applicant must place evidence on record to show that all these three conditions have been satisfied. 1959 M P C 231, Foll; A I R 1955 Bom 105, Dist. 1963 M P L J (Notes) 163.

——S. 3—Compensation for worker injured—Test of liability.

The true principle under which an employer is liable to pay compensation for injury sustained by a worker under the Workmen's Compensation Act is not only that the injury should be sustained in the course of the employment but also that it should have arisen out of his employment which means that the injury should have been sustained as a direct result of the discharge of the duties of the workmen. (1954) 57 Bom L R 509 and (1941) 44 Bom L R 285, Distinguished. 71 Mad L W 814 : 1958 Mad W N 715 : (1958) 2 Mad L J 550.

——S. 3 — 'Compensation more than once in respect of the same accident' — Injury or death in railway accident — Compensatioa received under S. 82-A — Compensation cannot be claimed once again under any other Act. See Railways Act (1890), S. 82-A. A I R 1965 Mys 306 (DB).

——S. 3 — Accident not arising out of and in the course of employment — Employer not liable to pay compensation.

Deceased workman was employed by the employer only to dig earth. Other persons were employed for loading the earth on the truck and for unloading it at the site of the dam after it was transported there. Deceased was sitting on the truck towards the left and he fell down when the truck was in motion.

Held, that the accident did not arise out of and in course of the employment of deceased workman. The employer was therefore not liable to pay compensation to the dependants of the deceased workman. (1965) 1 Lab L J 515 : 1965 Raj L W 214 : ILR (1965) 15 Raj 748 : AIR 1966 Raj 36 (37) (Pt A) (Pr 12).

——S. 3 — Employee murdered by fellow employees on premises of employer during recess — Incident having nothing to do with employment—Employer's not liable for compensation to dependants — A. I. R. 1948 Cal 12, Rel on (1960) 2 Lab L J 369 : 1960 Raj L W 471 : ILR (1960) 10 Raj 535.

——Ss. 3, 4, Sch. IV—Temporary disablement—Compensation.

Held that the demand made could not be treated as anything more than a claim for compensation for temporary disablement. The Commissioner went out of his way and exceeded his jurisdiction in proceeding to hold the enquiry and award compensation as if the injury resulted in permanent total disablement. (1956) 1 Lab L J 43 : 1956 Ker L T 69 : ILR (1955) Trav-Co 935 : A I R 1956 Trav Co 55 (55, 56) (Pt B) (Prs 3, 4) (DB).

9. Burden of proof.

——S. 3—Burden of proof—Injury by accident—Disablement held due to accident and not to disease alone.

Where the finding of the Commissioner was that the accident during the course of the employment accelerated the partial permanent disability in the right eye, on that finding the only conclusion possible was that the disablement was due to the accident and not due to the disease alone. AIR 1954 Bom 180 and AIR 1952 Nag 20, Foll., 1910 A C 242 and 1933 A C 501, Appld. 1963 All L J 630 : (1963) 7 Fac L R 124 : (1964) 1 Lab L J 126 : AIR 1964 All 323 (324, 325) (Pt B) (Prs 6, 12).

——S. 3 (1), Proviso (b) (i) — Influence of drink — Burden of proof.

If a workman establishes a case for compensation under S. 3 the onus of proving facts which will disentitle him to compensation under the proviso is on the employer. Where some time had elapsed between the accident and workman's medical examination, the doctor's evidence that the workman was drunk at the time of the accident is inadmissible as merely hearsay and cannot he admitted even as part of res gestae. A I R 1955 S C 271, Foll. A I R 1961 All 89 (90, 91) (Prs 6, 10, 13).

——S. 3 — Accident arising out of and in the course of employment—Burden of proof—Shifting of onus.

In the present case as there was nothing to show that the deceased was suffering from any disease at the material time nor anything to show that at the time the collapse came he was actually under the strain of work, it was impossible to say that the claimant had discharged her primary onus and that the onus had shifted to the employer Railway. (1955) 2 Lab L J 522 : 60 Cal W N 249 : A I R 1955 Cal 597 (599) (Prs 8, 9) (DB).

——S. 3—Determination of cause of death—Evidence insufficient — Inference.

It is most natural inference to draw that when a man suddenly collapses and dies very soon after, and the doctor is not in a position to suggest any reason for this sudden collapse and the death ensuing that he was suffering from heart trouble which could not be discovered on a mere clinical examination. A I R 1956 Bom 424, Rel. on. 1959 M P C 231 : 1959 Jab L J 295 : 1959 M P L J 548 : (1959) 2 Lab L J 65 : AIR 1959 Madh Pra 281 (282) (Pt A) (Pr 4).

——S. 3 — 'Accident arising out of and in the course of employment'—Burden of proof.

Where the workman is engaged in his employer's work up to his death and the last acts known are consistent with the continuance of that work, the onus is upon the person who alleges a cessation of his work for his employer to prove it. (1911) 1 K B 1036, Rel. on. The presence of the workman on the spot at the time of the accident, if such presence itself was attributable to the discharge of his duty is enough to show that the accident arose out of his employment. SECTION 4

(Workmen's Compensation Act (8 of 1923), S. 4.)

1. Loss of earning capacity—Valuation of.
2. Compensation payable to dependants — Deductions.
3. Compensation.
4. Death due to injury during employment.
5. Debts of workman.
6. Burden of proof.
7. Fixed sum—If Lump-sum.
8. Finding of facts—Interference.

1. Loss of earning capacity— Valuation of.

——S. 4 (1) C—Amount of compensation— Injury to right hand—No evidence to indicate complete loss of fingers — Workman held entitled to compensation equal to 15 per cent. of earning capacity. AIR 1955 N U C (Ajmer) 4769.

——S. 4—Workman's hand permanently deformed —Loss of earning capacity—Evaluation of.

It was held that the view of the Commissioner that the injury had resulted in the loss of the left arm below the elbow resulting in 50 per cent. loss of earning capacity was correct even if the injury was not to be regarded as one of the injuries listed in the schedule resulting in a 50 per cent. loss of earning capacity. (1950-51) 2 F J R 134 : ILR (1951) 3 Assam 37 : A I R 1950 Assam 188 (189) (Pt C) (Prs 9, 10) (DB).

——S. 4 (1) (c)—Determination of compensation payable in cases of permanent partial disablement — Medical certificate deals only with physical incapacity — Court should take into account the nature of injury the nature of work which the workman was capable of undertaking and its availability to him— Court need not follow the medical opinion. 67 Bom L R 893 : (1966) 1 Lab L J 84 : 1966 Mah L J 150 : I L R (1966) Bom 610 : A I R 1966 Bom 240 (243) (Pt B) (Pr 15) (DB).

——Ss. 4, 2 (g) and (l), Pre. — Incapacity — When becomes total permanent disability—Test.

The incapacity due to which he cannot get employment for any work that can undertake would be total or permanent disability — See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), Preamble. AIR 1965 Bom 32.

——Ss. 4, 5, 2 (g) and (l) — Medical Certificate — Value of — Whether workman suffered partial or total disablement—Determination—Duty of Court.

The certificate of a medical expert can only say what the injury is, its effect temporary or total on the limb and to an extent the physical incapacity of the man. It is, however, for the Court to find having regard to the evidence before it whether the workman has suffered partial or total disablement. The Court must take into account the nuture of the injury, the nature of the work which the workman was capable of undertaking and its availability to him. In this connection the employer's willingness to employ him in any other alternative employment may have relevance AIR 1957 Cal 660, Foll. 66 Bom L R 450 : 1964 Mah L J 566 : (1964) 9 Fac L R 158 : ILR (1965) Bom 52 : AIR 1965 Bom 32 (34) (Pt C) (Pr 11).

——S. 4 and Schs. I and IV — Compensation — Test for assessment.

Held, that the real factor for determining loss of earning capacity would be to ascertain the difference in the earning capacity of a fitter and that of a clerk, peon or bobbin cleaner whichever was lowest. A I R 1937 Cal 328, Dist. :1959 Nag L J (Notes) 21 (Bom).

——S. 4 and Sch. IV — Assessment of damages — Registers of monthly payment maintained by employer but not produced — Commissioner can fix monthly wage of injured workman on basis of evidence of co-workers and President of Union of workmen. 1960 Ker L T 824 : (1960) 2 Ker L R 351 : (1961) 2 Fac L R 410 : (1961) 1 Lab L J 75 : A I R 1961 Ker 108 (109) (Pt B) (Pr 3) (DB).

——S. 4—Permanent partial injury.

The leg of the claimant was amputated not above or at the knee but below. Held, that the disablement of the claimant was not proved to be a permanent total disablement; the disablement was partial. Madh A I R 1956 Madh B L R 1955 Civ 376 : Madh B L J 1955 H C R 1794 :B 122 (123) (Pt B) (Pr 13).

——S. 4 (1) (c) (ii) — Amount of compensation in permanent partial disablement — Test for assessing —Loss in earning capacity of injured workman in every employment capable of undertaking at time of accident and not merely in his particular job has to be estimated I L R (1965) 2 Punj 555 : A I R 1966 Punj 397 (398, 399) (Pr 6).

2. Compensation payable to dependants— Deductions.

——Ss. 4 (1), Proviso and 2 (1), (n) (ii)—"Workman" in Proviso — Meaning — Compensation payable to dependants—Deductions.

The word "workman" in Proviso (a) to S. 4 (1) can be read as dependants of a workman. A deduction in respect of payments of compensation made to the workman during his life time can be made. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 2 (i) (n) (ii). AIR 1952 Cal 877 (DB).

——Ss. 4 and 8—Amount of compensation payable— —Ascertainment of—Deductions.

Section 8 does not assist the Court in ascertaining what is the compensation payable. When that amount has been ascertained as calculated by S. 4 then by the terms of Section 8 no deduction can be made from that amount except such deductions as are expressly provided for in the section. ('52) 56 Cal W N 189 : (1952-53) 4 F J R 111 : I L R (1952) 2 Cal 369 : AIR 1952 Cal 877 (878, 879) (Pt B) (Pr 19) (DB).

3. Compensation.

——S. 4 (1) (c). Note to Sch. I—Scope—Total loss of use of limb—Compensation can be granted.

The note appended to Sch. I is merely an enabling provision. It is not restrictive in language. Even where there is no total loss of a finger, if its restricted movement and deviation on account of the accident result in total loss of the use of that finger compensation can be granted to the workman. 1961 Andh I T 258 : (1961) 1 Lab L J 565 : (1961-62) 20 F J R 237 : AIR 1962 Andh Pra 69 (71) (Pt D) (Pr 7).

4. Death due to injury during employment.

——S. 4—Death of employee due to injury caused during employment.

If a workman is felled by heavy bags tumbling down on his spine, if he is removed immediately to a hospital, if the hospital authorities admit him as an indoor patient, if the deceased does not improve sufficiently so as to justify his discharge and if he dies as a result of the injury turning gangrenous while under the most competent treatment, it cannot be alleged or held particularly in the absence of any other suggestion that the death had taken place otherwise than as a result of the accident. A I R 1955 N U C (Cal) 2863 (DB).

——S. 4—Injury resulting in death—Payment of compensation — Appeal lies from such order. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 30 (1) (a). AIR 1957 Raj 246.

IV read with Ss. 4 (1) (b) and 3 (2). See Workmen's Compensation Act (8 of 1923), S. 3 (2). AIR 1957 Him Pra 33.

7. Fixed sum—If lump-sum.

——Ss 4, 6, 7 and 30 (1) (a) — Fixed sum — If lump sum—Sch. IV — Order for payment of fixed sum — Appeal. The contention that the amounts are fixed as per Sch. IV but they are not lump sums is not acceptable. 1957 Raj L W 279 : ILR (1957) 7 Raj 653 : AIR 1957 Raj 246 (247, 248) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

8. Finding of facts—Interference.

——Ss. 4 and 30 — Finding of fact — Finding as to nature of injury is one of fact — High Court not to examine evidence. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 30. AIR 1963 Assam 7 (DB).

SECTION 5

——Ss. 5, 4 and 2 (1) (m)—Compensation—Compensation to be on basis of 'wages' as interpreted in definition under Act and not as interpreted under definition in Payment of Wages Act—Monetary value of accommodation provided to employee has to be included. See Workmen's Compensation Act (8 of 1923), S. 2 (1) (m). AIR 1955 All 182 (DB).

——Ss. 5 (a) and 2 (m)—Calculation of wages—Wages for period of leave to which workman was entitled after working for one year whether can be added—(Factories Act (1948), S. 79).

Section 79 of the Factories Act provides for annual leave with wages, which means that if a worker has completed a year's service, he can during the subsequent year go on leave without any deduction from the total amount of the wages to which he would be entitled in the course of the second year. This would make his wages for the second year amount to the same figure as that of the first year. 1958 Jab L J 230 : 1959 M P L J 48 : (1959-60) 16 F J R 115 : AIR 1959 Madh Pra 119 (120) (Prs 6, 8, 9).

——Ss. 8 (6), 8 (7) — Discretion of Commissioner under—No interference in appeal.

In cases where the persons entitled to compensation are women or minors or persons under legal disability, option is given to the Commissioner either to make the payment to them or to take action by way of an investment as provided for in sub-s. (7) of S. 8,

The discretion is vested in the Commissioner and it is not for High Court to tell him how to exercise it, in an appeal from his order. 1961 Andh L T 689 : AIR 1962 Andh Pra 42 (47) (Pt C) (Pr 20).

(1959) 2 Lab L J 270 (Andh Pra).

——Ss. 8 and 4—Amount of compensation payable—Ascertainment of—Deductions.

When the amount of compensation payable has been ascertained and calculated as required by S. 4, then by the terms of S. 8 no deductions can be made from that amount, except :those especially provided for in the section. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 4. AIR 1952 Cal 877 (DB).

——S. 8 — Ex gratia payment made to dependant of deceased workman—Deduction from actual compensation payable.

Where a payment of a lump sum is made to the widow and other relations of a workman whose injury has resulted in death the payment cannot, by virtue of S. 8, be deducted from the actual amount of compensation payable, because that section says that such payment shall not be deemed to be a payment of compensation. This is more so if the payment is made ex gratia. 55 Cal W N 698 : (1951-52) 3 F J R 304 : AIR 1951 Cal 513 (514) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

——S. 8—Equity in favour of employer to deduct.

There is no equity in favour of an emp'oyer to allow him to deduct the amount he has already paid to the dependent of a deceased workman from the actual compensation payable, in the face of clear provision of S. 8 to the contrary. 55 Cal W N 698 : (1951-52) 3 F J R 304 : A I R 1951 Cal 513 (514) (Pt D) (Pr 5) (DB).

Where the Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation makes an order under the Workmen's Compensation Act, directing an employer to deposit the compensation amount due in respect of an accident caused to a workman resulting in his death is not a sufficient discharge of the liability of the employer if the compensation is paid directly to any person. If a defendant had been made a party and had been notified and had not pressed her claim, she might not be entitled to re-open the proceedings by means of a fresh application of her own. ——Ss. 8, (2), 30 (1), Proviso 3 — Requisites for appeal—(Workmen's Compensation Rules adopted in Bihar), R. 9).

The third proviso to S. 30 (1) requires that the memorandum of appeal should be accompanied by a certificate by the Commissioner to the effect that the appellant has deposited with him the amount payable under the order appealed against. This statutory provision should be read along with S. 8 (2) of the Act. Rule 9 of the Workmen's Compensation Rules as adapted in Bihar is also important in this connection. 1958 B L J R 726: A I R 1959 Pat 112 (113, 114) (Pt B) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Ss. 8, 2 (d)— 'Dependent on the earnings'—Compensation claimed by widow — Father and brother claiming share—Father was not dependant on son and in father's lifetime sons and wife could not be held dependents on deceased brother. ——S. 8 (1) — Scope — Injury resulting in death — Payment of compensation—If lump sum—Ss. 6 and 7.

The word 'compensation' in the earlier part of S. 8 (1) has not been used in opposition to the expression "lump sum" occurring later. This provision does not lead to the conclusion that the payment of compensation in respect of a workman whose injury has resulted in death is not and cannot be a lump sum compensation. 1957 Raj L W 279 : ILR (1957) 7 Raj 653 : AIR 1957 Raj 246 (248) (Pt C) (Pr 7).

SECTION 10

SYNOPSIS

(Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 10.)

1. Claims.
2. Notice.
3. Limitation—Sufficient cause.
4. Delay in filing claim.
5. Powers of Commissioner.
6. Miscellaneous cases.

1. Claims.

——Ss. 10 and 22—Claim is to be made under S. 10 and not under S. 22.

A claim is required to be made under S. 10, and no particular form is prescribed. Section 22 refers in terms to an application for settlement of any matter, that is, it contemplates an application for settlement after a claim is made under S. 10. (1950-51) 2 F J R 134 : I L R (1951) 3 Assam 37 : A I R 1950 Assam 188 (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

——S. 10—Claim—Notice.

The word 'claim' referred to in S. 10 (1) does not refer to a claim made on the employers but denotes a formal claim made before the Commissioner. A claim under the Act is not required to be made by an application under S. 22 of the Act. It is to be made under S. 10. The Proviso to Cl. (b) of S. 10 (1) gives jurisdiction to the Commissioner to entertain and decide any claim to compensation in any case notwithstanding that the notice has not been given. (1959) 1 Orissa J D 122 : I L R (1959) Cut 464 : A I R 1960 Orissa 39 (41, 42) (Pt D) (Pr 6).

2. Notice.

——S. 10 — Applicability — Accident in presence of employer—No notice required.

The scheme of S. 10, is that a notice of the accident to the employer is necessary before a claim for compensation can be entertained by the Commissioner. But there are exceptions to this general rule. These exceptions are where the employer had knowledge of the accident from any other source at or about the time when it occurred, want of notice will not obstruct the entertainment of a claim. Another exception is where the commissioner is satisfied that the failure to give notice was due to sufficient cause. 1958 All L J 652 : (1958) 2 Lab L J 682 : A I R 1959 All 586 (588) (Pt B) (Prs 8, 9, 10).

——S. 10, 2nd proviso—Absence of notice — Knowledge of management of accident otherwise than by notice whether removes bar to claim.

Second proviso to S. 10 lays down that the want of or any defect or irregularity in a notice shall not be a bar to the entertainment of a claim if any person responsible to the employer for the management of any branch of the trade or business in which the injured workman was employed had knowledge of the accident from any other source at or about the time when it occurred. (1950-51) 2 F J R 134 : I L R (1951) 3 Assam 37 : A I R 1950 Assam 188 (189) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

——S. 10 — Notice of accident is unnecessary when employer was aware of accident. A I R 1955 N U C (Cal) 2341 (DB).

——S. 10—Notice of accident—Absence of—Effect.

Section 10 requires notice of the accident and such notice is only rendered unnecessary if the Court is satisfied on evidence that the employer knew from other sources, of the accident at or about the time it took place, or if there were sufficient grounds for failure to give notice. Where the absence of notice cannot be condoned under S. 10, the workman will not be entitled to any compensation. A I R 1950 Cal 261 (262, 263) (Pt B) (Prs 11, 12, 13) (DB).

——S. 10—Applicability — Employer having knowledge of accident—Necessity.

Where the employer had knowledge of the accident, it was held that the lack of notice under S. 10 was no bar to entertainment of the application for compensation. 1959 Ker L R 47.

——S. 10—Employer aware of accident—Notice.

Employer having knowledge of accident to a workman—Want of notice is no bar to entertainment of claim for compensation by workman. I L R (1953) Madh B 167 : A I R 1954 Madh B 59 (61) (Pt B) (Pr 4).

——Ss. 10 and 3—Defect in notice—Question is one of fact—Commissioner is the sole judge for it—Mere negligence of worker is no defence under S. 3—Wilful disobedience to an express order has to be established. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 3. 1964 M P L J (Notes) 173.

——Ss. 10 and 12—Scope — Employer having notice of accident by reason of his presence—Failure to give notice — If fatal — Failure to give notice cannot be fatal to the proceedings for determination of compensation. 1961 M P L J (Notes) 38.

——Ss. 10 (1), Fourth Proviso, 4 (b)—Finding of fact —Finding as to person being agent of employer and he had notice of accident is finding of fact. A I R 1960 Madh Pra 313 (314) (Pt B) (Pr 5).

——S. 10 (1)—Notice of accident—'As soon as practicable'—Meaning of.

Section 10 requires a notice of the accident to be given 'as soon as practicable' after the happening thereof. No cast iron rule can be laid down in regard to what is meant by 'as soon as practicable'. A notice given two months after the accident may, if the victim of the accident is continuously in the hospital, be held to be one given as soon as practicable. A I R 1960 Madh Pra 313 (314) (Pt C) (Pr 6).

——S. 10 — Notice of claim — When to be given—Want of notice whether bars a claim.

Though under S. 10 a workman is required to serve a notice of claim on the employer as soon as practicable after the happening, yet it is also provided therein that the want of notice shall not be a bar to the entertainment of a claim when the employer or any person responsible to him for the management of any branch of the trade or business, in which the injured workman was employed, had knowledge of the accident from any other source at or about the time when it occurred. The Act empowers the Commissioner to entertain and decide a claim, notwithstanding that the notice was not given, if he is satisfied that the failure to serve the notice was due to sufficient cause. (1961-62) 21 F J R 14 (Punj).

3. Limitation—Sufficient cause.

——S. 10 (1), Proviso—Limitation—Sufficient cause —Representation of workmen to employer for compensation — Claim for compensation within 12 months of denial of compensation by employer—Claim of workman not barred.

Held, that there was sufficient cause for not preferring claim within 12 months of the accident and that the claim was not barred by limitation. (1965) 1 Lab L J 24 : (1964) 9 Fac I R 17 : 1964 All L J 613 (All).

——S. 10—Delay—Condonation.

Where the claim for compensation is filed beyond one year, but the Commissioner finds that there was sufficient cause for delay he can condone the same. (Commissioner held was justified in condoning the delay, on the ground that the applicant was suffering from typhoid fever). (1955) 1 Lab L J 553 : (1955-56) 8 F J R 201 : 1955 All W R (H C) 177 : 1955 All L J 269 : A I R 1955 All 182 (183) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

——S. 10 (1), Proviso 3 —Delay in perferring claim for compensation—Condonation of—Employer promising workman to pay compensation — Workman continuing in employment and drawing more wages than before in spite of disabilities — Workman implicitly believing his employer would settle his claim —After finding that employer was not prepared to settle his claim, filing application for compensation after prescribed period — Held, there was sufficient cause for not preferring claim within prescribed period and delay could be condoned. (1965) 1 Andh L T 219 : (1965-66) 29 F J R 62 : AIR 1966 Andh Pra 99 (101) (Pt A) (Pr 7).

——S. 10—Delay in making application—Sufficient cause for condoning delay.

Whether there is sufficient cause for condoning the delay caused in making an application under S. 10 or not is a question of law. But the facts found by the Commissioner on which he comes to the conclusion that the delay should be condoned must be accepted by the appellate Court. It is on the facts found that a question of law arises whether there was sufficient cause. (1956-57) 10 F J R 117 : (1956)

1 Lab L J 740 : AIR 1956 Bom 424 (425, 426) (Pt D) (Pr 3) (DB).

——S. 10 —Limitation —"Sufficient cause" —Determination of—Test—(Limitation Act (1908), S. 5).

Before examining the question of sufficient cause for not making an application within one year from the date of the accident it is necessary to find what the applicant's explanations were and whether those explanations could be accepted. ILR (1958) 2 Cal 630: AIR 1957 Cal 660 (661) (Pt A) (Pr 6) (DB).

——S. 10(1)—Accident on 19th July 1951—Workman though disabled still working and receiving pay till 31st August 1953 when establishment was closed — Application for compensation made on 13th October 1953 — Was not barred. (1956) 1 Lab L J 28 : AIR 1956 Cal 604 (605) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——S. 10, Proviso — Limitation — Sufficient cause—(C. P. Code (1908), S. 100).

Whether workman has made a claim within period of limitation is question of law.

The application was beyond one year from the occurrence of the accident. The Commissioner took the view that the workman had sufficient cause not to provoke a conflict with his employers and not to prefer a claim within limitation so long as his interests were not prejudicially affected by dismissal and so long as he was receiving a kind of compensation in the shape of lighter work on the same wages.

Held, that there was no misdirection and the finding was supported by evidence. 57 C W N 435 : AIR 1953 Cal 667 (669) (Pr 9) (DB).

——S. 10, Proviso—Claim not filed within 12 months of accident — Reasonable cause — That he returned to work and earned more wages, is not sufficient cause.

Under S. 10 read with the proviso the circumstance that the workman returned to work after the accident and began to earn higher wages is not a sufficient cause for not filing the claim for compensation within 12 months of the date of accident. (1921) 1 K B 655, Relied on. ('52) 56 Cal W N 311 : (1952) 1 Lab L J 490 : (1952) 4 F J R 123 : AIR 1953 Cal 74 (75) (Pt C) (Pr 11) (DB).

——S. 10 — Workman continuing in service after injury — This is not sufficient cause for not filing claim for compensation within one year of date of accident. ('52) 56 Cal W N 187 (189) : (1952) 1 Lab L J 609 : (1952-53) 4 F J R 110 : AIR 1952 Cal 752 (753) (Pr 3) (DB).

——S. 10—Limitation—Sufficient cause.

If sufficient cause is made out for not filing a claim for compensation within 12 months of the accident, subsequent negligence or improper delay in making a claim will be immaterial. M B L R 1955 Civ 376 : Madh B L J 1955 HCR 1794 : AIR 1956 Madh B 122 (122) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

——S. 10 (1)—Applicability—Suit by father of workman for compensation for injury received by workman—Limitation—Limitation Act, Art. 21.

Where the plaint shows that the suit for compensation brought by the father of a deceased workman is brought under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act and the Fatal Accidents Act, then if the proceedings are taken to have been started under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, as S. 10 (1) of that Act provides a period of limitation for proceedings before the Commissioner under that Act, that being a period provided by a special law, it will prevail over the general provisions of the Limitation Act. However, the proceedings under the Workmen's Compensation Act is not a suit. And if the action brought be taken to one under the Fatal Accidents Act, then it will be governed by one year's limitation provided by Art. 21 of the Limitation Act. The father of the deceased would come within the term 'representative' set out in Art. 21.

Held, that looked at from any point of view the suit was barred by limitation. 69 Mad L W 896 : (1957) 1 Lab L J 517 : AIR 1957 Mad 216 (221) (Pt D) (Pr 16).

——S. 10 (1), Proviso 3 — Claim for compensation filed beyond period prescribed under S. 10 (1) — Workman alleging that he was misled by his bosses who promised to give all compensation, in respect of injury, after retirement — Workman not stating in petition before whom he made such claims — Commissioner, being not satisfied by the allegation and since no evidence was adduced, dismissing claim— Held, that the decision of Commissioner on limitation was correct and was not contrary to law : AIR 1952 Cal 752 and AIR 1953 Cal 74, Rel. on; AIR 1953 Cal 667, Distinguished. AIR 1965 Pat 294 (294, 295) (Pr 4).

——S. 10 (1), Proviso—Sufficient cause—Satisfaction of Commissioner is sufficient to remove bar of limitation—Sufficiency of evidence for such satisfaction is question of law.

The question whether there was any evidence before the Commissioner on the basis of which he could be properly satisfied is undoubtedly a question of law in which the High Court can interfere : AIR 1941 Bom 246, Rel. on. 1950 Ker LT 205 : 1950 T C L R 203 : AIR 1950 Trav-Co 106 (109) (Pt B) (Pr 11) (DB).

4. Delay in filing claim.

——S. 10, Proviso — That some senior officers in management had promised compensation is sufficient cause for not making claim within 12 months. Obiter. ('52) 56 Cal W N 311 : ('52) 1 Lab L J 490 : (1952) 4 F J R 123 : AIR 1953 Cal 74 (74, 75) (Pt B) (Pr 7) (DB).

——S. 10, Proviso — Sufficient cause established — Subsequent negligence and improper delay is immaterial. (1921) 1 K B 655, Ref. ('52) 56 Cal W N 311 : AIR 1953 Cal 74 (75) (Pt D) (Pr 13) (DB).

——Ss. 10 (1), Provisos, 32 — Rules under S. 32 conflict with Act—Effect—Mysore Workmen's Compensation Act, Ss. 10 (1), Provisos, 31.

If any rule framed by Government to carry out the purposes of the Act, under S. 31 is contrary to the terms of the Act, it would to that extent be ultra vires and without force. Under R. 8 (1) a dependant of a deceased workman may apply to the Commissioner for the issue of an order to deposit compensation in respect of the death of the workman. He is no doubt required to certify in it that he has requested the employer to deposit the compensation and that the employer has refused or omitted to do so. The penalty for not making such a declaration, however, is not that the application should be rejected forthwith. If it is so held in spite of the power given to the Commissioner to entertain a claim even if no notice of it has been given, or even if there is any defect or irregularity in such notice, it would be directly contrary to the provisos contained in the sub-clause to section 10. 31 Mys L J 15 : ILR (1952) Mys 65 : AIR 1952 Mys 41 (42) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

——S. 10 (1) and Proviso 3 — Sufficient cause — Necessity to explain delay — (Cochin Workmen's Compensation Act (5 of 1111), S. 10 (1).)

When once the workman has shown sufficient cause for not instituting the claim within one year there is nothing in the Act or any other law which debars the Commissioner from entertaining the claim for compensation. It is not necessary that the workman must also give satisfactory explanation for the delay that has occasioned after the period of one year in preferring the claim. A I R 1950 Trav. Co 103, Foll. (1952) 1 Lab L J 610 : A I R 1952 Trav-Co 427 (428) (Pr 3) (DB).

——S. 10 (1), Proviso — Sufficient cause — Commissioner satisfied — Further delay in filing claim — Effect.

When there is sufficient cause for not bringing the application within one year as enjoined in sub-s. (1) of S. 10, there is nothing that will bar the workman in applying before the Commissioner when he does. The absence of any satisfactory explanation for any subsequent delay would not be a bar against the maintainability of his application before the Commissioner: (1921) 1 K B 655 and A I R (25) 1938 Cal 348, Rel. on. 1950 Ker L T 205 : 1950 T C L R 203 : AIR 1950 Trav-Co 106 (110) (Pt D) (Pr 18) (DB).

5. Powers of Commissioner.

——S. 10 (1) third proviso — Satisfaction of Commissioner — Interference in appeal — If the Commissioner has entertained the claim under the third proviso, an appellate Court would not be justified in reversing its decision. ILR (1959) 2 All 663 : A I R 1960 All 283 (284) (Pt A) (Pr 8).

——S. 10 — Amendment — Power of Commissioner to allow.

The workman was entitled to extension of time under S. 10. The presiding Officer was empowered both as a Commissioner under the Workmen's Compensation Act and as an Authority under the Payment of Wages Act. The Commissioner was clearly wrong in law in finding the appellant's application to be barred by time. The appellate Court could determine this question on appeal, the appeal being a continuation of the original proceedings. AIR 1960 Punj 119 (120, 121, 122) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 7).

SECTION 10-A

——S. 10-A — Power of Commissioner to determine compensation and liability of employer.

Where the Commissioner gives notice to the employer under S. 10-A and receives his reply denying this liability to pay compensation, there is no power given to the Commissioner under S. 10-A to determine the amount of compensation and the liability of the employer. AIR 1959 Assam 9 (10) (Pr 1) (DB).

SECTION 11

——S. 11 — Disability — Evidence — Medical certificate of Civil Surgeon — Examination of Civil Surgeon — Held, not necessary. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 2 (1) (l). A I R 1955 All 182 (DB).

——S. 11 (6) — Aggravation attributable to workman's conduct — Case falling within the ambit of Cl. (6) of S. 11 — Aggravation of injury will not be taken into account in assessing compensation. AIR 1955 N U C (Assam) 379 (DB).

——S. 11 — Evidence Act (1872), S. 3 — Paucity of evidence — Duty of court with respect to necessary issue — Death of workman — Inference of heart disease — That the workman was suffering from heart trouble which could not be discovered on clinical examination can be drawn by the Court. See Evidence Act (1872), S. 3. A I R 1956 Bom 424 (DB).

SECTION 12

——Ss. 12, 2 (1) (e) — Municipal Board entrusting electrification work of the town to State — Employee of State suffering injury — State and not Board is liable to pay compensation — Execution of electrical projects is not ordinary business of the Board. See Workmen's Compensation Act (8 of 1923), S. 2 (e). AIR 1960 All 468.

——S. 12 (4) — Scope — Accident in execution of work — Expression 'on, in or about the premises' — Applicability.

Held, the place at which the workman met with accident can be brought within the meaning of the words 'on, in or about' in S. 12 (4) of the Workmen's Compensation Act, and the workman was rightly awarded compensation. (1899) 1 Q B 157, (1956) 2 L L J 44, Rel. on. (1964) 1 Andh W R 363 : (1965) 1 Lab L J 48 : AIR 1964 Andh Pra 392 (393) (Prs 5, 6) (DB).

——S. 12 (1) and (4) — Applicability — Conditions for — Words "on or in or about" in S. 12 (4) — Meaning of — Cartman engaged by Rice Mill to carry rice bags from mill to railway station — Accident occurring on public road while returning back from railway station resulting in his death — No evidence that workman was engaged through contractor — Liability of principal to pay compensation.

Held, that S. 12 was not applicable to the case and that the accident arose out of and in the course of employment of the deceased by the appellants, so that there could be no question of the appellants not being liable to pay any compensation for the death of the deceased; (ii) that even assuming that the deceased was in the employment of a contractor engaged by the appellants the liability of the appellants to pay compensation was clear from S. 12 (1) and had not been excluded by reason of S. 12 (4). The expression 'premises' where the work is executed would necessarily cover not only the mill premises but also the railway station premises where the unloading takes place and the place or the land in between over which the carts had to pass on the forward and return journeys. It makes no difference whether that place is a public place or a private place or a place belonging to the principal or not. (1962) 2 Lab L J 29 : (1962) 5 Fac L R 186 (Andh Pra).

——S. 12 (2)—Powers of Commissioner.

The section makes it clear that it is only in case of default of agreement that the question as to the right to and the amount of any such indemnity is to be settled by the Commissioner, but when there is an agreement the Commissioner is precluded from entering into the said questions. (1962) 2 Lab L J 19 : (1962) 5 Fac L R 178 (Andh Pra).

——Ss. 12 (1) and (2), 3 — Injury during course of employment to worker employed by independent contractor — Principal's liability — Relationship of master and servant established between such worker and principal — Principal does not cease to be liable merely because he had interposed independent contractor—Proceedings for recovery of damages — Contractor not a necessary party — Right of principal to be indemnified.

Normally, a workman can recover compensation only from his employer. Exception is found in S. 12 (1) of the Act which gives the workman a right to recover from the person who has entered into a contract with the workman's immediate employer and in that case S. 12 (2) becomes operative and the principal who has engaged the contractor has a right to recover from the contractor by way of indemnity. 67 Cal W N 728 : (1963) 2 Lab L J 580 : AIR 1964 Cal 217 (219) (Pt D) (Prs 10, 11) (DB).

——S. 12 (1)—Construction—"In the course of or for the purposes of his trade or business"—Meaning of.

It can be legitimately said that if a company carrying on the business of manufacturing goods in a factory, enters into a contract for the purpose of some repairs to its machinery or the factory building, such contract is entered into in the course of and for the purpose of the company's trade or business. (1957-58) 12 F J R 356 : (1957) 2 Lab L J 440 : 61 C W N 234 : AIR 1957 Cal 613 (616, 617) (Pt A) (Pr 15) (DB).

——S. 12 (1)—Construction — 'Which is ordinarily part of the trade or business of the principal.'

The business of the company is to manufacture the goods which it produces. The manufacture may be done inside a factory and the factory may require a chimney which would occasionally need repairs, but repairing the chimney can in no view be a part of the company's trade or business under S. 12 (1) whether ordinarily or extraordinarily. (1957-58) 12 F J R 356 : (1957) 2 Lab L J 440 : 61 C W N 234 : AIR 1957 Cal 613 (616, 617) (Pt B) (Pr 15) (DB).

——S. 12 — 'Contract of service' and 'contract for service'—Distinction.

If a person wishing to have some pieces of furniture made, enters into a contract with a cabinet-maker for the execution of the work, but makes it a condition that he will supply his own timber the contract does not become on that account any the less a contract of service, as distinguished from a contract for service if it is otherwise so. (1957) 2 Lab L J 440 : (1957-58) 12 F J R 356 : 61 C W N 234 : AIR 1957 Cal 613 (616) (Pt C) (Pr 13) (DB).

——S. 12—Contract of service—Supervision by principal—Effect of.

A person calling in a contractor to do a piece of work will naturally look after the work in the sense of attending to and viewing it so that the work may be properly done. That will not change the nature of contract of service into a contract for service if it is otherwise so. (1957-58) 12 F J R 356 : (1957) 2 Lab L J 440 : 61 C W N 234 : AIR 1957 Cal 613 (616) (Pt D) (Pr 13) (DB).

——S. 12—Liability to indemnify—When arises.

The question of indemnifying the principal under sub s. (2) of S. 12 arises only when the case falls within sub-s. (1). Where the work done by the workman is not the work which ordinarily forms the whole or part of the work of the principal, the case is not governed by S. 12 (1) and right to claim indemnity does not arise. ——S. 12—Liability to indemnify—Onus of proof on contractor.

The onus rests in the first place upon the workman to prove that the work done by the contractor under the contract was work which ordinarily formed the whole or part of the principal's business and on establishing that fact, a right of indemnity would arise. 54 Cal W N 716 : (1950-51) F J R 237 : ILR (1951) 2 Cal 162 : AIR 1950 Cal 548 (550) (Pt B) (Pr 13).

——S. 12—Duty of employee.

There is nothing in S. 12 which obliges the injured employee to prove that in addition to the principal contractor from whom he claims compensation, such and such petty contractor was the person immediately above him. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 313 (314, 315) (Pt D) (Pr 9).

——S. 12 (2) — Accident — Proceeding before Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation — Statement by employee that a certain person was sub-contractor under principal contractor — Compensation paid by contractor — Contractor starting proceedings against sub-contractor for contribution under S. 12 (2) — Employee's statement has no bearing on finding of relationship of principal and subordinate contractor —Such finding has to be given independently. ——S. 12—Workmen engaged by Contractor working for Government meeting with accident — Neither contractor nor Government liable for compensation — Government paying compensation — Right to indemnity. See Contract Act (1872), S. 124. (1959) 72 Mad L W 572.

——S. 12 (1)—"Ordinarily part of the trade or business of the principal."

By an agreement A took on lease B's lorry for a period of one month. The lorry was taken on lease for the express purpose of A's business in Kolar District of transporting articles. The deceased was employed by A as a cooly to load and unload the lorry which A was driving.

Held, that the work or business of B was merely to let out his lorry for hire while that of A was quite different, viz., to use the lorry to convey materials in connection with some trade or business of his own. Thus on the facts and circumstances of the case it had not been shown that B was the principal and A the contractor within the meaning of S. 12 (1) and therefore the mother of the deceased could not have any recourse against B for compensation for injuries sustained by the deceased. SECTION 19

——S. 19 (2) — Suit in tort — Accident due to negligence and misconduct—Suit for damages — It is not barred under S. 19 (2).

Section 19 (2) of the Workmen's Compensation Act does not apply unless the question is such as must necessarily be dealt with under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act. In cases of accidents resulting from negligence or misconduct, the provisions of this Act may, if chosen by the person aggrieved, be taken advantage of, but if such a person decides to file a civil suit that suit cannot be deemed to be barred by the provisions of S 19 (2). (1961) 2 Fac L R 563 : (1961) 2 Lab L J 197 (All).

In the absence of any other evidence the examination of the workman by the Commissioner himself in Court about the condition of the injury cannot be conclusive. ——S. 19—Findings of fact—Duty of Commissioner.

The Commissioner who is charged with the duty of finding facts should not merely lift propositions from the statute itself and put them either in the affirma-

——S. 19 (1)—Question whether person is workman — Commissioner's jurisdiction to decide — If and when ousted.

All that S. 19 means is that if there is an agreement between the parties in regard to the question whether the injured person is or is not a workman, the jurisdiction of the Commissioner to decide it is ousted. But the section does not provide that even if there is no agreement between the parties on this point, and even though the materials might indicate that the employee was not a workman at all as contemplated by the law, yet the Commissioner should assume that he was a workman and proceed to award compensation. SECTION 22

——S. 22—Scope — Workmen asking for compensation—Employer avoiding—Effect.

Section 22 does not contemplate any notice to the employer demanding compensation. All that the section requires is that a question actually arose between the parties and was not settled by private agreement. Mere asking of compensation is enough. 1958 All L J 652 : (1958) 2 Lab L J 682 : AIR 1959 All 586 (588) (Pt A) (Pr 6).

——S. 22—Form of application—Defect.

The law does not require that a claim should be thrown out simply on the ground that the claim was not made, when it was originally made, in the prescribed form. This is a defect of procedure which can be rectified with the permission of the Commissioner at any stage, and once it is rectified, the irregularity is cured. ——S. 23—Duty of Commissioner—(Special Tribunal —Duties of).

The relevant section of the Workmen's Compensation Act and also the rules framed under the Act made it clear that the enquiry contemplated in the matter of deciding disputes as to apportionment of compensation among dependants of the deceased should be an open enquiry in which the contesting parties may participate. The rules provide for the framing of issues. The enquiry is to be conducted in accordance with the provisions of S. 23 of the Act and also of rule 41. Order of the Commissioner based on report by Police and subordinate officer would be one on inadmissible material and would be vitiated. 1961 M P L J (Notes) 48.

——S. 23—Scope—Duty to examine witnesses.

Section 23 simply deals with the power of the Commissioner and has nothing to do with the so-called duty to examine witnesses in the course of the inquiry conducted before him. (1956) 10 F J R 423 : 1956 B L J R 288 : (1957) 2 Lab L J 522 : AIR 1956 Pat 299 (302, 303) (Pt D) (Pr 12) (DB).

——S. 24—Commissioner's duty—Power to entrust to subordinate officer or Police.

SECTION 24-A

——S. 24-A (as amended by Bengal amendment Act (6 of 1942) — Loss of earning capacity—Assessment of—Proof—Value of medical evidence — (Evidence Act (1872), S. 45.)

Loss of earning capacity or the extent of it is a question of fact. The utmost a medical witness can give by way of a percentage is to give the percentage of the loss of the normal physical capacity or power. The loss of earning capacity is not necessarily co-extensive with the loss of physical capacity and certainly the former does not prove the latter. It is therefore altogether wrong in taking the evidence of the medical witness not only as relevant but as decisive on the question of the loss of earning capacity. II R (1958) 2 Cal 630 : A I R 1957 Cal 660 (662, 663) (Pt C) (Pr 11) (DB).

SECTION 25

——S. 25—Depositions recorded not by Commissioner but by his reader—Sufficiency.

Where the depositions of the witnesses in proceedings under the Act were not recorded by the Commissioner but by his reader, but the Commissioner had in fact attached a note at the end of each deposition that it had been recorded at his dictation owing to his inability to do so, if the provisions of the Civil P. C. were applicable they had thus been fulfilled. 1958 All L J 652 : (1958) 2 Lab L J 682 : A I R 1959 All 586 (588, 589) (Pt C) (Pr 11).

——S. 25 — Evidence as to disablement — Medical certificates—Evidence Act (1872), S. 45.

A finding as to incapacity or the extent of incapacity cannot be founded upon mere medical certificates which are the worst form of hearsay evidence. They merely record what somebody who is not a witness has written. Similarly, it is not proper for the Commissioner to base such finding upon his own observation of the injured workman. A I R 1950 Cal 261 (263) (Pt C) (Pr 14) (DB).

SECTION 26

——S. 26—Commissioner's duty—Power to entrust to subordinate officer or Police.

SECTION 27

——S. 27 –Commissioner's duty—Power to entrust to subordinate officer or Police. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 23. 1961 M P L J (Notes) 48.

——S. 27—Reference to High Court — Claim against Crown in respect of a transaction involving the British Navy—It can be proceeded with under the Act.

In December, 1946, at a time when India was still a part of the British Empire, a workman employed by the Admiralty Civil Engineer filed an application before the Commissioner under the Act for the determination of compensation payable to him with respect to an injury caused to him. The Admiralty Civil Engineer to whom notice was issued took up the position that the Indian Act does not bind the Crown in right of the United Kingdom. On a reference to the High Court by the Commissioner.

Held, the case cannot be dealt with under the Act. The Crown is not bound by a statute unless expressly named or bound by necessary implication. The Crown in right of the United Kingdom is not bound by any Indian enactment however valid and binding it might be on the Crown in right of the Federation or Provinces of India. After the Indian Independence Act, the claim is in the nature of a claim against a foreign Sovereign and by the comity of international law cannot be proceeded with, unless the foreign Sovereign voluntarily submits to the jurisdiction of the Court. 1951 Mad W N 391 : 64 Mad L W 659 : (1951) 2 Mad L J 23 : AIR 1951 Mad 880 (881, 882) (Pt A) (Prs 4, 5) (DB).

9. "Otherwise"—Meaning of.

1. Powers of High Court.

——Ss. 30, 2 (1) (n) (ii) and Sch. II, Cl. (xxvi)—Appellant transporting goods of his saw-mills by railway—Work of loading wagons entrusted to contractor — Goods stored in railway siding—Contractor engaging applicant for handling and transporting goods at railway siding — Applicant if workman employed by appellant — Finding by Commissioner — High Court cannot go into that question of fact. See Workmen's Compensation Act (8 of 1923), S. 2(1)(n)(ii). AIR 1963 Assam 7 (DB).

——S. 30 (1), Proviso I — Interference in appeal — Grounds—Judgment of Commissioner suffering from serious and substantial errors of law — Interference held inevitable. ('65) 67 Bom L R 735 : (1965) 1 Lab L J 554 : 1966 Mah L J 220 : 1966 Fac L R 345 (Bom).

——Ss. 30 (1), Second Proviso, 17, 19, 21—Agreement to abide by decision of Commissioner, thus impliedly excluding apoeal from his decision, does not infringe S 17 of Act. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 17. AIR 1964 Cal 94 (DB).

——S. 30—Loss of earning capacity of injured workmen — Commissioner's duty to decide it — Reference to Referee —Appeal from decision of referee — There will be no right to appeal. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 19. AIR 1959 Mad 559.

——S. 30—Decision of single Judge on appeal against award under Workmen's Compensation Act—Appeal to Division Bench held does not lie. See Letters Patent (Punjab), Cl. 10. (1957-58) 13 F J R 36 (Punj).

——S. 30—Powers of High Court in appeal—It is open to it to examine question of law or whether there is any evidence for Commissioner to come to conclusion that accident did not occur in course of and out of employment. AIR 1955 N U C (Punj) 1603.

——S. 30 (1) (a)—Order for payment of fixed sum—Appeal—Is open to appeal within the meaning of S. 30 of the Act. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 4. AIR 1957 Raj 246.

2. Question of law.

——S. 30(1), Proviso—'Substantial question of law'.

The phrase 'substantial question of law' as used in the proviso to sub.s. (1) of S. 30 of the Workmen's Compensation Act must be given a wider construction than what is attributed to it under S. 110, Civil P. C., namely that it would not cover cases of application of well-settled principles of law to a particular set of facts. AIR 1956 All 491, Rel. on 1958 All L J 269 : 1958 All W R (HC) 300 : (1958) 2 Lab L J 18 : (1958-59) 15 F J R 47 : AIR 1958 All 564 (564, 565) (Pr 4) (DB).

——S. 30—Questions of law—Question whether accident arose out of and in course of employment is point of law — It has to be ascertained from facts found and is therefore a mixed question of law and fact — Per Deka, J. AIR 1955 N U C (Assam) 379 (DB).

——S. 30—Question of law — Finding not based on evidence.

The High Court is not entitled to interfere with the findings of fact arrived at by the Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation except on a substantial question of law, and that includes a finding of fact which is not based upon evidence. AIR 1946 Bom 169, Foll. AIR 1954 Him Pra 82 (82, 83) (Pr 3).

——S. 30—Substantial question of law — Finding of Commissioner that accident arose out of and in the course of employment and that workman's death was due to strain of work—No question of law is involved. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 3. (1963) 1 Lab L J 203 (Ker).

——S. 30 (1)—Question of law — Question of legal evidence—Credibility of witnesses—Interference.

The question whether there was any legal evidence in support of the finding arrived at by the Commissioner on the questions of fact would be a substantial question of law. So far as the credibility of the evidence of witness is concerned it is a matter for the Commissioner and not for the High Court sitting in appeal over his order. 1959 K L R 47.

——S. 30 (1), Proviso—Scope of—Interlocutory order of Commissioner—Appeal.

No appeal lies from an interlocutory order of the Commissioner which does not fall within any of the clauses (a) to (e) of S. 30. 1958 Jab L J 260.

——S. 30, First Proviso—Substantial question of law —Non-compliance with provisions of R. 51 (2) of Workmen's Compensation Rules (1933) is substantial question of law. Madh B L R 1956 (Civ) 201 : 1956 M B L J (H C R) 783.

——S. 30, First proviso—Substantial question of law —(Constitution of India, Art. 133) — (C. P. Code (1908), S. 110).

Section 30 provides for an appeal against the order of Commissioner only when there is a substantial question of law involved in it; when no such question is involved the appeal cannot be entertained.

A question of law can be said to be a substantial question of law only when there may be some doubt or difference of opinion. ILR (1953) M B 167 : AIR 1954 Madh B 59 (60, 61) (Pt A) (Pr 3).

——S. 30 (1), Proviso—Substantial question of law—Power to go into questions of fact — (Mysore) Workmen's Compensation Act, S 29.

When once an important point of law arises, points of fact also can be gone into in the appeal. The question whether from the evidence on record, the Commissioner was justified in arriving at the finding as to the wilful disobedience to R. 126 of the Mining Rules with legal effect of depriving the petitioner of compensation is a substantial point of law involved in the appeal and while deciding it questions of fact also could be gone into. Case law discussed. ('49) 29 Mys L J 171 : 54 Mys H C R 486 (DB).

——S. 30 — Whether deceased was a 'workman' is a substantial question of law to the question — Interference in appeal is justified and necessary. AIR 1933 Cal 63, Distinguished. 1963 Cur L J 470 : AIR 1964 Punj 315 (317, 318) (Pt B) (Pr 5).

——S. 30—'Substantial question of law'—Misdirection on question of law is covered by the expression. (1961) 1 Lab L J 494 : (1960) 1 Fac L R 508 : (1960-61) 18 F J R 428 : AIR 1960 Punj 573 (575) (Pt D) (Pr 8) (DB).

——S. 30—Question of law—Ascertainment of meanings of phrases 'arise out of' and 'in course of employment' used in S. 3, is question of law. AIR 1955 N U C (Punj) 1603.

——Ss. 30 and 2 (1) (n)— Substantial question of law —Question whether employment is of casual nature or for employer's trade or business, for purposes of S. 2 (1) (n) — Question is essentially one of fact and not of law — It can in no case be considered a substantial question of law — It is, therefore, not open to appellant to contest finding on that question in appeal under S. 30. See Workmen's Compensation Act (8 of 1923), S. 2 (1) (n). AIR 1961 Raj 45.

——S. 30—Substantial question of law — Finding of fact by Commissioner — In appeal appellate Court will interfere if it is based on no evidence. 1956 Raj L W 355.

——S. 30—Substantial question of law.

A challenge to the legality of the procedure adopted by the Commissioner would constitute a good ground for the appeal. (1956) 1 Lab L J 43 : 1956 Ker L T 69 : ILR (1955) Trav-Co 935 : AIR 1956 Trav-Co 55 (55) (Pt A) (Pr 2) (DB).

3. Findings of fact.

(A) Interference in appeal.

3. Findings of fact.

——Ss. 30, 19, 23 — Objections when to be taken — Unless objection is taken before the Commissioner and he has an opportunity of considering the same, parties would not be allowed to raise the same at the later stages of the litigation, particularly, objections which are dependent on findings of fact — See Workmen's Compensation Act (8 of 1923), S. 19. AIR 1962 Andh-Pra 69.

——S. 30—Question whether person is workman or not is one of fact. (1953) 1 M L J 557 : AIR 1954 Mad 218, Foll. (1961) 2 Lab L J 260 (Andh-Pra).

——S. 30—Question of fact.

Whether the railway which carries the city's refuse is the property of the Corporation or is an independent organisation is a question of fact. (1955-56) 8 F J R 439 : AIR 1955 Cal 307 (309) (Pt C) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Ss. 30 and 2 (1) (n) — Question of fact—Operations whether agricultural.

The plea that the operations were agricultural operations and therefore workers employed in them could not be 'workmen' obviously raises issue of fact which cannot be allowed to be raised for the first time in appeal against the orders of the Commissioner. 58 Cal W N 751 : 94 Cal L J 49 : AIR 1955 Cal 105 (106, 107) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

——S. 30—Question of fact.

Per Chakravartti, C. J. — It is doubtful whether a question of fact which is one entirely unrelated to the question of law urged is at all admissible in an appeal under S. 30 of the Act. AIR 1955 N U C (Cal) 2863 (DB).

——S. 30 — Appreciation of evidence — Question of fact.

Misappreciation of evidence or insufficiency of evidence is not a question of law, though the absence of evidence is. If the evidence did not appeal to the Commissioner, it can by no means be contended that he was bound as a matter of law to believe that evidence. A I R 1955 N U C (Cal) 2863 (DB).

——S. 30—Finding of fact — Finding as to nature of loss of use of thumb.

The finding of the Commissioner that there is no partial or permanent loss of use of thumb is a finding not involving any substantial point of law but rests upon the conclusion drawn by the assessment of evidence. Madh B L R 1956 Civ 364 : 1956 Madh B L J 938 : A I R 1957 Madh B 176 (177) (Pt B) (Pr 13).

——S. 30 (a) — No final order by Commissioner regarding compensation but only a finding on certain question—Order does not fall under S. 30 (a)—Objection to finding can be taken when appeal is filed against final order of compensation. Madh B L R 1956 Civil 347 : 1956 Madh B L J 968.

——S. 30 (1), Proviso—Question of fact.

No appeal under S. 30 can be admitted because of a wrong finding of fact based on misappreciation of evidence. AIR 1962 S C 1314, Foll. AIR 1949 Mad 462, (1948) 2 Mad L J 639, Rel. on. (1964) 66 Punj L R 661.

——Ss. 30, 3 — Question of fact — Question whether workman was forbidden to go to site is question of fact—Finding thereon will not be interfered with by High Court. AIR 1955 NUC (Raj) 4038.

4. Appeal.

——S. 30—Appeal—Finding contrary to evidence.

It is true that in appeals against the decisions of the Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation the High Court is bound by the findings of fact and the appeal only lies on substantial question of law. But the finding of the Commissioner must be based on evidence, and if the finding is contrary to evidence, then the High Court is not bound by those findings. ILR (1954) Bom 353 : 55 Bom L R 924 : AIR 1954 Bom 180 (181, 182) (Pt F) (Pr 5) (DB).

——S. 30—Principle of S. 30.

The principle of S. 30 is that if the appeal be such that by it the workman's right to the compensation awarded to him is placed in jeopardy, security for the workman must be provided for by the deposit of the amount of compensation and such a deposit would be essential to the maintainability of the appeal. 58 Cal W N 488 : AIR 1954 Cal 453 (454, 455) (Pt A) (Pr 11) (DB).

——S. 30 (1) (d)—Applicability.

S. 30 (1) (d) contemplates an appeal which raises a question between the person indemnified and the indemnifier without in any way placing the award itself under challenge. If the award itself is brought into issue, the appeal will be an appeal against an order awarding compensation and it will be in part at least an appeal under Cl. (a), although it might be an appeal under Cl. (d) as well. 58 Cal W N 252 : ILR (1956) 2 Cal 530 : AIR 1954 Cal 453 (454, 455) (Pt B) (Prs 11, 12) (DB).

——S. 30 — Right of employer to file appeal against order of Commissioner paying compensation to one claimant. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 10-A. AIR 1955 NUC (Nag) 1580 (DB).

——S. 30 (1) (a) — Appeal — Order for payment of lump sum.

Held, that order of the Commissioner directing the employer to pay a sum of Rs. 2,000 to the claimant as compensation was one for a lump sum compensation. Therefore, on that ground alone, the order had to be held as appealable under S. 30 (1) (a). (1956) 10 F J R 423 : 1956 B L J R 288 : (1957) 2 Lab L J 522 : AIR 1956 Pat 299 (301) (Pt A) (Pr 6) (DB).

——S. 30 (1) (a)—Defective order—Appeal.

Although an order of the Commissioner is defective, the appellant cannot be deprived of his statutory right of an appeal on account of this defect. AIR 1951 Pat 260 (261) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

5. Third Proviso.

——S. 30 (1), Proviso 3 and (3)—Appeal—Certificate of deposit not produced within time — Appeal is barred — Condonation of delay — (Limitation Act (1908), S. 5).

Having regard to Proviso 3 to S. 30 (1) of the Act a memorandum of appeal by an employer presented within the period of limitation, but unaccompanied by a certificate of deposit issued by the Commissioner, will not save limitation. AIR 1935 P C 5 and AIR 1954 Raj 138, Rel. on. AIR 1951 Pat 260, Disting. AIR 1957 Him Pra 26 (27) (Prs 8, 11).

——S. 30, Third Proviso—Third Proviso is mandatory. (1964) 6 Orissa J D 9 : 30 Cut L T 181 : (1964) 2 Lab L J 527 (Orissa).

——S. 30 (1), Third proviso—Deposit—Necessity.

The principle of S. 30 is that if the appeal be such that by it the workman's right to the compensation awarded to him is placed in jeopardy, security for the workman must be provided for by the deposit of the amount of compensation and such a deposit would be essential to the maintainability of the appeal. The proviso is mandatory and not merely directory:.(1959) 1 O J D 122 : ILR (1959) Cut 464 : AIR 1960 Orissa 39 (40, 41) (Pt A) (Pr 3).

——S. 30 (1), First proviso — Substantial question of law.

The phrase 'substantial question of law' for the purpose of S. 30 of the Act should be construed to cover even a case in which the Commissioner has clearly misdirected himself on question of law such as where he awards compensation without having a notice of the proceedings served on the employer. (1959) 1 O J D 122 : ILR (1959) Cut 464 : AIR 1960 Orissa 39 (41) (Pt B) (Pr 5).

——S. 30 (1), Proviso 3 and S. 30 (2) and (3)—Delay—Condonation—(Limitation Act (1908), S. 5).

Held, that there were not sufficient grounds for condonation of delay in filing appeal with the necessary certificate. 1958 BLJR 726 : AIR 1959 Pat 112 (113) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

——S. 30 (1), Proviso 3 and S. 8 (2)—Appeal must be accompanied by Commissioner's certificate — Certificate must comply with S. 8 (2) and Rules made thereunder — (Workmen's Compensation Rules (Adapted in Bihar) Rule 9). See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 8 (2). AIR 1959 Pat 112 (DB).

——S. 30 (1), third proviso—Appeal not accompanied with the certificate—Effect.

Per Ahmad J. — The proviso to S. 30 (1) of the Act on a true construction demands that the certificate should be filed along with the memorandum of appeal as an essential part of it. In other words, an appeal as contemplated by it cannot be said in law to be an appeal unless it is accompanied with the aforesaid certificate of the Commissioner. The filing of a memorandum of appeal cannot by itself amount in law to a formal presentation of an appeal unless the memorandum of appeal is accompanied with the certificate referred to in the proviso. ——S. 30 (1) (e), Second Proviso—Agreement between seaman and shipowner under Merchant Shipping Act — Interpretation of — Commissioner assuming jurisdiction under proviso to S. 21 (1) independently of any agreement between parties — Award of compensation—Agreement held no bar to right of appeal on question whether accident arose out of and in course of employment. 7. Limitation.

——S. 30—Limitation — Starting point — Object of third proviso.

The purpose of the third proviso to sub-s. (1) of S. 30 is to deny the right of appeal except on compliance with the order before appealing against if and troversy regarding the main facts and the points at issue were mostly questions of law, no prejudice could be said to have been caused by the failure to frame issues. 1958 All L J 652 : (1958) 2 Lab L J 682 : AIR 1959 All 586 (588, 589) (Pt E) (Pr 11).

——S. 32—Rules under — Workmen's Compensation Rules, R. 20—Form of application—Irregularity in.

The Legislature did not intend that a claim should not be entertained or enquired into, or that no compensation should be granted, unless the application were in strict form. If, therefore, there be any irregularity in the form of the application the claim for compensation cannot be rejected. ILR (1953) M B 167 : AIR 1954 Madh B 59 (61) (Pt C) (Pr 6).

——S. 32—Rules under—Workmen's Compensation Rules, R. 25—Preliminary inquiry is discretionary.

Rule 25 of the Workmen's Compensation Rules gives a discretion to the Commissioner to hold a preliminary inquiry. The rule does not make it obligatory to hold a preliminary inquiry in every case. ILR (1953) M B 167 : AIR 1954 Madh B 59 (61) (Pt D) (Pr 7).

——S. 32—Rules under.

A failure to send a copy of the application for a claim to the employer is not such an irregularity as to defeat the claim. ILR (1953) M B 167 : AIR 1954 Madh B 59 (61) (Pt E) (Pr 8).

——S. 32—Rules under — Workmen's Compensation Rules, Rr. 28 and 31 — Non-compliance with procedure.

Rule 31. Workmen's Compensation Rules, clearly indicates that the claim is to be decided as far as possible in one hearing. Where the conduct of the employer clearly shows that he wanted to prolong the case and delay the decision there is no justification to interfere with the decision of the lower Court although it has not followed the procedure laid down by R. 28 of the Workmen's Compensation Rules. ILR (1953) M B 167 : AIR 1954 Madh B 59 (61) (Pt F) (Pr 9).

——Ss 32 and 10 (1), Proviso — Rules under S. 32, conflict with Act—Effect—Mysore Workmen's Compensation Act, S. 10 (1), Proviso 31.

It would be to that extent ultra vires and without force. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 10 (1), Proviso AIR 1952 Mys 41 (DB).

——S. 32 (2) (c) — Bihar Workmen's Compensation Rules, Rule 28—Scope—Non-compliance—Effect on proceedings.

Where in a workmen's compensation proceeding a show-cause notice is issued to the employer concern and the concern files a written statement challenging the liability claimed by the workman, the proceeding becomes a contested one. In such a case the procedure laid down in Rule 28. Workmen's Compensation Rules should be followed. And if this rule is not followed and the judgment is pronounced without framing any issue, the procedure thus adopted is not in accordance with law and is vitiated. 1958 B L J R 383 : AIR 1958 Pat 540 (541, 542) (Pr 4).

SCHEDULE 1

——Sch. 1, S. 2 (1) (j) (c) (ii) — Crippling of leg — Compensation—Proof.

Schedule 1 mentions loss of leg at or above the knee, but not any crippling of the leg. But it is obvious that the Act contemplates other instances of permanent partial disablement, resulting from injury than those specified in the schedule. This is apparent from sub-Cl. (ii) of S. 4 (1) (c). A strict construction of the rules of course imposes a duty on the Court to find that there should be proof to the effect that as a result of the permanent partial disablement, (i) earning capacity of the workman was reduced in every employment; and (ii) which the workman was capable of undertaking at the time of the accident. But an enquiry of this nature is more or less in the nature of a guesswork. That being so, although the evidence adduced by the workman on the point is not as full as it should have been, it would not be in the interest of justice to send back the case for fresh materials and for reconsideration of the matter by the Commissioner. AIR 1959 Assam 10 (12, 13) (Prs 4, 5) (DB).

——Sch. 1—Loss of 4 fingers, except thumb — Compensation.

If four out of five fingers are lost the presence of thumb alone unaided by any other finger can hardly be said to be of any substantial use. One can appreciate the use of thumb if there be at least one more finger. But when no other finger than the thumb is left the percentage of earning capacity fixed by the schedule at 25 P. C. is hardly just. However that is, the percentage fixed by the statute ought to be followed. AIR 1949 Cal 295, Rel. on. ——Sch. 2, Cl. (i) read with S. 2 (n) — "Workman" —Conservancy -coolies doing duties connected with lorry—Test.

Whether or not a particular employee is a workman must be decided by reference to the duties performed by him. There is no genus or species of employees, going by the name of conservancy coolies and having known, ascertainable or invariable duties.

Held, that the expression "in connection with" in Cl. (i) of Sch. 2 was of wide content and that the person being clearly employed in connection with the operation of the vehicle was covered by Cl. (i) of Sch. 2 and was clearly a workman. 55 Cal W N 496 and AIR 1955 Cal 306, Distinguished. (1957-58) 13

SCHEDULE 2, CLAUSE 2

——Sch. 2, Cl. (ii) — Scope — It is not necessary for the purpose of satisfying the definition of "workman" that the deceased should be working in the manufacturing process itself. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 2 (1) (n). AIR 1954 Bom 180 (DB).

——Sch. 2, Cl. (ii) —Manufacturing process as defined in S. 2 (g) of Factories Act. 1934 — Worker employed in printing press—Sch. 2, Cl. (ii) if applies. See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 2 (1) (n) (ii). AIR 1955 Cal 306 (DB).

——Sch. 2, Cl. (ii)—Scope.

All that Cl. (ii) requires is that ten or more persons must have been employed on any day of the preceding twelve months. Hence, it is enough for the application of this clause when the proprietor in his evidence states that he employed eight men in the Press, but occasionally three more men were employed. (1955-56) 8 F J R 424 : AIR 1955 Cal 306 (307) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Sch. 2, Cl. (ii)—Scope — Person to be workman must be working within premises mentioned in the clause.

What Cl. (ii) contemplates are persons employed in the premises where the manufacturing process is carried on. It does not cover persons who may be connected with a concern which carries on a manufacturing process, but who, so far as they themselves are concerned are employed in outdoor work. The governing provision in the clause is that the persons contemplated by it must be employed in premises of a certain kind and the clause then proceeds to say what the premises must be like. Persons working within such premises though not employed in the manufacturing process proper, are within the definition, but persons working outside are not, though they may be serving the concern. 58 Cal W N 751 : 94 Cal L J 49 : AIR 1955 Cal 105 (106, 107) (Pt C) (Pr 5) (DB).

He was entitled to be regarded as a workman, because the Factories Act of 1934 was repealed and re-enacted by the Act of 1948 and therefore by virtue of S. 8, General Clauses Act, references in the Workmen's Compensation Act to the Act of 1934 must be construed as references to the Act of 1948. 93 Cal L J 197 : 58 Cal W N 560 : 1LR (1956) 2 Cal 700 : AIR 1954 Cal 484 (485, 486) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 7, 8, 9) (DB).

See Workmen's Compensation Act (1923), S. 2 (1) (n) (ii). AIR 1963 Assam 7 (DB).

——Sch. II. Cl. (xxvi)—Place where goods are stored may be small or big like a warehouse.

If the place in which a person is engaged, in handling goods is a place where goods are stored, the definition contained in clause (xxvi) is satisfied whether such place bears any similarity to a warehouse or not.

No aid to the construction of clause (xxvi) can at all be derived from clause (iii). A I R 1955 N U C (Cal) 2863 (DB).

——Sch. II, Cl. (xxvi), sub-cl. (a)—Workmen.

Where it was found that the deceased was employed in the handling of goods at the shop of the appellant where his merchandise was stored that more than ten persons had been employed at that place within the preceding twelve months and that on the day and at the time of the occurrence the deceased was actually engaged in feeding the weighing scales by dragging bags of oilcake from where they lay stacked there could thus be no doubt that the deceased was a 'workman' within the meaning of sub-clause (a) of clause (xxvi) of Sch. ——Ss. 2 (i), 2 (f), 8, 10 (2) (o) — "Evacuee property" —Evacuee's right to obtain import quota is also property — Such right also vests in the Custodian who can transfer it under S. 10 (2) (o) — Under R. 78 (a) of the Red Book the right devolves on the transferee —The transferee need not himself be an "established importer'. Order in W. P. 801 of 1959 (Madras) affirmed. (Imports and Exports (Control) Act, 1947, S. 3).

Anantanarayanan J.—An allottee from the Custodian of Evacuee Property, in respect of the rights of an Evacuee firm, is entitled to an import licence notwithstanding the fact he is not per se, an 'established importer'. Such a right cannot also be frustrated merely because the Chief Controller had recognised the transfer only at a later date.

Section 2(i) of the Administration of Evacuee Property Act read with S. 2(f) of the same Act clearly indicates that the right to import a commodity, originally possessed by the Evacuee firm, and the quota right to which it had become qualified, is property of the firm, vesting in the Custodian under S. 8(1), which the custodian can under S. 10(2)(o) transfer. On such a transfer being made transferee gets the right.

Rules 74 and 78(a) and (b) of the Red Book (Edition relating to October 1958 to March, 1959) which sets forth the general principles with regard to the transfers or division of quotas clearly shows that the policy is to recognise the rights of the reconstituted firms, after dissolution of partnership, or the quondam partners, or transferees from established importers to the identical quotas of the predecessors. The recognition being an administrative act cannot be withheld, when the necessary formalities have been complied with. AIR 1961 Bom 244, Diss.: (1959) 2 Mad L J 308 (DB), Rel. on.

Per Ramamurthy J. — By reason of the all embracing vesting provision in S. 8 of Central Act 31 of 1950 there occurs a statutory transfer by operation of law of all the assets, liabilities and goodwill of the evacuee's business in favour of the custodian. There can be no doubt that the outright transfer referred to in R. 78(a) of the Red Book takes in both a transfer by act of parties and one by operation of law. I L R (1964) 2 Mad 224 (DB).

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE AND POLICE IN KHASI AND JAINTIA HILLS DISTRICT RULES

——R. 36 — Demarcation of boundaries by Myntries of Mylliem State in conformity with judgment of Dewan — Appeal—Revision—Jurisdiction of Dominion Agent.

The Dominion Agent has no jurisdiction to interfere in the demarcation of the boundaries in conformity with the judgment of the Dewan of Mylliem State arrived at by the Myntries of Mylliem State Court. The request of the parties to the Siem of Mylliem State in the matter of the demarcation of the boundary line, is only a step-in-aid of the execution of the decree passed by the Dewan. There is no provision in the Rules framed for the administratration of justice and Police in the Khasi States area which provides for an appeal against an action taken as a step-in-aid to the execution of a decree. It is also plain from those Rules that the Dominion Agent has no revisional powers. The demarcation of the boundaries by the Myntries is merely in the nature of an interlocutory proceeding, manifestly outside the purview of R. 36. Majority opinion of the Full Bench,

(1) (Per Naik, C. J., Sripat Rao, A. M., Ansari, M. A. Ansari, M. S. Ali Khan. Suryanarayana Rao, Srinivasa Chari, JJ.—Manohar Prasad and V. R. Deshpade JJ. Contra.—Even though all the provisions of the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926 and the Indian Legal Practitioners Act, 1879 have not been made applicable to the Hyderabad State by a proper notification in this regard, the Hyderabad High Court has full power to grant permission to any Advocate from outside the State who is not on the rolls of that High Court to appear and argue in a Civil Case.

Per Naik, C. J.:—Section 3 of the Hyderabad Legal Practitioners Act has been repealed and is no longer in force and at any rate it certainly does not control the exercise of powers of the Hyderabad High Court under sub-section (18) of S. 13 of the High Court Act. Besides, S. 3 of the said Act refers to persons who are entitled to practise as a matter of right. To have a right to appear in a case is one thing and to permit anyone to appear in a special case is quite another thing. In one case it is the right of the individual and in another, it is the discretion of the High Court.

Per M. A. Ansari, J.: — The High Court's powers under S. 13 (18) of the High Court Act are still intact, which has been preserved by Art. 225 of the Constitution and permission can be granted by it to any Advocate from outside who is not on the rolls of this Court.

(2) Per Naik C. J., Sripat Rao, A. M. Ansari, M. A. Ansari, Suryanarayana Rao and V. R. Deshpande, JJ.:

Section 19 (4), Indian Bar Councils Act and S. 6, Part B States (Laws) Act read with S. 16, Hyderabad General Clauses Act do not affect the powers of the Hyderabad High Court to grant such permission.

Per Naik C. J.: — The effect of the application of S. 19 (4) of the Indian Bar Councils Act and S. 6 of the Part B States (Laws) Act, read with S. 16 of the Hyderabad General Clauses Act does not save S. 3 of the Hyderabad Legal Practitioners Act. Section 19 (4) of the Indian Bar Councils Act is the usual provision made in the case of repealed and amended enactments. It has nothing to do with the grant of a permission to on Advocate enrolled in other High Courts in India. If any thing, it supports the contention that whatever prohibition there may have been under S. 3 of the Hyderabad Legal Practitioners Act and the rules made thereunder, they cannot be deemed in force as being repugnant to the context of this Act. Similarly, S. 6 of the Part B States (Laws) Act read with S. 16 of the Hyderabad General Clauses Act provides the saving of the previous operation of the law and treats the acts done thereunder so far as they are not opposed to the provisions of the new law. None of these sections come in the way of the High Court granting permission to a lawyer to appear in a particular case. In the very nature of things, the High Court has the power to grant permission when it deems it necessary in the interests of justice.

Per Manohar Prasad J.: — S. 3 of the Hyderabad Legal Practitioners Act remains in force unrepealed. The effect of the application of S 19 Cl. (4) of the Indian Bar Councils Act of 1926 and S. 6 of Part B States Laws Act read with Ss. 16 and 19 of the Hyderabad General Clauses Act is that only such of the provisions of the Hyderabad Legal Practitioners Act as are inconsistent with the provisions which have come into operation will stand repealed pro tanto leaving unaffected the other provisions of the Hyderabad Legal Practitioners Act.

(3) Per Naik, C. J., Sripat Rao, A. M. Ansari, M. A. Ansari, Srinivasachari, JJ. Surayanarayana Rao and V. R. Deshpande, JJ.:—Irrespective of any enactment the High Court as a court of Record has inherent power to grant permission to Advocates who are not on the rolls of the High Court to appear in particular Civil cases.

Per Manohar Prasad and M. S. Ali Khan, JJ.:—Question of inherent power does not arise when there is specific provision. Ramdayal v. ——Ss. 58 (4), 50 (2) and 24 — After 1-12-1961, viz., the date on which S. 50 (2) came into force, the High Court of Mysore not empowered to admit and issue certificates to Pleaders under Legal Practitioners Act —(Legal Practitioners Act (1879), Ss. 6 and 7).

After 1-12-1961, i. e., the date on which S. 50 (2) of the Advocates Act came into force as per notification dated 24-11-1961 issued by the Government of India, the High Court of Mysore could not admit any person as a pleader nor could it issue any certificate to a pleader or renew a certificate already issued. Consequently persons who were admitted as pleaders after this date could not be said to have been validly admitted as pleaders and as such they are not entitled to be enrolled as advocates under S. 24 of the Advocates Act.

Sections 6 and 7 of the Legal Practitioners Act read together show that they provide for (1) prescribing qualifications for admission of persons as pleaders (2) issue of certificates to them and (3) renewal of certificates issued. Although in practice there may not be any formal order admitting a person as a pleader and all that is done is to issue him a pleadership certificate, but in the eye of the law there are two stages under these sections, viz., admission as a pleader and the issue of a certificate though in practice for the sake of convenience that these two acts may be merged into one.

acquired for public purpose — Assignment of the land when the purpose ceases — Right of heirs of original owners to priority over other persons.

Certain lands, which originally belonged to the ancestors of the respondents, were acquired by the Government for a public purpose, viz , the excavation of a tank. It was later found that the tank was unnecessary and the project was given up. The Government assigned the lands to certain persons other than the heirs of the original owners, the respondents. In a writ petition preferred to the High Court, the claim of the respondents was upheld and the Government order was quashed. The State preferred a Writ Appeal.

Held, it is manifest from Board's Standing O. 90, R. 32 (vii) that no right is created in any of the heirs of the original owners to claim the lands. It is only as a matter of grace that the assignment of land is made in favour of persons to whom the proprietary rights or the right of occupancy belong or to their heirs. Sub-clause (3) embodies Instructions to the Board of Revenue to offer the land in the circumstances indicated therein to the original proprietors or their heirs. That rule does not interfere with the discretion of the Government envisaged in sub-rule (vii). (1965) 1 Andh L T 170 : (1965) 1 Andh W R 74.

ANDHRA PRADESH FOREST LAWS (AMENDMENT) ACT (11 of 1963)

——Ss. 43 and 47 — Consfication of property under S. 43 — Provisions of S. 43 not mandatory — Order of consfication is appealable under S. 47 — Scope of powers of appellate Court stated.

Under S. 43 of the Act, the Magistrate is bound to confiscate to the Government the timber of the forest produce and also any tool, boat, cattle or vehicle which had been used in committing the offence. But his order of consfiscation is appealable and the person interested in the property seized in pursuance of the order under S. 43 can file an appeal under S. 47, to the Sessions Court within the prescribed period. The appellate court is certainly entitled to ascertain whether the property which has been confiscated by the Magistrate really belonged to the accused and whether the rights of third parties have been safeguarded by making the said order. If the scope of the appeal is to be limited to mean that the provisions of S. 43 are mandatory and that the appellate Court must confine itself to the determination of the fact whether the vehicle was used for the commission of the offence and whether the value of the property seized was more or less than Rs. 50, the aggrieved party will be precluded from putting forth any claim whatsoever, in regard to the interests in the property seized under section 43 and his ultimate remedy probably would be a civil suit against the persons who got the vehicle involved in the commission of the offence; but that could not be the object of the Legislature. No doubt the Legislature by amending section 43 of the Act has taken away the discretion of the Magistrate in ordering confiscation of the property employed in the commission of the offence but by retaining the provisions in section 47 the powers of the appellate Court have not been curtailed. (1965) 2 Andh W R 195 : 1965 Mad L J (Cri) 656 : (1965) 2 Andh L T 219: ILR (1965) Anddh Pra 1259.

ANDHRA PRADESH MOTOR VEHICLES (TAXATION OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS) ACT (21 of 1959)

——Constitution of India, Article 14 — Madras Motor Vehicles (Taxation of Passengers and Goods) (Andhra Pradesh Amendment) Act (21 of 1959) — Validity — Act cannot be held to contravene Art. 14 on ground that transport operators in Andhra State plying vehicles on routes lying in Madras and Andhra States are in unfavourable position compared to transport operators in Madras State plying buses on the same routes. See Constitution of India, Art. 14. AIR 1962 Andh Pra 103.

ANDHRA PRADESH MOTOR VEHICLES (TAXATION OF PASSENGERS AND GOODS) (AMENDMENT AND VALIDATION) ACT (34 of 1961)

——S. 1—Madras Motor Vehicles (Taxation of Passengers and Goods) Act 16 of 1952), S. 19 (as added by Andhra Pradesh Act 10 of 1958)—Constitution of India, Art. 14—Neither Act 34 of 1961 nor S. 19 of Act 16 of 1952 does infringe Art. 14—Motor Vehicles Act (1939), Ss. 48 and 63 — Conditions contemplated by S. 48 do not include levy of additional tax—R T. A. is therefore not authorised to impose such condition while endorsing permit under S. 63.

The contention that Act 34 of 1961 is opposed to the doctrine of equality of law enunciated in Art. 14 of the Constitution in that the operators with permits from the Madras State are not liable to bear the heavy incidence of taxation to which petitioners are subject, that the public utilise the services of the carriers registered in the Madras State and plying on the routes in this State as their charges are less than those of the petitioners and this adversely affects their business, has no substance. If the operaters of stage carriages registered in Madras State are charged less, it is not due to anything contained in the impugned Act. The difference in the rates of tax is traceable to the difference in laws in operation in both the States. It is not a case of the legislature of this State making different laws for different areas in the State or as applicable to different operators. The advantages and disadvantages are the result of different laws in force in different States. The source of authority for these two statutes being different, no complaint could be made on the ground of denial of equality of treatment. The power of a Court to declare a law void under Art. 14 could be exercised only with reference to the legislation impugned and the laws of two different States could not be compared to show the discriminatory nature of one of them. Moreover, it is open to a State to make a territorial classification even in regard to fiscal measures and in fact it enjoys a greater latitude in that behalf : (1961) 1 Andh W R 351 and (1955) 1 S C R 599 and 13 S T C 679 and 13 S T C 529 and 13 S T C 233, Rel. on.

The petitioners fell back upon the argument that there was no impediment in the way of the transport authorities imposing an additional tax on the operators registered in Madras plying their vehicles on routes in Andhra Pradesh, when they apply to the transport authorities for endorsement of their permits. It is said that the operators of another States could not ply their vehicles in this State without having their permits endorsed and the authorities concerned could avail themselves of this opportunity to levy additional tax in respect of the routes situate in this State to equalise the incidence of taxation between the two sets of operators, so that the petitioners and those similarly situated might not be at a disadvantage. But it has to be borne in mind in this context that it is by mutual arrangement between the two States that permit holders in one State are allowed to ply vehicles on any of the routes in the other State. The permit is granted by the State in which the route commences and the operator could, on the basis of that permit, carry on his business in the other State without paying the additional tax. The necessity for endorsement arises under S. 63 of the Motor Vehicles Act, which, inter alia, provides for the validation of permits, if used outside the region in which they are granted. It postulates that a permit granted in any one State would not be valid in any other State unless countersigned by the Regional Transport Authority of the other State. However, under that section, the counter-signing authority could only attach to the permit any condition which could have been imposed if that authority had granted the permit. It is section 48 that authorises a transport authority to attach conditions to a stage carriage permit. But the conditions contemplated by that section do not include the levy of additional tax. Hence, it is futile to contend that the transport authorities of this State could impose taxes within the contemplation of the impugned Act on the operators of Madras State at the time of the endorsement of the permits under S. 63 of the Act. The contention that S. 19 of Act 16 of 1952 which has to be imported into the Act 34 of 1961 confers absolute powers on Government in the matter of grant of exemption from the operation of Act 34 of 1961, which could be exercised discriminatingly as between two sets of operators has also no substance. S. 19 vests a general power in Government to exempt any person or class of persons without making any distinction between persons of various classes and does not exclude any class or category of operators. So, the section itself is free from challenge and is constitutionally valid. That a general power to grant exemption similar to the one contained in S. 19 conferred on the State Government cannot be impeached and that it is only individual orders of exemption passed by the Government that could be subject of judicial review to find out whether it was discriminatory as to be hit at by Art. 14. Even assuming that S. 19 is not in conformity with Art. 14 that provision alone could be held invalid and it does not touch legality of impugned Act. Even if notification issued under S. 19 is to be nullified, that would not confer any advantage on petitioners, as exemption cannot be claimed as matter of right, it being only a matter of grace: (1962) 1 S C J 194, Rel. on. ——S. 14 — Deed - Construction — Decision incorporating terms of award — Terms not recited specifically.

Where the dispute between a jagirdar and his creditor had been referred to the decision of certain arbitrators appointed by Mehakma khas and they gave their opinion as to the amount payable and the mode of payment by instalments on certain due dates and they further awarded interest at 1 per cent. per mensem on any instalment remaining unpaid and the same was considered by the Council who agreed with the opinion of the arbitrators and recommended the same to Mehakma khas, the senior member passed an order that the amount so found due shall be recoverable according to the decision of the Council. The decision of the Council after setting out the substance of the award, stated that it agreed with the opinion of the 'Panches' without making any reference to the provision for interest on instalments not paid on due dates. On a dispute whether interest was payable on instalments in arrears it was,

Held, the council in its decision mentioned only the substance of the award in the recital portion and the recital was followed by the operative part which states that they are in agreement with the opinion of the 'Panches'. It is impossible to cut down by the recital the plain effect of the "operative part of the deed". The council in so far as they said they were in agreement with the panches purported to incorporate in the decision all the terms of the award including the one for payment of interest on overdue instalments. 1952 R L W 250 : I L R (1952) Raj 322 : AIR 1954 Raj 54.

An award in conformity with which there is neither a judgment nor a decree under S. 17 of the Arbitration Act does not constitute an impediment to the institution of a suit for the enforcement of a right which formed the subject-matter of the arbitration proceedings. AIR 1960 A P 59 (FB), Foll; AIR 1948 Mad 436; AIR 1962 M P 66; AIR 1952 Nag 65; AIR 1960 Pat 19, Dissented. Case law discussed.

However, an award which was not produced in court and which did not become a judgment or decree under S. 17, if acted upon by the parties, would constitute a defence to a suit brought for the enforcement of the very right settled by arbitration, the principle being that in a case of that kind the plea is not that there was an award which barred the suit, but that there was an arrangement arrived at by consent in consequence of which there was a settlement of the disputes between the parties consequent upon the parties acting upon the award. AIR 1961 S C 1077, foll.

If the plaintiff cannot make use of the award in a suit brought by him for securing any relief which may flow from that award, the defendant cannot use that award for defeating the suit which does not depend upon it. If a suit is not brought upon an award which was not produced in court and if the defendant asks the Court to dismiss the suit on the ground that the controversy in the suit has already been disposed of by the award, the defendant would be using the award for a purpose which is prohibited by S. 32. (1965) 1 Law Rep 632 : (1965) 1 Mys L J 79 (DB).

——Ss. 34 and 35 — Sections are complementary.

Sections 34 and 35 are complementary. If S. 34 applies S. 35 will apply, conversely if S. 34 does not apply S. 35 will not apply. An award is not rendered invalid merely by a notice under S. 35 unless the legal proceedings commenced be upon the whole or part of the subject-matter of the reference. Validity or invalidity of the contract could not be referred to arbitration for the arbitrator has no power and authority to decide upon the question of their own jurisdiction. Therefore if the legal proceedings commenced in a Court touch the validity or invalidity of the contract, the subject-matter of the legal proceedings could not be one which could ordinarily be stayed under S. 34 and S. 35 which presupposes a legal proceeding which is capable of being stayed by the Court under S. 34 equally contemplates that if the legal proceedings do not refer to the subject-matter of the reference a notice under S. 35 cannot obviously render arbitration proceedings ineffective and nugatory. ('62) 66 Cal W N 1078.

——S. 34 — Stay of suit —Condition precedent for— Court before ordering stay of suit must be satisfied that the applicant was at the commencement of the proceedings and continued ready and willing till filing of application for stay to abide by the agreement.

In order to have jurisdiction to exercise the discretion vested in the court under section 34 of the Act to stay a suit it is one of the conditions precedent for the court concerned to be satisfied that the applicant for stay was at the time when the proceedings were commenced and continued till filing of the application to be ready and willing to do all things necessary to the proper conduct of the arbitration, On the record of this case there is absolutely no material on the basis of which the trial Court could possibly be satisfied of the existence of this condition precedent. Therefore, the order of the learned senior subordinate Judge under revision is correct and the trial court had no jurisdiction to grant the stay of the suit in this case. Section 37 of the Act attracts the provisions of Limitation Act for purposes of arbitration proceedings as regards the question of limitation. While so applying the provisions of the Limitation Act, S. 37 (3) also indicates that for purposes of that section and the Limitation Act as applicable to arbitration proceedings, the arbitration proceedings must be deemed to have commenced on the day when the initial notice for the same under S. 8 (1) (a) of the Arbitration Act is given.

Consequently where the cause of action arose on 14-2-1941 and thereafter infructuous attempts to complete arbitration proceedings were made for a ——Rr. 7, 1 — Appointing same persons as second Court—Validity—(Arbitration).

The Court has been defined by R. 1 as meaning the arbitrator or arbitrators appointed for determining a particular dispute. When R. 7 says that another Court has to be appointed, it means another set of arbitrator or arbitrators is to be appointed for determining the particular dispute; it cannot mean that the same arbitrator or arbitrators who constituted the first Court would be appointed again. In that case, there would be no significance in the use of the expression 'another' before the word 'Court'.

Held, that the constitution of the second Court which consisted of the same persons, was in contravention of the provision of R. 7. 92 Cal L J 224 : AIR 1954 Cal 111 (112) (Pt A) (Pr 7).

ARMS ACT (11 of 1878)

—S. 18 -Constitution of India, Art. 226 — Natural Justice — Finding of necessity for security of public peace — Cancellation of licence without giving opportunity to licensee of being heard — District Magistrate commits breach of first principle of natural justice.

Under S. 18, the District Magistrate must find it necessary for the security of the public peace to cancel the licence under the Act and then only he can cancel it. The finding that it is necessary for the security of the public peace to cancel the licence involves loss of the right to hold or possess the fire-arms and may, therefore, be treated as a quasi-judicial finding. The fact that the District Magistrate has to give reasons for the order of cancellation means that it has to be a speaking order. The reasons must be found in the presence of the licencee, he must have an opportunity of showing that the reasons on which the District Magistrate proposes to act do not exist at all or are outweighed by other circumstances. The finding of necessity is the fiuding to be given by him after assuming jurisdiction and not one intended to be reached ex parte for assuming jurisdiction. If he cancels the licence without giving an opportunity to the licencee he commits a breach of the first principle of natural justice. It is an order adverse to the licencee depriving him of the right to hold and possess fire-arms. Civil Misc. ASSAM HIGH COURT ORDER (1948)

——S. 4 —Power of High Court to quash proceedings —Administration of Justice and Police in the Naga Hills District Rules, R. 16.

Under R. 16 of the Rules for the Administration of Justice and Police in the Naga Hills District the Governor can set aside a sentence passed or remand the case for retrial—which obviously implies that the Governor could hold a person not guilty and declare that the complaint disclosed no offence and as such no process of the Court should have been issued against a certain individual. Hence in a case arising from Naga Hills the Assam High Court in the exercise of its powers vested under S. 4 of the Assam High Court Order is competent to quash a complaint which discloses no offence and where the examination of the complainant is also silent upon the commission of any offence. ASSAM SETTLEMENT OF FISHERIES RULES (framed under Ss. 155 and 156 of Assam Land and Revenue Regulation (1886) read with S. 6, Fisheries Act (1897)

—Fishery—Settlement—Assam—Settlement exceeding Rs. 5,000 and not exceeding Rs. 25,000—Settlement confirmed by Conservator of Forests — Interference by State Government.

Under para. II of the conditions of fishery, where the tender for settlement exceeds Rs. 5,000 but does not exceed Rs. 25,000 and the Conservator of Forests confirms the tender, the State Government has no right to interfere with the order. Where it does so, the order of the State Government would be illegal. By virtue of the confirmation the person in whose favour it is made acquires a valuable right. AIR 1958 Assam 9.

● —R. 12—State Government can settle without auction. See Assam Land and Revenue Regulation (1 of 1886), S. 16. AIR 1957 S C 377.

—Rr. 12, 43 and 44 — Power of Government to settle fishery rights under R. 12 — No limitations — Government can make direct settlement even while tender procedure is being followed by authorities under Government approval.

There are no words in R. 12 which will show that once the power has been exercised by the Government by directing the fishery to be settled by tender system, the power of the State Government to settle it direct is exhausted. In fact R. 12 does not give a choice to the Government to adopt any of the procedures. What R. 12 says is that ordinarily the settlement will be made by sale and an exception has been created in favour of the Government. The Government can make settlement otherwise than by sale. It is therefore, not a power conferred on the Government at the initial stage to select which particular procedure will be adopted by it for the purposes of the settlement. There is nothing in R. 12 which lays down that the power of the Government for making settlement otherwise than by sale is to be exercised at the initial stage only. Rules 43 and 44 also do not place any fetter on the power of the Government under R. 12. There is no bar to the Government making a direct settlement even though the tender procedure was being adopted by the authorities under the approval of the Government and the order of the Government cannot be said to be without jurisdiction. AIR 1957 S C 377, Rel. on. I L R (1963) Assam 288.

—R. 12—Infringement of legal rights—Settlement of fishery — Bidders invited — Fishery not put up for sale—Bidder applying under Art. 226 of Constitution challenging validity of R. 12 — Relief held could not be refused on ground that he had no locus standi to apply for relief under Art. 226. See Constitution of India, Art. 226. AIR 1956 Assam 48 (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1957 S C 377.]

● —R. 46—Rule amended after issue of sale notice—Sale notice stating that settlement would be subject to "rules for the time being in force" — Tenders considered by authorities after amended rule came into force—Amended rule whether can be applied in selection of tenderer for settlement.

Held, (Per Deka, C. J., with whom Mehrotra, J. agreed) that the tenderer who had submitted his tender prior to the amendment, had done nothing under the repealed rules by virtue of which he acquired any right or privilege except the right of having his tender considered. Either the consideration of the tender or the act of settlement did not come at any stage before the new set of rules came into force, and, therefore, it would be only the new set of rules that would govern the settlement and not the old ones at the time of inviting tenders.

Per Dutta, J., contra:- If the authorities after receipt of certain tenders amend the rules so as to prejudice the case of any of those tenders, it will mean that a certain disqualification has been imposed on them by the amendment.
